ART ASSOCIATION SHOWING OLD MASTERS

Mrs. Kenneth Hall was hostess for the tea which the Winchester Art Association gave last Sunday afternoon in the gallery of the public library to open the exhibition of paintings loaned by the Robert Vose Galleries in Boston. Mrs. John L. Lobingier, wife of the Art Association's president, poured with Miss Katherine Peirce. Miss Eleanor Randall and Miss Charlotte Hall were servers.

Despite the unpleasant weather there was a large attendance, attracted by the quality of the exhibition and the address by Mr. Morton Vose of the Vose Galleries, whose comments upon and general information about the pictures shown proved most interesting and helpful. Mr. Lobingier presided and expressed the Association's appreciation to Mr. Vose at the conclusion of his address.

No less an authority than Mr. Herman Dudley Murphy, himself an eminent artist and member of the art advisory board of the library, considers this current exhibition from the Vose Galleries the finest yet shown by the Art Association. Surely it is the most valuable, the collection of 24 paintings having a value in excess of $70,000.

Upon entering the gallery one is impressed with the subdued richness and verity of the colorings, the faithfulness of reproduction in the design, the fine drawing, smoothness of color application, attention to detail and the naturalness of the persons and scenes depicted.

Among the especially outstanding landscapes is "Le Crepuscle" (Evening) by Corot, a large canvas showing a beautifully restful study of leafy trees, bulking tall in the shadows above a quiet pool, lighted with the afterglow of the setting sun. Unusually fine even in so excellent a show are the perspective and shadows of "Country Lane" by Syer, while a wealth of homely detail is convincingly painted into "The Farmyard" by John Herring, cleverly lighted to show in sharp relief a plaster barn gable and white horse.

Those who believe that landscape painting can stand or fall upon its sky treatment will be especially intrigued with the cloud effects obtained by Linnell in his "Watering Cattle," patches of blue sky being shown between rolling white clouds with dark stormy banks gathering overhead. The detail of the heavy foliage in this picture is also very worthy of note.

New charm is found in each glance at Bough's beautiful study, "Highland Cattle Crossing the Echaig," with its great depth, golden sunset glow, haze upon the distant hills and realistic rock treatment.

A wealth of detail and coloring is apparent in Isabey's "In the Palazzo Bargello" with its gay courtiers and ladies, scarlet clad soldiers and horses in their extravagant medieval trappings against a background of broad stone steps, gray castle walls, pillared arches and coats of arms. Quaint is the sixteenth century Castillian "Feast of Herod" with its stiff and somewhat distorted style.

Six portraits are included in the show, all distinguished for the warmth of the flesh tones, the rounded contours, expression and the carefully painted hands. It is interesting to compare those of the older masters with that of "Mrs. W. D. Morgan and Daughters" by Charles W. Hawthorne who died in 1930, and whose style and coloring more nearly approximates that often seen in current portrait painting.

Especially one would commend the delicacy with which Renieri painted the lace in his outstanding portrait of the "Venetian Officer" and the rich red coloring of the admiral's cloak. Strikingly achieved is the perfection of detail and the commanding expression in the portrait of Henry Pelham Clinton, 4th Duke of Newcastle by S. W. Reynolds, Jr., a painting shown in the Royal Academy in 1825.

Masterfully painted are the folds and drapery of the brown gown worn by the Countess of Sunderland in her portrait by Peter Lilly, while Robert Edmonstone's Charlotte Ann Walde is a portrait of much beauty. For sheer delicacy of painting Mary Macomber's "Rosamond the Fair" is most outstanding, the artist having achieved a rarely etherial quality in her subject, skillfully enhanced by the subdued color treatment.

The exhibition will remain at the library through October, but all are urged to see it as soon as possible, for some of the more outstanding pictures may have to be removed before the end of that time. The public is invited to see and enjoy these original masterpieces.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows:

Gerald John Howard of 155 Highland avenue and Christina Mae MacDonald of 25 Stone avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds are spending the week-end at Harwich, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stevens of Malden.

MRS. ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL JORDAN

HEADS LOCAL COOLIDGE MEMORIAL COMMITTEE

Mrs. Archibald Campbell Jordan of Highland avenue is heading the local committee, members of which are to assist in raising funds for the new Calvin Coolidge Memorial College to be built on Beacon street in Boston in memory of the former President and Governor of Massachusetts.

The drive for funds will be formally launched at a dinner to be held next Tuesday evening, Oct. 10, at the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for vice-president in 1936, will be the principal speaker, and others who will respond to toasts include Governor Leverett Saltonstall and Mayor Maurice Tobin of Boston.

The proposed college will be a progressive liberal arts institution, housed in a Colonial style building of 50 rooms, including auditorium, physical and chemical laboratores, two libraries, gymnasium, administration offices, faculty and student rooms and class rooms to accommodate approximately 1490 students. Materials from every state in New England will be represented in the construction.

Assisting Mrs. Jordan in Winchester are Mrs. Emma G. Emery, vice-chairman, and an advisory committee, the members of which include Senator Harris S. Richardson, Representative William E. Ramsdell, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan and Selectman Kingman P. Cass.

GIRL CYCLIST INJURED

Marjorie Geerts, 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Geerts of 36 Calumet road, was painfully injured Thursday morning at 8:15 when she was knocked from her bicycle on the Parkway near Mystic avenue by a Chevrolet coach, owned and driven by Walter F. Randall of 42 Montvale avenue, Woburn.

According to the Police Randall was driving south along the Parkway and was attempting to pass a Hood's milk team driven by John Garofalo of 3 Irving street, West Medford. Garafalo was also driving south and started to make a left turn into Mystic avenue.

In an effort to avoid striking the team Randall pulled his car sharply to the left, the machine colliding with the Geerts girl's bicycle which she was riding in a northerly direction on the right side of the road.

Marjorie was thrown to the ground and her bicycle badly damaged. She was taken to her home by Jerry Surette of 460 Main street, Malden, and attended by an out-of-town physician.

After the collision the Chevrolet went up onto the sidewalk and lawn on the northeasterly side of the Parkway beyond the corner of Mystic avenue.

ROBERT BACON

Mr. Bacon was the son of Charles N., and Florence L. (Holbrook) Bacon. He was born in Winchester March 31, 1873, but spent much of his boyhood in Arlington, receiving his education in the Arlington schools and at Harvard University.

On April 18, 1911, he married Ida Woodbridge Fletcher of Belmont and returned to Winchester to make his home in the house on Grove street in which he died. He was for some years associated with his brothers in conducting the felt manufacturing business established by his father at the mill below Wedgemere. He retired from active business ten years ago and during the past few years had lived part of the time in Winchester and part of the time on Clarendon street in Boston.

Mr. Bacon's wife died in 1925. He leaves two daughters. Miss Helen Bacon of Boston and Winchester, Mrs. Margery Pendleton of Weston; a brother, Charles F. Bacon of this town; a sister, Mrs. Florence Hall of Arlington and one grandchild.

The funeral services and interment were private.

Maurice Dinneen, Agent.

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON

Winchester High opens the defense of its Middesex League football title tomorrow afternoon, playing Lexington High at Lexington commencing at 2 p. m.

This game doesn't figure to be too tough for the locals. Several of the better players on last season's Lexington High team are this year playing for Burlington High School, reducing a squad that wasn't too potent a year ago. Included in the transfers is Lawrence Carey, great little defensive center of last year's team who was one of the best linemen in the league toward the end of the campaign.

To add to the gloom of the Lexington situation Johnny Grinnell, who got such a lot out of his mediocre talent last fall, has gone to Brookline High this year, leaving the coaching problem in the lap of George Perry, Tufts quarterback in the days of Van French. A shift of coaches, no matter the capabilities, never helps too much for a time at least, so it would seem that Winchester should have something of a breather this weekend.

A breather is just what the doctor ordered to give Coach Lauer a chance to get his new plays going under more favorable conditions and to give the boys the feel of offensive football that clicks.

Lexington has lost both its games thus far to Framingham and Wellesley, surely not such tough opposition as Arlington and Marblehead, against which Winchester has a two touchdown defeat and a scoreless tie.

The locals have looked good defensively in their two starts to date, but haven't shown anything that looks like a consistent offense. A few touchdowns should change all this and Winchester should get those touchdowns tomorrow.

MRS. ALICE MARSTON SISSON

Mrs. Alice Marston Sisson, wife of Albert T. Sisson, died of a heart attack at her home, 5 Mystic avenue, Monday afternoon, Oct. 2.

Mrs. Sisson, who was 60 years old, was the daughter of Alfred Thomas and Emma (Lawrence) Marston. She was born in Dorchester, but later lived in Arlington and was graduated from the Arlington High School.

She was the possessor of a trained alto voice and formerly was for some years a member of the Handel and Hayden Society of Boston and a soloist in one of the Boston churches. She was a member of he Women's Fortnightly Club, of the Unitarian Church and of the Ladies' Friendly Society.

Mrs. Sisson was twice married. Her first husband, Arthur E. Whitney, head of the former Whitney Machine Company and widely known town official whom she married Dec. 2, 1903, died Jan. 15, 1918. On June 21, 1924, she married Mr. Sisson, who survives with a son by her first marriage, Joel Whitney of Nashville, Tenn., and two brothers, M. P. Marston of this town and Arthur L. Marston of Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church with the minister, Rev. George Hale Reed, officiating. Interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

At 10:30 last night Officer William Cassidy of the Police department arrested a youth whom he found lying at the rear of Pike's Garage on upper Main street. A window was found broken above the spot where he was found and nearby was a long stick with broken glass adhering to the end.

The youth first said he was looking for a place to sleep, and then said he was hiding from two girls going along Main street. He was locked up at Headquarters where he gave his name as Anthony Roy, 19, and his home as Fitchburg.

He appeared in the district court this morning on the charge of attempted breaking and entering. Police say he is the possessor of a long record.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The Retirement Board is calling a meeting of all town employees for Oct. 9, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Town Hall for the purpose of electing a third member of the Board.

Application has been made to the Secretary of the Commonwealth by several of the Italian citizens of the town for incorporation under the name of Christopher Columbus Club Inc.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Fred Henry Roberts of Wilmington announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Nancy W. Roberts, to F. Edward Felt, son of Mrs. Jonathan Felt of Main street and the late Mr. Felt.

Miss Roberts is a graduate of Bradford Junior College and of Leland Powers School of the Theatre. Mr. Felt attended Brown University.

HONORED ON GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth of Copley street were honored at a tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, former Selectman and Mrs Harold V. Farnsworth, 4 Central green, upon the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Sharing arrangements for the tea were another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., of Worthen road; and a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Neiley of Bronxville, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth were assisted in receiving their many guests by the members of their family and by two of Mrs. Farnsworth's bridal attendant's, Miss Susan Richardson, a bridesmaid; and Mrs. Woodworth James, the former Esther Farnsworth, who was flower-girl. An usher, Mr. Benjamin Shurtleff of Revere, was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth, who was Alice R. Fenno, were married at the Unitarian Church in Revere, Oct. 3, 1889. They have made their home in Winchester since 1908, have been prominent in the social life of the town and have many friends.

Mr. Farnsworth was formerly associated for more than 40 years with the banking house of Kidder Peabody in Boston. He is a director of the Winchester Cooperative Bank, vice president and trust officer of the State Street Trust Company, a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and the Knights Templar of Chelsea.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. William Cusack, president of the Winchester League, announces the following program for the fall conference of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters to be held at the Church of the Epiphany on Wednesday, Oct. 11, with Mrs. George Wrayley as chairman. At 10:30 a. m. Mrs. La Rue Brown, state president, will speak on "The League in a World at War." At 10:45 will come the department conferences. Those at the church will include the president's council, legislative, finance, membership, publicity, child welfare and legal status of women. Government and its operation with Mrs. Ralph Spaks, 45 Cabot street, government and economic welfare with Mrs. Joseph Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue, government and foreign policy with Mrs. Theodore Monroe, 37 Cabot street and government and education with Mrs. John Penniman, 36 Everett ave. There will be a luncheon period from 1 to 2 o'clock and members are asked to bring a box lunch. Coffee will be served by Mrs. William Bowe and her committee. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Richard H. Field will speak on the expansion campaign and at 2:30 Mrs. Reuben Markham, former correspondent of the "Christian Science Monitor" in Budapest, will speak on "Neutrality." Members are urged to be present all day and the afternoon meeting is open without charge to the public. Everyone is cordially invited and those desiring transportation should call Mrs. Bowen Tufts, Arl. 1146.

JOHN WILLIAM WATTERS

John William Watters, a resident of Winchester for nearly 40 years, died Tuesday morning, Oct. 3, at his home, 49 Wildwood street, after a month's illness that followed two years of poor health.

Mr. Watters was the son of David and Sarah (McGoldrich) Watters. He was born in 1868 in St. John, N. B., but spent his boyhood in Charlestown, receiving his education in the Charlestown schools.

As a young man he entered the employ of Jordan Marsh Company and was for 25 years associated with that firm, leaving to establish his own wholesale fur business in Boston. He retired from active business two years ago.

On Sept. 5, 1900, Mr. Watters married Ida Florence Nickerson of Somerville, coming at that time to make his home in Winchester. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of this town.

He is survived by his wife, by three daughters, Mrs. Georgianna MacArthur, Miss Barbara F. Watters and Miss Ida Florence Watters, all of Winchester; a son, John Nickerson Watters of Weston; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY LUNCHEON AND MEETING

The Ladies' Friendly Society will hold its first luncheon meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 10, at 1 o'clock in Metcalf Hall.

A very interesting program is planned and at this meeting we are to hear from our members who have just returned from Europe.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Winchester Women's Republican Club held the first meeting of the season on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 4, in Fortnightly Hall. The social committee, Mrs. Paul B. Elliott, chairman, served a delicious dessert before the business meeting with Mrs. Albert Thompson in charge, assisted by Mrs. James Morrison, Miss Louise Bancroft, Miss Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. Robert Elliott, Mrs. Harold Dodds, and Mrs. William Goodhue. The tables looked most attractive and Mrs. Woodside and Mrs. Blaisdell, former presidents of the club presided at the coffee urns.

The business meeting started promptly at 2:30 p. m. with the president, Mrs. Warren Whitman, in the chair. After a few cordial words of welcome and of inspiration for the future, the president introduced Mrs. Mary B. Jones, member of the Republican State Committee, who spoke briefly, as an old friend of the club.

Mrs. Phillip Woodward presented for the Education Committee, the arguments for and against the repeal of the arms embargo and explained in detail the so-called neutrality measures now before the U. S. Congress. This feature of the program is always greatly enjoyed and the club is indebted to Mrs. Woodward for such a splendid presentation of the subject.

The finance committee, Mrs. Walter W. Winship, chairman, announced the Hallowe'en Dessert Bridge to be held on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 31, at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was the Hon. Russell A. Wood, who had as his subject "Our Republican Way." Mr. Wood proved a very able and interesting speaker and especially stressed the points that Republicans elected in the last state elections have devoted their efforts to carrying out the promises made in the campaign, which they consider a duty and patriotic obligation. They are also striving, he said, to discharge the state debts, after which they will go back to the policy adopted under ex-Governor Alvan T. Fuller or the pay as you go policy. Mr. Wood urged the club members to interest others in the Republican cause through a desire for better government.

FRANK E. RANDALL FETED

Mr. Frank E. Randall, manager of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company's Arlington district offices, was tendered a complimentary dinner Wednesday evening at the Hotel Touraine by his Edison associates in honor of his having completed 30 years service in the company's employ. Previous to his service in Arlington Mr. Randall was in charge respectively, of the offices at Woburn, Winchester, Stoneham and Somerville.

Before the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Randall received informally. Mrs. Randall was remembered with several beautiful bouquets and Mr. Randall was presented with a handsome gladstone bag as an expression of the esteem in which he is held by his business associates and friends. Arrangements for the testamonial were in the hands of Mr. Thomas H. Carens, vice president of the Boston Edison Company.

Mr. Randall, or "Frank" as he is universally known, makes his home at 29 Nelson street in Winchester. He is a member of the town's Finance Committee and his genial personality and ready smile have won him a wide circle of friends among citizens of all walks of life. The Star extends congratulations, "Frank!"

SENTENCED FOR WINCHESTER THEFT

George A. LaMotte of Boston was yesterday sentenced to serve four to six years in State's prison after being found guilty by the grand jury in superior court at East Cambridge of charges of breaking and entering and larceny preferred by Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police department.

LaMotte was charged by the local authorities with breaking and entering and larceny at the homes of Mr. David F. Choate at 40 Wedgemere avenue, and of Mr. George S. Hebb at 3 Stowell road, the latter break occurring in 1937. He was also found guilty of breaking and entering and larceny in Lowell and was sentenced to another four to six years on that count, the two terms to run concurrently. Police say, he had a long criminal record.

TEA FOR RADCLIFFE 1930

Miss Mary Fulton Carr of Highland avenue and Mrs. Adolph Johnson (Erma Carman) are giving a tea Sunday afternoon at Mrs. Johnson's home, 17 Jefferson road, for Greater Boston members of the Radcliffe College Class of 1930. Mrs. Francis P. Seery of Arlington and Miss Josephine Albrecht of Boston will pour.

Besides its social significance the affair is providing an opportunity for the first discussion of reunion plans for the class, the members of which are observing the tenth anniversary of their graduation in June. Miss Carr, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Carr of this town, was president of the class in its graduation year and has been elected its permanent president.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives of Highland avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Alice Ives Whittemore, to Lieut. Charles Jackson Paine of Weston.

EUGENE E. DANEHY

Boston Patrolman Former Winchester Boy

Patrolman Eugene E. Danehy of the Boston Police Department, a former well known Winchester boy, died suddenly Friday, Sept. 29, at the Boston City Hospital of an acute heart attack.

Patrolman Danehy was born in Winchester Aug. 22, 1895, the son of John J., and Kate (Flynn) Danehy. He was educated in the Winchester schools, at Boston College High School and at Boston College.

At the time of the World War on Sept. 21, 1917, he entered the service as a member of Battery A, 301st Field Artillery, serving overseas from July 14, 1918, to Jan. 5, 1919.

Following his discharge he joined the Massachusetts State Police in which he served until 1924. Two years later he was appointed to the Police force in Boston, being first assigned to Station 19 where he remained until he was transferred to Warren avenue in 1934.

Patrolman Danehy leaves his wife, two sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Josephine Danehy; and three brothers, Sergt. John J. Danehy, Francis and Edward Danehy. His parents, who until a few years ago were residents of Harvard street, also survive.

The funeral was held Monday morning from Patrolman Danehy's late home, 95 Bloomfield street, Dorchester, with high mass of requiem in St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, at 9 o'clock.

LECTURE ON GOURDS

The speaker at the annual meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club of Winchester, to be held on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18, at 2:30 in the art room of the Winchester Public Library, will be Sterling H. Pool, president of the New England Gourd Society. After the business meeting and election of officers for the coming year Mr. Pool will discuss the cultivation of gourds from planting to harvesting, their decorative possibilities and some little known facts about the unique history of these fruit-vegetables. He will use to illustrate his talk, not slides, but a great many actual specimens, fresh and dried, native and foreign. Some of these will demonstrate how the ancient art of gourd craft was practised and how it is now being revived and copied in many parts of this country. Guest tickets are available.

GEORGE WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER

An event looked forward to by many in Winchester each fall is the annual bridge of the chapter which will be held this year on Tuesday, Oct. 17 in the George Washington School assembly hall.

Mrs. Chester Kenney, chairman of the ways and means committee is taking charge of arrangements assisted by Mrs. Paul Shiverick and Mrs. Sherman Saltmarsh. Dessert will be served at 1:30 after which bridge will be enjoyed for the afternoon with individual table prizes.

The proceeds of the affair as usual will go toward our quota of the Scholarship Fund, a cause everyone is most interested in. If there is anyone who has not secured tickets they may obtain them by calling Mrs. Shiverick, Win. 0623-W.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Startling Census Bureau Figures

Consumers must drink $1,000,000 of liquor to give employment to 95 persons, while the same amount spent for house furnishings employs 191 persons; for women's and children's clothing, 226; for leather, 275; for textiles, 297; for men's and boys' clothing, 309; for boots and shoes, 336; for furniture, 339; and for lumber and forest products, 380.

WEEK-END AUTO ACCIDENTS

The first of three automobile accidents in Winchester over the past week-end took place shortly after 1:30 Saturday morning when an automobile which the police say was driven by Ralph B. Wood of 15 Lancaster street, Cambridge, collided with the blinker at the traffic circle at the junction of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets. Wood's car, a Graham sedan, had to be towed to the Super-Service Garage. The operator was arrested by Patrolman Winthrop Palmer on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Arthur Guiney of 51 Popular street, Belmont, who the police say, was riding with Wood, was arrested on a drunkeness charge. In court Saturday morning the charge against Guiney was filed. Wood's case was continued until this morning.

Saturday evening at 9:45 a Buick sedan, driven by Frank J. Pelligrino of 606 Winthrop street, Medford while headed south on Main street and stopped on the Boston and Maine tracks to permit east and west traffic to pass was in collission with on Oldsmobile touring which was following and which was driven by Joseph R. Potito of 68 Main street, Charlestown. Both cars were slightly damaged, and Charles Carbone of 21 Gladstone street, Orient Heights, a passenger in one of the machines, complained of injuries to his back.

Sunday evening shortly before 7 o'clock an Oldsmobile sedan, being driven west on the Parkway by George E. Byford of 195 Highland avenue, was in collision at the junction of Washington street with an automobile driven south on Washington street by Fred M. Leighton of 2 Henry avenue, Woburn. The Byford car was damaged about the rear end, but no one was injured.

GOODNOUGH—CRONIN

Miss Rita J. Cronin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cronin of Warren street, West Medford, and William Goodnough of Main street, were married Sunday evening, Oct. 1, at 6 o'clock in the rectory of St. Raphael's Church, West Medford, by Rev. Fr. Williams.

Miss Cronin was attended by her cousin, Miss Genevieve Labombard of Waltham, and Arthur Goodnough of this town was his brother's best man.

The bride wore an old fashioned hoopskirt of white lace and a tulle veil arranged with a Mary, Queen of Scots, cap of lace and white velvet. Her flowers were bride's roses and valley lilies in a shower bouquet. Miss Labombard wore a gown of peacock blue moire with a coronet of wine-colored flowers and carried a Colonial bouquet.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Community Hall, West Medford. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and Virginia Beach, Mr. Goodnough and his bride will make their home in Winchester at 62 Nelson street.

The bride is a graduate of Medford High School and Mr. Goodnough graduated from Winchester High School.

AT LAST WINCHESTER HAS ONE

Mr. R. L. Thompson at 201 Ridge street, this town, a graduate from Perkins Institution for the Blind and of Harvard College in the class of '78, and a scion of an old Winchester family has returned to us as representative for a magazine agency run by Perkins Institution.

The annual meeting of the Winchester Boat Club will be held Friday evening, Oct. 13, at 8 o'clock, at the club house. The meeting will be held for the purpose of electing the officers and directors for the ensuing year, to consider revision of the by-laws and for transacting any other business which may be brought before the meeting.

The following nominations have been made by the nominating committee:

Commodore ..... Donald R. Simonds
Vice Commodore ..... Oscar E. Merrow
Secretary ..... George H. Bryne
Treasurer ..... Frederick Fish

Directors

Theodore E. Burleigh Kenneth M. Pratt
Allan R. Cunningham Harold Pyne
Dwight B. Hill Clarence W. Russell
Willard R. Locke Alden W. Sherman
Marshall W. Symmes

Nominating Committee

Oscar E. Merrow, Ch. Frederick Fish
Theodore E. Burleigh Dwight B. Hill
Marshall W. Symmes

The last complete revision of the by-laws was made in 1922. A committee has prepared a complete revision including all changes authorized since 1922 together with some further changes designed to permit the officers and directors to conduct the club affairs more efficiently and to the greater advantage of the whole membership.

These proposed revisions together with the present by-laws are in the custody of the steward and are available for inspection by any member.

REV. JAMES F. LYNCH

Rev. James F. Lynch, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church in Weymouth, who died Tuesday morning following a heart attack, was well known in Winchester, having served at St. Mary's Church during the period of Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt's illness and death and before the appointment of Rev. A. S. Malone, present pastor.

Father Lynch was born in Boston Oct. 8, 1885, graduated from Boston College and attended St. John's Seminary, Brighton, before his ordination in 1913. Besides his service at St. Mary's he served at St. Margaret's Church, Lowell; St. Patrick's, Brockton; St. Michael's, Lowell; and St. Raphael's, West Medford. He was made administrator of the Sacred Heart Church, Weymouth in 1934, and in April of this year, after the death of Rev. John Holland, was appointed pastor.

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated Thursday morning at the Sacred Heart Church with Rev. Thomas J. Golding, pastor of St. Francis of Assisi's Church, Medford, celebrant; Rev. Bernard S. O'Kane, pastor of St. Bridget's Church, Abington, deacon; and Rev. Thomas A. Glynn, pastor of St. Thomas More's Church, Braintree, subdeacon. Rev. Robert S. Lee, pastor of S.S. Peter and Paul's Church, South Boston, delivered the eulogy.

WINTON CLUB

The October meeting of the Winton Club was held last Monday at the Nurses' Home of the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, president of the Winton Club, presided and Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, announced that the dates of the Cabaret would be Feb. 1, 2 and 3, 1940.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Spencer introduced Dr. Richard J. Clark, who, in turn, introduced the new superintendent of nurses, Miss Jackson, who expressed her pleasure at meeting the members of the club. Dr. Clark then gave an informal talk on Pneumonia, its various types and modern methods of treatment. His subject was one that was interesting to all, and he outlined the present accepted methods of treatment in a most informative way, clearing up much that was hazy about the drugs used in the treatment of this and other diseases.

Tea was served after the meeting.

ATTENDING SERIES GAMES IN CINCINNATI

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ford of Kenwin road left Monday to spend their vacation in Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Stamm and of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grayson. The Fords will attend the World Series games in Cincinnati and will be rooting for the Reds, Mr. Ford, who is proprietor of Horace Ford's restaurant and ice cream shop on Winchester terrace, having been a star shortstop for the new National League champions during a part of his long career in the majors. Mr. Grayson is sports editor of the Cincinnati "Times-Star" and a visitor in Winchester whenever the Reds are playing in Boston.

MANSFIELD'S TEAM WON OPENER

Coach Wendell Mansfield's Bates varsity won its first game under his tutelelge last Saturday, defeating American International College of Springfield, 7—0. Coach Mansfield, former Winchester High director of athletics and coach, was not a little worried over the outcome of his game with the "Amnicos" as he was faced with the problem of teaching his "Bobcats" a new system and is not blessed with any great amount of outstanding material at Lewiston this fall. Bates plays Harvard Saturday at the Stadium and many of Coach Mansfield's Winchester friends are planning to see his eleven against the Crimson.

WINCHESTER SECOND FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

WINCHESTER BATTLES MARBLEHEAD TO SCORELESS TIE

DeTeso Bright Star of Tight Defensive Game

Winchester and Marblehead High Schools battled to a scoreless stalemate in the humid reek of the Shore road athletic field last Saturday afternoon before a good sized, but by no means capacity crowd. For the locals the result was something of a moral victory since Winchester has always been the underdog in its meetings with the traveling Headers.

Marblehead brought a 50 piece uniformed student band to Winchester, led by two drum majorettes, and a big crowd of rooters. The visitors had little to yell about as they watched their heavier eleven continually checked by a stubborn Winchester defense, led by those two co-captain stalwarts, Tony DeTeso and Pete Galuffo.

DeTeso's center play was especially outstanding and fit to compare with that of any of the great pivot men Winchester has been fortunate to have through the years. Tony easily made more than half his team's tackles and was in the middle of every play, fighting off the assaults of the big Header forwards and knifing through to bring down visiting ball carriers in spectacular fashion. Calling the defensive signals, the little 150 pound dynamo was seldom fooled by the Marblehead offense and the way he shook off a painful leg injury early in the battle and kept on going aroused the admiration of both stands.

Galuffo too played a fine all around game, refusing to be sucked in on the reverse plays of the visitors and being the spearhead of the locals' limited offense. Peter's patened spinner was Winchester's chief offensive threat but except for one 12 yard dash in the second half, the big Marbleahead linemen kept it pretty well in check. Aside from this a seven yard buck by Galuffo early in hostilities and a six yard reverse by Tracy shortly before the half constituted the only times the local backs were able to exceed or even approach the five yards gained mark.

The Headers, playing in short-sleeved white undershirts instead of jersies, did rather better, reeling off jaunts of 22 and 20 yards and generally speaking having a much higher rushing average than Winchester. Neither team, however, came anywhere near scoring, if you toss out a second half low pass that Tracy couldn't hold with a clear path to the Header goal. The visitors appeared very vulnerable to a passing attack all afternoon, but the locals failed to take advantage of this apparent weakness, throwing only four aerials, completing none and having one intercepted.

Marblehead had two of its six passes intercented and completed but one, this one going for 26 yards which were nullified by a costly penalty. The visitors made five first downs to one for Winchester, rushing for 126 yards to 36 yards for the locals. Each team fumbled once, Marblehead recovering both times. The visitors were penalized 15 yards to 20 for the locals.

The visitors were in their own territory during most of the first half, due to a couple of very poor kicks and some questionable strategy that called for a running play with six yards to go on fourth down, resulting in the loss of the ball on downs at Winchester's 30 instead of punting the locals well back into their danger territory near the goal line.

The locals lost a great chance to get going in the first quarter when a 12 yard punt gave them the ball on the visitors' 28. On the first play Winchester lost five yards for back in motion and on second down after hitting center for eight yards, Galuffo fumbled, Marblehead recovering.

For a minute it looked like Marblehead might go somewhere just before the half when a local forward was intercepted for a 20 yard runback and a near clear field to the goal. Ellis crossed over to make trouble-saving tackle at the Marblehead 45, and though Carey on a center sneak broke through to the local 35 for a first down, the whistle for the half put a stop to this advance.

Neither team showed much offensively during the second half which was not surprising in view of the hot muggy going. Winchester, by virtue of Galuffo's 12 yard smash from a spinner, held the visitors pretty even in yardage, making 20½ to 25½ for Marblehead.

As the teams changed goals for the final quarter Galuffo broke through for the local's only first down on the Marblehead 44. Peter then dropped back and shot off a pass slightly to the left of the center alley which Tracy had to turn around for and missed below his knees. A completion of this might have meant a touchdown as there were no Marblehead defenders in the immediate picture.

Sandwiching in a buck Galuffo again threw a pass, this one high enough and in front of the receiver, who however, lost the ball as he was hit very hard by a big Marblehead wingback. It was a play that could have been ruled either way and Umpire Callahan ruled an incomplete pass instead of interference. On the next play Marabella kicked across the goal line and Winchester's last chance was gone.

The visitors had two tough breaks in the final stanza, the first shortly after they put the ball in play following Marabella's kick. Waters booted to Harris who fumbled the ball as he was hit hard by big Chirnside at Winchester's 45, Chirnside recovering.

Winchester had bumped the kicker on the play, and a mandatory five yard penalty brought the ball back. On the next kick Harris courageously caught the ball and ran it back ten yards to his 45.

The locals then had a bit of bad luck when Marabella's quick kick was good for only a yard, Marblehead recovering on the Winchester 46. Here a pretty pass out to the left was completed, the receiver finally stumbling and being downed on Winchester's 20, only to have the play called back and a penalty imposed for a back in motion.

About all the fight went out of the tired visitors with this reverse and soon after DeTeso intercepted a pass to return the ball to his 45 as the game ended.

Early in the last quarter Winchester was in a hole when Waters spiralled a corking coffin-corner kick outside at the local seven from his own 41. A pretty quick kick by Marabella returned the ball to the Headers' 34, catching the safety man flat-footed and preventing plenty of possible trouble.

In every 1940 Buick you get the skilled engineering and sturdy quality traditional to Buick—enriched by all the extra value which General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide

*Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

No, you couldn't do what we wanted to do, and do it cheap.

You couldn't set out to top the field, focusing on how much you could put in rather than take out—and with accustomed equipment keep costs down.

You couldn't micro-balance engines, heavy-up frames and running gear, strengthen bodies, enrich upholstery and fittings, improve performance, better the value per inch, per pound and per dollar—and do it with last year's methods.

So we faced it, re-tooled and renewed our vast modern plant all over again—put eight million new dollars on the line; the Buick line for 1940.

What did we get for it? Rather ask, what do you get? Listen.

You get a big beautiful brawny car styled to knock your eye out—the fashion pattern for them all next year, just look around and see.

You get a car that positively glitters in its brilliance of action, modern as television in the wondrous way it does things.

You get for your command that surging, soaring, millrace power of the matchless Dynaflash engine, now electrically balanced after assembly to micropoised perfection!

Ordering a firm to hire two men who had never worked for it and demanding that it pay them a year's back wages that were never earned is right in line with this New Democracy we hear so much about.

Cash and Carry. Cash meaning 90 day credit and carry meaning 700 miles.

"Join the Army and see the World." There's quite a lot of meat in that little slogan.

Well—who would employ communists and facists anyway. You can go to jail if you don't employ union members.

School is back—and so are the bicycles. Four times a day our streets are filled with kids, dammed and scolded at, but always in danger of being crippled or killed through their own or a car driver's carelessness. And our fine concrete sidewalks run through the town deserted. Except the early morning and late evening hours one seldom sees, these days, a pedestrian. Why not take this mess of bicycles out of the streets? Make a forbidden zone about the center proper if necessary, but let the kids ride their bikes else where, to and from school, on these fine broad sidewalks. We hear of one Vermont city where this is done to satisfactory convenience and safety of all, and if a kid is caught riding a wheel in the street he is warned or arrested. Neither the kids nor the car drivers like the present conditions. We have paid for these expensive sidewalks—why not get some good use out of them?

Now, having spent a day filling out reports and forms, giving our name or whatever our betters desire to call us, enumerating our employees, giving their numbers (which we were told would never occur here), and in fact supplying a pretty comprehensive view of everything except the whites of our eyes and what we see, we are in shape to send in checks for that great robbery of business entitled under our New Democracy "social security." Having supplied the sustenance for eight people for the past three months without even making the wages paid them, we can pay into our rulers coffers over $130. This for the privilege of attempting to do business under our New Democracy. This brings the fines paid out of this office thus far this year up to $666. All in the name of social security. Ourselves—we have no social security. Nor any other kind. If we go broke trying to keep ahead of these fines and escape the New Deal jails—why, it's just our hard luck. We have a number all right (even though it couldn't happen here), but our number carries no promise of social security or any other kind of security. When we go broke, we go broke. As we see it, about 20 per cent of the people are paying money promised to about 70 per cent of the people, with about 10 per cent of the people not affected either way. Great waves of propaganda were recently issued citing the enormous savings to be granted business through changes in the high sounding social security. What was it? Why, just another New Deal blurb. Instead of raising the fine now imposed, they plan to let it set as it is. Consolidate the gains as it were. In other words, having cut off the right hand of business they are now willing to leave it with a left hand and sing paeans of joy over the fact it's got that left. Meanwhile the 70 per cent who (expect to) get this milk, added to the 10 per cent who neither pay it nor expect it, are busy with their own affairs and worrying over keeping out of war. And the milking of America goes merrily on.

SOCRATES SAYS-

IN THE RED

It is reported in the Press that Chairman Dies, (D., Texas) of the House Committee on un-American activities said recently, that there are 2,850 "known communists" holding key government positions.

This statement coming from such a high governmental source and from a member of the New Deal party, must of course, be based on facts. The amazing part of this revelation is, that the New Deal party considered it necessary under their patronage system, "to the victor belongs the spoils," to appoint known communists to such high positions.

Chairman Dies further is reported as saying that the Justice Department had been asked to begin "purging known communists" who hold key government positions.

This would appear to show that either the Administration has changed its mind about appointing communists, has found politically that they appointed too many communists, or have reason to believe that communists are not entitled to be recognized.

It would seem now that the real thing to accomplish is to ascertain who was responsible for the policy that appointed "known communists" in the first place. How did they get there, who did it, and what is back of it.

Something is certainly wrong in this picture if it has been found now that communists should not have been appointed in the first place.

—Socrates

FROM ELMER D. FLETCHER

To the Editor of the Star:

I have read with much interest the article in last week's Star: it being a reprint from the Journal of Forestry entitled "Undertones in the Forestry Symphony" by Mr. Fred W. Luening of the Milwaukee Journal at the annual meeting of the Society of American Foresters at Milwaukee, Wis.

While I was not at this meeting I have been a member of this Society for many years and I am mighty glad that you printed the entire address of Mr. Luening.

It is to bad that other leading papers have not reprinted this since to my mind Mr. Luening has hit much of the fundamental trouble in this country and has shown a complete understanding not only of the trend in our National and State Forests in the last several New Deal years, but of economies of "Something for Nothing."

As a member of the United States Forest Service for many years, I have watched this trend to give "something for nothing," but which has enlarged since the community in of, the So-Called New Deal. One only has to go to the White Mountain National Forest and note the projects such as, the Dolly Copp Camp Ground and the Almost Coney Island aspect of the Campton Beach, the thousands of dollars spent there; also in Tuckerman's Ravine, ski runs, Long Pond, Fish Pond, in Bretton and many more projects which are not forestry nor do they stimulate a timber crop, which is the main purpose of the forest.

It is probably true that the National Park Service has been a factor in forcing the Forest Service to make more and more provision for recreation on the National Forests. This, however, should not hold true on the State Forests. With the coming of the C. C. C. the National Parks Service horned in, especially on the State Forests, and spent thousands of dollars building "Dop Dads" all over the place, with white washed sock bordered spaces, rustic walls, etc., which would last but a year or two, many of which looked like the work of a tenderfoot Boy Scout troop.

Thus as Mr. Luening says, "The present forest recreational movement is largely stripped of its old-time virtues. When men and women went to the forests on their own motive power, packing their own tents and grub, toting their own canoes, fighting their own way through brush and over down logs, flys, etc., the forests "did things" to them and for them," "and a determination to do things and go places."

A public insistant upon electric lights, running water, refreshment stands, dance halls, hardly is returning to original American purposes and achievements."

I hope even our own towns governmental personnel will read Mr. Luening's analysis of the question of, "Something for Nothing" and profit by it, likewise those who have to foot the bills might well make up to the fact that much of the bally-hoo about more recreation is just another racket designed by those who want that "Something for Nothing."

Very truly yours,
E. D. Fletcher

HENRY GEORGE SCHOOL

By the time this is printed Fall classes will have begun the fifth season of the Henry George School of Social Science in nine cities and towns of Greater Boston and on Oct. 10 the tenth will be underway. In the four years over 20,000 students have taken the course and this year promises to be "bigger and better" than ever. Such a response proves that the course offered is appreciated by the public.

The sponsors of the school believe that the only safe and certain way to attack, understandingly, our business depressions, unemployment problems, and our taxation muddle is through a sound education of the people themselves in the basic principles of economies and social philosophy.

It was the failure to do this that opened the way for dictators in Europe and is the great danger in our democracy. When the people as a whole have learned to think for themselves and understand the basic "How's an Why's" of things they can be trusted to insist on the sane, right thing being done. Events are moving fast and the school urges the public to give its attention to this educational movement as an opportunity to broaden the base of its individual and collective thinking before things get any more complicated. Sound reasoning is the democratic way ALWAYS.

The Winchester class of the Boston Extension Henry George School of Social Science met at the American Legion Building last Tuesday evening under the able leadership of Mr. Morris Hand, B.A., who majored in Economics at Boston University, for enrollment in this interesting series of ten sessions. In spite of bad weather the attendance was good although many more are expected to enroll at the next meeting on Oct. 10 at 7:45 p. m. Since these are actually discussion groups rather than lectures, requiring no previous formal preparation, they are rapidly gaining in the attendance of busy people able to bring to the discussion something of their own experience. This variety of approach is responsible for much of the popularity of these courses.

WISWELL NEW CROSSCUP-PISHON COMMANDER

A veteran advertising man with newspaper experience in Bridgeport, New London and Boston as well as independent advertising experience, he is now treasurer of the Boston firm of Chambers & Wiswell. During the World War he served as a lieutenant in the United States Army Air Service attached to the British Army.

Mr. Wiswell has been a member of Cross-cup Pishon Post since its inception 15 years ago, holding about every job available. He was a member of the National Convention Committee when the Legion last met in Boston in 1930. In the promotional field he has put on among other successful ventures the Sharkey-Maloney boxing match and the recent Washington-Redskins-Eastern College All Stars football game at Fenway Park.

MT. HOLYOKE BOOK TALK

Winchester Library Hall was filled on the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 3 for the first of Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond's series of six monthly book talks. Mrs. James B. Willing, head of the committee of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Association which sponsors Mrs. Bond's talks for the benefit of its scholarship fund, introduced the speaker.

Although Mrs. Bond's subject for the morning was "Fall Fiction" she read bits from J. P. R. Thompson's "I Lost My English Accent" because of the amusing picture it presented of an Englishman's reaction to America and New York in particular, and touched on Dwight Hutchinson's "Free for Three Months Only" an account of the escape to the country of an advertising woman in company with her two children.

The fiction which Mrs. Bond discussed was notable not only for its wide geographical range but also for its deep, underlying spiritual qualities, an expression, perhaps, of the author's concern with the problems of the time. She spoke of Ararat by Elgin Groseclose, the story of an American cowboy who became a missionary to the oppressed Armenians, of "Christ in Concrete" by Pietro di Donato, a young Italian brick-layer's fictionalizes account of his early struggles with adversity and loss of faith, and of "Children of God," Vardis Fisher's story of the beginnings of Mormonism and its acquiring of a "promised land." "Watch for the Dawn," said Mrs. Bond, is part of Stuart Cloete's trilogy of the Boers and like his "The Turning Wheels" full of adventure, historical incident, and spiritual truth. "Escape" by Ethel Vance, although it deals with Nazi Germany and a concentration camp, is a story of normal people in the face of a real crisis and full of tremendous suspense to the very end, said Mrs. Bond. "Authors in Paradise" by Allen Griffiths was the only satiric novel Mrs. Bond discussed and is the story of an ordinary man to whom Dean Swift dictates a "best seller."

Mrs. Bond's next talk will be on Tuesday morning, Nov. 7, at 10 o'clock in the library hall.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 5, which indicates our best attendance record since June, with still a chance to better it.

John McLean complains of a cold in the head. Which is too bad, since we understand that the treatment of this malady is not in the province of the podiatrist. But John, we believe, can rise to the occasion.

"The Cog," weekly news letter published by the Rotary Club of Medford, informs us that Sept. 21 was celebrated by that club as "Josh Kelley Day" in honor of Winchester's esteemed citizen, Joshua C. Kelley, who is past president of the Medford Club and about to retire from membership therein. Says "The Cog"—"This club seems destined to lose one of its sterling members. Joshua C. Kelley has performed many kindly acts, is generous to a fault and is a natural born diplomat, one of the kind that gets what he is after without making a fuss. The thought of the Rotary Club of Medford meeting Thursdays without making a fuss. The thought of the Rotary Club of Medford meeting Thursdays without the genial presence of Josh Kelley is filled with deep regret. And to this enconium for our good neighbor Winchester Rotarians add a hearty "Amen."

Again we announce that the Rotary Club of Medford is sponsoring a series of four lectures as its service in behalf of the Institute of International Understanding. These lectures will be delivered in the Assembly Hall of the Medford High School at 8 p. m. on Fridays, Oct. 6, 13, 20, 27. The lecturers are men of outstanding ability in the field of international relations and their subjects are in the forefront of public attention. Tickets covering the entire series are priced at 40c and may be obtained from F. H. Knight, 4 Ridgeway. The general public is invited to patronize this presentation and the response should be generous.

We are informed that present world conditions will not alter the decision of Rotary International to hold the 1940 Convention at Rio de Janeiro. There is every indication that North American Rotarians will give the convention their hearty support and register a generous attendance. Never has there been greater need for the practice of the principles which Rotarians profess and there is a broader and stronger recognition of the fact that the furtherance of international friendship, one of Rotary's major objectives, must not be allowed to lag. And here it is pertinent to state that, of the four newly admitted Rotary clubs listed in the last R. I. News Letter, three are located in South America.

Our guest speaker at the meeting of Oct. 5 was Mr. Paul Ewell, professional dog trainer and member of the New England Dog Training Club. Mr. Ewell held the undivided attention of his listeners as he told of the methods employed by professionals in the education of our canine friends, a talk well calculated to install a new respect for the intelligence of dogs, especially when they are favored with understanding and sympathetic treatment. Mr. Ewell was warmly congratulated at the conclusion of his remarks.

Attention, Rotarians. There will be no meeting of this club on Thursday, Oct. 12, Columbus Day. Next meeting as regularly scheduled on Thursday, Oct. 19. Everybody come.

JUNIOR HIGH DESSERT BRIDGE

On Tuesday, Oct. 3, the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Junior High School held their very delightful dessert bridge at the Wyman School. Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard, the very charming chairman of the ways and means committee, was in charge and is certainly to be congratulated on making the afternoon such a success not only from a financial point of view, but also from a social point of view.

The harvest decorations were most attractive with autumn leaves and the bright, warm fall colors. The table prizes carried out the same color scheme and even though it poured outside, the sun seemed to be shining inside. Orchids to the decorations committee.

It is useless for so many mothers to make New Years resolutions about reducing and then have the food table committee present such an appetizing table. The spirit may be willing but oh! how weak the flesh is as was evidenced by the way those non-reducing snares disappeared. And this on top of the delicious dessert served by the refreshment committee!

Space does not permit the going into detail about all those who worked so hard to make the afternoon a success, but Mrs. Blanchard has asked the publicity chairman to publicly thank all those who so generously gave of their time and effort, especially the ticket co-chairmen and their assistants.

The simply fascinating basket of food was won by Mrs. Fred Moore of Melrose and the lovely Parkwood compact, given as a door prize, by Mrs. C. F. Hauser.

MYSTIC SCHOOL NOTES

The officers for the Junior Red Cross were elected Friday afternoon, Sept. 29, by grades 4, 5 and 6 The following were chosen:

President—Patty Root
Vice President—Dean Blanchard
Secretary—Barbara Lynch
Treasurer—Sally Blanchard

The first Red Cross meeting of the year was held this morning in the auditorium. It was followed by a program on Safety.

MYSTIC SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

On Wednesday evening the annual reception for the teachers given by the Mystic School Mothers' Association was held. This year it was decided to have it in the evening so that both fathers and mothers might meet the teachers of their school children.

The reception was held in the "Carrig-Rohane" Studio of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff and about eight parents attended.

Mrs. Dresser and the capable staff of teachers were a delight to see and talk with; and their gay dinner dresses and the flowers and candles added a festive touch to the occasion.

Coffee and delicious cakes were served by the hostess committee and the general feeling was one of satisfaction of "getting together" a little more.

The first of the annual grade teas was also held in Mrs. Samoiloff's studio on Tuesday afternoon for the Mystic Kindergarten. This will be followed by the first grade tea next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Nicholson on Grove street.

These teas are held for the purpose of making each grade teacher and the various mothers better acquainted.

FOOTBALL COLUMBUS DAY

The football game sponsored by the Winchester Post, 97, between Wentworth Institute and Fore River School which will take place on the Shore road athletic field on the holiday afternoon bids fair to become a real football game. Last year's game between these teams was decidedly faster than most fans anticipated.

Fore River goes into this their third game without a defeat feeling quite confident that their experience will pull them through. They are fielding a club which is practically the same as that of last year and in addition have strong capable reserves. Wentworth, on the other hand, has a complete new team which has very little reserve strength. The line is heavy and inexperienced but will probably be a powerful unit along mid season. The backfield, however, is very light and fast and can certainly throw that ball around.

Starting time is 2:30.

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 8.
The Golden Text is: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases" (Psalms 103:2, 3).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover" (Mark 16:17, 18).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The days of our pilgrimage will multiply instead of diminish, when God's kingdom comes on earth; for the true way leads to Life instead of to death, and earthly experience discloses the finity of error and the infinite capacities of Truth, in which God gives man dominion over all the earth" (p. 262).

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Girl Scouts began their troop activities yesterday with there respective troops and leaders.

Troops 2 and 3 will be meeting together temporarily with Mrs. Marshall Symmes and Mrs. Rega Flynn leading. They met yesterday at the Congregational Church.

The Ship Troop 8 with Miss Margaret Newman as skipper will meet Wednesday evening, Oct. 11 at the Girl Scout headquarters.

The Brownie Leaders and their assistants had a very interesting meeting Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson. There was a display in handcraft which was done by the Brownies of Mrs. Adin Bailey's group last year. Mrs. Francis McCall brought some gleamings from Pine Tree Training Camp at Plymouth where she spent part of the summer.

PUNCH SYSTEM FOR MISS AVERY'S LECTURES

Tickets for the series of ten lectures by Eunice H. Avery, sponsored by the Smith College Club, will this year carry the privilege of punched attendance. This punch system, applied to the nine afternoon lectures, allows the subscriber nine admissions without reference to dates; she may bring eight friends on one afternoon, if she likes, or more conservatively bring one or two on spare punches accumulated through being ill or away. Since practically everyone is focussed on world affairs and interested in enlightening discussion of them, this punch system and the more convenient spacing of the lecture dates should sweep away the last obstacles in the path of many would-be subscribers. The lectures will be given in the Wyman School hall, Wednesday afternoons at 2:30, on Oct. 18, Nov. 1, 15 and 29, Dec. 13, Jan. 10 and 24, Feb. 7 and March 6. The date of the evening lecture, to be given by Prof. Hans Kohn of Smith College, will be announced at the first of the year. Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley is chairman of the committee for the lectures.

THRIFT SHOP OPENS

The Winchester Thrift Shop held its annual opening on Monday, Oct. 2, attracting a capacity crowd. People from nearby towns as well as residents of Winchester attended. There were many articles for sale including brasses, fine china and glassware, fur coats, mahogany furniture and clothing for each member of the family.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to visit the shop. Now is the time to satisfy your curiosity and to see the amazing work that is being carried on by the women of the First Baptist Church of Winchester.

Mrs. Charles Burnham, general chairman, wishes to thank all those whose generous contributions continue to make this Thrift Shop a successful business venture as well as an organized charitable institution.

Senior and Sea Scout Conference at Tufts College

Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America will act as host council to the New England Regional Senior and Sea Scout Committee on Saturday, Oct. 7, at Robinson Hall, Tufts College. The host council, under the leadership of Commodore Ralph A. Stevens, has made plans for a very busy afternoon and evening program.

The program starts with a meeting of the New England Regional Committee at 4:30 p. m. under the leadership of Alex. W. Moffat of Brookline, a member of the National Sea Scout Committee, and Commodore for the New England Region. The members who have stated their intention of being present are: E. Seymour Clark of Sandwich, John M. Bierer of Newton, Axel E. Zetterman of Ashland, Malcolm C. Sargent of Wollaston, and Don W. Moyer, scout executive of New England. Mr. Robert H. Sibley, president of Fellsland Council, will give the welcoming address.

At 5:30 p. m. the Commodorees of Region I will have a round-table conference under the leadership of Commodore Ernest Nibbs of New London, Conn. Mr. William O. Jones, commissioner of Fellsland Council, will give the greetings to the Commodores.

This round-table conference will include short presentations by Commodore Louis F. Jones of Quincy, Commodore Raymond May of Malden, Skipper Carl A. Stevens of Medford, Commodore Robert E. Bemis of Cambridge, Commodore Harold T. N. Smith of Salem, Pilot Harold T. Plummer of Portland, Me., and Scoutmaster Leslie P. Hinds of West Medford. Mr. John J. Levine of Medford will serve as secretary to the conference. Brief remarks will also be made by Ralph A. Stevens, Commodore of Fellsland Council, as well as Edward W. Nelson, scout executive, and Elliott R. Dudley, field executive of Fellsland Council.

Directly after this conference the group will break up for luncheon at Curtis Hall cafeteria and will reassemble in Robinson Hall, Tufts College, at 7:30 p. m. At this time Joseph W. Morton, member of the Alumnae Association of Tufts College, will show moving pictures of "College Life on the 'Hill.'"

At 8 p. m., with Mr. Earl M. Woodward of the Medford High School Faculty serving as chairman, and Clarence L. Moore of Lynn serving as secretary, there will be an open meeting for all interested people on a lecture and demonstration on the natural Sciences, including "Radio's Tool's, Electricity and Sound," by the department of physics of Tufts College. Prof. Jameson R. Harrison, assisted by faculty members George H. Hammond and Carl A. Stevens, will be in charge of the evening's program.

All Sea Scouts, Senior Scouts, their lady friends are cordially invited to attend the evening session starting at 7:30 p. m. All Scouters or immediate friends can attend both the evening session and the 5:30 session, as guests of the Fellsland Council.

WINCHESTER MEN GUESTS

William N. Beggs, Earl E. Andrews and George Davidson were among the Winchesterites among the guests at the dinner recently tendered the members of the advisory committees of the Salvation Army by Andrew S. Seiler, chairman of the Metropolitan Division at Seiler's Ten Acres.

Here in Winchester the campaign in aid of the annual maintenance fund of the Salvation Army soon will get under way. Winchester will go over the top in its usual generous manner in aid of the Army That Never Sleeps but is on duty 365 days a year feeding the hungry, clothing the poor, housing the homeless, nursing the sick and suffering, aiding the unfortunate and helping the helpless regardless of race, color or creed.

"I think one of the greatest tributes ever paid a charitable organization," says Mr. Beggs, "was given the Salvation Army by John E. Wilson, president of Batchelder, Snyder & Co., who said:

"'There is no better set-up for the aid of mankind. I know. I have checked. I have seen.'

"When a hard headed business man like Mr. Wilson places so emphatic stamp of approval on an organization," concluded Mr. Beggs, "that organization is worth backing 100 per cent."

Earl Andrews, who was listening to Mr. Beggs added:

"And it is a good thing to remember that in addition to the usual routine help the Salvation Army gives all those who need it day in and day out throughout the year, the Army must be ready to meet any exceptional emergency, be it fire, flood, hurricane, or war."

"The Salvation Army directs its aid into many channels unchartered by other charities," says George Davidson. "Its military organization makes for smooth operation and eliminates waste motion. The Salvation Army not only knows who to help, where to help and how to help but it knows the quickest and most efficient way to actually give the help."

LOWELL THOMAS COMES TO WINCHESTER

On Saturday evening, Oct. 28, at 8:30, the Winchester Mothers' Association will present the well known radio commentator, author and lecturer, Lowell Thomas, for the benefit of the Winchester Scholarship Fund. His subject will be "Adventures Around the World and on the Air" with a few choice contributions from his Tall Story Club. Mr. Thomas will speak in the Town Hall and tickets go on sale Oct. 9, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. at Mary Spaulding's Book Store.

Last year the Scholarship Committee was able to make possible six awards which were as follows:

Charles Bacon—Bowdoin
Bernice Tabor—Simmons
Jane Grimes—Radcliffe
Margaret McDonald—Simmons
John McPartlin—Boston University
David Riley—Swarthmore

A review of the Scholarship Funds shows one award in 1933, two in 1934, three in 1935, three in 1936, four in 1937, four in 1938 and six in 1939. This proves that the Scholarship Fund is now a town affair; that the people of Winchester realize the importance of this project and that the immense amount of work put into it by the Mother's Association is yielding greater and greater returns. To the various committees connected with the Scholarship Fund the word "returns" does not mean financial returns only. It means the satisfaction of being able to guarantee to ambitious girls and boys of the Winchester schools the opportunity for higher education; the cementing of town friendship and the feeling that they have helped to fulfill one of the hopes of other Winchester parents.

When other sections of the world are being asked to invest and reinvest in materials of war to destroy youth, the Mothers' Association offers the opportunity to invest in the building up the morale of our young people by showing them we are eager to reward their diligence through our Scholarship Fund, that we are essentially interested in their futures and gratified beyond words when they live up to our expectations.

The number of scholarships awarded must, of course, depend upon the generosity of the townspeople, this resulted in the awarding last year of the six scholarships. This year we hope to even better that, but it must be remembered that unless the Selectmen see fit to build an annex to the Town Hall, the Scholarship Committee must reach a certain limit! The interest in Mr. Thomas is very widespread and in view of the limited seating capacity of the Town Hall, the Committee feels they should warn those wishing to attend that it will be a case of first come first served.

Through the cooperation of the Winchester Star we will next week report the very many people working for the Scholarship Fund. Through the cooperation of all the Boston papers a notice of Scholarship Fund activities will be spread far and wide. Through the cooperation of every Boston radio station a daily notice will be given of the coming to Winchester of Mr. Thomas for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund and when you go to the Winchester Theatre you will be reminded that the Mothers' Association will present Mr. Thomas on Oct. 28th. It would seem as though the Town of Winchester will receive plenty or reminders and we hope that no one will be disappointed in not being able to secure a seat because he, or she, put off going down to Mary Spauldings until it was too late.

WHERE DOES THE WEST BEGIN?

Out where the smile dwells a little longer, that's where the West begins, according to a popular versifier. Physically, says the National Geographic Society, the general course of empire has steadily pushed westward the limits indicated by the term, until at last West, at least from the American point of view, is literally East. In ancient times, Europe was west to the early civilizations. The name Europe came originally from the Hebrew word "ereb" which means "to the west," the land of the setting sun, or evening. When the Arabs, moving westward across North Africa, came at last to what is now Morocco on the Atlantic Ocean, they called the country, with confident finality, "Moghreb-el-Aksa," "the Farthest West."

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

SAFE DRIVING RECORD

A remarkable safe driving record was made by the ice cream route salesmen of H. P. Hood & Sons, according to a report issued by the company today. Throughout the season of greatest activity and hazard, from June 1, to Sept. 1, 14 of the 27 ice cream plants operated by the company had no automobile accidents at all. The 80 drivers going out from these plants drove more than 375,000 miles, largely in heavy traffic, without hitting anyone or anything or, without any other car hitting them.

The ice cream plants which had no automobile accidents were New Haven with 10 trucks, Portland with 9, Cambridge with 8, Worcester with 7, Concord, N. H., Lawrence, Lynn and Quincy with six trucks each, Bangor, Me., and Hyannis with five each, and Middletown, Conn., Northampton, Rutland, Vt. and Taunton with three trucks each. The Fall River branch also had an excellent record with only one automobile accident with eight trucks on the road and a total of nearly 50,000 miles of heavy traffic driving.

The Hood Company reports that counting in all ice cream plants, the average accidents in the three months of the busiest ice cream season, were only one in 40,000 miles of driving. The 27 plants had 224 automobiles on the road all day and some part of the night to meet the demands of the trade and the aggregate mileage run was nearly 1,250,000 miles. There were only 25 automobile accidents in that time, counting in all accidents which were entirely the fault of others as well as those for which the Hood drivers were responsible.

PROPOSED BUILDING AT BEACON & WALNUT STREETS

PLANS FOR CALVIN COOLIDGE COLLEGE TO BE LAUNCHED ON OCTOBER 10TH

New Institution Will Front On Boston Common

A drive for funds to erect the Calvin Coolidge College at the corner of Beacon and Walnut streets, Boston, will be launched with a dinner at the Boston Chamber of Commerce Building on Tuesday evening, October 10th.

The institution will be a progressive liberal arts co-educational college and will stand on a 10,000 sq. ft. plot overlooking Boston Common.

In granting her permission for the construction of this memorial Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, widow of the late president, said: "There is nothing in which Mr. Coolidge was more interested than education. I feel that such a memorial would be more fitting than any monument of stone or marble figure."

Plans call for a Colonial style building of fifty rooms including auditorium, physical and chemical laboratories, two libraries, gymnasium, administrative offices, faculty and student rooms and class rooms to accommodate approximately 1400 students. Materials from every state in New England will be represented in the construction. The base, granite from New Hampshire and Rhode Island; the first story, marble from Vermont; the other stories, brick from Massachusetts; the columns and cupola, white pine from Maine; the hardware and brass fittings from Connecticut.

The faculty has been tentatively chosen and will include outstanding educators who have served on the faculties of well-known colleges and universities.

The following prominent men and women have accepted the Committee's invitation to speak at the dinner. Colonel Frank Knox, Republican nominee for Vice President in 1936; Governor Leverett Saltonstall; Governor George D. Aiken; Lt. Governor Horace T Cahill; Hon. Jesse Metcalf; Hon. Maurice J. Tobin; Dr. Arthur W MacLean; Hon. Jeremiah E O'Connell; Mrs. Will A. Ellingwood; Hon. Berthan G. Hayes and Mrs. Edward S. Moulton.

More than 1000 are expected to attend the dinner including representatives from every section of the country.

WINCHESTER MEETS STONEHAM SATURDAY

Polished Offensive Drive vs Lexington

On a sultry mid-summer afternoon on Sept. 16, Winchester played a stubborn defensive game against Arlington High School at Arlington, holding the heavy Red and Gray team to two touchdowns. Two weeks later at Winchester the Red and Blue aggregation played to an unimpressive scoreless tie against Marblehead. Last Saturday at Lexington the Winchester team got under way in definite fashion by trouncing Lexington 39 to 0 at Lexington and revealing a real scoring power, although the opposition was woefully weak. This game, however, provided the opportunity to polish up the offensive timing and should serve as a fine build-up for the rugged battle against the veteran Stoneham team this week at Stoneham.

Stoneham, it will be remembered, gave Winchester one of its hardest battles last season, and its victory against the heavy Maynard team last Saturday marks Stoneham as the team to beat if Winchester is to figure in the championship honors again this year. Stoneham, playing on its own wind-swept field, will be a hard nut to crack, but Toney DeTeso and Pete Galuffo, co-captains of the Red and Black, make no bones about predicting a victory, and these two veterans know what they are talking about both on the field and off. DeTeso may well be rated as the number one defensive player in the league, while Galuffo is the whole works of the Winchester offensive.

Stoneham, with four league contests under its belt, one a tie and the other a thin-lipped victory, may be in beter trim for a roaring battle than the visitors, after their easy victory last week. But when two good teams meet on the gridiron, past games may well be discounted. There are too many possibilities and breaks in high school football to give much weight to what a team may have done the previous week. Our guess is that the team which plays the most aggressive game and gets the jump will squeak through with a win.

If Stoneham wins, it will look like a sure championship outfit. If Winchester wins, there should be a merry battle for top honors right down through the list, with Belmont and Maynard both real threats. Winchester will bring a big crowd of royal rooters to the game who will be cheering for the Red and Black aggregation from start to finish. Perhaps one of the factors in the game may be the quality of replacements on both teams. Winchester is fortunate in having almost two teams of equal ability, outside of one or two positions. Stoneham too is not handicapped in its reserves. All in all the game shapes up as the gamc of the early season. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

Probable lineup: Winchester; le, Vespucci; lt, Keyes; lg, Roop; c, DeTeso; rg, Palumbo; rt, Caputo; re, Ellis; qb, Stygles; lhb, Marabella; rhb, Tracy, McEwen; fb, Galuffo.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL RECEPTION

On Monday, Oct. 16 at 3:30 p. m. the Junior High School Board will hold a reception for the faculty, seventh grade mothers and new mothers in the eighth grade, in the Junior High School Building.

Mothers who have this year left, with a good deal of regret, the friendly environment which prevails in our primary school, are more or less like babes in the wood in the new atmosphere of the Junior High. For this reason the Board felt it would be most beneficial for the mothers to have an opportunity to meet the faculty, as well as each other, and be taken over the school building. Mrs. John Penniman has made arrangements for conducted tours and Mrs. Meriel Preston, chairman of refreshments with her assistants Mrs. W. Allan Wilde, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Philip O'Rourke and Mrs. Harold Dover will assure of us cooling refreshments this warm weather.

Mrs. Penniman, who is a most gracious social chairman, hopes every mother connected with the seventh grade will be present. The Board is most anxious to make your acquaintance and make you welcome. We wish to continue through our Junior High School days the same close feeling of friendship which prevailed during the past six years.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase is opening her home on Lakeview terrace for the meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 19.

This promises to be a well attended and interesting meeting as Judge Emma Fall Schofield is so highly regarded by her Winchester friends. Judge Schofield is a speaker of unusual charm and ability and never fails to thrill her audiences.

All the attractive hand-made articles for the Bazaar will be on display by Mrs. Harold F. Meyer and her committee. The dates of the Bazaar will be Nov. 1, 2, rather than the dates reported last week.

Tea will be served by Mrs. John Johnson and her committee.

HAWLEY—BUTTERWORTH

Two prominent Winchester young people were united in marriage on Wednesday evening when Miss Clara Parker Butterworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwell Robert Butterworth of 107 Cambridge street, became the bride of Mr. Ferdinand French Hawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Nelson Hawley of 9 Glengarry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the couple were attended by Mr. Robert Reed Butterworth of West Medford, brother of the bride, and Mrs. John Dexter McLean, cousin of the bride. The ushers for the ceremony and following reception included Messrs. John Dexter McLean, William E. Clark of Portland, Me., and Burgess P. Reed of East Hipole.

The residence was decorated for the occasion with ferns and white chrysanthemums, the couple being assisted in receiving at the following reception by their parents.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and the Garland School. Mr. Hawley, a Winchester High School graduate, is a graduate of Northeastern University. They will make their future home at 4 Wedge Pond road.

EPIPHANY YOUNG PEOPLE WILL HEAR ENGINEER BOUND FOR ANTARCTIC

At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, the Fireside Group of the parish of the Epiphany will hear as their first speaker of the year Mr. Frank Dawley of Washington, D.C. Mr. Dawley will be the chief engineer of the Bear, the ship which will take Admiral Byrd and a small band of assistants to Antarctica for mapping south polar land.

Mr. Dawley prefers to be presented not as a speaker but as the man who will stand up to receive and answer questions. His hearers will have a chance to hear what they are interested to hear. A speaker, on the other hand, tells his listeners what he hopes they may be interested in and what he thinks they ought to know. We may find a speaker dull, but never the man who answers our own vivid "why's?" and "how comes?" The questions may range from the machines on which the expedition is counting to the motives which send men on the errand.

Officers of the Young People's Fellowship elected for 1939-40 will be presented at this first meeting. Membership includes those of college age and those of the senior high school. Mr. Dana Cotton will again be the advisor of the Fellowship as director of Young Peoples' activities.

In order to avoid a conflict of hours Mr. Hadley will meet with his Confirmation class at 4 o'clock.

MARRIED AT ORCHARD HILL

The wedding of Miss Joan Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Pangborn Gleason, and Mr. Richard Davis Weigand of Calumet road, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Weigand of Glen Ridge, N. J., took place yesterday afternoon at Orchard Hill, the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, performed the ceremony, which took place at 4 o'clock in the presence of the families and a few intimate friends of the couple.

The residence was decorated for the occasion with white gladioli and candle light was used for illumination. The couple were attended by the groom's father and Miss Suzanne Gleason, the bride's sister. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore for her wedding a traveling suit of artichoke green wool with matching hat, and carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Suzanne Gleason wore a dress of mulberry velveteen, princess style, and wore a corsage of African daisies and acacia.

A small reception for intimate friends followed the ceremony.

The couple will spend their honeymoon touring in Canada. Mrs. Weigand is a graduate of the Brimmer School and Bradford Junior College. The groom is a graduate of Newark College of Engineering.

They will make their future home at 32 Irving street Cambridge, and will be at home after Nov. 15.

RECENT REAL ESTATE SALES

The Fessenden office of Winchester has sold for Everett F. Gray the attractive Colonial at 16 Hillcrest parkway, Winchester, to Harry J. Myers of Malden. The house, less than three years old, is modern in every detail and contains seven rooms, two baths and recreation room. A two car garage is attached in the New England farmhouse style. The property faces the beautiful Fells Reservation and a screened porch on the rear commands a view over the town. Mr. Myers buys for a home.

The Fessenden office also reports the sale for the Federal Housing Administration of the property at 216 Highland avenue, Winchester. The house is one of the older type containing 10 rooms and two baths and is being redecorated and modernized.

FALL CONFERENCE YESTERDAY

The Fall Conference of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters was held yesterday at the Church of the Epiphany. Mrs. LaRue Brown, president of the State League, opened the meeting with a talk on "The League in a World at War" in which she outlined the action of the National League in reaffirming its foreign policy of discrimination against aggressor nations in view of the present world conditions. Mrs. Henry Eaton, chairman of Foreign Policy, discussed the steps taken by the State League to further the proposed repeal of the arms embargo, with substitution of a cash and carry policy for all trade.

Department Conferences were then held, covering the fields of: Government and Its Operation, Economic Welfare, Education, Child Welfare, Legal Status of Women, Foreign Policy; also departments of Legislation, Finance, Membership and Publicity.

The speaker of the afttrnoon was Reuben Markham, war correspondent, who covered the Balkan Wars and Turkey in the World War. He was Vienna correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor at the time of the Nazi seizure of Vienna in March 1938.

"The neutrality law," he said, "as passed, prohibits the exploitation of weapons.

"With the amendments it does not put an embargo on the sale of weapons, but requires that the warring nations shall come and get all they buy from us, and pay cash for it within 30 days.

"Neither law will greatly affect America's future course of action. Mere laws will not take it into wars nor keep it out of wars, America will not be inveigled nor fooled into war. In any case, the American nation will take such action as it considers right and wise."

MRS. JOSEPH FESSENDEN

On the morning of Oct. 7, Mrs. Helen I. Fessenden, wife of Mr. Joseph Fessenden, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William N. Beggs, of this town. Private funeral services were conducted at the residence by the Rev. George Hale Reed on Monday, Oct. 9. The interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Fessenden was a resident of this town for 34 years, having moved here in 1905. She was past president of the Women's Republican Club, an active member of the Fortnightly and a member of the Christian Science Church.

For the last nine years Mrs. Fessenden has been prominent in the town's business life as the head of the H. I. Fessenden Real Estate office, and she was a member of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange.

Mrs. Fessenden was born in Syracuse, N. Y., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Inkster. She was married to Joseph Fessenden of Salem in 1899.

Mrs. Fessenden is survived by her husband, Joseph Fessenden, two daughters, Miss Dorothy Fessenden, and Mrs. W. N. Beggs of this town, a sister, Mrs. Rodman S. Reed of Cortland, N. Y. and a brother, Frederick A. Inkster of Syracuse, N. Y.

Mrs. Fessenden felt a great attachment for Winchester and always keenly interested in the civic life of the town. She will be greatly missed by her many friends in all sections of the community.

MRS. L. GERTRUDE WILKINSON

Mrs. L. Gertrude Wilkinson, widow of the late Howard A. Wilkinson, who was formerly vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of New York, died on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Grant, 117 Church street. She was 70 years of age and had been ill since last June.

Mrs. Wilkinson was a native of Chelsea, during her life time making her home for some years in Medford and later in Somerville and New Rochelle, N. Y. Her husband was, before going to New York, general manager for the Standard Oil Company in Boston. He died in 1934. Her parents were Samuel Stephens Toby and Elizabeth (Melvin) Toby.

She is survived by her daughter, Grace Margaret (Mrs. Kenneth Grant) and one son, Mr. Roger M. Wilkinson of Fairfield, Conn. She was a member of the Fortnightly of this town.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Ripley Chanel at the First Congregational Church, Rev. Henry Francis Smith, pastor of the First Congregational Church of West Medford, officiating. The burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW ASSEMBLY

The regular meeting of Winchester assembly, order of Rainbow for Girls, will be held in the Masonic Apartments on Mt. Vernon street, Winchester, Friday, Oct. 13 at 7:15 p. m.

Directly after the meeting, about 8:15, Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers will show movies of their recent western trip. The public is cordially invited to these pictures. A silver collection will be taken.

RECREATION CENTER

The first dance of a series made possible by En Ka will be held at the Recreation Center on Friday evening, Oct. 20, from 8-10:30.

Bill Partridge and his orchestra will furnish music.

Boys 16 and over and girls 15 and over will be admitted if registered at the Center.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Mollie Murphy of 57 Clark street was the honored guest at a party and reception at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Dennis Collins, of 6 Parker road last Saturday evening. Miss Murphy became the bride of Mr. Charles A. Meehan of Woburn at a 5 o'clock wedding ceremony on Columbus Day Oct. 12 at St. Mary's Church.

Wednesday afternoon a resident of Pond street, in leaving his home to enter his car surprised to men who were at the rear of the machine. They fled leaving a pail and piece of rubber hose with which they had syphoned two or three gallons of gasoline from the gas tank The matter was reported to the police who interviewed a Winchester youth about the matter. The youth admitted having driven a car through Pond street but denied having stopped there.

Early Thursday morning Patrolman Joseph L. Quigley answered a complaint from the Home for Aged People and found that six clothes lines there had been cut some time during the night. Boys had been seen running through the yard and the authorities are trying to locate those responsible.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Thursday morning an Oldsmobile touring sedan, driven by Marion E. Berard of 3 Wade place, Woburn, while headed north on Main street and crossing the railroad tracks in the square, collided with a Plymouth sedan, driven by Francis P. Barry of 118 Auburn street, Medford, who was also going north. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

The holiday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock Mary A. McCarthy of 138 Sycamore street, Somerville, reported to the police that as she was driving a Buick sedan, owned by John J. Doherty of 452 Washingto street, Woburn, south on Washington street opposite Lincoln street, the machine, was in collision with a Pontiac sedan, owned and driven by Charles DiPanfilia of 71 Conn street, Woburn, who she said stopped short in front of her car while headed in the same direction. Both cars were damaged. Panfilia claimed a passenger in his machine had injured her neck. No one was injured in the Buick.

The Fire Department was called at 12:12 Wednesday afternoon to put out a fire caused by burning leaves in an incinerator at the home of Mr. H. W. Ash on Fairview terrace. At 9:30 Wednesday evening the department went to put out a pile of burning leaves at the corner of Elm and Mt. Vernon streets.

The lobster supper tendered by Winchester Lodge of Elks to its members and friends on Wednesday evening was one of the most largely attended affairs of the season. During the evening remarks were made by Brothers Neil McCarthy and Howard Brownell.

Many Winchester friends of Wendell D. Mansfield were at the Stadium last Saturday to see his Bates football team play Harvard. All agreed that the former Winchester High coach has done a great job with the Bobcats who gave the big Crimson eleven plenty of trouble, especially in the second half.

HOPE S. FREDERICK

Hope Sutherland Frederick of 10 Niles lane, died Wednesday morning at the Winchester Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Frederick was the son of Dr. Samuel DeGraw Frederick and Margaret Sutherland Frederick of Glencoe, Ontario. He was born April 2, 1886 at Salem, Mich.

Mr. Frederick came to Winchester six years ago as manufacturing manager of Beggs and Cobb, tanners. He was formerly connected with the Northwestern Leather Co. at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, at which city he had spent mosf of his life. He was a director of the First National Bank of Sault Ste. Marie, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, on the board of the Emma Nason Children's Home, the War Memorial Hospital, member of Session First Presbyterian Church and Boy Scout Commission. He is survived by his wife Ruby Odell Frederick, two daughters, N. Margaret Frederick and Beth O. Frederick; also his sister Leah E. Frederick of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and three brothers, Ross A. of Clyde, Ohio, Rock D. of Whitefish, Mont., Owen M. of Lakewood, Ohio.

Services will be held at his late residence this Friday afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be private.

PARISH PLAYERS OPEN 14TH SEASON NOV. 3

The Parish Players of Winchester, housed in "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" of the First Congregational Church, is Winchester's oldest dramatic organization.

It has gained an enviable place among leading Little Theatre groups of greater Boston for its finished productions. Many of our citizens are enjoying the privilege of seeing good plays in their own community without the long drive to Boston.

On Friday, Nov. 3, the Parish Players begin their 14th season. The first production will be "Three-Cornered Moon," one of the recent Broadway successes. "Our Town," Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize Play of 1938, will be the mid-winter production. It is the most beautiful and moving drama of our day. "The Bishop Misbehaves," a mystery farce, and a favorite with the summer theatres, will be presented in the spring.

The dates are: "Three Cornered Moon—Friday, Nov. 3. "Our Town"—Friday, Jan. 26. "The Bishop Misbehaves"—Friday, March 29.

LOWE—MURPHY

The altar of St. Mary's Church was decorated with peach gladiolus, palms and tall floor vases of pom-pom chrysanthemums Thursday morning, Oct. 12, for the marriage of Miss Kathryn Russell Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy of Mystic avenue, to Robert Lawrence Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lowe of Marrett road, Lexington. Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney performed the marriage ceremony at 10 o'clock and also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. Michael L. O'Connor, chaplain at the Working Boys' Home in Newton and Rev. Fr. Joseph O'Brien of St. Mary's Church, Randolph, cousins of the bride. Pews in the center aisle of the church were tied with white satin ribbon and Madonna lilies.

Music for the entrance of the bridal party was played by Edson L. Kimball of Woburn, organist of St. Anthony's Church in North Woburn and of St. Mary's Church in Melrose. J. Francis Morse of Woburn was soloist, singing during the mass Bach-Gounod's "Ave Maria." "Just for Today" by Seaver and the "Salve Regina" by Eayrs. At the communion he sang "O the Priceless Love of Jesus" by the Sisfers of Notre Dame.

Miss Murphy was given in marriage by her father. Her honor attendant was Miss Mary A. Kelley of Dorchester, and the bridesmaids included two cousins of the bride, Miss C. Betty Blake and Miss Barbara Bradford Blake of Winchester; Miss Eleanor M. Lowe of Lexington, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary K. Lowe of Lexington, the bridegroom's niece; Miss Marion McDonough of Winchester and Miss Mary L. McDonough of Roslindale.

John H. Murphy, Jr., brother of the bride and a school and college mate of the bridegroom at Exeter and Harvard, was best man. Two brothers of the bridegroom, John E. Lowe of Winchester and Frederick J. Lowe of Cambridge were in the usher corps with Ralph J. Murphy of this town, brother of the bride; Robert Anderson of Arlington, the bridegroom's cousin; Colin M O'Brien of Newton and George McDonough of Winchester.

The honor maid wore a foam blue moire gown, made with a short jacket having a circular peplum. Her tiny hat of ostrich tips with velvet streamers matched the shade of her gown and she carried Joanna Hill roses.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in moire, their dresses being similar in style to that of the honor maid. Miss Eleanor Lowe, Miss C. Betty Blake and Miss Mary McDonough wore claret moire with matching ostrich hats and streamers. Miss Barbara Blake, Miss Marion McDonough and Miss Mary K Lowe were gowned and ostrich hats of Vinoy Rose. All carried bouquets of pale blue delphinium.

After the ceremony there was a reception in the ball room of the Hotel Commander, Cambridge, the parents of the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Murphy wore a gown of stone blue crepe with a corsage of orchids, and Mrs. Lowe, a Viking blue sheer with a gardenia corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Lesley School in Cambridge. Mr. Lowe, who is the youngest brother of the late George H. (Bulger) Lowe, widely known athlete and sports official, prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy. He graduated from Harvard with the class of 1934, having been a member of the varsity football team, Pi-Eta and the Varsity Club. He is commissioned a first lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

WENTWORTH, 13—0

"Joe Tansey's Wentworth Institute football team won its holiday afternoon football game with the Fore River Apprentice School, coached by Tony Colucci. 13 to 0, on the Shore road athletic field. A ten yard pass followed by a 65 yard run resulted in the first touchdown in the opening quarter. In the third quarter a short pass and 40 yard run produced the second. The extra point was drop-kicked into the score by Hall, who fired both touchdown passes.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WON

Both the first and second girls' hockey teams of the Winchester High School won their games Wednesday afternoon playing at Stoneham. The first team won its match 4 to 0 and the second team won 2 to 0.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Appeal for Volunteer Workers to Sew

The directors of the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, make an urgent appeal to the women of Winchester to help with our chapter's quota from Washington for hospital and refugee garments.

Already Rumania, Lithuania, Hungary, Poland, Great Britain and France have asked for assistance to help take care of thousands of wounded soldiers, refugees and civilians. The need for these supplies is immediate.

With the splendid cooperation of our townspeople in the past, the Winchester chapter has always responded to the call of service when called upon by the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, won't you help us once again? We have the materials—we need workers.

If you can give a day, part of a day or if you can sew at home, won't you please call either Mrs. George Dutting, chairman of the Winchester Red Cross, Win. 2191, Mrs. Jesse E. Wilson, Tel. Win. 2090 or Mrs. Ruth E. Hilton, Tel. Win. 2516.

THE SEEING EYE MEMBERSHIP ENROLLMENT

Miss Gladys Marchant and Mrs. Clarke Staples of this town, have been appointed vice chairman of the Seeing Eye Membership Enrollment which has as its chairman, Mrs. Gardiner Fiske of Boston. The enrollment which will take place during the first half of October, is for the purpose of securing memberships in Boston and its vicinity for the philanthropic school at Morristown, N. J. which educates dogs to guide the blind.

A recent survey of the blind graduates of the school showed that 75 per cent of the users of Seeing Eye dog guides are either employed in full time jobs, are housewives or students. They are in all walks of life, lawyers, salesmen, stand operators, social workers, newspaper men, to mention few. During the past 12 months 125 blind men and women came to Morristown to learn to use their Seeing Eye dogs, the greatest annual number in the school's history. Next year close to 150 are expected to be graduated. To do this an increase in membership is needed.

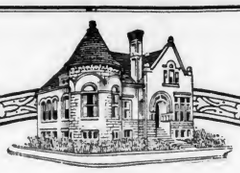

Assisting Miss Marchant and Mrs. Staples on the committee for the Winchester district are: Mrs. Robert Abbott, Mrs. Thomas McNair Righter, Mrs. Charles S. Eaton, Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. Bradford Frost, Mrs. William Morton, Mrs. Alan Crockett, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Miss Betty Cooper, Mrs. Franklin Flanders, Mrs. Morris B. Kerr, Miss Barbara Goodwin.

MINSK: RENDEZVOUS OF RUSSIAN LEGIONS

Minsk, in the vicinity of which there is a reported concentration of Soviet troops, has been an important city in peace and war since it was first mentioned as the village of Myen'sk in the 11th century, a special war geography bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society says.

It is the capital of the White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic, one of the ten Socialist Republics in the Soviet, continues the bulletin. Its numerous colleges and universities, museums and scientific institutions and libraries give it rank among Russia's leading educational centers. More than 70 industrial plants operate in the city, producing such manufactures as machinery, leather and pig bristle products, matches, linen and paper. Since it is the largest city in the White Russian Republic, it also is an important market for the agricultural regions that surround it.

Scene of Many Battles

On the other hand the city and its environs have been the scene of numerous battles. It has been pillaged frequently and several times has had its nationality changed. Within 30 years during the latter part of the 11th century it was virtually destroyed twice. For Minsk, the 13th century was stormy throughout. Rulers frequently changed, and finally the town became a Lithuanian feudal estate.

In the 15th century it became Polish. It suffered a devastating attack by the Tatars in 1505, followed three years later by a destructive invasion by Russians. Napoleon joined Minsk's destroyers when he swept through the city in 1812. During the Russian revolution of 1917 it was one of the centers where the seed of Bolshevism was planted and nurtured to maturity.

In spite of the fact that for centuries Minsk appeared to be a luscious war plum to many military leaders, until 20 years ago it was a dirty neglected provincial city. There were no sewers, few of its streets were paved, and the Svislocha River, on both banks of which it lies, was badly polluted.

Today, however, nearly 200,000 inhabitants enjoy modern improvements such as waterworks, power stations, a good drainage system, pavements, parks, gardens and public buildings, and residential suburbs among its surrounding wooded hills.

The Scholarship Committee announces, with regret, that the original Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., was obliged to withdraw because of sickness, and further announces the substitution of Mrs. K. P. Toye, who in turn asks the indulgence of the committee as she is only a makeshift.

One-third of the tickets were sold the first day they went on sale, so it would seem Winchester people wishing to attend the Lowell Thomas talk had better get their seats at once before the out-of-towners pour in.

STUDIO GUILD EXHIBITION

The members of the Winchester Studio Guild have been invited to exhibit their paintings at the Art Gallery of Abbot Academy in Andover from Oct. 16 through Oct. 28. This invitation is extended by Mr. Francis S. Merritt, head of the art department at Abbot Academy, and instructor of the evening figure drawing class which is sponsord by the Winchester Art Association. This exhibition will comprise the work of 20 individuals and will show great variety: portraits, still life, landscapes, marines, several pictures painted on the Pacific coast, a group illustrating the life of Indians in New Mexico.

The art gallery is open daily from 9 to 4 and the public is cordially invited.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The October board meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held on Friday, the sixth, at the home of the president, Miss Adelaide Homer with the following members present: Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Mrs. E. D. Horner, Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, Mrs. Clarence T. McDavitt, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols, Mrs. Gardner D. Pond, Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Jameson B. Slocum and Mrs. Charles E. Young.

Mrs Nichols, chairman of the Education Committee announced an interesting program which her committee will present in following up the developments of the new programs for social medium as they are working out and also reports on legislation both Federal and State, dealing with public health.

Mrs. O'Leary, nursing supervisor, reported that Winchester people seem to be enjoying good health as September was a quiet month. They made 255 calls on 92 patients.

TAKING HOTEL COURSE AT CORNELL

James R. Towner of 16 Everell road, one of the 100 new students selected from the several hundred applicants for admission, has enrolled in the Hotel Administration Course at Cornell University. The program includes three summers of practical hotel experience in addition to the four years of class room work. It has attracted favorable attention from hotelmen. As a result each year throughout the depression the school has placed all its graduates.

AT BOSTON HORSE SHOW

Miss Gladys Marchant and Mr. H. Russell Davis are among the exhibitors at the Boston Horse Show which opened yesterday at the Commonwealth Armory and is continuing through Sunday. Woodland Riding Academy in Lexington, with which Miss Carolyn Mercer of this town is associated, is also showing its prize jumpers.

MRS. AVERY'S FIRST LECTURE OCTOBER 18

As the international news becomes more muddled and confusing, people are turning to background and trend analysis for clues to make it intelligible. One proof of this is the rapidly growing number of subscribers to the series of lectures on world affairs by Eunice Harriet Avery sponsored by the Winchester Smith College Club for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18, is the date of the first lecture in this series, held at the Wyman School auditorium. Course tickets carry this year the privilege of admission by punch instead of by date. Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley is chairman of the committee which includes Mrs. Neil C. Borden, Mrs. John Ely Burchard, Mrs Roger Flynn, Mrs. Robert Jennings and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst.

Among those interested in Miss Avery's Winchester series are Mrs. Frederic E. Abbe, Mrs. Bertram A. Albro, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. William Backus, Mrs. Harold B. Beebe, Mrs. Elias Beranger, Mrs. Maurice Bird, Mrs. Robert Blackler, Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard, Mrs. Richard Bolster, Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Stanley Burroughs, Mrs. Kate V. Caldwell, Mrs. Burton W. Cary, Mrs. J. Girard Chandler, Mrs. Heber Clevely, Mrs. George C. Coit, Miss Eleanor W. Davis, Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett, Mrs. S. Lester Duffett, Miss Ella M. Emerson, Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, Mrs. Fred O. Fish, Mrs. Percy Gleason, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. Merton E. Grush, Mrs. H. Arthur Hall and Mrs. Seward Highley.

Others are Mrs. Waldon B. Hersey, Mrs. Warren R. Healey, Mrs. William F. Hickey, Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, Mrs. Thomas Hoover, Mrs. John U. Hussey, Miss Alice Joy, Mrs. Clarence Kreiner, Miss Ruth Toby Lindquist, Mrs. Daniel C. Linscott, Miss Mary R. Mackedon, Mrs. James C. McCormick, Mrs. William H. McGill, Mrs. Robert Metcalf, Mrs. Lawrence Moore, Mrs. Fabyan Moran, Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols, Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway and Miss Mary N. Parsons.

Still others are Mrs. Edgar J. Rich, Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan, Mrs. Edward H. Sargent, Mrs. E. Philip A. Simpson, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, Mrs. Elbridge Teel, Mrs. A. Robert Tonion, Mrs. Charles H. Tozier, Mrs. Charles Wansker, Mrs. Warren Whitman, Mrs. Prescott Wild, Mrs. Raymond S. Wilkins, Mrs. T. Price Wilson, Mrs. Howard H. P. Wright and Mrs. Forrest A. Young.

SHERBURNE—DAWE

Mr. and Mrs. Orland J. Dawe of this town, announce the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth to Edward R. Sherburne, also of this town, on Saturday, Sept. 30.

The marriage took place at 3 o'clock, with a candlelight service, in the Unitarian Church, the Rev. George Hale Reed officiating. Miss Dawe was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Barbara Dawe. The groom was attended by Mr. Leland Potter of New York.

The ushers included the Messrs. Norman S. Olson and Robert W. Fowler of West Medford, Robert Linnell and the bride's brother, H. Ellis Dawe, both of Winchester.

Her sister was attired in dusky rose taffeta, and wore a halo of purple velvet flowers. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and delphinium.

The wedding was followed by a reception at 4 o'clock at the home of the groom, 2 Lakeview road, Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne have left for their home in Vermont, where Mr. Sherburne is employed by General Foods, Inc.

MacDONALD—FINN

Miss Frances C. Finn, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Finn of 17 Thornton street, Woburn, and Mr. Leonard V. MacDonald, son of Mrs. Katherine MacDonald of 13 Stone avenue, this town, were united in marriage at St. Charles Rectory, Woburn, Thursday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Charles P. Heaney, at 4 o'clock.

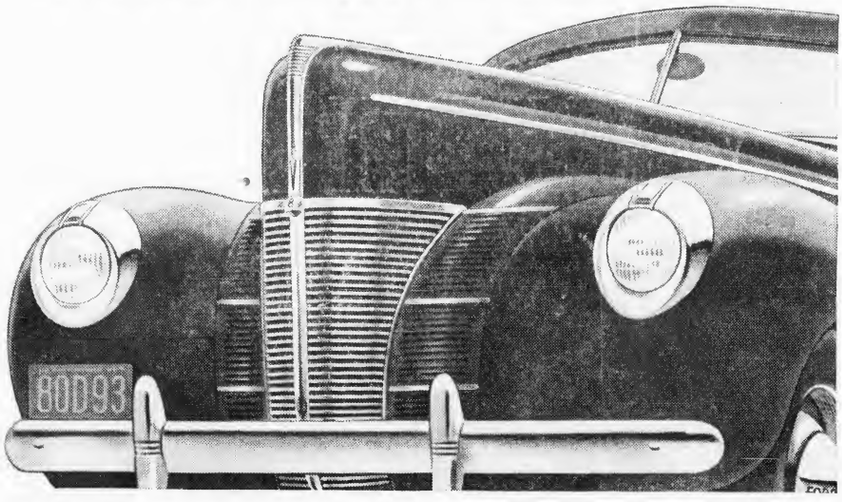

The couple were attended by Mr. William Finn of Woburn and Mrs. Austin Cannon of Jamaica Plain. The bride wore a two-piece dress of garnet trimmed with satin and with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of white rose buds and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a dress of blue with a corsage of tea roses and baby breath.

From 5 to 7 o'clock a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, the couple receiving with their parents. Decorations of cut flowers made an attractive setting for the affair, which was largely attended by friends and relatives.

They are spending their honeymoon in Maine. The bride is a graduate of St. Charles High School and the groom is proprietor of the Speedwell Farms.

THE NEW
FORD CARS FOR 1940

22 important improvements, added to fundamental Ford features, represent the most advanced engineering in the low-price field

WHAT do the Ford cars for 1940 offer to match their brilliant new beauty? New comfort, convenience, quiet, safety—and the roomiest, richest interiors ever designed for a Ford car.

They have a host of interesting new features. Finger-Tip Gearshift on the steering post. An improved transmission, unusually easy to shift. New Controlled Ventilation. Improved shock absorbers. Softer springs, improved spring suspension and a new ride-stabilizer.*

A combination of new features makes the new cars quieter in operation. They have big, powerful hydraulic brakes. They have new Sealed-Beam Headlamps that are safer, stronger and stay bright longer. They have the famous Ford V-8 engine (85 hp in the De Luxe Ford. Choice of 85 or 60 hp in the Ford)—which blends 8-cylinder smoothness with economy.

You've never seen cars with so much performance, style and comfort at such a low price. Get acquainted. You'll enjoy the experience!

KIDS AND BICYCLES

To the Editor of the Star:

Will you kindly print this in your paper this week.

Speaking of kids and their bicycles mentioned in your paper Oct. 6. If kids use the sidewalks what about the pedestrians? It is bad enough as it is. We who have to walk, and there are still some folks who do. The kids as you call them have no regards for a person walking. Watch them go down Common street. And the automobilist is as bad. How many stay behind the white crossing lines? And watch how many cars stop at the rotary at Washington street to let a person by.

The Star's thought in putting children on bicycles on the sidewalks outside center limits has been made following observations on the use of the sidewalks by pedestrians. Walk where you will during the daylight hours and you will find the sidewalks practically deserted. Early morning hours and at opening and closing of school in the vicinity of school buildings, finds some pedestrian traffic, but the volume is negligible. Some pedestrians may encounter bicycles of course. The point is where the greatest safety lies.—[Ed.

GRATUITOUS "PROTECTION"

In a Mid-West town an elderly woman lives with her invalid husband in a little house south of the tracks. They have never had to accept relief but their means are getting very low. A friend took her to see the manager of a local paper box and novelty factory where she asked for work.

"I'm only 59," she pleaded. "Maybe I couldn't turn out as much work as the others, but I'm thorough in what I do and of course I wouldn't expect the same wages as the younger women."

Gently the manager explained that up until recently he always had several employees in her status—women who did light work and were paid accordingly. But the Wages and Hours Law had changed all that. "Now we have to pay a standard minimum wage to everyone in the plant. You see that means we can afford to hire only those we are sure will be able to earn the minimum every week. I'm afraid there is simply no longer any place in industry for what we call the sub-standard worker."

That is just one of the hundreds of ways by which a benevolent government "protects" its citizens. Russell Greenman in Nation's Business points to another in a recent action of the Federal Trade Commission. The F. T. C. proposes to "protect" shoppers against agents hired by manufacturers to demonstrate their products in stores. It considers the consumer safe in the hands of retail clerks but subject to unnamed hazards of deception from these demonstrators. No federal agency has offered to "protect" the 10,000 or more demonstration agents who will lose their jobs if the F. T. C. has its way.

From such official solicitude there are many who say, "O Lord, deliver us!"—[Nation's Business.

IS FREE SPEECH A DEAD LETTER, TOO?

The second clause of the first article in the first amendment to the Constitution says that "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press."

The language of the Constitution seems sufficiently clear and specific on this important point and Congress hewed to the line as long as it wrote its own laws. But when it started delegating that function to administrative boards some of our venerable guaranties of liberty seem to have been forgotten. Free speech doesn't mean the same thing to the National Labor Relations Board that it did to the founding fathers.

Proof? You'll find it in Nation's Business' account of how the N. L. R. B. has harried the Firth Carpet Co. and its employees. Among the reasons given for a cease and desist order by the Board was the suggestion that the president of the company in writing an annual Christmas letter to his employees in the little village of Firthcliffe, N. Y., was really trying to intimidate them from joining a C. I. O. union. Another "unfair practice" was the allegation that the plant superintendent had been seen frequently talking with one of the men, who happened to be an old war buddy.

American industry is under the heel of an autocratic administrative board in Washington with authority to summon management for those very gestures that symbolize cordial and friendly relations with workers. For an employer to distribute factual pamphlets among his men or advise them collectively or individually about their problems or treat them and their families to a company picnic may be a crime. Companies have even been cited for granting voluntary wage increases to their employees, on the ground that this is subtle subversion of their bargaining rights!

CHAIRMAN FRANK ON THE DU PONT CASE

(From the Boston Herald Mail Bag)

To the Editor of the Herald:

I want to take exception to the criticism of this commission expressed in your editorial on "The du Pont Case." The editorial was obviously written without knowledge of the facts.

The facts are these: Over a period of five years Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the board of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., had been publicly reporting to this commission that he held substantial amounts of du Pont common stock. In May of this year Mr. du Pont filed a public report correcting all of his previous reports to show that instead of holding substantial amounts of du Pont common stock, he owed considerably more of the stock than he owned.

This disclosure was, of course, legitimate news for the newspaper correspondents who, well aware of the commission's statutory duties, demanded to know what action would be taken. In response to the inquiries of the press, this commission issued a statement, a copy of which is enclosed. You will note that the commission's statement did not make any accusations or charges nor did it imply any wrongdoing by Mr. du Pont. Indeed, the commission's subsequent inquiry into the matter was conducted entirely in private.

When it was determined that although Mr. du Pont's original reports had been misleading, his errors in reporting were unintentional, the commission promptly ssued a statement exonerating him.

It seems to me that it is The Boston Herald, and not this commission which is guilty of failing "to make sure of basic facts in advance of open accusations."

Jerome N. Frank
Chairman Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington

If Chairman Frank and his associates had been as fair, as conscientious, as eager to avoid injustice to a man as they were over-zealous, no "exoneration" would have been necessary. The commission announced on June 9 (the enclosure to which Mr. Frank refers), that it was investigating the "facts and circumstances" of alleged "discrepancies" in Mr. du Pont's reports of his stock holdings. It finally announced on Sept. 20 that Mr. du Pont 'was not motivated by a desire to conceal any facts or to mislead stockholders by his reports . . . He innocently, but erroneously, believed that his reports complied with the requirements of the act . . . Wilful violation does not appear . . . There is no necessity for further action . . . "

Did Mr. Frank perform his full obligations of decency and show proper exercise of discretion when he failed to remind the newspapermen on June 9 that "wilful violation" did not appear and that Mr. du Pont was entitled to the benefit of the doubt? The commission must, of course, carry out its "statutory duties." A well administered commission also recognizes a duty to tell not only the truth, but the whole truth when the reputation of a man is involved. It is to be doubted that the newspaper correspondents were as familiar with the crux of the statute as Mr. Frank thinks they were.

Between June 9 and Sept. 20, Mr. du Pont was in the position of a man who was charged, by strong implication, with a penal offense against the government. There was no explanatory statement from Mr. Frank at any time that, as he said two months later—"promptly," as he measures time—that "wilful violation does not appear." In short, it would seem as if the SEC failed to disclose essential information handled the matter clumsily and was entirely unfair to Mr. du Pont.—Ed.)

APPRECIATION

Winchester is mourning the loss of one of its finest citizens in the passing of Helen Fessenden. Although pre-eminently a business woman, Mrs. Fessenden always found time to seek out a lonely newcomer and guide her along the proper channels into the happiness of friendly contacts, both church, club and social. Always interested in local affairs, ever alert to assist in civic improvements, she still found time to increase her fine friendships in every section of the town, where all who knew her loved her.

She was my good friend—I shall miss her greatly.

Therese D. Mann

WILL REPEAT "THE EAGLE'S NEST"

To the Editor of the Star:

At the request of the church committee of the First Congregational Church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, the pastor will repeat this sermon he preached the first Sunday in September the coming Sunday.

This sermon was a masterpiece and should be heard by a greater number of the churches members who were absent on vacations.

A minister of a church not 1000 miles from our town said it was one of the best sermons he had been privileged to listen to.

May I invite any reader not a Congregationalist to attend this service Sunday morning at 10:45?

You will miss it, if you fail to come.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Hereafter the Girl Scout Headquarters will be closed on Saturday mornings except by special appointment with Mrs. Glazier. Instead Mrs. Glazier will be at Headquarters one evening a week.

The Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain is doing very interesting work with various scout troops and they would be delighted to make appointments with any of the Winchester troops.

Soon there will be some Girl Scout uniforms and one or two Brownie uniforms at headquarters. Belts and ties will be on sale at 50 cents a piece. Any girl wishing to avail herself of this opportunity must surely go down. Watch this column for the date.

Attention ex-Girl Scouts! If you have no further use for your uniforms including belts and ties, it would be greatly appreciated if you would take them to headquarters as soon as possible.

Harold Bates of Oxford street has been appointed a metropolitan associate chairman of Greater Boston's 1940 Community Fund Campaign, it was announced this week by R. Ammi Cutter, chairman of the metropolitan division. Mr. Bates will serve in the same Community Fund post he held last year, as co-ordinator for the northern region of Greater Boston, comprising the Cambridge, Ocean, Fellsway and Mystic areas. Long active in community affairs, Mr. Bates was in charge of the Mystic area for Greater Boston's Community Fund in 1938. He is a member of the executive committee of the Boston Council of Social Agencies and is chairman of its metropolitan conference on social planning.

WATSON— NELSON

Miss Anna Elizabeth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Nelson of 316 Washington street, and Mr. Philip Sagendorph Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Watson of 112 Jason street, Arlington, were married on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Second Congregational Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Carleton N. Jones, pastor of the church.

It was a candle light service with the church attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and gladioli. The wedding march and incidental music was rendered at the organ by Mrs. George H. Lochman, organist at the church.

The couple were attended by the brother of the groom, Mr. Milton S. Watson of Arlington, and the sister of the bride, Mrs. Harry E. Chefalo of this town. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a dress of ivory satin with tulle veil and Juliet cap, and carried a bouquet of bouvardia and lilies of the valley. Her matron of honor wore transparent velvet in wine color and carried talisman roses.

Two little nieces of the bride, Marilyn and Alice Chefalo of this town, were junior bridesmaids. They were dressed alike in ankle length aqua taffeta and carried colonial bouquets. The ushers for the ceremony and reception were Messrs. Harry E. Chefalo of this town, Harry J. Harrington, Jr., of Milton and Ray E. Collins of Somerville.

The couple will spend their honeymoon touring through northern New England, and will make their home in Winchester.

INFANT SAVIOUR GUILD

The Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour held their first regular meeting of the season on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 10. Rev. Fr. Doyle of the Catholic Charitable Bureau addressed the group.

Mrs. Joseph A. Ahern, president in Boston, thanked the Chapter for their assistance and said their endeavors were most encouraging. Mrs. Ahern announced Friday evening, Nov. 3 as the date for the annual supper dance, to be held as usual at the Copley Plaza. Much of the afternoon was devoted to sewing as it is the ambition of all to help Mrs. John S. O'Leary chairman of sewing, in her worthy undertaking. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Jonathan B. Felt, Mrs. Charles L. Doherty, Mrs. Charles A. Farrar and Mrs. William A. Dolan.

Plans for a blanket club are under way and members who would like to join may leave their names at the next meeting, Oct. 24, when a manufacturer representative will show samples and explain the advantages of group buying. All are reminded that the next meeting will be Donation Day and saleable articles for the fall bazaar are solicited. It is hoped that the generous contributions of last year will be duplicated if not exceeded.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Bay State Historical League will hold its fall meeting at Concord as guests of the Trustees of Public Reservations on Saturday, Oct. 21, at 2 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Trinitarian Congregational Church at the corner of Walden and Hubbard streets.

After the business meeting Mrs. Francis J. Bush of Brookline will present her lecture on "Old New England Houses." By means of colored lantern slides she will show many of the old homes of which New England is so proud.

Following adjournment of the meeting, the members are invited to a tea which will be served at the Old Manse on Monument street. Ralph Waldo Emerson and Nathaniel Hawthorne lived in this house, and little change has taken place since their time.

This meeting is open to all members of the Winchester Historical Society, and those who can attend will be assured of a most profitable and pleasant afternoon.

O. E. S.

The Round About Club will meet at the home of Sister Sara M. Wood, P. M., 247 Highland avenue, Thursday, Oct. 19 at 10 o'clock. Basket luncheon.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 15.
The Golden Text is: "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous" (1 John 2:1).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it" (Matthew 16: 24, 25).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: Though demonstrating his control over sin and disease, the great Teacher by no means relieved others from giving the required proofs of their own piety. He worked for their guidance, that they might demonstrate this power as he did and understand its divine Principle. Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us" (p. 25).

TEA WELCOMES NEW WOMEN OF EPIPHANY PARISH

Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 10, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner of Myopia road, was hostess at a tea for the Tuesday Luncheon Group. Specially invited guests were the following women, who have recently come into the parish: Mesdames Albree, 7 Stratford road, Nicholas B. Brown, 69 Wedgemere avenue, Theodore E. Chilcott, 12 Mystic avenue, Elliott Dudley, 9 Governor's avenue, Richard H. Frazier, 7 Summit avenue, Greeley, 15 Governor's avenue, Paul Lamarche, 37 Myrtle terrace, Knight Pryor, 160 Forest street, Robinson, 29 Highland avenue, Fred Taylor, Oxford and Wildwood streets, Richard Wilder, 21 Chesterford road, Robert B. Winslow, 26 Lebanon street, J. L. Woodbury, 283 Mystic Valley Parkway, Philip T. Woodward, Lakeview road. Other honor guests were Rev. and Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley.

Assisting Mrs. Greiner were Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, chairman of the Tuesday Luncheon Group, and Mrs. E. Phillips Walker, chairman of the parish hospitality committee.

The name of the group sometimes misleads the hearers. It is not a closed, invitational group that gives itself the pleasure of lunching together on Tuesdays. It is a service group that provides luncheon for the half a hundred parish women who give Tuesday to various types of church work at the parish hall, and any woman who is interested in sharing the work and the friendly companionship is heartily welcome.

ICE-COVERED ANTARCTIC CONTINENT CLAIMED BY SIX GOVERNMENTS

With Germany making claim to 230,000 square miles of Antarctica, explored from one of her whaling ships, five nations and Australia have set up claims for the division of the vast continent that lies under a thick layer of ice at the "bottom" of the world.

The claims on behalf of Norway, Great Britain, France, the United States, and Australia have sliced the Antarctic Continent like a huge pie; but title to some of the slices is by no means clear and uncontested, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

When Amundsen, first man to reach the South Pole, arrived there in December, 1911, he claimed for Norway a relatively small circular area of land around the Pole with a radius of about 110 miles. Since then explorers who have cruised the Antarctic coast, penetrated the continent a few miles, or flown over certain previously unexplored regions have claimed for their countries all the land between certain longitudes extending all the way to the Poles.

The so-called Australian claim is the largest single slice of the Antarctic "pie." It extends from 45 degrees east longitude to 160 degrees east longitude. France, however, insists that the region from Adelie Land between 136 and 148 degrees east longitude, wholly within the Australian claim, is hers; and in January Lincoln Ellsworth looked down from an airplane in the same Australian area on 80,000 square miles "never before seen by man," and announced his claim for the United States. The Ellsworth area lies between 74 and 85 degrees east longitude, and 70 and 75 degrees south latitude. Thus, it does not reach the edge of the continent.

Besides the Australian claims there are two other pie-shaped slices claimed by Great Britain: the Ross Dependency between 160 degrees east and 150 degrees west longitude; and a large area between 20 and 80 degrees west longitude. Between these slices claimed by Great Britain are Marie Byrd Land between 120 and 150 degrees west longitude, which was explored by Admiral Richard E. Byrd; and James W. Ellsworth Land, the area from 80 to 120 degrees west longitude which Lincoln Ellsworth claimed for the United States when he traversed the region by airplane in 1935.

The Norwegian claims are not as definite as some of the others, but are understood to cover the sector extending from 20 degrees west longitude to 45 degrees east longitude. It is inside this latter sector that the new German claim has been set up.

MR. JACK LAMB

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB PRESENTS JACK LAMB

Mr. Jack Lamb, internationally celebrated photographer, fisherman and author will bring his famous collection of technicolor films to Winchester for a showing Thursday, Oct. 19, at 8 o'clock in the new Masonic Hall, Mt. Vernon street for the benefit of the Winchester Garden Club.

Mr. Lamb who is widely known for his fishing skill and for his books on fishing turned to the hobby of motion pictures several years ago and today possesses one of the largest individual collections of technicolor films in the nation.

Always an artist at heart, he has made many pictures which have gained him wide acclaim. Always a flower lover he has captured the beauty of the many gardens he has visited and it will be a rare treat to tour with him through the famous gardens of America. Among those to be seen will be: The Bellingraths at Mobile, the famous Magnolia, Middleton and Cypress Gardens at Charleston, S. C. and the well known gardens at Williamsburg, Va.

With a sense of composition amounting almost to genius Mr. Lamb has been able to capture every iota of beauty that these scenes afford. Words in hardly be found to describe the beauty of these world famous gardens and their wealth of color.

In addition to the garden pictures, at the request of friends in Winchester, as an added attraction, Mr. Lamb will also show Quail Hunting by the celebrated Bill Lourcey, world champion quail shot and his noted dogs.

Fishermen will come in for their part when Mr. Lamb, peer of American fishermen demonstrates his uncanny ability on the screen. There will be plenty of pictures showing the great fisherman in action. He has caught more game fish than any man and is recognized as the world's greatest exponent of artificial bait. His pictures will be a vivid, living lesson for amateurs who would like to learn more about the ways of the wary trout and the cunning bass.

These pictures have been shown to countless thousands throughout America, and in such cities as New Orleans, Atlanta and Miami, hundreds have been turned away from the largest auditoriums. It was only through the influence of friends in Winchester and the endeavor of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini that local people will have a chance to see what the Eastman Company has proclaimed as some of the most perfect pictures, both in technic and composition, that have ever been produced. Following a showing in New York, Mr. Lamb will go to Old Mexico to add more pictures to his already large collection. Do not fail to see these pictures for this is the only time they will be shown in this area during 1939.

Tickets will be in charge of the assisting committee, Mrs. John A. Maddocks and Mrs. Reginald H. Robinson. Tel. Win. 2156 and 2340.

THE BALTIC: A POLITICAL PATCHWORK

The Baltic Sea, on the waters and around the shores of which struggles may occur during the conflict in Europe, is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The shores of the Baltic form as much of a political patchwork as those of the Mediterranean, the bulletin points out.

In the days of the Viking fleets, the Baltic was a network of trading routes second only to the Mediterranean in commercial importance, continues the bulletin. Today, the Baltic transports the great trade of the marginal nations, the bulk of which is among themselves.

The northern inland sea furnishes the only sea outlet for Poland and for the three small neutral nations, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. While Russia has another sea outlets, its Baltic frontage is none the less important. Finland has a tiny strip of land reaching to the Arctic Ocean in the extreme north, but it it in effect dependent on the Baltic for a sea outlet.

Sweden's Baltic sea coast extends for nearly a thousand miles, but it also has an extensive coast line on waters of the Kattegat and Skagerrak, the channels which connect the Baltic with the North Sea. The other Baltic countdies with double sea fronts are Denmark, which lies practically aeross the water door to the Baltic; and Germany which has two Baltic coast lines — in West Prussia and East Prussia—and a North Sea coast line between The Netherlands and Denmark.

While all the other countries fronting on the Baltic must send their ships through the Kattegat and Skagerrak to reach the North Sea, Germany has the 60-mile-long Kiel Canal connecting the two seas, through the Jutland peninsula. This waterway was enlarged just before the World War to permit the passage of dreadnoughts and other large vessels. By the Versailles Treaty, the Kiel Canal was made an international waterway; but two years ago Germany again took control.

With an estimated area of about 160,000 square miles, the Baltic Sea is more than half as large as the five Great Lakes on the Canadian border. It extends north almost to the Arctic Circle where the sun never sets for a period of seven weeks each June and July. It is nearly 1,000 miles long, with a width varying from 50 to 400 miles.

So great is the flow of river water into the sea that it is increased in volume during the flood season. It drains an area about one-fifth that of the United States. The rivers are also responsible for lessening the percentage of salt in the water which freezes in the northern portions. Finland has one ice-breaking ship with 9,200 horsepower that can plow through three feet of ice. In the northern portions, however, the Baltic is not navigable during the winter months.

WAR NAMES FOR WEST WALL RECALL HISTORY AND LEGEND

The strength of Siegfried is attributed, along with his name, to the German line of forts facing France under the official title of the West Wall. In pre-Christian German legends of the Rhine treasure and the Nibelungs, a bulletin from the National Geographic Society recalls, Siegfried was the superhuman warrior whom no weapon could harm, because a bath of dragon's blood had made him invulnerable. Discovery of a small spot between his shoulders which had missed the blood bath's protection became, however, the cause of his destruction. Another popular name for the West Wall, the Limes Line, recalls the strong fortified wall which Romans built along the Limes Germanicus, or German boundary, almost 20 centuries ago. It faced in a direction opposite to that of the present Limes Line, however. It was established to protect Roman legions in the Empire's outlying provinces from the attack of hostile German tribes. In the 4th and 5th centuries A. D., the Germans battered at the wall, and their triumphant surge through it and into France and Italy was one of the vital factors in the downfall of the ancient Roman Empire.

GRANADA THEATRE

"In Name Only" starring Carole Lambard, Cary Grant, Kay Francis, Charles Coburn, Helen Vinson, and Jonathan Hale, will headline the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Friday. As the title would indicate this picture is based on the wife-in-name-only theme. Cary Grant is cast as the husband of Kay Francis. Grant meets and falls in love with a young widow played by Carole Lombard. He wants a divorce so that he can marry the widow. But the wife, Kay Francis, wants his money and the protection of his name. This leads to a series of dramatic events. However, despite its exciting dramatic passages the film has plenty of laughs. Carole Lombard who plays the widow does not wail and weep when she cannot get the man with whom she is in love. And Cary Grant, as the harassed husband, finds plenty that is humorous in his own situation. Based on the novel, "Memory of Love," by Bessie Breuer, "In Name Only" will appeal to sophisticated audiences, especially women.

The popular Jones Family in their newest hit, "Quick Millions" will be the second attraction on the program starting Friday. Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Ken Howell, George Ernest, June Carlson and Florence Roberts as, usual head the cast. The films open with the Jones Family back home after their hilarious adventures in Hollywood. They receive word that they have inherited a gold mine and take off via trailer for the Grand Canyon. The mine never materializes as a paying proposition but they do meet up with, Eddie Collins, who plays a "Baron Munchausen" of the open spaces. From this point the family get mixed up in a series of weird and hilarious adventures. The climax sees Pa Jones arrested and thrown in the calaboose as a desperate outlaw. Then the youngsters get busy and locate the real culprit. "Quick Millions" s hailed as the best of the Jones Family series and from the point of laughs it runs ahead of its predecessors.

STRAND THEATRE

"Lady of the Tropics" with Hedy La Marr and Robert Taylor appearing together for the first time will be the special attraction heading the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. Robert Taylor is cast as a poor but eligible bachelor who arrives in Saigon, Indo-China, as a yachting guest. He meets Hedy La Marr as "Manon," a half-caste beauty. When the yacht sails Taylor stays behind to be with Manon. Joseph Schildkraut, a rich half-caste has long had designs on Miss La-Marr but her marriage frustrates his plans for a time. Schildkraut fixes it with the officials so that the bride is denied a passport. Taylor's money runs out and he takes an out-of-town job, obligingly supplied by Schildkraut. Then Schildkraut tells Miss LaMarr he can get them a passport providing she agrees to his terms. She secures the passport but Schildkraut sees to it that Robert Taylor discovers how it was obtained. This produces the striking dramatic climax. Hedy LaMarr is said to be even more striking in this picture than in her previous appearances.

Randolph Scott, Nancy Kelly, Cesar Romero, Binnie Barnes, John Carradine, Edward Norris and Eddie Foy, Jr., starring in "Frontier Marshal," will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. "Frontier Marshal" is one of the best melodramas to reach the screen this year. Randolph Scott is cast as Wyatt Earp, famous Marshal of Tombstone, Arizona. The direction is as swift and sure as the heroic sheriff's six-gun, which is lightning. Based on actual fact this Western stands on its own feet with a stirring story and plenty of action. Randolph Scott has the best role of his career in this picture. Cesar Romero and Binnie Barnes also play important parts. John Carradine is seen in another of his sneering and sinister characterizations. It is the real inside story of "Tombstone" when the law finally moves in and cleans things up.

WINCHESTER SWAMPED LEXINGTON

Rushed and Passed to 39—0 Win

Winchester High began the defense of its Middesex League football championship by steam-rollering Lexington High last Saturday afternoon at Lexington 39—0. No one could estimate the score had Coach Lauer left his first team longer in the game.

The locals looked like the proverbial millon dollars against Lexington, but the opposition was negligible and the game was little but a workout for the locals, Lexington threatening but once and then when largely a third string aggregation was manning the Winchester guns.

Winchester rolled up 15 first downs to four for Lexington, rushing for 162 yards and completing four of seven passes for 83 yards and a brace of touchdowns. Lexington rushed for 28½ yards and made five of 17 passes good for 71 yards. Lexington fumbled six times, recovering once. Winchester recovered two of its four fumbles. The locals drew 20 yards in two penalties while Lexington drew two five yard setbacks.

The Lexington boys were big enough, were willing and game, but were slow, awkward and poorly drilled. Winchester, ragged as it was in places, looked like a well-oiled machine by comparison.

The locals struck at once for a touchdown when a big Lexington boy fumbled the kickoff and Stygles recovered on the Lexington 36. The Minuteboys lost five for offside, Marabella hit the line for a first down at the 22 and Marabella and McEwin made it first down at the 10. Here Galuffo hit inside left tackle for the score. Marabella's placement try was blocked.

Lexington fumbled again soon after the kickoff, Palumbo recovering at the Lexington 35. Marabella reached the 24 and McEwin on a delayed pass reached the five. Marabella skirted the Lexington left end for the score. Galuffo's try at placement was blocked.

The third touchdown followed a Galuffo interception of a Lexington pass at the Lexington 20. Marabella reached the 10 and after a fumble lost five Provinzano passed to Tracy for the touchdown. McCormack bucked for the extra point.

Shortly after the start of the second quarter Lexington kicked to Winchester's 39. Tracy on a reverse advanced to the Lexington 40, and two plays later reached the 29. McCormack and Harris plunged to the nine, and McCormack, Harris and McCormack again backed over. McCormack passed to Harris for the extra point.

Just before the half a pretty forward and lateral let the Minuteboys eat up 36 yards and reach the 25, a subsequnt pass being completed at the 10. Kimber however, recovered a fumble at this point to end the surge.

The first touchdown of the second half followed a pass from Galuffo to Vespucci, completed on the 20. Marabella completed another nice pass to McEwin for teh score, the ball going just to the left of the center alley. The try for goal failed.

A Lexington fumble, recovered by Ellis on the Lexington 39, set up the last score. A two yard loss on a Galuffo spinner was followed by a long pass from Galuffo to Vespucci, completed about 15 yards out and covering 41 yards for the touchdown. Marabella kicked in the extra point at placement.

Winchester missed another touchdown when a 15 yard penalty for holding was imposed after the locals had reachd the Lexington two yard line just before the final whistle. Tracy was smeared on a reverse, Nash lost five at end and two passes were grounded giving Lexington the ball at their 29. The Minuteboys after a pass play had been spoiled for a 10 yard loss, completed a pass for their final first down and a 20 yard gain as the game ended.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

There will be a W. C. T. U. meeting at Mrs. Ida M. Belichon's home, 22 Governor's avenue, at 2:30 p. m., on Friday, Oct. 20. This is the first meeting in the new fiscal year, duespaying day. We trust that all who can will come.

Subject: "Social Hygiene—A Task of all the People." Address in "The Union Signal," Aug. 12, by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of American Social Hygiene Association. Address before a public meeting, committee of fifteen, in Chicago.

"The Union Signal" is in the Winchester Public Library.

In the Union Signal of September 16 is an article taken from the Charlotte, N. C., News. It was written by the Rev. Herbert Spaugh. A part of the article is here quoted.

"We never get rid of a mad dog by turning loose more, and I have never been able to see the argument of those who would improve the liquor situation by providing more of it at a cheaper price.

If you could read some of the letters that come to my desk and hear the pitiful stories told in my study, you would understand why I have no use for liquor. I hate it. The last five years have brought me more liquor-caused problems than in my whole previous ministry.

Liquor is taking a fearful toll of life on our highways, and it is exacting a tragic toll of love and happiness in our homes. How much longer are we going to suffer before we rise up and smite it?"

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTION.

By Cora Anthony
Director of A. & P. Kitchen

It pays to be a bit adventurous when shopping these days particularly in the fruit and vegetable line. With peas, beans, corn and tomatoes less plentiful and more expensive why not try Hubbard squash, Swiss chard, eggplant, green and yellow summer type squash, celery knobs, romaine, escarole and chicory for a change! Of course there is still spinach, and cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts are in season. The rarer fruits are usually found to be in markets in the foreign section but apples, grapes, pears, bananas, oranges and now crop grapefruit are generally available.

All meats are reasonable and poultry is low and very plentiful. Eggs are low for the season.

Facing Them

The best way to meet most difficulties is to face them. To stand still is fatal, if retreat be absolutely necessary the way is usually open; but to push on to the goal through all obstacles is usually the most satisfactory and manly course.

Here's What we were Shooting at!

ROME, they tell us, wasn't built in a day. Well, neither was this 1940 Buick you see burning the breeze here.

You'll understand why when you know what we were aiming for. We wanted to combine in one car all the best we've learned in our 36 years in this business.

We think we've got it now. A standout sparkling car with action power and staying power.

It would be hopeless to try to list the whole range of new features—there are some 72 in all.

But you can't drive this car a mile without knowing that you have got hold of something that tops anything you ever handled.

It's smoother, steadier, firmer on the line. It gets up and goes right now, and keeps going without wander, tailwag or wind-swerve.

It takes the roughest roads in its stride, and while we don't want to go hinting about speed, this eager baby can do forty-five in first!

The sudden, soaring, millrace power of its matchless Dynaflash straight-eight engine, electrically balanced after assembly to micro-poised perfection, is velocity smoothed to velvet.

Yes, this beauty is our all-time high—the car we've been shooting at for lo! these many years.

Come drive it and you'll see why.

THE MIKADO AT WINCHESTER THEATRE

The Winchester Theatre is privileged to present The Mikado now through Saturday. Devotees and admirers of Gilbert and Sullivan, the composer and librettist from whose works selections have been sung, hummed and whistled throughout the world for 50 years, will find in The Mikado faithful adherance to the Gilbert and Sullivan tradition and a literal translation from the stage to the screen of one of the most popular of their gently satiric musical extravaganzas. The production is done in technicolor with the original D'Oyly Carte Opera Company of England plus Kenny Baker, who leads the cast of players. The musical score is played by the London Symphony Orchestra. Such a production surely elevates the Motion Picture industry and every man, woman and child should see this masterpiece.

COLONIES OF EUROPEAN COUNTRIES BRING WAR PREPARATIONS TO AMERICA

Martial law in Bermuda, a mobilization act passed in British Guiana, war emergency regulations in Jamaica, Canadian shipping taken over by the navy, and a training course for Canadian fishermen's submarine patrol—these are among the reminders that Europe's war crisis is not confined to Europe.

European colonies and dominions bring Europe's war threats to the very border of the United States on the Canadian frontier, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Other war measures are no farther away than the Bahamas, 75 miles off the coast of Florida, or Bermuda, five hours from New York by air, or Jamaica, 600 miles northeast of the Panama Canal. France, as represented by Clipperton Island, lies due south of New Mexico (about 1,500 miles away). The Netherlands, mobilized although neutral, has an island group some 700 miles east of the Panama Canal, and less than twice as far from Miami. Together, Great Britain, France, and the Netherlands have almost 14 million subjects in the New World where their colonies and dominions aggregate more than four million square miles in area.

Canada's Area Is 40 Per Cent of British Empire

Great Britain, thanks mainly to Canada—her largest dominion—controls 91 per cent of this land and 98 per cent of the people. Her New World holdings constitute 30 per cent of the entire British Empire. In the South Atlantic in 1914 British and German fleets fought the Battle of Falkland Islands off the coast of Argentina, for control of the group of 100 bleak little sheep, pasture islands which Great Britain had occupied as recently as 1833. Bermuda in the North Atlantic is headquarters for the America and West Indies squadron of the British Navy.

As these features appear, clip and file for future use. Each story deals with a different food. Each statement a fact. Each recipe a tested tasty.

Many of our foods are seasonable. Others are popular in certain sections yet seldom found in others. Still others are used only occasionally as delicacies. But the lemon is with us from January to December, is enjoyed from Maine to its birthplace in California, and in addition to its use as a beverage and a food, it is called upon to do everything from seasoning to softening milady's hands. The versatile lemon is surely entitled to a place in this food series.

Iced tea calls for lemon juice. So does your favorite fish or your morning melon. Salads and salad dressings look upon the lemon as an indispensable ally. Lemonade is the queen of beverages. Many other thirst-quenchers depend upon the fragrant, juicy lemon for flavor. Vegetables meet no rebuffs when seasoned with this wholesome fruit. Natural flavors are enhanced, hidden flavors developed and subdued or lost flavors retrieved.

And lemon meringue pie? One could rave indefinitely about this and other desserts in which this alkaline-reaction native fruit appears. Here are two lemon recipes for your permanent file. I am sure you will like them:

Lemon Gelatine Chiffon Pie

½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
4 egg yolks, beaten

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) gelatine, soaked in ¼ cup cold water

Stir until dissolved. Add:

1 teaspoon grated lemon peel

Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in:

4 egg whites, stiffly beaten with
½ cup sugar

Fill baked or crumb pie shell, 9-inch size, and chill. Just before serving, spread over pie a topping made by soaking for ½ hour:

12 marshmallows in
1 cup whipping cream

Lemon Sherbet

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
1 cup lemon juice

Boil together for 5 minutes sugar and 1 cup of water. Beat slowly into egg whites, add lemon juice and second cup of water. Pour into freezing tray and set cold control at fast freezing. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return to freezing compartment and finish freezing; or freeze in crank-type freezer. Serves 10.

Would you like a booklet containing dozens of lemon recipes and describing many interesting uses for lemons in the home? Drop a postal to Betty Barclay, Box 5030, Metropolitan Station, Los Angeles, California and it will be mailed promptly.

MRS. SEWALL E. NEWMAN

The tragic death on Wednesday afternoon of Mrs. Mabel D. Newman, wife of Mr. Sewall E. Newman of Cliff street, shocked the entire town. Her body, so badly burned that identification was not made for several hours, was found by members of the fire department in extinguishing a small brush fire in the Fells at the rear of the Newman home.

Circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs Newman are unknown. Members of the family left for various activities in the morning as usual. At 10:50 a still alarm of fire was sounded in response to a telephone call from Mrs. Leo W. Blaisdell of Wolcott terrace for a brush fire in the Fells just back of her house. As soon as the firemen reached the scene they discovered the body of Mrs. Newman laying in a cleared space surrounded by the burning brush. Only surmises could be made regarding the origin of the fire or how she became so badly burned. Identification was made by her wedding ring, glasses and shoes.

The only logical explanation appears to be that in attempting to stamp out a small fire caused, possibly, by a lighted match, her clothes became ignited, and before she realized her danger she was envcloped in flames.

Mrs. Newman was the daughter of the late Charles E. Corey who died in 1916. Her mother, Mrs. Henrietta (Richardson) Corey of Mt. Vernon street, has been seriously ill for over a year. She was 61 years of age and was born in this town, attending Winchester schools and later the Wheelock School. She married Mr. Sewall E. Newman, Boston real estate and insurance broker, in 1906, they living in their newly erected home on Cliff street where they have since resided. Besides her husband and mother, she is survived by three children, Miss Margaret Newman of this town, Mr. S. Henry Newman of Watertown and Miss Elizabeth Newman of this town, and one brother, Mr Preston E. Corey, also a Cliff steet resident.

Mrs. Newman was Regent of the Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., and on the day previous to her death had conducted the first winter meeting of the society. She was a member of the First Congregational Church.

The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church and will be held in the Ripley Chapel of the church on this Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

EN KA MEETING

Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., opened her charming home on Tuesday, Oct. 10 for the first fall meeting of the En Ka. The meeting was preceded by a delicious luncheon served by the tea committee, headed by Mrs. Carl H. Bolter. Fifty-seven members were present.

Among the many interesting reports, were the reports of Miss Eleanor Dow of the civic committee and Mrs. Harold B. Richmond of the finance committee.

Miss Dow reported on the activities during the summer, mentioning sweaters knitted for the Red Cross, pleasure given members of the "Home for the Aged" by driving them weekly to the movies, and scveral trips to the museum.

Mrs. Richmond announced one new delivery bed installed at Winchester Hospital. Also a water cooler, painting the dispensary room and a new bathroom at the Home for the Aged.

Mrs. Allan Lindblad reported plans already underway for a 1940 Street Fair.

Great enthusiasm was shown at the meeting. All the members cheerfully accepting their new responsibilities for added work to be accomplished, during the coming year, for welfare work in Winchester.

TO NIMRODS AND DISCIPLES OF ISAAC WALTON

On Thursday, Oct. 26, Mr. William Herndon Foster, of Andover, will speak to the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church on "Off Season Substitutes for Upland Hunting."

Formerly editor of the "Hunting and Fishing" and "National Sportsmans" magazines, Mr. Foster is a nationally known authority on matters pertaining to our wild life and snorts featuring the rod and gun. He is also widely known as an artist of animals and birds, as one of the co-creators of the sport of "Skeet Shooting" and as the donor of the Foster Trophies at the New England Field Trials.

Exhibitions of photographs and modern and antique equipment of interest to hunters and fishermen are being arranged. The exhibitions are scheduled to be ready at 7 p. m. so bring your pipes and get in an hour of "yarning" before Mr. Foster's talk at 8 o'clock.

If you have any hunting or fishing gear, tackle, equipment, photographs, or mounted fish or game, etc., which you would like to exhtbit call Foster Cleaves, Win. 0732-M on fishing, Clarence Newton, Win. 2374 on hunting and Theodore Monroe, Win. 1848 on photographs, etc.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SEWING MEETING

On Tuesday, Oct 24 in the Unitarian parish house at 11 a. m. the Ladies' Friendly Society will hold a sewing meeting. Mrs. Charles F. Dutch will talk on European Experiences in 1939. All women of the parish cordially invited. Simple luncheon at 1 o'clock.

GEORGE E. WILLEY

George E. Willey, 68, former chairman of the Board of Selectmen and prominently identified with the New England fishing industry for more than half a century, died Friday afternoon, Oct. 13, in the Massachusetts General Hospital after a long illness.

Until the past few years Mr. Willey had made his home at 47 Wildwood street, coming to Winchester in 1908. He was born in East Boston and after receiving his education in the public schools entered the fish business April 6, 1888, as office boy with the Boston firm of E. T. Russell Co.

In 1902 he resigned to enter business for himself, organizing the firm of Lincoln, Willey & Co., of which he was treasurer until his retirement from active business because of poor health a few years ago. He was also treasurer for many years of the Snow Fisheries Company.

Mr. Willey was a former president of the United States Fisheries Association and as such theoretical head of the commercial industries of the United States. He was past president of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association and of the Wholesale Lobster Dealers' Association, was for more than 30 years president of the Boston Fish Bureau and organized the Boston Wholesale Fish Commission Dealers' Association in 1921, serving as president from that time until his retirement from business. He was a member of the Fishermen's Association of Boston, a member of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and as a member of the executive committee in charge of arrangements played a prominent part in bringing the convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association to Boston in the fall of 1935. On April 9, 1936, he was tendered a banquet and reception at the Hotel Lenox in Boston by business associates and friends upon completing 50 years in the fish business in New England.

Mr. Willey was a Mason, a member of Robert Lash Lodge, Shekinah Chapter, R. A. M., Naphtali Council, R. & S. M., Palestine Commandery, K. T., and Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was a long time member and past director of the Boston Rotary Club, former director of the Winchester Country Club and past president and chairman of the house committee of the Calumet Club.

While in Winchester Mr. Willey took an active interest in civic affairs. He served as Selectman in 1921 and 1922, acting as chairman of the Board in the latter year. He was also a member of the War Memorial Committee in 1921.

Possessor of a fine bass voice of great depth and power Mr. Willey sang for many years as a soloist, in quartets and as a member of choral groups throughout Greater Boston. He was at one time a member of the music commission in Chelsea where he made his home before coming to Winchester. He was a member of the bass section of the Winchester Choral Society and served as president of the organization in its final year, 1935-36. In the days when the Calumet Club was noted for its musical shows he played leading parts in "The Isle of Bamboo," "Rose of India" and "Mamzelle Taps."

Mr. Willey was twice married. His first wife, the former Annie E. Gray died April 24, 1929. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Wallace (Farrie) Willey and by a sister-in-law, Miss A. M. Farris, both of 30 Lancaster street, Cambridge.

Funeral services were held at the late residence Sunday afternoon with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

MRS. CLARKE HEADS WINCHESTER M. S. P. C. A.

At the first fall meeting of the Winchester Branch of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held last week Thursday at the home of Mrs. Richard Taylor on Mt. Vernon street, Mrs. Edith Washburn Clarke, president of the Womens Auxiliary of the Boston M. S. P. C. A., was elected president for the coming year. The date for the annual bazaar was set for Thursday, Dec. 14.

Members are most eager to acquaint the townspeople with the Winchester Branch and extend a cordial invitation to all to visit the animal shelter located at 432 Washington street where Mr. Arthur Brier is in charge. At the shelter there are nearly always a few dogs or cats for whom good homes are wanted, and any wanting pets of this kind are urged to call Mr. Brier.

CASWELL—MOULTON

In an attractive setting of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums on Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist Church Miss Barbara Moulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Moulton of Oxford street, became the bride of Robert Bernard Caswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Caswell of Portsmouth, N. H. The pastor of the church, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, and uncle of the bride, Rev. Adolfe Aubert of the Baptist Church in Wallingford, Vt., performed the marriage ceremony at 4 o'clock. The church organist, Mrs. Fred Macdonald played the wedding music.

Miss Moulton, who was given in marriage by her father, had for her honor attendant her sister, Mrs. Leslie York of this town. Mrs. Frederick Langille and Miss Miriam Moulton of this town, also sisters of the bride, were in the attendants' group with Miss Betsy Jane Jones of this town and Mrs. Roderick Macdonald of Reading. Miss Ann York of this town, small niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The bride wore a white bridal satin gown made on classical lines with a veil of tulle and orange blossoms. Her flowers were gardenias and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a gown of wood rose velvet with matching turban and carried deep rose chrysanthemums. Gowned alike in lovebird blue velvet, the bridesmaids also wore turbans to match their frocks and carried pale pink chrysanthemums. The flower girl wore an aqua velvet dress with matching poke bonnet and carried a Colonial bouquet.

Kenneth Caswell of Portsmouth, N. H., was his brother's best man and the ushers were Edward Hopley, John Durgin, Jr. and George Ward, all of Portsmouth, N. H., and Carl Everingham of Norwich, Conn.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors where the bride's mother and the mother of the bridegroom assisted in receiving. Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. Caswell and his bride will make their home in Portsmouth, N. H., where the bridegroom is a partner in Caswell Brothers' Oil Company. The bride, who is widely known among Winchester's young people, attended Harcum Junior College.

MASONS TO DEDICATE NEW QUARTERS TUESDAY

Preparations are virtually complete for the dedication of the new Masonic Apartments in the Hevey Block on Tuesday evening, Oct. 24, at which time the officers of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., will be installed by Most Wor. Joseph Earl Perry, grand master, and the officers of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts.

A dedication dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the lodge's new banquet hall, after which commencing at 8 o'clock the new apartments will be dedicated and the officers installed. Franklin Field, well known baritone soloist, will sing.

The program of renovating and redecorating the old Masonic Apartments which have been located in the Hevey, or Brown & Stanton, Block for many years has consumed the entire summer and early fall. The result is one of the finest suites of lodge rooms to be found anywhere aside from the more elaborate Masonic temples.

A large crowd is expected for the dedication ceremonies which promise to be unique in local Masonic history.

REPUBLICAN CLUB BRIDGE OCT. 31

Mrs. Walter W. Winship, chairman of the finance committee of the Winchester Women's Republican Club has announced that judging from the demand for tickets for the annual Fall Bridge, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee of Ledgewood road, there will be an unusually large group of members and their friends. The date is Tuesday, Oct. 31 and the spirit of Hallowe'en will be carried out in the decorations and at the tables where a dessert will be served before cards are enjoyed. Mrs E. George Pierce of Lawson road has charge of the waitresses and tables, and others working hard for the success of the Bridge are Mrs. W. R. Baker, Mrs. William Bowe, Mrs. Stanley Howe, Mrs. Kingman P. Cass, and Mrs. George Bryne.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON

The Winchester Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will have a corsage table at the annual bazaar at the Copley Plaza Motel Nov. 1 and 2. Mrs. Frederick Benjamin Rice is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and is being assisted by Mrs. Charles Maxwell Vanner as sub-chairman.

The Juniors are also participating in the bazaar in other ways. Mrs. Robert B. Smith is to model at the Fashion Show, and the Circle has reserved two tables for bridge on Thursday, Nov. 2.

In connection with the bazaar it is announced that the Winchester Juniors will sponsor no chance drawings or raffles of any kind.

DR CHIDLEY WILL REPEAT SERMON SUNDAY

Due to the fact that Rev. R. Sirhowy Jones of Winchester, England, unexpectedly preached at the First Congregational Church last Sunday morning, Dr. Chidley will preach his sermon on "The Eagle's Nest," by request, next Sunday morning at the usual hour of worship, 10:45.

ROBBED AT GUN POINT

Alleged Bandits Later Captured in Arlington

Three men, one of whom was said to have robbed a Winchester man at the point of a revolver, were captured by the Arlington police in that town shortly before 10:30 Monday night.

Shortly after 10:15 Guy N. Washburn of 39 White street, attendant at the Blue Sunoco gasoline station on upper Main street, reported to the police that as he was walking north on Main street opposite Clark street he was accosted by a man who got out of an Oldsmobile sedan.

The man thrust a gun against Washburn's stomach and ordered him to "stick 'em up," taking $11 from him. The bandit then ordered his victim to enter the car, but when Washburn demurred and assured him that he had no more money, finally relented and drove off. Washburn told the police that there was another man in the car.

He gave the authorities the number of the bandit car, which upon investigation proved to be that of a Ford owned by a Medford man. Further investigation disclosed that this plate had been stolen from a Ford while its owner was attending a motion picture show at an Arlington theatre.

Meanwhile the number of the car and a description of the bandit had been broadcast and shortly after 10:30 the wanted car was spotted in Arlington by Officers John Roache and Clinton Peabody of the Arlington police.

When the Officers stopped the car it contained three men and at the feet of the man occupying the rear seat was a fully loaded U. S. Army automatic.

The three men were taken to headquarters in Arlington and held as suspicious persons. Police say that in a lineup there with other young men Washburn identified one of the trio as the man who held him up, and John B. O'Hara of 49 Grafton street, Arlington, identified another as the man who held him up at his drug store on Massachusetts avenue in Arlington on the night of Oct. 6.

The men were booked and held at Arlington headquarters for further identification. They gave their names as Vincent Costa of 14 Williams street, Medford, Thomas Leon of 7 Alfred street, Medford, and John Russo of 331 Beacon street, Cambridge.

WINCHESTER AT PUNCHARD

Winchester High goes to Andover Saturday afternoon for what looks like another hard football game with Punchard High School, commencing at 2 o'clock.

This is a non-league game, but it is one that both schools want to win. A year ago Winchester came from behind to edge a scrappy Punchard eleven, 12—6, giving the visitors their first defeat of the season. Punchard will be out for revenge tomorrow.

Just how good Punchard is this year is hard to judge. The Andover boys ran up 31 points on Concord last Saturday, but that is no indication of unusual strength for Concord is weak this fall. A scoreless tie with not too strong Amesbury doesn't make the Punchard record too impressive, but the Andover team is unscored upon to date so its defense must be fairly sturdy.

Winchester isn't as good as it was a year ago, but it has a couple of high-class four year veterans in Galuffo and DeTeso filling important posts and a host of man-power that gives it a big edge over most schools in its own class.

We would think the locals' chances of winning tomorrow are at least as good as even, perhaps better. Few school can match Winchester's replacements and the subs count plenty in any kind of football.

MISS BARBARA KELLEY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Willis Kelley of Willow street and Duxbury announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Coburn Kelley, to George Ross Starr, Jr., of East Orange, N. J.

Miss Kelley was graduated from the Brimmer School in 1937 and is a member of the class of 1941 at Bennington College. Mr. Starr, son of Mrs. George Ross Starr of East Orange, and the late Dr. Starr, was graduated from Yale in 1936 and is a member of the class of 1940 at the Tufts Medical School.

He is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa, the Chi Phi and the Tau Kappa Alpha fraternities and the University Club of Boston.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Six members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 19.

Many members have been inquiring as to the reasons for the low attendance record exhibited by the club, a condition which has been persistent for an unusually long period. Perhaps the absentees themselves could give clear and acceptable explanations for the deplorable rating with which the club has been afflicted. We are sure it is not a matter of pride to our officers nor to the great majority of our individual members. May we again take the liberty of suggesting that Rotary exists for the purpose of affording Rotarians exceptional opportunities to render willing service not merely to their clubs, but especially to their communities, their countries and their fellow men the world over. To the right-thinking man this privilege is priceless. It cannot be enjoyed to the full unless Rotarians present themselves at the gatherings prescribed. The broadest possible acquaintance and fellowship is requisite in order that we may achieve a sympathetic understanding of those social problems which affect mankind the world over. Every red-blooded man wants to help. Rotary frequently points the way. And none know this better than those who are in constant touch with the activities of their own clubs. Such men realize that the privileges which they thus enjoy are genuine. For our own good as well as the good of others let us maintain these contacts to the greatest possible extent.

Malcolm Bennett, who had the misfortune to break his arm some three weeks ago reports that he is making a splendid recovery. And we are surely glad that he can once more attend our meetings.

Again we take pleasure in announcing that a new member has come to our club. Dr. Harry L. Mueller will represent for us the classification "Pediatrician." Needless to state, he is a most welcome addition to our number. Past President Billy Beggs' address of welcome was most cordial and we shall do our best to make Harry feel that he is "at home."

Our guest speaker at the current meeting was Mr. George Laaff of the General Electric Company, Lynn. Mr. Laaff's topic was "Plastcs." Within a comparatively short period almost unbelieveable progress has been made by organic chemists in the production of pliable mass compounds capable of being molded or stamped into almost any conceivable form which very shortly harden and become practically indestructible. The commercial and industrial uses to which such material may be put is legion and new uses are constantly appearing. Mr. Laaff exhibited such diverse specimens as heels for women's shoes, flash-light casings, gears, machine bearings, wood veneers, rigid or pliable and clock casings. Members found this talk most interesting and the speaker extremely well informed in this department of the great chemical industry. We are most grateful to Mr. Laaff for coming to us and to our program chairman for securing his services.

Percentage of Attendance, Oct. 5, 1939—85.29 per cent.

MELLETT NEW TOWN HALL CUSTODIAN

At a special meeting last Friday evening the Board of Selectmen appointed Lee D. Mellett of 52 Vine street to the position of custodian of the town hall. Mr. Mellett was chosen from among several candidates.

The new custodian has lived nearly all of his life in Winchester, coming to this town from Prince Edward's Island as a boy of eight years. For 21 years he was a chauffeur for Mr. Martin Brown who formerly made his home on Stratford road, and since the latter's removal from town has done auto repair work and general driving.

Mr. Mellett is a World War veteran, having served overseas for nearly a year as a first class machinists mate at Naval Base 19, L'Orient, France. Afterwards he saw service with the Unite States Marine suppny ship in the Danish West Indies. He is a member of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, being custodian of the Colors, and a member of both the executive and house committees. He is married and has a son, Roy F. Mellett of this town.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL APPROVED

Official announcement of the 1939 list of 2720 hospitals in the United States, Canada and a few other countries was made at the 22nd annual Hospital Standurization Conference which opened in Philadelphia Monday in conjunction with the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Included in the list of hospitals as having been accorded approval by the American College of Surgeons following the 1939 survey is the Winchester Hospital.

MISS THERESA H. FALLON

Miss Theresa H. Fallon, a resident of Winchester during most of her lifetime, died early Saturday morning at her home, 11 Forest circle, after a long illness.

Miss Fallon, who was 39, was the daughter of Thomas J., and the late Catherine (O'Connor) Fallon. She was born in Stoneham but came with her parents to Winchester during her childhood and had made her home here for about 30 years, being educated in the Winchester schools. She was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Besides her father, Miss Fallon leaves three sisters, Mrs. Katherine F. Goggin, Mrs. Christian W. Thompson and Mrs. Mary Baraniuk, all of Winchester; and two brothers, Joseph E., and Thomas J. Fallon, Jr., also of this town.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Jospeh P. Mahoney, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Francis J. Sullivan, subdeacon.

Interment was in the family lot at Calvary Cemetery where committal prayers were read by Fr. McGoldrick.

JOHN McNALLY, JR.

John McNally, Jr., son of John McNally and the late Anna (Lafleur) McNally of Eaton street, died Sunday, Oct. 15, in a veterans' hospital near Washington, D. C., after an illness of two months.

Mr. McNally, a veteran of the World War, was born in Winchester Aug. 13, 1898, and received his education in the Winchester schools. He was appointed a provisional member of the Fire Department Sept. 18, 1921, and after a probationary period became a regular member of the department, resigning Sept. 21, 1923, to accept a Government position as an electrical safety engineer in Washington. During the World War he served as a corporal in the 731st Co, Motor Transport Corps, at the Norfolk Army Supply Base. He was a former member of Winchester Lodge of Elks.

Besides his father, who was the first exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge, B. P. O. E., he leaves his wife, Mrs. Frances McNally; a daughter, Ann; a son, John; and two brothers, Francis of Needham; and Leo V. McNally of Chester, Pa.

A military funeral was held Tuesday morning in Washington where the interment was made in Arlington National Cemetery.

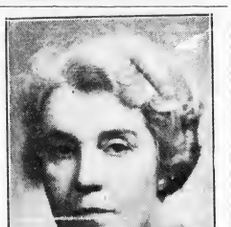

GUESTS FROM LONG ISLAND

Miss Rosemary Smith of Sheffield road had as house guests last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Fahenstock of Long Island, N. Y. Miss Smith was a bridesmaid at their marriage in July, she and Mrs. Fahenstock having been college friends at Skidmore.

Mr. Fahenstock and his brother, co-authors of the book, "Stars to Windward," are preparing for another trip which they are to take to the South Seas under the auspices of the American Natural History Society. On this trip which will take about two and one-half years they plan further exploration and writing. Their wives will join them at various points along the route.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Abbie T. Sweetser, for many years a well known resident of Winchester. She died at her home at 7927 Madison avenue, LaMesa, Calif., on Thursday, Oct. 12. Mrs. Sweetser is survived by her husband, Herbert B. Sweetser, and three married daughters, Mrs. Pauline Cath of Providence, R. I., Mrs. Priscilla Hersey of 4514 Maxt Drive, San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Betty Underhill of U. S. Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

MRS. JOHN W. PEARSON

Mrs. John W. Pearson, 2 Calumet road, Winchester, has been appointed a metropolitan vice chairman of the educational division of Greater Boston's 1940 Community Fund Campaign. Under Mrs. Phister Cowin, metropolitan chairman, Mrs. Pearson will be in charge of the Mystic area, comprising Winchester, Arlington, Medford, Woburn and Somerville.

BURNS—SMITH

In St. Charles Church, Woburn, on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, Miss Henrietta D. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith of Union street, Woburn, became the bride of George F. Burns, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Burns of Canal street. Rev. Fr. Charles P. Heaney, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony at 2 o'clock, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Esther Duffy Doherty, organist. The soloist, John Francis Morse, sang "Just for Today."

Miss Anna F. Smith of Woburn was the bride's only attendant, and Walter J. Burns of this town was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a white satin gown made with a ruffled jacket having a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. Her tulle veil was shoulder length and she carried a white prayer book with a shower of orchids and valley lilies. The honor maid wore a dress of raspberry taffeta having puffed sleeves and a square neck. The ruffled hem-line of her dress was trimmed with dubonnet velvet and this same velvet was combined with tulle in the small doll type hat she wore. Her flowers were bronze snapdragon and talisman roses.

The bride is a graduate of Woburn High School. Mr. Burns, who is an accountant with the Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, is a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Bentley School of Accounting & Finance.

SADIE MacLEOD GRAY

Mrs. Sadie MacLeod Gray, wife of William J. Gray of 25 Glen road, passed away on Sunday, Oct. 15, after a long illness. She had lived in Winchester for over 30 years.

Mrs. Gray was a native of Prince Edward's Island, where she was graduated from Charlottetown College, after which she taught in the Island schools.

She is survived by her husband, a brother, Alex MacLeod of Somerville; a sister, Mrs. Silliker and a niece, Mrs. Gilroy, both living in Nova Scotia, and a host of loyal friends.

Mrs. Gray was a member of the Crawford Memorial Church and of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Private services were held, on Oct. 19, at Saville & Kimball's Chapel, followed by interment at Wildwood Cemetery.

HATCH—LEWIS

Miss Grace Louise Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lewis of 12 Alice avenue, Lynn, and Mr. Ronald Kenneth Hatch of Highland Park, Mich., son of Mrs. William S. Hatch, 45 Forest street, Winchester, were married at the home of the bride's parents at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and Rev. E. E. Jackman, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Lynn, performed the ceremony.

The wedding march and music before the ceremony were played by the Della Louise Hart trio. Fall garden flowers was the decorative motif throughout the wedding and the couple exchanged the marriage vows before a bower of pink and white dahlias and evergreen.

The bride was beautiful in a dress of white faille with short puffed sleeves and a hoop skirt. Her fingertip veil was of white tulle and the cap was trimmed with a wreath of tiny rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white snapdragon and dahlias.

Mrs. Benjamin A. Fullerton of Saugus, sister of the bride, was her honor attendant. She wore a gown of taffeta and velveteen in garnet shade with a wreath of flowers in her hair, and carried a bouquet of single dahlias in harmony.

Mr. Ralph W. Hatch of Winchester, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Lewis, wore a dress of midnight blue rough crepe. Mrs. Hatch, mother of the groom, was gowned in plum velvet. Both wore corsages of autumn flowers.

Following the ceremony there was a reception for members of the family and a few intimate friends.

After a honeymoon in New York State, the bride and groom will be at home at 12,561 Third avenue, Highland Park, Mich.

Mrs. Hatch is a graduate of the Chandler School and Mr. Hatch was graduated from Tufts College Engineering School.

WINCHESTER CITIZENS IMPORTANT IN PLANNING

An interesting feature in the meeting of the Federation of Planning Boards of Massachusetts opening at the Hotel Bancroft at Worcester today, is the fact that a number of Winchester men will figure importantly in the proceedings. Mr. Harold L. Robinson, well known as a former resident, will be a speaker at one session. Mr. William L. Parsons, long a member of our town planning board, will preside at one of the sessions and Mr. Arthur W. Dean, formerly of the Metropolitan District Commission, will preside at a session likewise. Mr. Flavel Shurtleff, a former resident and now one of the State's experts on city and town planning, will be a speaker.

PLEDGED AT TUFTS

James M. Gustin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Gustin of Lakeview terrace and John P. O'Neil, son of Mr. J. J. O'Neil of Sachem road. Both freshmen at Tufts College, were recently pledged by Kappa Chapter of Zeta Psi, national fraternity. Both men were graduated from Winchester High School last June. Mr. Gustin is enrolled in Tufts Engineering School, while Mr. O'Neil is a member of the School of Liberal Arts.

WOBURN CROSS COUNTRY TEAM WON FROM WINCHESTER

Led by their ace harrier, Capt. Larry Cullen, undefeated in competition thus far this fall, the Woburn High School cross country team defeated Winchester High, 21—36, last Friday afternoon over the Woburn course.

Cullen, in addition to winning individual honors, broke the course record when he covered the 2.9 miles in 15 min. 53 secs. The old mark, 16min. 10 secs. was also bettered by Cullen s running mate, Adam Diamont, who while 14 seconds off his leader's pace was still three seconds under the old mark.

Cullen and Diamont had about a quarter of a mile on Winchester s first plodder, Walter Paulson, who previously hadn't tasted defeat in competition, but who had to be content with third in Friday's record-cracking race. Robert Paulson finished on his brother's heels for fourth place with Dan Towse of Woburn nith. Following is the summary:

First, Cullen (Wob); 2nd, Diamont (Wob); 3rd, W. Paulsen (Win); 4th R. Paulsen (Win.); 5th, Towse (Wob); 6th, Tortalno (Wob); 7th, Pappas (Wob); 8th, Huckins (Win); 9th, Collins (Win); 10th, McElhiney (Wob); 11th, Valcour (Wob); 12th, Hickey (Win); 13th, Hawkes (Win); 14th, Generazo (Wob); 15th, Young (Win); 16th, Hovey (Win); 17th, McGovern (Win); 18th, Griffiths (Win); 19th, Bacon (Wob); 20th, Feeney (Wob); 21st, Sage (Wob); 22nd, Brown (Win).

AKINS GOLF WINNER

TREASURE HUNT

A treasure hunt will open the fall season of the Winchester Junior Fortnightly on Monday evening, Oct. 23. The hunt will start from the home of the club president, Mrs. Donald Ash, on Fairview terrace. This year's prospective members have been invited as guests.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 2

During the past two weeks Troop 2 has done things. It made its first overnight hike to Camp Lane over Oct. 12, and this hike was such a success that plans are already being made for another hike. Seven boys and three leaders left Wednesday afternoon. Talbut Smith, Bill Wilde, Dick Gallagher, John Eaton, Phineas Newton, Lawrence Bacon and Ben Aldrich hiked up in order to pass their 14 mile hike. Bob Harris, Arnold Smith and Mr. C. Harold Smith rode up to prepare the camp for the boys. The hikers arrived at 5:45, a bit tired and very hungry. After cooking their supper out, games of skill were enjoyed in the main cabin, but as everyone was tired the campers, except Bill Wilde and Talbut Smith who chose to sleep out, retired to the bunkhouse.

Un early the next morning Arnold "Smitty" Smith and Mr. Smith prepared a breakfast of bacon and eggs, oatmeal, toast, cocoa and fruit which everyone ate readily.

Later on in the morning Scoutmaster Hart brought a lot of boys up just for the day. Many tests were passed such as first and second class cooking, tracking, scout's pace and 14 mile hike. At 3:30 in the afternoon camp was closed and the boys left for home after a fine expedition in camp.

Advancement in the troop is now very good. Lawrence P. Bacon and Richard Gallagher passed their second class at the last board of review and Phil O'Rouke and Philip Slocum have passed their tenderfoot. About five boys are now ready to pass second class at the next board of review. Muel advancement is expected from Troop 2 within the next few months.

WINCHESTER WON FROM STONEHAM

Galuffo to McEwin Pass Scored in First Quarter

Losers Good in Defeat

Winchester High School took a long hop nearer another Middlesex League football championship when its black busters edged a good Stoneham team, 7—0, last Saturday afternoon in the dust of the Pomeworth street grounds in Stoneham. One of the largest crowds to see a football game in Stoneham witnessed the contest which was if anything a bit closer than even the score would indicate. No one can say that the locals were lucky to score their touchdown, it was well earned, but by the same token only the most rabid Winchester rooter will deny that Stoneham deserved to score. Questionable strategy on a couple of occasions and the inability of Stoneham receivers to hold some well thrown aerials by Russell contributed quite as much to the losers' downfall as Winchester's admittedly stout defense. Stoneham actually had the edge in first downs, 8 to 6.

Two players, Jim Stygles of Winchester and big Art Rich of Stoneham, were standouts, with the latter proving to be the hardest line-bucker the locals have been called upon to face since the days of Rooney of Concord and Strafian of Watertown. Time and again the big Stoneham fullback ripped through the Winchester line, carrying the local tacklers along with him, and had he been used when the losers had the ball inside the five yard line, there might have been a different story to tell. Stygles turned in a fine all around game, both offensively and defensively, his clutch of a Marabella pass and subsequent gallop to the Stoneham 20 setting up the first score, while his tackle of Rich at the Winchester 15 later in the game saved a certain touchdown. Add to that a pass interception when Stoneham was threatening and his heads-up conversion of a blocked drop kick into the point after touchdown and you have a pretty fair afternoon's work for Mr. Stygles.

Aside from these boys, Tony DeTeso played his usual fine defensive game and Frank Marabella contributed some great kicking to the winning cause. Lirakis played a standout tackle on the Stoneham line and Gerry, end, and Meuse, back, also looked good. Russell is easily the league's best passer, but aside from his chucking, contributed little to Stoneham's offensive play, an injured leg very probably hampering his running game.

Marabella kicked off to open the game and Stoneham at once started tossing the ball around. Following an exchange of kicks Winchester received the ball at its 40 and struck immediately for its winning score.

On second down Marabella tossed a pass to Jim Stygles who raced to the Stoneham 20 before being hauled down by the Stoneham safety man. In two thrusts at the line Galuffo plowed to a first down on the eight.

A third line plaw was piled up but on second down Galuffo faded back and tossed a pretty pass down the alley to McEwin who cut in sharply behind center to make the catch behind the goal line. Galuffo's attempted drop-kick for the extra point was blocked but the Stoneham boys thought their chore was over when they knocked down the ball and the alert Stygles picked up the pigskin and ran over the line for the goal.

That ended the scoring, but Winchester outrushed Stoneham during the remainder of the first half, reaching the losers' 20 yard line twice, while Stoneham never seriously threatened.

The second half was a different story with Russell's passing and Rich's bull-like line-bucking giving Stoncham a decided advantage. Once again Stoneham received and largely through the air advanced the ball to Winchester's 25 where an aerial flurry was ended by Stygles' timely interception.

After a short gain, on second down, Marabella got off a beauty quick-kick which caught the Stoneham safety man flat-footed and rolled to the Stoneham eight.

This advantage was short-lived, for on second down Russell passed to Rich just over the right side of the line and the big fullback legged it along the sidelines to the Winchester 15 where he was pulled down by Stygles, saving a sure score. Had Rich stuck to the sidelines he might have made it, but the big boy cut in just enough to permit the sprinting Stygles to cross over and make the game-saving tackle.

In two savage thrusts at the Winchester line Rich made first down at the five, adding two more through the local frontier. Then Stoneham changed its strategy gambling first on an end around, then on a criss-cross and lateral and finally on an end sweep, the final result of which was the loss of a yard in three rushes and the ball on downs, Whether Rich would have made it is, of course, debatable, but there are surely many who will always feel that the 185 pound power house would have advanced those three needed yards in three tries.

Be that as it may, the locals showed a stout defense that solved the Stoneham razzle-dazzle and are entitled to plenty of praise for their courageous goal-line stand.

After Galuffo had spun through for two yards, Marabella again got off a corking quick-kick that rolled out of bounds on the Stoneham 15.

The final quarter got under way at this point and with Russell throwing several bullseyes, Stoneham worked its way to the Winchester 35 where the ball was lost on downs. Winchester in turn found the Stoneham line too tough and punted to the losers' 25.

Once again Stoneham took to the air and materially aided by one Russell-to-Rich heave good for 30 yards, reached the locals' 25 to threaten once again. Still air-minded Russell continued to heave away, the locals giving him all the time in the world. One pass was batted down by DeTeso and Stygles, but the other three failed because of the inability of the Stoneham receivers to hang on to the ball.

Any one of the passes completed could have meant a score and the big crowd was on edge. The threat, however, ended and Winchester took the ball on downs, advancing to the Stoneham 30 as the game ended with Galuffo doing the bulk of the carrying. The summary:

ELECTED TO EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Walter W. Josephson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave A. Josephson of 25 Sheridan circle, a freshman in the health and physical education division of Springfield College, was one of five students to be elected by his class mates to the freshman class executive committee.

Mr. Josephson was graduated from the Winchester High School in 1935. As a student there, he was prominent in athletics, playing football, basketball and tennis.

The freshman class executive committee was established last year to serve until the class members are sufficiently well acquainted to elect permanent officers.

The model illustrated is the Buick SUPER *model 51 four-door touring sedan $1129 delivered at Flint, Mich.

ONE little thing will illustrate the unsparing care we're spending to make this 1940 Buick the best car we've ever built.

Take the springs — not simply the great soft-action spirals that cushion the car, but even the valve springs.

After they're shaped and tempered and finished there's likely to be here and there a tiny scratch on the surface of the steel.

Such a scratch conceivably might start a fracture. So we shot-blast our springs — to heal such tiny scratches, "peening" the surface in miniature like hammered silver.

For example, we used to balance by weight all sets of parts in our tornadic Dynaflash straight-eight engine, to cancel out even a hint of "rough."

We do that still, but now we do more. On special machines we electrically balance this great engine to micropoised perfection after assembly, paring metal if need be to smooth its velocity to velvet.

Seat angles, pedal positions, shock absorber travel-arc, brake areas, control tensions — every detail comes under special study.

When the experimental models had done their stuff on the General Motors proving ground, we turned 'em over to sharpshooters to punish, over thousands of miles of bad roads and good.

Out of it all comes an automobile we're mighty proud to offer — an unbeatable travelmate you will be thrilled to own.

Come drive it — see how excitingly close steel and rubber and glass can come to being alive!

A GOOD INVESTMENT

The rapidity with which New Deal legislation has been rushed through the administration law machine at Washington has been so great that conservative voters have hardly had a chance to catch their breath. Before the enormous injustice of one act can be digested a dozen other acts of a similar nature have been passed. For instance: the LaFollette amendment to the Social Security Act in the final days of the last congressional session put another prop under the Townsend movement. This amendment made it possible for some persons who had only paid $36 to draw $25 a month all the rest their lives! A pretty good investment for "then that hasn't."

LABOR AND MONOPOLY

Reports in Washington are that Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold has run into appalling evidence of union labor rackets in the building industries, according to Herbert Corey in Nation's Business. The rough-riding trust buster from Wyoming and Yale was looking for other game. He set out on a fire-and-brimstone assault on monopoly in that field by wicked business. Being a New Dealer of uncommon gusto, Mr. Arnold is squeamish about recognizing anything but sweetness and light in a labor union. It's a hard test for an ambitious monopoly pulverizer.

The assistant attorney general's discovery is nothing new to objective reporters and law enforcement officials in the big cities. Sam Parks and "Skinny" Madden, first of the labor czars, fattened on the construction industries, and their successors still bargain collectively with "gat" and lead pipe, while their apologists speak in tearful tones of the rights of labor.

In desperation a contractor will pay some heavy-fisted czar a "salary" of $50 or $75 a week for the privilege of hiring non-union labor on a job. Dissenters find that they can't get materials delivered. A series of "accidents" may happen to non-union workmen. Strikes are called without a vote of the union membership and the only way they can be called off is by crossing the itchy palm of some union leader or his political angel. This tribute is the price of existence for the employer. Under such conditions it would be no surprise to find that a few trade associations had banded together in self defense under terms that savored of monopoly.—[Nation's Business.

THE PARISH PLAYERS TO GIVE TWO PERFORMANCES OF EACH PLAY

Because of the great demand for good seats for the Parish Players 14th season, two performances of each play will be given. This is an opportunity for those who want the best seats for the productions of this popular little theatre group, to engage them now for the Saturday night performance. The majority of the Friday night audience has held the same seats for many years. Now is the chance to get choice seats for Saturday night and keep them year by year.

The first play will be "Three Cornered Moon," an outstanding Broadway success and it will be presented in The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, of the First Congregational Church on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 3 and 4.

MRS. ELLEN KVICKSTROM

Mrs. Ellen Kvickstrom, wife of Walter Kvickstrom of 31 Canal street, died early Wednesday morning, Oct. 18, in an out-of-town hospital after a three years illness.

Mrs. Kvickstrom, who was 62 years old, was a native of Helsingfors, Finland. She came to this country 25 years ago and had been a resident of Winchester since her arrival. Besides her husband, she leaves a son, Ragner, of this town; and a daughter, Miss Evelyn Kvickstrom, who is a member of the staff at the Winchester Library.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence with Rev. George A. Butters, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church of Arlington, formerly of the Crawford Memorial Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The annual visiting day for Guild members and friends will take place on Sunday, Oct. 22 at the Miramar Mission House, Island Creek, Kingston. Inasmuch as this Mission house is one of the several diocesan charities which our Guild is pledged to assist, this opportunity to visit and see the work carried on there should appeal too many of the members.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 24, the local branch will conduct a Hallowe'en charity whist in White's Hall. All members and friends are welcome. The affair is in charge of a committee comprising Messrs. Mary Dineen, Mary Carroll, Susan Quigley, Delia McGeehan.

URGE CONTRACTOR TO ELIMINATE NOISE

The following letter has been received by Mr. Robert J. Holmes of Lakeview road in response to a petition sent the Metropolitan District Commission asking for an abatement of the noise incidental to the dredging of Upper Mystic Lake. As will be noted, the Commission will endeavor to eliminate as much noise as possible.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Metropolitan District Commission
20 Somerset Street, Boston
October 7, 1939

Robert J. Holmes, Esq.
10 Post Office Square
Boston, Massachusetts

Dear Sir:

The Commission, at its meeting on Thursday of this week, gave consideration to the petition of the group of Winchester residents listed in your letter of Sept. 27, regarding the operation of dredging equipment in the Upper Mystic Lake during the night hours.

The contracting company doing this work is renting its equipment on a per diem basis and, as no restriction as to hours of operation are incorporated in the contract, any restriction which the Commission may now attempt to enforce in this regard would establish a valid basis for a claim for additional compensation aside from the possibility of consequential damages for a variety of difficulties to which the contractor may be subjected if the work is delayed beyond the contemplated completion date.

After the award of the contract, at the urgent solicitation of members of the legislature, town officers and others, the Commission authorized a change in the location of the dike and some other work, which has increased the cost of the project to a degree where it is not possible at this time to estimate that a balance will be available in the appropriation for any additional costs.

The Commission regrets the very great annoyance caused by the contractor's operations and it makes no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation with which residents in the neighborhood are confronted, but it cannot take measures which are bound to result in additional expenditures when funds are not available to meet them.

It will, however, urge the contractor to take every precaution that may be possible to eliminate unnecessary noises and to prosecute the balance of the work diligently to completion by December 1st, if at all possible.

Very truly yours,
(Sgd.) E. F. Barry
Edward F. Barry

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club held Wednesday, Oct. 18, at the art room of the public library, the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Robert Raymond Elliot
First Vice President—Mrs. William W. Goodhue
Second Vice President — Mrs. Allan F. Howard
Treasurer—Mrs. Harold M. Twombly
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Clifford H. Williams
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Howard L. Bennett
Membership Chairman — Mrs. William H. Neagle
Program Chairman — Mrs. George W. French
Social Chairman—Mrs. Theodore Elliott
Press—Mrs. Willard Hudson
Auditor—Mrs. Fred S. Scales

Following the business meeting, Mr. Sterling H. Poole, president of the N. E. Gourd Society gave a very delightful and instructive talk on the cultivation of gourds. The audience were most enthusiastic and all left for home with a great desire to raise these very interesting and amusing marvels of the vegetable world. Good seeds, plenty of sunshine and moisture and a determination to fight the insects were the requirements.

WINCHESTER MAN'S SKI BINDINGS WITH BYRD

The Byrd Antarctic Expedition, leaving Boston the latter part of October, will carry as part of its equipment, several pairs of Spearhead Strand model ski bindings and also the high hitch toe irons. There will be 50 skiers in the party, 25 in each camp operating under the supervision of Finn Ronne, veteran of past expeditions. The average distance covered by each skier on such trips will be about 3000 miles. It is interesting to note that the high hitch model toe iron was selected instead of the racing model, which is the more popular type in this part of the world, the reason being that all the skiing will be cross-country instead of downhill. To the knowledge of "Ted" Elliott of Winchester, manufacturer of the Spearhead bindings, this will be the first time that cable bindings have been selected for the polar regions. The results of the trip will blast the belief that steel in low temperatures is brittle.—[from "Sporting Goods Dealer."

K. OF C. NOTES

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, of which Thomas Travers is grand knight, is holding an open meeting Monday evening in the council chambers in the Lyceum Block on Mt. Vernon street, to which members and their friends are cordially invited. The entertainment consisting of official United States Coast Guard pictures, promises to be unusually interesting.

The Council's first fall social affair is the dancing party to be held on Friday evening, Nov. 3, at the Woburn Country Club. Walter Burns is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and promises all who attend a good time.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The officers of Winchester unit to Post 97, American Legion, were installed by Past Department President Mrs. Emma F. Lovejoy of Melrose, assisted by Sergeant-at-Arms, Miss Mary Gulledge of Melrose, on Monday night, Oct. 16, in Legion House, Washington street.

Mrs. Mabel Larsen, president opened the meeting and presented Mrs. Lovejoy who proceeded to install:

President—Mrs. John Gilbody
1st Vice President—Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Kenneth Colgate
Secretary—Mrs. Elizabeth Moynihan
Treasurer—Mrs. Bessie Pierce
Chaplain—Mrs. D. J. Meskell
Historian—Mrs. Conrad Larson
Sergeant-at-Arms—Mrs. John Hanlon
Executive Board—Mrs. Conrad Larson, Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald, Mrs. Elizabeth Moynihan

Commander Marshall Symmes of Post 97, was presented by the new president and offered his support to the unit. He spoke about the last world war, the work of the boys and hoped this country would do everything possible to keep us out of war. A beautiful bouquet was given by the Commander to Mrs. Gilbody.

Mrs. Lovejoy outlined a system of work to be carried out by the unit. Miss Gulledge asked the unit's assistance at Bedford Hospital evening socials.

The surprise of the evening was the entrance of the State Department President, Mrs. Jennie Collins of Plymouth and Miss Faustina Wade of Woburn, District Director of Middlesex County, whom were graciously received by Mrs. Gilbody and unit. Both spoke of auxiliary work and asked the assembly to do all possible to earn the National Citation by exceeding the membership quota this year. Several visitors from other organizations were presented: Stoneham Woburn, Reading and Arlington units responded. Winchester Grange also responded.

The entertainment was provided by Miss Helen Brownell, pianist, Mrs. Frances Conlon, reader and Mrs. Ruth J. Meskell, soloist, whom was called upon to repeat, God Bless America, ably rendered. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

HOWARD—MACDONALD

Miss Christina M. MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. MadDonald of Stone avenue, and Gerald J. Howard, son of Mrs. J. W. Callanan of Highland avenue, were married Saturday evening, Oct. 14, at the Advent Christian Church in Somerville by Rev. E. K. Gedney.

Miss MacDonald, wearing a bridal satin gown with a veil of duchess lace and tulle, and carrying a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies, was attended by Miss Elizabeth MacDonald of this town, as maid of honor. Miss Dorothy MacDonald and Miss Lillian MacDonald, both of this town, were bridesmaids.

The honor maid wore a gown of mist blue taffeta and carried Columbia roses. The bridesmaids carried talisman roses and were gowned alike in pompadour roses taffeta.

Joseph MacDonald of Roxbury was groomsman and the ushers were Russell Cross of Somerville, Avery Cutter of Arlington, Robert Gardner of New Bedford and Wilbert Callanan of Somerville.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parish house. Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York and Washington, D. C., Mr. Howard and his bride will make their home at 53 Fellsway, West Medford.

INFANT SAVIOUR GUILD NOTES

The Winchester Chapter will hold a meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 24, at 2:30 in Lyceum Hall. Articles donated for the bazaar will be accepted and displayed. The annual supper dance to be held at the Copley Plaza is only two weeks away. It is not too early to start laying aside anything which can be used for the rummage sale to be held Nov. 9. Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, Win. 1469, is in charge and will arrange for collection. Don't fail to join the blanket club, plans for which will be explained at the next meeting.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester League of Women Voters will hold its first open meeting on Friday afternoon, Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth, 1 Arlington street at 2:30.

Mrs. La Rue Brown, the state president will be the principal speaker. She will outline the position of the National League on Neutrality and will discuss the possibility for constructive work this year in the programs of the local, state and national leagues. Mrs. Richard Field will also speak briefly on the expansion program. Tea will be served by Mrs. Wm. F. Lee and her committee.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The Winchester Ski Club opened up its third season with a meeting of the board of directors at the home of the new president, Bob Low at 10 Alben street, Wednesday night.

A very interesting program is being worked out for the coming skiing season and among the projects will be several planned for group trips to the north ski country, local day trips cross country with noon day lunches around an open fire, the dance earlier this year before the actual skiing season gets under way, the setting aside of a special night at the winter sports show in the Boston Garden when the club will attend as a group, the possible taking over of a ski lodge in the north country for use by the ski club for week-end ski trips, arranging for a first class instructor who will be available to instruct members here in Winchester and other plans for a very active season.

There will be a general meeting on Wednesday night at 8 p. m. at a place to be announced later.

In this respect the Ski Club would be very grateful to anyone who has an old barn, carriage house or other building which could be fixed up by the ski club and used by them as a club house or meeting place here in Winchester. Anyone having or knowing of such a place will receive a most enthusiastic reception if he or she will call Bob Low at Win. 0726 and advise him of the place.

DR. SHEEN TO LECTURE HERE

Dr. Fulton J. Sheen, priest, Monsignor, Papal Chamberlain and professor of philosophy at both Catholic University of America and the University of Louvain, will deliver an interesting and instructive address at Fortnightly Hall Saturday, Oct. 28 at 8 p. m. This lecture is in aid of St. Mary's Church.

Dr. Sheen was born in Peoria, Ill., educated at Spaulding Institute and at St. Paul's Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., becoming a member of the Diocesan order. Later he did graduate work at Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C. and post graduate work at the University of Louvain, at Paris and at Rome, returning to America to teach.

He broadcasts the famous Catholic Sunday Evening Hour from Jan. 1 through Easter every year and has given a series of conferences in Westminster Cathedral, London and in the Summer Catholic School, Cambridge, England every summer.

LEGION NOTES

Wednesday evening's Post meeting was the first presided over by the new Commander, Marshall W. Symmes. The speaker was Dr. Mathew Derow of Boston University School of Medicine. During the business session plans for the observance of Armistice Day were discussed, and the date of the pre-Armistice Day banquet announced as Nov. 9. Veterans of the town are urged to attend this banquet, for which only a nominal charge will be made, and to learn of the Post's activities and charitable work which should interest them.

An intense membership drive was announced by Commander Symmes, looking forward to the 1940 Legion Convention in Boston. All veterans who are eligible for Post membership are urged to sign up so as to participate in the many big events which will be held in connection wth the Convention.

MEN PICK THEIR OWN BISHOP AND KEEP HIM ALL TO THEMSELVES

Of course all a woman chairman of publicity can know about it is just what she can read in the papers, as Will Rogers used to say, but this is the story the men of the diocese and district tell and they stick to it. They have picked for themselves a bishop they wanted to meet informally, hear informally, and talk back with friendly informality, and on Thursday, Oct. 26, they will have a dinner in Winchester, in the Epiphany parish hall, and keep this guest and speaker all to themselves. The bishop chosen is their own bishop of the Diocese of Massachusetts, the Right Reverend Henry Knox Sherrill. The dinner will be the first meeting in Winchester of layman of the whole North Suburban District, which comprises 19 nearby parishes. It is one of a series of dinners arranged for the seven different districts of the diocese by Mr. Bradford U. Eddy, who is diocesan leader of the laymen's organization, called the men's division of the Church Service League. The dinner is in charge of Mr. Francis M. Andrews, chairman of the North Suburban District.

The informality of the dinner is stressed. There will be no tails but merry tales. The motto for these dinners is reported to be "No stiff shirts and no stuffed shirts."

Though a large attendance from the 18 other parishes is expected, the dinner is open to all men of Epiphany parish until table space in the parish hall is exhausted and after that closes the dinner lists, men who wish to hear the bishop may inquire about the possibility of coming in for the talk. The dinner will be at 6:45. Further information can be obtained from Mr. Clarence A. Perkins, 12 Yale street, Winchester, tel. Win. 0890.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The first meeting of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church was held Tuesday, Oct. 10. A delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. Curtis W. Nash the new president, presided. Mrs. Jesse Wilson served as toastmistress and called on members to give the highlights of their summer.

M. S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

Most encouraging reports of the year's work were read and accepted.

Our one thought from the beginning was to establish in Winchester a Shelter, where lost, strayed or injured animals might be cared for. The reports of the last year fully justifies our humane efforts. Could one look in, (and all are invited) he would find that kindness is the keynote of the Shelter. Plans for our Christmas Sale in December, were discussed. It is the hope of our committee that people throughout our town may respond to this charity, as our helpful work has extended to its limits. Mrs. Richard Taylor after serving eight years as president, has been granted a year's leave of absence.

The Auxiliary is fortunate in having one who thoroughly understands humane work, and who gives her entire time to it. Mrs. Edith Washburn Clarke, to become our president. The following were elected to serve for the coming year:

President—Mrs. Edith Washburn Clarke
Vice President—Mrs. John H. Joy.
Treasurer—Mrs. John Clarke
Rec. Sec. Mrs. Ambrose E. Reasoner
Cor. Sec. Mrs. G. Russell Mann
Chairman, Special Offering—Miss Ida Winn

At the close of the meeting a pleasant social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. D. C. Dennett and Mrs. Taylor as hostesses.

FIRES

The Fire Department was called at 12:34 Monday afternoon to the home of Mrs. Minnie C. Fletcher, 2 Glen road, where a short circuit in a radio had caused a slight fire.

At 3:09 Monday afternoon Box 45 came in for a fire in a Ford sedan on upper Main street at Conlon's Garage. Thomas H. Randall of 737 Main street is the owner of the car.

Tuesday morning at 12:33 Box 35 was sounded for a dump fire at the old Puffer Manufacturing plant off Swanton street. At 10:50 Tuesday a still alarm called a piece of apparatus to put out a fire in the woods off Wolcott terrace.

LOWELL THOMAS LECTURE

The Scholarship ticket committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, chairman, feels many school mothers are overlooking the fact that the time is growing short on the purchase of tickets to hear Lowell Thomas. Intentions may be good but results will be disappointing if they do not get down to Mary Spaulding's the first of the week or this week-end.

Requests have come in from New Hampshire, Maine and all the surrounding towns, even down on the Cape. A record is being kept of the response from the various schools and the Scholarship Committee is especially pleased with the response from the Noonan School. At the time of going to press, the Mystic School is in the lead. The committee would like the co-operation of the various presidents of the Mothers' Associations in seeing that those mothers in their schools who have expressed a desire to attend on the 28th make reservations at once. These parents, alone, can fill the town hall but of course it is a case of first come, first served.

Will all mothers who are entertaining before, or after the Lowell Thomas talk, please advise the Star Office direct. The Scholarship yearly activity is resulting in more and more before and after parties which are of interest to Mothers' Association readers.

OTTO SCHNIEBS RETURNS

Tomorrow night, Saturday, Oct. 21, 8:30 p. m., Otto Eugen Schniebs, who was presented the safety trophy of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association last June in the high school auditorium, will return to Winchester and show the ski movies which were to have been showed last June but which were not available at that time because the concern editing the new film had not forwarded them to Mr. Schniebs in time.

Mr. Schniebs movies are the finest collections of ski action shots in America today and all those who enjoy this type of entertainment will not want to miss them. It is the first showing of these films in this region.

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 22.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (James 1:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death" (Revelation 2:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sinless joy,—the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain,—constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual. . . . Death can never hasten this state of existence, for death must be overcome, not submitted to, before immortality appears" (p. 76).

IT WILL BE EVERYBODY'S PARTY

"Everybody's making it; everybody's enjoying it." That is the keynote which the general chairman, Mrs. Albert L. Crockett has announced for the Epiphany all-day Bazaar, Friday, Nov. 3. She has assembled her committees on the old formula for raiment that will assure a bride a happy life, "Something old and somthing new," and the committees are working out their plans on the same formula.

Mrs. Crockett has made sure of tapping a new group of helpers by giving over "the movies" that will be shown afternoon and early evening to the charge of Leonard B. Sherman and the Fireside Group. They will choose the films that will give the Epiphany's youngest the proper quota of giggles and cackles, and they will usher at both showings. Stress is being put on things that children will enjoy. Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth and her committee from the Tuesday Luncheon Group will provide the always popular "grabs," which gratify the insatiable human desires to take a chance and to get a surprise. If the weather is good that Friday, there will be also a brand new surprise that children will like.

They will find in food both what they ought to have and what they most like. If they come for lunch, the Jordan Group will see that they go gack to school all steamed up to go to bat with the afternoon's arithmetic. If they come at tea-time they'll find a nickle buys them their favorite mid-afternoon pick-up.

If they want to shop, Mrs. Francis Gallagher will have bargains suited to small purses at the toy table, and they would better look about at the gift table to see what Mrs. William Martens and the Symmes Corner Group have there that they could buy for Christmas presents and hide away in a safe place 'til Christmas Eve. If they still have some pennies left after the big shopping is done, they will find that Mrs. Ralph L. Garner has for sale the best looking and best tasting home-made candies that Winchester knows how to make.

For the teen age and those who keep a perennial youthful urge to fathom the mystery of themselves and the future, there will be a new way of peering into these unknowns. Valentine, a consulting graph.ologist, will analyze their hand-writing. Two kinds of readings will be provided. The first will be broadcast, so to speak and the victim's friends may listen in and laugh when the analyst makes very palpable hits about his well-known defects. For people who would like their handwriting to tell them more about themselves than they are quite ready to have all the neighbors know, there can be very private reception of the analyst's findings, heard by earphones.

At an Epiphany bazaar food is always an important element, food to take home for the pantry shelf and food to consume on the premises. Expert hands will be in charge of the luncheon, tea and dinner that will be served. Luncheon will be managed by the Jordan Group, of which Mrs. Harry Jackson is chairman. Miss Dorothy Hall will head the committee in charge of the tea and for the dinner, a well known and capable steersman will be at the helm, Mrs. Tom Harmer.

GEORGE WASHINGTON HIGHLAND CHAPTER

On Tuesday afternoon the George Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association held their annual fall bridge for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund in the assembly hall of the school which was most attractive with fall flowers.

There was a large attendance of mothers and guests. At 1:30 Mrs. F. M. Ives, Jr., assisted by the social committee served a most delicious dessert of butterscotch tarts and coffee at attractively decorated tables seating four. The individual ferns in the center of each table served later as prizes for bridge.

During the afternoon the tickets were drawn for the two all wool blankets. Members of the Chapter have been selling these tickets during the summer vacation months to help our treasury. The lucky winners were Mrs. Charles Joyce of Webster street and Mrs. Shepard Senter of Forest street.

Mrs. Chester Kenney, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee assisted by Mrs Paul Shiverick and Mrs. Sherman Saltmarsh are to be congratulated on a most successful party both socially and financially in aiding our scholarship fund.

HARVARD CLUB OF EASTERN MIDDLESEX

The Harvard Club of Eastern Middlesex will hold its first meeting of the 1939-40 season on Thursday, Oct. 26 at the Winchester Country Club, with dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Prof. Sumner Hubert Slichter of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration will give a talk after the dinner on the National Labor Relations Board and the C. I. O.

Membership in this club is open to all men who have studied for at least one year at any department of Harvard University, and who are residents of the Towns of Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Winchester and the Cities of Woburn and Melrose.

The officers of the club will be glad to have any Harvard men in any of the above towns attend the meeting.

SEEING-EYE CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Sumner Jacobs, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, Mrs. Stephen Neiley and Mrs. John Chandler, 2nd are additional Winchester captains for the Seeing Eye Membership Enrollment Campaign benefitting the philanthropic school at Morristown, N. J., which educates dogs to guide the blind.

The Winchester campaign for members commences today, Oct. 20, and a real effort will be made to reach all those interested. If, however, any one is not solicited who wishes to become a member, it is only necessary to call Miss Clark, Merchant 6045, Mrs. Clarke or those who are campaign vice chairman.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S OUTING AT GLOUCESTER

Columbus Day, dawned bright and clear. On the steps at the front entrance of the First Baptist Church sat an excited group of young people, eagerly awaiting the time for departure to Gloucester. As the announcement that all was ready was made by Miss Ruth Ormsby, Young People's Director, the party came to life and the boys and girls quickly found their places in the cars and were soon on their way.

The drive to Gloucester proved both delightful and colorful. The decorative colors of the autumn leaves had transformed the country side into a scene of beauty that will long be remembered in the hearts of the young people.

Having arrived at Gloucester Stage Fort Park, the group immediately began to explore the rocks and the many winding stone steps which tend to make the park more attractive. This exercise together with the salt sea breezes gave everyone an excellent appetite. However it was soon appeased by the luscious food roasted over the natural fireplace found by the side of a large boulder.

The beach tour being completed the group proceeded to other interesting places in Gloucester. Among those visited were the well known Fisherman's Monument, in memory of "those that go down to the sea in ships," and the million dollar fishing pier. The quaint scenes and many fishing boats aroused the atmosphere of ages past. The events of the afternoon were climaxed by a thrilling sail around Gloucester harbor in one of the large boats.

The group returned home that evening, tired but happy and much elated by the exciting day spent in the open.

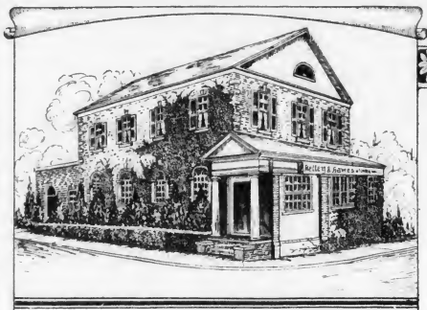

FORMER WINCHESTER MAN DEAD

[illegible] was received late yesterday of the death of Mr. James Edward Richardson of Quincy, a former well known resident. He was 60 years of age.

Mr. Richardson was born in Winchester, the son of Frances Stillman Richardson and Susan Richardson. He attended Winchester schools and grew up here. About 25 years ago he moved from Winchester and took up his residence in Quincy. His death came as a sudden shock. On Monday as he was driving home from his summer place at the Wiers he was stricken with a heart attack, from which he did not recover.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maude Richardson, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles E. Corey of the Parkway and Mrs. Annie J. Ireland of Somerville.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Plans, as announced in last week's Star, for obtaining Girl Scout uniforms have been changed. Any girl wishing a uniform must arrange for it with her leader, and she will be glad to help you. Although there is a good supply, it would be well to speak early.

On Wednesday morning there was a meeting of the leaders association held at the Girl Scout cabin. Mrs. Stillman, president, presided. Mrs. Louis Williams was elected secretary and Mrs. Frank Gunby is going to be in charge of the program for next month. Mrs. Harold Farnsworth read some important announcements and brought information from the council. Mrs. Donald Heath reported on the program committee for Girl Scout week and gave plans in connection with the various troop programs.

Everyone brought a box lunch and coffee was served.

COMMITTEE ON SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was greatly shocked and saddened by the death on Tuesday of Mrs. Sewall E. Newman, its regent for the past year. The shock was the greater in that at the regular October meeting held on Monday at the home of Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes, she spoke with enthusiasm of the work which the chapter hoped to accomplish this year.

Mrs. Newman has been closely identified with this organization, both national and local, since her mother, Mrs. Charles E. Corey, became the first Winchester regent in 1929, and her interest has been constant and inspiring to the other members of the chapter.

In the passing of Mrs. Newman the chapter has sustained a loss from which it will not soon recover.

WINCHESTER LIONS CLUB PRESENTS WHITE CANES TO BLIND GUESTS

A few meetings ago, the Winchester Lions had as their guests two of their friends who are bereft of sight Chester Locke and Ralph Thompson of Winchester. Part of the group as pictured, headed by our able president, Leo Garvey, presented white canes to the guests assisted by Bob Emery, Phil McManus, John Coakley, Joe Moffett, Chris Powers, Staf Rogers and Fred Scholl. The white cane has become a symbol of assistance for the blind all over this Continent. At the crossings, when a blind person stands at attention with his white cane it is recognized and respected by police officers and civilians alike. The Lions Clubs all over the country have many times carried out this traditional ceremony and the local club were pleased to do their share.

The recipients responded with thanks and in return gave a short talk on the Braille system of blind reading and demonstrated the use of machines they use for perforating the raised characters of the paper.

The last meeting was held Monday night at Scholl's restaurant with several new prospects on hand along with visitors from other local clubs. After enjoying a fine turkey dinner the business and speeches were hurried through to allow the group to enjoy the showing of colored movies taken by President Garvey on his many trips. Bob Emery was very attentive to the detail in picture technique. By this time the boys felt in need of exercise and to the bowling alleys they did go. Scores announced later.

A new street directory is in the making due to the success of the last one the club issued. Ads are selling rapidly and easily which answers the success of this issue. Space can be had by approaching any member.

Under the leadership of our able president, Leo Garvey the club has enjoyed signal success and new members are being accepted nearly every meeting.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The evening classes in Americanization will open on Monday evening, Oct. 30 at the Lincoln School at 7:30 and will continue for about 60 sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. There will be two classes, one for those just learning to speak, read and write the English language and a second class for more advanced students who look forward to obtaining their naturalization papers.

Those interested in studying Stenography and Typewriting in Evening School should register at the High School between 7:30 and 8:30 Monday evening, Oct. 30 or call Win. 1780.

Classes will be opened only in case a sufficient number express an interest. o20-2t

PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Mystic Valley Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

A public installation of the Officers of Mystic Valley Lodge, A. F. & A. M., was held in the Masonic apartments Thursday evening, Oct. 12, and was attended by a goodly number of the Officers and members and their ladies and friends. The installing officers were Rt. Wor. J. Arthur Gibson, past district deputy grand master and past senior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, assisted by Rt. Wor. Paul N. Shiverick, who is the present district deputy grand master of the Somerville Sixth District and is also a past master of Mystic Valley Lodge.

A bountiful turkey supper was served at 6:45 p. m. and at the conclusion of the installation a very enjoyable recital was given on the new organ which has just been added to the equipment of the Lodge rooms. During the summer the apartments have been entirely renovated and refurnished and now provide most attractive quarters for all of the varied activities of the several lodges which use the rooms.

Wor. Master	Francis Tremberth
Senior Warden	Arthur V.Getchell
Junior Warden	Jack B. Hawkins
Treasurer	Wor. John Carruthers
Secretary	William Lefavour
Chaplain	Rev. Roger E. Makepeace
Marshal	Warren C. Whitman

Junior Deacon	George F. Conklin
Senior Steward	Thaddeus W. Harris, Jr.
Junior Steward	Bror W. Grondal
Inside Sentinel	William D. Chandler
Pianist	F. Percyval Lewis
Tyler	Dana C. Pickering

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The 59th year of the Fortnightly will open with a Dessert and reception to the incoming officers at 1:30 on Monday, Oct. 23. This is an opportunity for new members to become acquainted with the officers and fellow members, and enjoy a general get-together.

The regular meeting will begin at 2:30, during which the Federation Secretary, Ruth Priest, will report on the spring meeting at Swampscott. A musical program by Edward Cassano, tenor, and Bela Ujhazi, violinist will follow.

MYSTIC MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The mothers of children of the second grade of the Mystic School met Tuesday of this week for a delightful tea at the home of Mrs. H. P. Bartlett, 15 Herrick street. Mrs. Dressen, Miss Jackson, 18 mothers and several members of the board were present. The next tea of the grade series will be held Oct. 24 at the home of Mrs. John Chipman, 2 Allen road, 3:30 to 5:30. Third grade mothers are invited to be present.

BOOK REVIEW CLASS

The Book Review Class of the First Congregational Church will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 2 o'clock in the ladies' parlor. Dues of 35c to finance buying books for the winter are payable to Mrs. A. T. Smith at this meeting. Mrs. Robert Keeney will try to give the most interesting and important parts of "Essie Ann" by John Gunther.

A SAFE SPOT IN A TERRORIZED WORLD

Eight women of the Church of the Epiphany were among those who heard an eye-witness speak, in Grace Church, Medford, Oct. 17, of what war means to helpless civilians, to women and children. Rev. Ernest H. Foster of Nanking, China, addressed the annual conference of the North Suburban District of the Women's Division of the Church Service League on "A Glimpse of the Christian Church Fulfilling Its Mission." An audience of housekeepers heard with amazement one example of wholesale need and miraculously stretched resources. Mr. Foster told of providing shelter for 1200 refugee women and children in the attic of a school. Chinese beds are of the simplest, a small thin pad just big enough for the sleeper's body. But to find room even for the scantiest space, beds were spread on the steps and the stairs. And it was not for one night only that these harried and homeless ones found there roof and food. For the 1200 stayed months in the attic of that Christian school. The hearers took the picture home as a modern parable of what Christianity can mean in a frightened and war-torn world: every Christian life can be an open house, where the pain and need of others comes in, where there is help and shelter, and where peace abides.

Winchester was represented at the conference by Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, who is the head of the women's division of the Church Service League in the Epiphany parish, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. William Sache, Mrs. Donald Heath, Mrs. Frederick Hamerstrom, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Clifford Towner and Miss Ethel B. Davis.

Mrs. Sache presented Epiphany's suggestions for attainiing the ideal which the presiding Bishop has expressed, "The mission of the Church is to make Christ pre-eminent in every sphere of life." These suggestions were a composite of the thought of a number of individual women, not agreed on in a meeting, but reached in separate, sincere, quiet thinking. The first suggestion was couched in a college girl's prompt answer. "Prayer and teaching children to pray." The second suggestion was also prayer. It was that the men and women in Winchester who day by day are thankful that our guns are silent, and that our children go to school not carrying gas masks shall join those who pray daily to find God's way to a lasting peace,—The League of Peace now millions strong which began three years ago by a radio broadcast from St. Michael's, London.

Miss Ruth Gordon, diocesan leader of the committee on Devotional Life, told the conference that in the present world-wide conflagration the devoted people of the Church were to be the builders of a backfire that will stop the wildly flaming destruction. She stressed the reality of intercessory prayer.

The conference was presided over by Miss Eva D. Corey, the leader of all women of the Diocese of Massachusetts. She recommended that every woman read the books, "Through Tragedy to Triumph," "Comrades Round the World," and "Women of the Way."

In the afternoon diocesan leaders of departments of work held round table conferences with parish leaders in their respective fields, and Miss Corey conducted a round table for parish officers.

The conference was the guests of Grace Church, Medford, and women of that parish provided a pleasant luncheon between the two sessions.

BRIDGTON LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Elliott of this town, summer residents at Bridgton, Me., and a party which included two friends, one from Boston, the other from Nyack, New York, received the "kick" of their lives late Friday evening when they sighted a cow moose, strolling across the highway in front of their car. They stopped the car, put out the lights and watched the lady in the dusk. She was joined by a calf, which added to the thrill by ambling about the automobile. The climax of the event came, however, when the Mrs. and her child were joined by the "Old Man" in person. The party had a forestswonderful time in viewing the monarch of the forests in their native element. —[From the Bridgton, (Me.) News, Oct. 13, 1939.

MRS. AVERY OPENS HER 1939-40 SEASON

Miss Eunice Avery opened her season of lectures on Oct. 18 by telling her audience that this last summer she had been specializing in democracies. It was the democracies that made the decision to fight, for after the seiure of Poland they had no choice in the matter.

Miss Avery visited England, Belgium, the Netherlands and France and covered 10,000 miles in our country, motoring from coast to coast and taking in both fairs in her way.

We are the only important democracy functioning today and we have therefore a special responsibility. And we are the only nation to get the picture of things as a whole. This war is not like the war of 1914, in many ways it is different and more deadly. And it is not yet a world war. Since we have a chance to see things and to hear things that are not allowed in other countries today it is our duty to weigh all the evidence and to hear conclusions that will prove constructive when peace at last comes.

And we should realize that this is our war too, for the kind of peace that we have will determine the future of us all. And to see that this is a permanent peace is the great challenge to America today.

WINCHESTER WILL HEAR OF THE WEST

When New England, where one village melts into another with no fields in between or at least one village touches finger tips with its nearest neighbor across one green meadow, hears facts about the West and its great open spaces, it is hard for hearing to be believing. But women of the Epiphany Service League will do their best to believe such tall tales when a bishop is the teller at their regular weekly meeting next Tuesday, Oct. 24. Their guest and speaker will be the Right Reverend Winfred H. Ziegler, Bishop of Wyoming. One parish of his far-flung diocese seems in a way a neighbor to Epiphany; by reason of gifts which the Epiphany Altar Guild has twice sent to Wyoming. Last Christmas Eve the missionary in charge dedicated a fair linen which Epiphany gave to the church at Gillette, and used it at the midnight service there before he started before dawn for the next service, 90 miles away, which he was to hold at another of the churches he served in his parish of 10,000 square miles. New England women will hear Bishop Ziegler gratefully as he makes real to their hearts the one-ness of the church in circumstances so widely differing.

Mrs. Gerald Hills will preside at the meeting. Bishop Ziegler will speak immediately after the luncheon.

As usual, luncheon will be served at 12:30 by members of the Tuesday Luncheon Group. It will be in charge of Mrs. Prescott Taylor, under whose leadership this efficient group of parish workers came into being, and who served several years as their first chairman.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL

Some of Winchester's best known and public spirited men and women are on the Sponsoring Committee in aid of the Annual Maintenance Appeal of The Salvation Army, in which the financial ammunition is obtained for The Army That Never Sleeps to carry on its ceaseless campaign against hunger, want, privation, sickness, suffering, misfortune of all kinds, and to enable The Salvation Army to give help wherever it is needed, regardless of race, color or creed.

Attorney William N. Beggs of 17 Stowell road has accepted the chairmanship of the Committee and already is plunged into the task of leading his committeemen over the top with Winchester's quota of $2000.

G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company also is treasurer of the Committee. Checks should be sent to him or given to the Salvation Army collectors, who are in full uniform, have the words "Public Relations Department" on their collars and bear identifying credentials signed by Mr. Beggs. Beware of unauthorized collectors.

Included on the Committee, in alphabetical order are: Attorney Earl E. Anderson, Ralph H. Bonnell of the Bonnell Motors, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, Dr. Richard J. Clark, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Harry E. Damon, Jr., president of the Winchester Rotarians; George T. Davidson, chairman of the Park Commission; Horace H. Ford, ex-big leaguer and now a prominent restauranteur; Mrs. Don S. Greer, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley and Mrs. Paul Howard, president of the Fortnightly Club.

Also William A. Kneeland, president of the Winchester National Bank; J. Henry Miley of the Pilgrim Trust Company of Boston, Mrs. William I. Palmer, Richard Parkhurst, vice chairman, Boston Port Authority; Miss Cora A. Quimby, Librarian; James J. Quinn, Superintendent of Schools; Rev. George Hale Reed, Hon. Harris S. Richardson, State Senator; Mrs. Horace S. Ridley, Rev. R. M. Rushton, Leslie J. Scott, cashier of the Winchester National Bank; Harold J. Slack, superintendent of J. O. Whitten Company; Dr. Richard W. Sheehy, Mrs. Frances K. Wallburg and Theodore P. Wilson, Publisher, Winchester Star; Harry T. Winn and Mrs. Henry E. Worcester.

OBSERVED GOLDEN WEDDING

On Sunday, Oct. 22, Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Bent of 1 Lewis road observed their golden wedding anniversary with a reception at their home, which was decorated with a profusion of floral tributes.

Assisting in receiving were their daughters, Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas, Mrs. Chas. E. Howe, their husbands, Miss Marilyn Howe, a granddaughter, and Mr. Harold H. Letcher, of New York, a neohew of Mrs. Bent. Their grandson, Robert H. Howe, located at Endicott, N. Y., unable to be present, telephoned his greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Bent were married at the bride's home in Brooklyn, N. Y., and spent their honeymoon at several points in New York State, and in Boston. They have resided in Winchester for the past 20 years.

They are members of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Mr. Bent being a trustee and Mrs. Bent a member and former president of the Ladies' Aid Society.

MASONS DEDICATE NEW QUARTERS

Grand Lodge Officers Install—Parkman Secretary Honored

With impressive ceremony and traditional ritual Winchester's newly completed Masonic Apartments in the Hevey Block were dedicated and officially opened by officers of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts Tuesday evening. Combined with the dedication rites was the installation of officers of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and it is of interest that the fine new Masonic quarters are being opened during William Parkman's 75th anniversary year. Including the Grand Lodge officers, 110 Masons sat down to the catered banquet which opened the dedication program.

The attention of Winchester residents is called to the following fire alarm signals now established to summon Winchester Boy Scouts for special assignments.

9-9-9, blown three times, the 9's being sounded at three second intervals, is the Boy Scout Call, in response to which all Scouts should report at Police Headquarters in uniform.

The Re-Call signal 5, blown three times at four second intervals, means that the assignment has been completed and the Scouts are dismissed.

The Boy Scout Call and Re-Call can be easily differentiated from the usual fire signals because of their timing. Since fire signals are sounded at two second intervals, the Boy Scout Call and Re-Call will be noticeably slower.

ENTERTAINED AT NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connolly entertained Mr. Connolly's associates at the Winchester Star office Tuesday evening at their new home on Hemingway street. Cards and other games were enjoyed, followed by a delicious supper, in the serving of which Mrs. Connolly was assisted by her sister, Grace Darling of Arlington road, Woburn.

FELLS TRESPASSERS FINED

It cost three horseback riders and a pedestrian trespasser $5 each in the Malden court Tuesday morning to enter the prohibited area surrounding the reservoirs in the Fells. All were found guilty of trespassing on complaints secured by the local [illegible] Board.

COMINS—BLANCHARD

Candelabra with white chrysanthemums, baskets of fall flowers and palms decorated the Unitarian Church Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, for the marriage of Miss Katharine Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cutting Blanchard of Everett avenue, to Paul Herrick Comins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Knowlton Comins of Highland avenue. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the church, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock, the bride being given in marriage by her father.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Richard A. Harlow of this town, sister of the bridegroom, who wore an old rose period dress with small matching hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Miss Joan Blanchard of this town, sister of the bride; and Miss Elizabeth Cary, Miss Elizabeth Moulton and Miss Doris Miley, all of this town, were bridesmaids. They too carried old fashioned bouquets and wore small hats matching the shade of their ivory period dresses which were like that of the matron of honor.

Richard A. Harlow of Winchester, was Mr. Comins' best man and the usher corps included two brothers of the bride, John Tuck Blanchard and Sidney C. Blanchard, Jr., of this town; Elliott K. Blaisdell and Benjamin Dorman of Winchester and Thomas H. Logan and John P. Ingalls of Swampscott.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Winchester Country Club with the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Blanchard wore a gown of black velvet with green and gold lame. Mrs. Comins wore a gown of emerald green satin with lavender orchids.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to Virginia Beach Mr. Comins and his bride will make their home in Winchester. The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. Comins, who is associated with the Industrial Chemical Company, is a graduate of Governor Dummer Academy and attended Babson College and Boston Business Institute.

Last call for Lowell Thomas! Tomorrow night is the big night at the Town Hall. We hear from Mr. Thomas that he is looking forward to meeting us and we are all certainly looking forward to meeting him.

The ticket chairman announces there is still work to be done among school parents in support of the scholarship fund. Even though you are going to a football game this does not mean that you cannot buy a ticket for the Lowell Thomas talk because the ticket committee have quite a few places where such tickets might be placed to good advantage.

The important thing is that everyone should understand the importance of this enterprise which has reached the old Tag Day. If such a busy man as Mr. Thomas is interested in scholarship funds to the extent of rearranging his schedule to come to Winchester, surely Winchester people can grasp the significance of the scholarship fund and make a like effort to support it.

It is very interesting to watch the record of the various schools and note the increase in Wyman School participants. Unless your scribe is mistaken the Washington School is again the first to send their check to the Scholarship Committee for $50.

The Scholarship Committee keeps in mind those boys and girls who are ambitious for higher education and is striving to see they are not disappointed. The Committee asks for and thanks you for your support.

WINCHESTER INTEREST IN BATES VS. MAINE

When Bates meets Maine in the first of the Maine State football series tomorrow afternoon at Lewiston Winchester will have more than a passing interest in the contest. Bates is of course being coached by a former Winchester High School coach, Wendell D. Mansfield, and starting at center for Maine will be "Bucky" Harris of this town, who captained the last Winchester team that Mansfield coached in 1936, then playing in the backfield. Incidentally Arthur E. Butters of the high school mathematics department will be among the Maine alumni at the game while Principal Wade L. Grindle, a Bates "than-whomer," will have his ear close to the ground to learn the result of the contest. Edward A. "Bart" Bartlett of the commercial department who was Coach Mansfield's assistant at high school for three years, is also going to Lewiston for the game.

WINCHESTER BOY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connolly announce the engagement of their daughter Rita M. Connolly of Melrose to Spencer F. O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. O'Leary of Winchester.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SEWING MEETING

A sewing meeting will be held by the Ladies' Friendly Society on Tuesday, Oct. 31 at 11 a. m.

Luncheon at 1. Every woman in the parish is welcome.

WOOD—NOWELL

Wearing a gown and cap of rosepoint lace with a tulle veil, and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas and valley lilies, Miss Helen Nowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nowell of Stratford road, became the bride of Charles Henry Wood of Milton at the First Congregational Church Saturday afternoon Oct. 21. Chrysanthemums and greenery made an attractive setting for the ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock by the pastor of the church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D.D. A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Nowell, who was given in marriage by her father, had her two sisters, Mrs. Richard J. Clark and Miss Nancy Nowell of this town, as honor attendants. Mrs. Clark wore a gown of rust taffeta and carried mixed chrysanthemums while the honor maid wore pale tan taffeta and carried chrysanthemums of a shade deeper than her dress. The six bridesmaids wore burnished golf taffeta frocks and carried bronze chrysanthemums. In this group were Miss Mary Louise Carpenter and Miss Barbara Chidley of Winchester, Miss Frances A. Vaughan of Southbridge, Miss Nancy Ogilby of Brookline, Miss Elizabeth Ann Campbell of Pasadena, Calif. and Mrs. Gene Starkloff of St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. W. Barry Wood of Newton Center was his brother's best man and the ushers included Dunbar Carpenter of Winchester, Thomas V. Huntoon, 2nd, Henry R. Watson, Charles S. Brooks and Joseph O. Proctor, 3d, all of Milton; Robert R. Borden, Jr., of Fall River, William H. Boardman of Cambridge and Fletcher Chamberlin of Durham, N. C.

Mrs. Nowell the bride's mother, wore a gown of wine velvet, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wood, was gowned in blue.

Mr. Wood and his bride will make their home in Cambridge. The bride was graduated from the Winsor School in 1932 and from Vassar College in 1936. She made her debut during the 1932 season and is a member of both the Junior League and the Vincent Club.

Mr. Wood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wood of Milton. He prepared for college at Milton Academy and was a member of the Harvard Class of 1935 and of the class of 1936 at Williams. He is a member of the Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770, the Owl Club and the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

MAYNARD HERE SATURDAY

Winchester High returns to the Middlesex League football wars Saturday afternoon and plays its first home game in a month at the Shore road athletic field with Maynard, commencing at 2 o'clock.

Winchester will be favored to win from the Orange which hasn't too impressive a record thus far this fall, playing a scoreless tie with Belmont, losing to Stoneham and Hudson, respectively by 12 to 0 and 6 to 0 scores and winning from luckless Concord last week, 32 to 0.

Few of last year's mammouth Maynard team that Winchester battled to a scoreless tie a year ago are around this fall, and big Waino Nyholm who was expected to be a big help in the current campaign is playing this fall for Walthani High. A team that has been unable to score a single point against teams like Belmont, Stoneham and Hudson cannot boast much offensive strength, and on the basis of what both teams showed against Stoneham, Winchester should be an odds-on favorite to defeat the boys from the mill town.

Stoneham scored twice on Maynard, through the air. It might well have scored twice on Winchester with a bit of luck. Defensively perhaps Winchester and the Orange are not so far apart, though Tony DeTeso alone should give the locals a defensive edge. Little Anthony is one of the best centers around this fall in the schoolboy ranks, and a smart, sure-tackling pivot man is a great defensive asset.

Offensively, when you stop to think of it, Winchester hasn't much to brag about either. Aside from the 39 points it ran up on Lexington the locals have scored exactly seven points in four games.

Winchester has played a harder schedule than Maynard to date, and ought to win tomorrow, but the Orange has generally proven tough in a defensive sense and has just that outside chance that should lend interest to the game.

EVENING ART CLASS

The evening sketching class, sponsored by the Winchester Art Association will hold its first meeting Monday, Nov. 6, 7 p. m., in White's Hall. Francis S. Merritt, instructor last year, will again be in charge of the instruction and all interested in joining are asked to call Mrs. Truman Godfrey Win. 0653-M.

The class is fortunate in having Mr. Merritt as its instructor again this year, a former graduate of the Boston Museum School and of the Yale University School of Fine Arts he has also studied at the San Diego Academy of Fine Arts. Later, he became associated with Charles J. Connick. He is at present director of Art at Abbot Academy.

REV. CARLTON M. JONES RESIGNS

The members of the Second Congregational Church met at a special business meeting on Monday, Oct. 23, for the purpose of discussing and acting upon the resignation of their pastor, Rev. Carlton N. Jones. In accepting Mr. Jones' resignation, the congregation have acceded to his request that he be released from his pastorate in Winchester in order that he may devote a year to study at the Episcopal Theological School.

It is with the deepest regret that the people of this Church have been persuaded to part with their pastor who has ministered so lovingly and so effectively during the past three years. Mr. Jones has stood staunchly for spiritual standards in a pagan world; for a more formal order of service, for more rather than fewer services, for the Church as the center and influence of all life.

Mr. Jones has brought a dignity to the service which has been new to some of us, strange to a few of us, but appreciated by all who have taken part in it. He has sought always for the devotional appeal of the Church, the truly worshipful service, utilizing traditional implements and symbols. His was the inspiration which brought about the installation of the fine organ which no longer seems an innovation but a proper setting for the beautiful Bach sacred songs and the traditional plainsongs which the children have sung with so much meaning. The chancel hangings, the cross and lighted candles, the cruciferled processional of vested choirs—all these have enhanced the services and created an atmosphere of worship and prayer which lingers long after the hour is over.

In his work with the Junior Choir School Mr. Jones has insisted upon a service rather than a rehearsal—the very best music obtainable—the prayerful atmosphere which permeates the youthful mind and remains there as a foundation for their future religious life. He has sought to place first things first in the minds of his people, preferring devotional service to programs, and Christian fellowship to drives.

There is hardly a parishioner of the Church who has not known Mr. Jones in a personal way. His keen insight into perplexing problems, his ready sympathy with sorrow, his kindly interest in everyday affairs, his wise guidance and advice, his vision for the Church and its members—all these have endeared him to us and his resignation comes as a distinct loss to us all.

Mr. Jones does not like to have his efforts measured by the yardstick of material standards. New members have been added to the Church, and general gifts have been presented. But the great accomplishments of his ministry must be measured by standards which are spiritual—the real friendships fostered by the Sunday evening fellowships, the new insights into the future developed in the high school group's Sunday session, the training in worship of the choir school, the wide-reaching influences engendered by the men's club, the rich religious experience brought to many by the Lenten services, the realization that communion with God and fellowship with men is the only possible solution of world problems—all these are the influences and inspirations of Mr. Jones' ministry.

No story of the part Mr. Jones has played in our Church is complete without appreciative mention of Mrs. Jones, who walks side by side with him every step of the way. Her quiet charm, her musical talents, her executive ability, her delightful way with the children—and indeed with everyone—have made her the ideal helpmeet of our able pastor.

We of the Church respect Mr. Jones' wish to take advantage of further preparation that he may offer himself to that branch of the Church and that type of work where he will find greater opportunity of dedicating his life to the service of what he believes to be the true faith. Our prayers go with him in the hope that he may find the consummation of the aims and ideals he holds for the ministry of the Church.

CHARLES F. BACON

Mr. Charles F. Bacon, aged 73 years, died at his home, 31 Grove street, Monday night following a shock which occurred on Saturday. He suffered a similar shock three years ago, and since that time had been in delicate health.

Charles Francis Bacon was born in this town in the house in which he died. His father, Charles N. Bacon, was one of the pioneer manufacturers of felt and felt products. His mother was Florence L. (Holbrook) Bacon. He received his education in the Winchester schools and the Chauncy Hall School in Boston, following which he entered his fathers business.

For 50 years he engaged in the manufacture of felt, carrying on the business following his father's death with his brother Robert, recently deceased. He was the oldest manufacturer of felt in point of years in business in the country.

He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Bertha M. Falls of Cambridge, one daughter, Mrs. Florence Heath of New York City, and one son, Mr. Charles N. Bacon of 31 Grove street, this town.

The funeral services, conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church, were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Moffett & McMullen funeral home. The interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

LEAVES TWO SONS IN WINCHESTER

Isaac Sexton, who died Sunday in Arlington in his 99th year, was the father of Isaac E., and George A. Sexton of this town.

Mr. Sexton, a retired Boston can manufacturer and one of Arlington's oldest residents had made his home at 59 Bartlett avenue in that town for the past 15 years.

He was born in St. John, N. B., Oct. 4, 1841, and came to Boston when he was 18 years old. For a number of years he owned his business at 60 Broad street, from which he retired in 1901. He was a life member of the Metropolitan Driving Club.

A widower, he leaves besides his two sons, a daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Yerxa of Arlington; a sister, Mrs. Mary Smith of Wilmington; seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the A. E. Long memorial chapel, North Cambridge. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery.

BOYS WITH STOLEN CAR PICKED UP

Saturday morning shortly after 3:30 while cruising on Wildwood street Patrolmen James F. Noonan and Edward Bowler came upon two boys, one 16 and the other 14, who were taken into custody by Officer Noonan.

The boys had run way from a farm school in Salem, and, according to the police, had taken a car from the yard of a used car dealer in that city. This machine, a Plymouth sedan, was found by the local authorities abandoned on Cambridge street near Foxcroft road and the boys had attempted to take a Buick from the home of Raymond Gagen on New Meadows road. Keys to both machines were found in the boys' possession by the police and effects taken from the Buick were found near the Plymouth on Cambridge street.

The boys were booked at headquarters and held for the superintendent of their school who called for them later in the morning.

RHODES—BOND

Lora Achsah Bond of Chester street, Arlington, and Thomas Harold Rhodes of Lakeview road were married on Sept. 30 in Brattleboro, Vt. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are well known in Winchester, Mrs. Rhodes having formerly been for many years a resident of the town. Mr. Rhodes is a newspaperman with experience on dailies in both Boston and New York.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League met at Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase's house on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 19, with the president, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, in the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Richmond, after welcoming the members and guests, introduced Judge Emma Fall Schofield who gave a very instructive and interesting talk on "Laws We All Should Know." She quoted the Law of Contracts and explained it very clearly. Among the laws which she felt pertained particularly to women and which it is important for them to understand, she explained deeds, wills, codicils to wills and marriage and divorce laws. Judge Schofield spoke for one hour, rapidly, clearly and convincingly, giving her audience a fund of information on these laws told in that simple and delightful way that makes a lecture register in the minds of the audience.

After the report by the secretary, Miss Gretchen Stone, the names of 25 new members were read by Mrs. Wilburt E. Kinsley, chairman of the Membership Committee. Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, chairman of the Annual Bazaar, announced that the lovely hand-made sweaters, mittens, coat hangers, shoe bags, pin cushions, etc., on display during the afternoon at Mrs. Chase's house, would be on sale at the Winchester table at the Copley Plaza Ball Room on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 1 and 2, from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. On Wednesday afternoon there will be a fashion show at 2:30 and in the evening at 8:30. On Thursday afternoon there will be a bridge party at 2 o'clock with door prize and table prizes.

Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke is in charge of tickets for both these events. Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth is in charge of advertising. Other members on Mrs. Meyer's committee include Mrs. Roland W. Fletcher, Mrs. Loring P. Nichols, Mrs. Elisha G. Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Chandler W. Symmes, Mrs. Herbert E. Stone, Mrs. Fred E. Ritchie, Mrs. Wilburt E. Kinsley, Mrs. Clinton S. Mason and Mrs. Alvin M. Litchfield.

The musical program which followed was truly superb. Mrs. Helen Bedford, harpist, a young woman of unusual charm, played the following selections: Russian Mazurka, Valse Caprice, The Fountain, In the Garden. Mrs. Idabelle H. Winship sang Shubert's Ave Maria, accompanied by Mrs. Bedford.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee with Mrs. William Cusack and Mrs. Herbert Stone pouring.

TWO ACCIDENTS SUNDAY

A Dodge sedan, driven by Clarence Mitchell of 7A Greenley street, Jamaica Plain, was in collision shortly before 12:30 Sunday morning at the intersection of Cambridge, Church and High streets, with a Plymouth sedan, operated by Anthony Bent of 37 Fifth street, Cambridge. Mitchell told Officer Edward Bowler that he was headed south on Cambridge street and had stopped to read a direction sign when the accident occurred. Bent said that another car had come between him and the Dodge, and when this machine had swung left around Mitchell's machine, his Plymouth had collided with the latter. Both machines were damaged, and passengers in both claimed injuries.

At 1:35 Sunday afternoon a Plymouth sedan, operated by Joseph Borselli of Harriet avenue, while headed south on Main street skidded near Salem street, knocking down fire box 43 at the corner of Salem and Main streets. The machine then continued across Salem street, hitting a corner fence post on the Doherty estate and then turned completely around to back into the front steps and piazza of the dwelling. Considerable damage was done the dwelling and the car was wrecked. No one was injured.

RED CROSS SEEKS GREATER MEMBERSHIP SUPPORT

Roll Call to Meet European War Needs and to Strengthen Domestic Operations in 1940

In spite of our hopes and prayers for peace, the world is confronted with another great war.

Faced with a growing demand for Red Cross assistance to the stricken populations of Europe's warring nations and a need for strengthening its domestic operations, the American Red Cross will embark Nov. 11 on the greatest membership campaign since the World War, George R. Carter, Roll Call Chairman of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter declared today.

The appeal, he said, will be carried by the 10,000 Chapters and branches of the organization located in virtually in every community in the country. Starting Armistice Day, Roll Call will extend through Nov. 30.

"Prior to the outbreak of hostilities in Europe," Mr. Carter said, "the American Red Cross planned to appeal for a million more members in an effort to strengthen its services in this country. War, however, has increased the responsibilities of the Red Cross to the point where even greater membership support is needed to meet the appeals from abroad.

"The Red Cross is obligated by the Treaty of Geneva to assist in alleviating the sufferings of war The Winchester Chapter already has started the production of garments for the needy civilian populations of belligerent countries, also surgical dressings for use at the front."

The success of Roll Call this year, will gauge the amount of assistance the American Red Cross can give the sick and injured of war, and comfort that can be brought to refugees and other non-combatants fleeing the danger zones, Mr. Carter said.

"At the same time, the Red Cross must be prepared to continue its battle against human suffering in this country," the local chairman said. "The Red Cross has been constantly increasing its volume of service during the past few years. Along the nation's highways, in the homes of the underprivileged, in hospitals, military stations, schools an at the scene of disaster, the Red Cross is facing a challenge for greater service."

The 12-month period extending through June of this year, he pointed out, brought to this country the largest number of disasters in history. Tornadoes, floods, hurricanes, mine explosions and calamity in its various forms struck in 157 communities in 43 states.

During 1938, Mr. Carter said, 32,400 persons lost their lives as a result of automobile accidents. To help curb this alarming spectre of death on the highway, the Red Cross established, in 1935, its Highway Emergency First Aid Stations. After four years, he said, 5,362 stations and mobile first aid units are in operation, standing ready to treat the injured and save the dying. During the past year the two millionth First Aider was trained.

"Red Cross public health nurses made 1,046,933 visits to or on behalf of the indigent sick during the past 12 months," he stated. These nurses, numbering, 675 also examined 595,575 children for possible physical defects and arranged through Red Cross chapters for proper treatment where it was judged necessary."

The Junior Red Cross, it was explained, is recognized as the largest youth organization in the country. It has a membership of approximately 9,000, 000 young Americans of grammar and high school age. In addition to their regular services of assisting disaster-stricken children and their many local programs, the Junior Red Cross carries on a system of international correspondence in an effort to create a better understanding between nations.

Last year, Mr. Carter said, the Red Cross trained 100,361 persons in lifesaving, bringing the total number trained since the service was organized in 1914 to the million mark.

To those of you who have served the Roll Call last year and to all of your co-workers, Mr. Carter wishes to express his sincere appreciation, for a task well done, and, to those of you who are undertaking Roll Call leadership for the first time he extends a cordial welcome.

Keep the Red Cross Ready by membership during Roll Call starting Armistice Day, Nov. 11 through Nov. 30.

WELL! WELL!

Fred "Polock" McCormack, popular clerk at McCormack's Pharmacy and not so long ago one of the best guards in the Middlesex League football yanks, won first prize in a milk-drinking contest featuring the Lawrence Memorial annual barn dance at Medford last Friday evening.

The contestants had to down the mill from babies bottles and the Star prefers to believe that Fred's sales familiarity with the intricacies of such utensils gave him his winning edge over the other contestants. Some there are who stoop to imply that the "Polock" bit the top off the nipple of the bottle, thereby greatly facilitating the influx of the milk.

It is our belief that "Freddie" would never have gotten away with any such flagrant violation of the nursing bottle code and advance it as our opinion that he won his honors "fair and square."

At all events he was declared the "winnah" and as such was presented with a live rabbit and a large head of cabbage. In the absence of records of his speech of acceptance we can only imagine his gracious expression of appreciation. Thus far we have been unable to learn what he did with either the rabbit or the cabbage.

PUNCHARD GAVE WINCHESTER 21—0 SETBACK

Andover Boys Won Battle of Offenses

Winchester High lost a 21—0 verdict to Punchard High at Andover last Saturday, absorbing the worst licking a local team has taken from a club in its own class for several seasons.

Punchard fielded a well drilled, aggressive aggregation that outrushed and especially outpassed the Winchester boys, who, however, showed quite a bit of rushing strength in their own right. The winners blocked much better than Winchester, especially down the field and their backs, once past the line of scrimmage, were given some help by their mates, while there were several times when an effective block or two might have gotten Galuffo away for a score.

Galuffo did some very effective carrying for Winchester and it was largely due to his efforts that the locals' statistics compare so favorably with the winners on the ground.

Andover played its secondaries very deep and their defensive formation was made to order for Galuffo's spinners, on which he several times broke through the line for gains of more than 10 yards. To offset Winchester's fullback Punchard showed a bruising line-cracker in big Noyes, a good all around back in Muller and a speedy little watch-charm scooter in Connolly. On the line the Punchard boys were rangy operatives who played hard, aggressive ball.

The officiating was rather lenient in spots and there were times when the going was pretty rugged. Punchard drew 20 yards in two penalties and innumerable warnings from the officials who seemed satisfied not to pace off yardage in most instances.

The statistics of the game show Punchard rolled up 17 first downs and 232 yards on the ground. The winners passed 10 times and completed five aerials good for another 82 yards. One of their passes was intercepted and they fumbled once, recovering.

Winchester made nine first downs and 179 yards, all on the ground. five passes were thrown, four were intercepted and the other knocked down. The locals fumbled four times, recovering twice and did not draw a penalty.

Winchester had a chance to score soon after the game got under way when on first down with the ball at its 15 Tracy was shaken loose on a reverse that caught Punchard flat-footed. Tracy was out all alone, but couldn't match the sprint of two Andover boys who pulled him down on his 46.

Soon after Noyes intercepted a pass, but Andover had to punt and the ball went into the end zone. Winchester started again and with Marabella and Galuffo doing some effective carrying, rolled along to Punchard's 19. Galuffo bucked to the 15, but McEwen and McCormack failed to gain and Haggerty intercepted a pass at the five to end the local threat.

Here Punchard started. Muller rushed twice for a first down, Noyes bucked for seven and a pass from Noyes to Deyermond reached the 30. Noyes, Muller and Haggerty carried to a first down at the 47, and Noyes and Muller picked up another first down at Winchester's 38. Noyes and Muller bucked along for still another first down at the 28, but here Galuffo broke through to tackle Anderson for a three yard loss. Muller got the three back and on second down Noyes passed over the line to the right to Haggerty who took the ball at his 15 and scored standing up without a hand laid upon him. McLauchlin, Punchard captain, neatly dropkicked in the extra point.

That ended the scoring for the half with the going very even, Punchard having seven first downs and 106 yards by rushing, with 38 more on two passes; while Winchester had five first downs and 102 yards, all on the ground.

Soon after the start of the third quarter Marabella fumbled a punt and Punchard recovered at Winchester's 30. Noyes and Muller bucked for six and then Noyes again passed to Haggerty for a first down at the 12. Two line bucks were piled up by the Winchester line, led by the fiery DeTeso, and on third down Palumbo intercepted a pass at the 10 for a real life-saver. In two rushes Galuffo rolled up 34 yards, but a Marabella fumble forced a punt to the Punchard 30.

Muller got away for a first down at the 41 and Noyes made another on Winchester's 49. Muller and Noyes again bucked to a third first down at Winchester's 30. A yard was lost at the line and a five yard offside penalty put the ball back on the locals' 36 before little Connolly was inserted into the Andover lineup.

This midget back proved a real flyer and on first down rounded Winchester's left end to gallop 36 yards for a touchdown, helping himself along with a pretty change of pace to throw off a couple of Winchester tacklers near the sidelines.

McLauchlin once again methodically dropkicked the extra point, and Punchard kicked off. Styges returning the ball nine yards to his 19 as the final period began.

Here Galuffo did some fine carrying to take the ball, first to his own 45 and then to the visitors' 45. Provinzano added three on a lateral, but then fumbled and Punchard recovered on its own 49.

"Scooter" Connolly got away to the 35, and after a couple of short gains, Boucher passed to Noyes who bulled his way to the 12. Muller picked up two, but Boardley got Noyes for no gain before Muller slid through the local frontier for a first down at the two yard line. Big Noyes ripped over from this point on first down and McLauchlin added the extra point.

Winchester couldn't gain and kicked to Punchard, the Andover boys making a final first down before some effective defensive play by Boardley stopped them at their 40 as the game ended. The summary:

WINCHESTER SECONDS WON FROM WOBURN

Winchester High second football team won a 20—7 victory over the Woburn High jay vees at Woburn Monay afternoon in a game that may or may not be prophetic of the coming varsity contest on Thanksgiving Day.

The locals showed more versatility than Woburn, taking to the air for their three touchdowns when their ground game had failed to work. Woburn's touchdown was the result of a sustained march during the first half.

Miss Alice and Robert Crawford of Myrtle street motored to the World's Fair over the Merritt Highway, spending the week-end with relatives in Greenwich, Conn.

Charles H. Curry, junior grand steward; Wor. Alexander B. McKennie, junior grand steward; Wor. Lawrence M. Jackson, grand sword bearer; Wor. Chester C. Parker, grand pursuivant; and Wor. Francis W. B. Scott, acting grand tyler. Wor. Francis Tremberth, master of Mystic Valley Lodge, was also seated at the head table.

William Parkman's Master, W. Allan Wilde, acted as toastmaster and those who responded to toasts were Grand Master Perry, Deputy Grand Master Childs, for many years Mayor of Newton; and the "grand old man of Masonry in Massachusetts," Grand Secretary Hamilton. The latter, greatly beloved by Masons everywhere, was given a tremendous ovation.

Their guests the opportunity to attend a special communication of their State Grand Lodge held in Winchester.

Master—W. Allan Wilde
Senior Warden—Francis E. Booth
Junior Warden—Leroy M. Jordan
Treasurer—Adna E. Smalley
Secretary—Ernest R. Eustis
Co-Chaplains—Rev. George Hale Reed and Rev. Howard J. Chidley
Marshal—Dr. Harris Y. Nutter
Senior Deacon—Harold E. Gile
Junior Deacon—Theodore H. Elliott
Senior Steward—A. Allen Kimball
Junior Steward—Leslie J. Scott
Inside Sentinel—Clarence W. Russell
Organist—George R. Loud
Tyler—Dana C. Pickering

After the installation the Grand Master presented a past master's jewel to the newly installed Master, W. Allan Wilde, elected for another year. A past master's apron was presented Mr. Wilde by Past Master John Hart Taylor, the master who appointed him in line.

An unexpected event of great importance was the presentation by the Grand Master to William Parkman's especially interesting, he telling of his recent visit to Great Britain, during which he attended a meeting of the Grand Lodge of England, at which the Duke of Kent was installed as Grand Master of Masons in England by his brother, King George. All the speakers in their remarks referred continually to the beauty and dignity of the new Masonic quarters in Winchester.

At the conclusion of the banquet the assemblage entered the beautifully appointed new lodge room where the apartments were dedicated in "full and ample form" by the Grand Lodge Officers, using the impressive ritual.

Following the dedication the officers of William Parkman Lodge were installed by Grand Master Perry and the Grand Lodge Officers. Such a dedication is a rare event in the annals of smaller Masonic Lodges and in effect gave local Masons and their guests the opportunity to attend a special communication of their State Grand Lodge held in Winchester.

A CORNER OF THE LOUNGE

The Grand Master's remarks were Grand Master to William Parkman's veteran secretary, Ernest R. Eustis, of the Joseph Warren Medal in recognition of unusual and distinguished service to Masonry over a long period of years.

The presentation was received with prolonged applause and the reception of the honor was clearly a complete surprise to Mr. Eustis, who is commencing his 19th term as lodge secretary. It was the first time that the coveted Joseph Warren medal has been awarded to a member of William Parkman Lodge.

After the presentation the Grand Lodge Officers held an informal reception and many of those present lingered to meet them and enjoy a pleasant social hour. Collectively and individually the visitors expressed themselves as delighted with Masonry's new home in Winchester and with the manner in which they were entertained upon their first visit to it.

GRATEFUL TO WINCHESTER LIONS

201 Ridge Street, Winchester
Oct. 17, 1939

Dear Mr. Garvey:

I am writing this little note on behalf of myself and my conscience. The other day it dawned upon me, while I was engaged in some sort of bucholic work, that I had neglected to thank those roaring foes of hate and despair and friends of charity and hope, better known as the "Lions of Winchester" for the two most pleasureful visits to your den at Scholls. On the first occasion I caught the friendly spirit of your group. On my second visit I was ceremoniously given a cane, which I shall always keep and cherish as a symbol of your unusually fine community spirit. I should appreciate it if you Lions would give Dr. Emery a stentorian roar of appreciation on my behalf, for you know it was this roving brother of yours who while hunting in the hills of Winchester found me and carried me to your den of good cheer.

Because I am not going to school this year I am looking for trouble in the form of any kind of work. Therefore, if there is anything I can do for the "Lions" please do not hesitate to let me known about it. I have been thinking that perhaps some of the Lions might like to make a tour of Perkins Institution. If they would I should be only too glad to act as guides.

In closing let me express the hope that the welcomed roar of you Lions will continue to echo around and over the Mystic for many years to come and that your works may be engraved on the surrounding hills forever.

Sincerely yours,
R. L. Thompson

P. S.—I recall that I mentioned the fact that I was selling magazine subscriptions the last time we met. Since then you have probably seen the announcement in the Star telling the whole story about this new magazine agency which I am running for Perkins Institution in Winchester. I hope the Lions can do something to help me establish and advertise this new agency. I realize that you must be hounded by such requests, but I feel this to be a most worthy one.

HELPFUL SAFETY REMINDERS FOR BICYCLISTS

The state law requires that:

First. Each bicycle shall be equipped with a bell and when ridden after dark shall have a light to be used during the hours between one-half hour after sunset an one-half hour before sunrise.

Second. All bicyclists shall ride on the extreme right of traffic not more than two abreast.

All bicyclists must observe one way street regulations and all traffic lights. At Winchester Square special police officers will be on duty to aid bicyclists at 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon and again from 2:45 p. m. to 3 p. m.

It is strangely recommended that at all other hours bicyclists should get off and walk with their bicycle in making a left hand turn at the center.

Signed,
William H. Rogers, Chief of Police

WATCH OUT FOR ELECTRICITY

The hazard attendant upon property destruction involving electric service equipment has been emphasized by many sad experiences at Hallowe'en in years past. Harmless fun-making has frequently found malicious interpretation by unthinking boys whose vandalism turns to the breaking of street lamps and glass insulators on utility company service lines. Police and special utility company vigilance has minimized property loss, yet the potential danger of high voltage wires being grounded or vehicular and pedestrian accidents is a serious problem. Fun-making and the true sprit of Hallowe'en are in no sense related to such depredations which, fortunately, are fast becoming conspicuously absent in this community. In some years past property damage alone has cost the electric service company thousands of dollars in its service area.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Oct. 26, one of whom has already made up for his absence. Which record reminds us of the "good old days" when the club was in the 90 per cent column most of the time.

Furthermore Irving Symmes' presence today brought to mind those former days when Irving was consistently in the 100 per cent grade. And we are just as glad to greet you now, Irving, as we were when you were an active member. Come often.

With solemn mien Jimmy Scott announces that he will have no more vacations in 1939. But we are sure that he will not overlook the compensations offered by his Rotary Club.

It is with deep regret that we announce the resignation of President Harry Damon from membership in this club. For some months Harry will be unable to attend meetings, due to the pressure of business but we believe that eventually he will be able to return and shall certainly rejoice when his affairs permit his reinstatement to active membership. Harry has been a most genial friend and a loyal Rotarian. In addition he has been remarkably efficient in performing his official duties. We can ill afford to lose him.

In the absence of President Harry, Vice President Nick Fitzgerald has carried on willingly and understandingly. In just recognition of his able services to date he has now been elected President to fill the unexpired term of 1939-40. The club is indeed fortunate to have had these two popular and able men to carry on its affairs during a difficult period. They have deserved and do deserve full support from their fellow members.

Guest speaker at our meeting yesterday was Mr. William McCarthy, Director of Outdoor Activities in the Department of Public Works of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Mr. McCarthy spoke concerning his duties in controlling the display signboards along public ways and elsewhere in the Commonwealth, with special emphasis on the difficulties encountered in preserving the scenic beauties of landscapes while protecting the legal rights of those who display signs. It was a peculiarly thought-stimulating discourse and members were fully appreciative of this opportunity to learn more about the activities under the direction of our State officials.

Club Directors and Committee Chairmen will please note that there will be a meeting of the Club Assembly at the residence of President Nick Fitzgerald, 17 Elm street, on Monday evening Oct. 30 at 8 p. m. This is important. All club officials are expected to make it a point to attend this Assembly meeting in order to prepare for the official visit of District Governor Reuel W. Beach.

At our next meeting, Nov. 2, District Governor Reuel (Bill) Beach will be present for the purpose of making his official visit. He will confer with the Club Assembly at 11:15 a. m. and will address the club at the conclusion of the luncheon period. He has an important message for us and should be honored with a 100 per cent attendance. We can do this, of course, and it certainly will be an occasion for showing what we can do along this line. Remember the date—Thursday, Nov. 2 at the usual time and place. Percentage of Attendance, Oct. 19, 1939—82.86 per cent.

McADAMS—CLARK

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth M. Clark, daughter of Mr. Grant L. Clark of Clematis street, to Ralph G. McAdams, son of Mrs. Inger S. McAdams of Washington street, took place Friday evening, Oct. 20, at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, officiating. Music for the entrance of the bridal party was played by the church organist, Mrs. Frederick Macdonald, and tall candles combined with chrysanthemums, dahlias and evergreen were the attractive decorations for the ceremony.

Miss Clark was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Pauline M. Clark of this town. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Bairstow and Miss Harriette Emery of Winchester, Mrs. Tracy Heckman of Cambridge and Miss Helen Scarpas of Boston.

The bride wore a gown of white brocaded satin and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and snapdragon. The gown of the honor maid was blue taffeta with a gold coat, and her flowers were gold chrysanthemums and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in gold taffeta with blue coats. Their chrysanthemum bouquets were in shades of bronze and orchid.

Robert McAdams of Stoneham served as best man for his brother, and three brothers of the bride, Lemert W. Clark, Clyde M. Clark and Mott A. Clark of this town, were in the usher corps with Kenneth Smith and Francis Tremberth, also of Winchester.

Mr. McAdams and his bride are spending their honeymoon on a two weeks' cruise to Sea Island, Georgia. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester. The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. McAdams, who is office manager of the M. & M. Transportation Company of Somerville, is a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

ART ASSOCIATION SHOWING ETCHINGS

The exhibition of oils from the Vose Galleries in Boston, which has occasioned so much favorable comment from visitors to the library art gallery, was taken down yesterday. At present the Winchester Art Association is showing in the local gallery an exhibition of etchings and wood engravings loaned by a former president of the Association, Mr. Charles Hadley Watkins.

Mr. Watkins' collection will remain at the library until the arrival of the exhibition of stage designs by Lee Simonson which is expected about Nov. 9. Included in the collection are interesting examples of the work of Durer, Rembrandt, Millet, Sir Seymour Haden, Buhot, Short, Brangwyn, Benson, Heintzelman and Chamberlain, with wood engravings by Timothy Cole.

The next in the series of gallery talks will be given on Thursday evening, Nov. 1, by Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, whose subject is "Theatre Design." Her remarks will be illustrated with slides. Mrs. Samoiloff has had a long and varied connection with the theatre, especially in the field of design, and can treat her subject in an authoritative manner.

LEGION COMMANDER MAKES ANNUAL REPORT

Comrades:

At the September, 1938, meeting your new officers were elected, but due to the long list of nominees, the installation was not held until October. County Commander Daniel Shay, assisted by Sergeant-at-Arms Sherman Murphy, were the installing officers.

Post Activities

At the October meeting it was voted to donate a flagpole to the Town—to be erected on the Shore Road Field. Past Commander W. Allan Wilde was named as chairman of this committee, assisted by many comrades of the Post, as well as Joseph Tansey, Supervisor of Playgrounds, "Tony" Colluci, of the Fore River Apprentice football team, Chairman George T. Davidson of the Park Board, and members of the High School faculty. It was decided to conduct various enterprises to cover the expense and the installation of the pole.

The first enterprise was a football game between the Fore River Apprentice football team and Wentworth Institute on October 12. This game was very well attended and a substantial amount was raised for the flagpole.

On Monday, Oct. 17, I attended the installation of Auxiliary Officers at the Legion House. Mrs. Larson was installed as President.

The usual pre-Armistice banquet was held on Thursday, Nov. 10, at wrich we were honored by the presence of Past National Commander Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, who spoke of the dangers of various "isms" within our shores. At this meeting a turkey raffle was held and proceeds donated to the "Flagpole Fund."

Armistice Day was somewhat more elaborate than any observed during the past few years. In the morning our usual exercises were held at 11 o'clock at the War Memorial. In the afternoon a parade, escorted by the Post Band, preceded the football game. Forming at the Legion House, and marching along Washington street to Johnson Plot, along Main street through the center to Shore Road Field, where the Wellesley-Winchester High School football teams were to play. Between the halves the Legionnaires, Boy Scouts and Scout Cubs, escorted by the band, formed and paraded to the flagpole, where proper dedication ceremonies were held. Past Commander W. Allan Wilde presented the flagpole to George T. Davidson, Chairman of the Park Board, on behalf of the Town.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 17, the flagpole committee held a turkey raffle at the Legion House to further swell the flagpole fund. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Our December meeting was held on Wednesday, Dec. 14, the entertainment being furnished by our own comrade Howard Walsh, who showed us pictures of the "Hurricane." The following night, Dec. 15, the Welfare Committee conducted a Turkey Bridge at Lyceum Hall which was attended by a capacity crowd and a very substantial sum was raised towards the Christmas Party.

The Christmas Party for the unfortunate children of the Town was held on Saturday, Dec. 17, and was conducted by the Auxiliary, aided by the Welfare Committee, consisting of Comrades Martin Foley, "Nate" Thumim, and Comrade "Santa Claus Roche. The members of the Fire Department assisted by repairing and donating presents. The party went along very smoothly, and the remaining ice cream and oranges were donated to the Home for Aged.

The Annual Spaghetti Supper was held on Thursday, Jan. 19, previous to the regular monthly meeting. Antonio Cefali, who put on the supper last year, very kindly consented to repeat again. After the supper and the Post meeting we were treated to a fine showing of football pictures of recent games of local colleges, under the direction of Past Commander Otis Alley.

The Fellsland Council of Boy Scouts held their annual exhibition in the Town Hall. The Legion Troop exhibited, and was awarded the highest decoration by the judges. The credit of the exhibition goes to Past Commander Allan Wilde, under whose direction the exhibition was developed.

The February meeting of the Post was held Thursday, Feb. 16, after which the Post had as its guest speaker Maj. W. A. Collier, Assistant Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army, who gave a very elaborate outline of the makeup and equipment of the modern army.

On Feb. 18, accompanied by Welfare Officer Martin Foley, I spent a brief but happy visit with Comrade David L. Story at his home on Church street, at which time we presented him with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, on the observance of his 96th birthday. Shortly after this visit we mourned the loss of another of our G. A. R. Veterans when Comrade Joseph A. Moulton passed away on March 22, in his 93rd year.

The Post was unfortunate to lose two of its Comrades during the past year, both rather suddenly. First to pass away was a veteran soldier of distinction, Lt. Col. William H. Mobbs, on the 10th of January. Comrade Mobbs was in the prime of life. His service for his country started in 1903, and he was retired from active duty in 1935.

The next comrade was Frank P. Zaffina, who passed away on April 21st. Comrade Zaffina was active in Italian circles, as well as Legion affairs, and was only 43 years of age at death. Full military funerals were accorded these Comrades by members of the Post, led by your Commander.

At our March meeting we were treated to a surprise when we were fortunate to have been successful in having our State Commander, John J. Maguire and Mrs. Maguire, who is also commander of Natick Post of the American Legion, with us. After a very interesting talk on veterans' affairs, the Commander was presented with an electric razor and Mrs. Maguire with a beautiful bouquet.

The April meeting was also of special interest when we had as our guest speaker District Attorney Robert F. Bradford, who spoke of crime conditions in Middlesex County. At this meeting the nominating committee was elected, consisting of Arthur S. Harris, chairman; James R. Doty, and John H. McCarthy. Your Commander appointed Bertram G. Gurley and Wade L. Grindle as the other members of this committee.

On April 2nd a committee, consisting of Comrades Martin J. Foley, Past Commander Stafford Rogers, and Senior Vice Commander Richard W. MacAdams, presented a flag to the New Hope Baptist Church.

Our Memorial Day exercises began with the Pre-Memorial Day banquet on Thursday, May 25th, at the Legion House. The comrades spoke of this being the best served banquet that they had ever had, which was served by the White Spot Caterers. After the banquet a short meeting was held, after which an entertainment deluxe was rendered under the direction of the Board of Stewards.

On Sunday, May 28, the comrades turned out in unusual numbers to attend memorial services at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton officiating, who gave an excellent eulogy on Memorials.

This was followed on Monday, the 29th, with our usual school exercises during the day. At 5 p. m. a large detail assembled at the Wildwood Cemetery to decorate the graves of deceased veterans there and at Calvary Cemetery. The out-of-town graves were taken care of by Comrades Harry Goodwi and Hector Cyr.

The year for the first time the Memorial Day parade was held in the morning, which proved to be the proper time for the observance. The temperature of the day later was extremely hot. The parade left the Legion House at 9 a. m. and proceeded over the usual route to Wildwood Cemetery first, where exercises were held at the monument under the direction of your Commander and Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, the rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Due to the illness of the surviving G. A. R. veteran, Comrade David L. Story, we did not have any of the Grand Old Men in line, but upon arriving at the driveway of his residence, he was presented with a bouquet of flowers. After the exercises at Wildwood Cemetery, we proceeded to the Legion House for a short rest and then to Calvary Cemetery, where joint exercises were held with the veterans of Woburn. This procedure should be held annually. After arriving at the Town Hall we were served our usual collation by the Auxiliary, the Legionnaires and adult guests, the Scouts and Cubs, being taken care of at the Legion House. This method also proved best, as both places were very orderly.

As the June meetings are usually not very well attended, our entertainment was omitted. We had considerable business to attend to on account of the short May meeting and the report of the nominating committee, as well as further nominations to be made from the floor.

Your delegates and alternates attended several of the County Council meetings which were held at Wakefield, Hudson, Bedford, Framingham, Fort Devens and Everett. They also attended the State Convention at Taunton. This city proved to be too small to handle a Legion Convention, due to lack of housing facilities.

The Independence Day celebration this year was changed from the usual procedure, which I believe was the best conducted affair ever held on this day, according to reports of those attending. For the first time in many years the band concert was omitted. The opening affair began in the morning with a vaudeville show for the children in the Town Hall, which, as usual, was attended by several hundred from every part of the town. After the show they formed in line, passing out of the rear door, where they were given ice cream and an American Flag. The playground activities were started on the previous Saturday, when the preliminaries were held on the various playgrounds for tennis, under the direction of supervisor Joseph Tansey and his assistants. In the afternoon of the 4th, the finals, as well as several other races, were held. The playground instructors, George T. Davidson, chairman of the Park Board, Thomas H. McGowan, superintendent of Parks, and the Legionnaires, headed by A. Allen Kimball, did a very good job under the heading of Community service.

This list of events completes the activities for the year and I believe it is one which the Legion and the town should be proud of.

Our membership was not up to standard this year, due to the failure of our regular members not renewing their membership. However, we were able to enlist some new members. To obtain a large membership requires the efforts of every member of the Post and unless we do this the Post cannot function only under strict economy. For example: the refreshments after each meeting requires the expenditure of approximately 75c of each members dues.

The House committee has done a very good job, assisted by the caretakers, as you have seen upon entering the house. New ceilings and lights were installed on the first floor and it was re-decorated. The floors were sanded and refinished. The caretakers refinished all the furniture and the rugs and curtains were cleansed.

The Entertainment Committee has fullfilled its duties in an excellent manner under the direction of Past Commander Otis Alley and who personally has been of considerable help to me in many other ways.

The Welfare Committee under the chairmanship of Comrade Martin J. Foley, has filled its duties and obligations this year. The Bridge and Whist party, Christmas party, and welfare duties deserve my compliments.

The Board of Stewards, as usual, have performed well, especially "Russ" Carroll, the backbone of the kitchen, who worked hours alone preparing our refreshments.

The Boy Scout Committee under Past Commander Kenneth Hall, has carried on its Community Service in an admirable manner.

As I have mentioned, the Independence Day activities before you will, of course, realize that this committee deserves many compliments.

Conrad S. Larson,
Commander

Are You Throwing Money Away?

* * * * * *

Be fair to yourself. Figure the amount you spent out of your income during the last month. Did you receive full value for the expenditure. Would'nt it been a lot better if you had placed part in a savings account?. Self denial now will mean opportunities for pleasure when future years find earning power diminished. Give this matter the consideration its importance demands.

FESSENDEN OFFICE ADDS TO PERSONNEL

Mrs. Kathryn P. Sullivan has recently become affiliated with the H. I. Fessenden Real Estate Office as a representative. Mrs. Sullivan, a resident of Winchester for many years, is well known and popular and her many friends wish her success.

Miss Barbara Fernald, who is now doing outside work for the office, is another very welcome addition to the staff. She has already made a name for herself in this field having worked for some time with Mrs. Fessenden, before Mrs. Fessenden had to give up the active management because of poor health.

SKIING IN ASPEN, COLORADO

About 400 attended the talk and movies of skiing in Colorado given by Mr. Otto E. Schiebs at the high school auditorium last Saturday night and sponsored by the Winchester Ski Club and the Black and Blue Trail Smashers of Lowell.

The pictures were preceded by a talk by Mr. Schniebs describing the events preceding the annual trip which he makes to the region around Aspen.

LINCOLN SCHOOL MEETING

The Lincoln School Mothers and Teachers Association held a meeting in the school assembly hall Tuesday afternoon. A feature of the meeting was the drawing of the winner in the recent radio contest. Miss Helen Cullen, a member of the school teaching staff, was the winner, receiving the congratulations of those present. Tea was served and a social hour enjoyed before the meeting adjourned at 4:30.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Oct. 29.

The Golden Text is: "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?" (Ezekiel 18:31).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "If thou, Lord, shouldest mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with thee, that thou mayest be feared. . . . Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption" (Psalms 130:3, 4, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy": "The great fact that God lovingly governs all, never punishing aught but sin, is your standpoint, from which to advance and destroy the human fiction of self-defence. Let us remember that the eternal law of right, though it can never annul the law which makes sin its own executioner, exempts man from all penalties but those due for wrong-doing" (pp. 412, 385).

ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY BAZAAR

If we could turn back the calendar 100 years to the time when the First Congregational Church of Winchester was just getting under way, we should find local conditions very different, but we should find people much the same in interests, desires and longings.

One hundred years ago people liked to talk and people liked to trade. Today people still like to talk and they still like to trade.

On Nov. 22 and 23 the women of the First Congregational Church are holding their "One Hundredth Anniversary Bazaar" in the parish house of the church. With their slogan "The Best Bazaar of the Century," all the women of the church are working together to present a modern store with departments as many and as varied as you would find at any anniversary sale, from Mrs. Harry Mueller's delicate and dainty baby things to Miss Margaret Sands' practical kitchen aprons, or Mrs. William A. Kneeland's and Mrs. Frank Enman's gay and colorful smocks. But more about the departments later.

There are special features of interest to all ages from Mrs. Samuel Graves' children's bazaar to Mrs. F. Patterson Smith's and Mrs. Denton Randall's old fashioned turkey dinner, where there will be an enormous amount of food cooked to perfection and served piping hot.

You will be made welcome at our 100th birthday celebration where we can furnish presents to suit every purse and to fill every need.

Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Mrs. George F. Nardin, Mrs. Everett L. Vincent, Chairmen.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The first general meeting for all members of the Winchester Ski Club will be held at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, Nov. 1 at 724 Main street. This location is the tentative club headquarters for the coming season and after Fed Elliott's shop, entrance being by the same ramp but through a private door directly into the clubroom.

President Bob Low is anxious to have members bring ideas with them, either mentally for verbal presentation at the meeting, or written out and handed to him at the meeting.

The club has been approached with two plans for obtaining a fixed base for winter operations in the ski country to the north. These are being considered and the club would like to hear from other people having places suitable for the club.

The Innitou Ski Runners of Woburn are starting a first aid class and the Winchester members who did not have an opportunity to enter the Winchester class last year may join the Woburn class by the same instructor. The Winchester Ski Club is planning an advanced class for those who took the first training last winter.

A very active season is being planned both for local skiing and for week-end trips. Inquiries are welcomed.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY

"The Late Christopher Bean" has been chosen by the Junior-Senior Classes for their play. The roles are being cast this week by try-outs from the two classes. The play will be given in the high school auditorium Jan. 13. Mr. Kenneth Meinke, who produced "Bab" last year with outstanding success, will be the coach

SUPPER AND COSTUME PARTY

On Wednesday evening at 6:45 in Lyceum Hall the Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish conducted a Harvest Supper and Costume Party. Over 300 were in attendance. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion in keeping with the season of the year.

After the supper was finished a variety program of entertainment was presented. The program is as follows:

Songs by the audience accompanied by Mrs. Marguerite F. Walsh
Piano Selections ..... Joan Walsh
2 duets, 2 solos—Jolly Good Fellow, Hollyhocks
Songs and Dances ... Happy and Connie Wilson accompanied by Miss Kay Roach Readings ..... Mrs. Frances Conlon
Dances ..... Brock Lynch accompanied by Marguerite F. Walsh
Vocal Selections ..... Mrs. Mary Dixon
accompanied by Miss Bernice Connell
Pantomime of a silent movie—"Wild Nell, the Pet of the Plains"
under the direction of Mrs. Frances Conlon accompanied by Miss Bernice Connell
Cast
Mrs. Grace Donovan, Miss Anne Dolan, Mrs. Mary Gorman
Mrs. Jean Kenton
Mrs. Theresa McPartlin
Mrs. Katherine Roach
Impersonations of well known stage stars by Brock Lynch

At the conclusion of the entertainment the feature of the evening took place—an impromptu Grand March with all those in costumes participating. This afforded great amusement for all. We did not think that he would attend but show up he did, our friend Charlie Chaplin in the person of Mrs. John Flaherty, who stole the show.

Other prizes were awarded to our wedding party consisting of Christine Flaherty, Marjorie Manzie, Margaret McNally, Catherine O'Leary; to Mrs. James Stigeles for the "most up-to-date;" to Mrs. Edward Murphy for the most terrifying;" to Mrs. Manzie for the "flashiest;" to Helen Cullen for her impersonation of what the well dressed man should wear; to Joan Walsh for representing "Young America;" to Helen Foley for attending in the role of a well known movie actress. Two professional judges selected the winners and awarded the prizes.

Following the Grand March and awarding of prizes, a Virginia Reel was held for our "old timers." The evening concluded with general dancing.

Tickets—Mrs. M. G. Moffett, chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. McMullen, Mrs. James Stigeles, Mrs. C. Roach, Mrs. C. Farrar, Miss Katherine Roach, Miss Gertrude McNally.

Massachusetts is a leader in the United States in testing its share of America's 3,000,000 hard of hearing school children. Here, pupils of the 9th grade at Warren Junior High School, West Newton, gauge their ear power with a group audiometer.

Standing, rear center, is Miss Ena G. MacNutt, supervisor of the test and member of the board of the Boston Guild for the Hard of Hearing, sponsor of National Hearing Week in Greater Boston.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The last meeting of the Winchester chapter was held on Tuesday, Oct. 24. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh of Woburn, Mrs. C. F. McCarthy, Mrs. G. F. McGoldrick and Mrs. Peter Norton of Winchester.

Registrations for the Blanket Club may be made with Mrs. T. W. Conlon, Win. 0509. The club offers a choice of table linens, bed linens and silk puffs as well as blankets. Samples of these articles were shown at the meeting and selections made by many.

Clothing, shoes and household articles of any description are earnestly solicited for the rummage sale to be held on Nov. 9. Goods which are entirely worthless to present owners may be just what another person needs, so nothing will be considered too trivial for donation. Call Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, Win. 1459, for collection.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held on Nov. 7 at the usual hour in Lyceum Hall.

WILL ATTEND SYMPHONY

Twenty-four Winchester High or Junior High School pupils have applied for tickets to the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Inc. Youth Concerts. Six of these concerts, beginning at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, will be given at Symphony Hall, Boston, with Wheeler Beckett conducting. Among those who have applied locally are: Marjorie Carruthers, Ruth Kingman, Evelyn Carruthers, Nancy Nickerson, Elizabeth Nichols, Zoe Tibbetts, Eleanor Randall, Louise Millican, Nancy Wyman, Betty Winship, Elsie Grey and Kathryn Sullivan. Also Janet Pride, Barbara Booth, Joan Zimmerman, Nancy Snow, Betsy Drake, and Louise Kelley.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW ASSEMBLY

An informal tea for the mothers of Rainbow Girls, was held on Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Earl W. Doub. The guests of honor were Mrs. Gay, Mother Advisor of Reading Assembly and Mrs. Randall, representing the Mothers' Club of Reading.

WEEK-END FIRES

Friday afternoon at 4:42 the Fire Department was called to put out a brush fire in the orchard opposite the residence of Mr. Thomas Vinson. Upon arrival the firemen found a neighboring farmer burning brush, the smoke being blown into the orchard.

Saturday at 6:33 the department was called out to a fire in a pile of leaves which had ignited the fence in the rear of the Shell Filling Station at center railroad crossing.

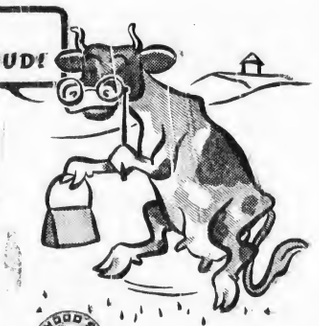

At 8:38 Saturday evening an alarm came in for a fire in an automobile, owned by Dennis Gildea of 16 High street, Everett, on the Parkway above Highland avenue.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Wasn't it delightful, being back in Fortnightly Hall once again, and seeing everyone after the long summer of separation? Evidently life begins long after 40 for stout hearted club women, for the opening meeting of the 50th season of Fortnightly found an exceptionally young, well groomed and mentally alert group of club members gathered to hear our new president's cordial words of greeting and her splendid statement about this being a club of friends, closely united in bonds of mutual interest.

Two unusually interesting departmental meetings are promised for next week, Art and Dramatics. On Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 1, the Dramatics Group will present Sophie Kerr's sparkling comedy, "The Dear, Dear Children," preceded by a group of specialty numbers presented by several Fortnightly youngsters: Jennie Lou and Barbara Elliott, Yvonne Clennon, Eleanor Randall, Mary Dean Snell and Louise Lane.

The all star cast of the play includes Irene Lane, Louise Elliott, Claire Reynolds, Beatrice Budd, Lillian Howe, Madeline Zimmerman, Julia Crabtree and Lillian Palmer. Please note that the performance will start at 2:45, to give the school children performers time to finish their lessons before donning their artistic grease paint. This is an open meeting, to which guests may be invited at the usual very small door fee. Tea will be served.

On Friday, Nov. 3, the Art Group will present Miss Paula Mountain, well known Winchester artist in a talk on "Design—as Adapted to Jewelry." Those who have seen some of Paula's original designs in metals, will appreciate the value of her ideas on the subject. Tea will be served.

MISS PHELPS REPRESENTATIVE

Miss Jeanne Phelps of this town has been elected representative for the undergraduates taking Physical Education and Hygiene at Wellesley College. Her election automatically places her on the Faculty-Student Relations Committee and the college Social Committee, two important campus committees. Miss Phelps, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Phelps of Grassmere avenue, is a member of the senior class at Wellesley.

WHOSE Day IS TODAY?

This day has a special quality for some friend or relative. Birthday—anniversary—the day you met—whatever the occasion, nothing could make this day so BIG A DAY as hearing your voice—as knowing that distance has not dulled your interest. Out-of-town calls are especially low evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

It's Free! Beautiful Booklet in Colors

"THE MODERN MAGIC CARPET"

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

answers every question a child can ask

Is there any subject on which your child has not asked you a dozen questions? Curiosity is the first step toward knowledge. Be sure the questions are answered correctly. But CAN YOU EXPLAIN clearly, simply, interestingly why the stars twinkle, why raindrops are round, where day begins, how the flowers get their smell and their colors?

GIVE YOUR CHILD A SQUARE DEAL

Let your child, like millions of other young people, all over the world, have this great educational help. The Book of Knowledge answers the child's questions, tells him the great secrets of the world and of the universe in simple, story-book form. 15,000 pictures make facts doubly clear. Let your boy or girl read about this great set of books in "The Magic Carpet."

Mr. Edward Rowe Snow of Winthrop is to be the speaker at the fall meeting of the Winchester Historical Society at the Library on Thursday evening, Nov. 2. His subject is "The Islands of Boston Harbor, Their History and Romance, 1624-1936."

Mr. Snow is a nephew of the late Rear Admiral Albert Snow of the Charlestown Navy Yard. A comparatively young man, he has, nevertheless, sailed the eastern seas, been an "extra" in Hollywood, played football in college, taught school in Montana, earned scores of medals in track competitions, coached various sports, and graduated from Harvard where he studied history extensively. But throughout this varied life his paramount interest has been the history of Boston Harbor, and to this study he has devoted his enthusiasm for many years. He has lectured before numerous lay and historical bodies, as well as over the radio. It is generally agreed that Mr. Snow knows more about the history of these islands than any other person.

This lecture is illustrated with moving pictures, and promises to be unusually interesting. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to all residents of Winchester.

THE BRITISH ISLES IN KODACHROME

A program of motion pictures in natural color depicting Great Britain and Ireland from the crowded streets of colorful London to the bleak hills and peat bogs of stony Donegal will be given at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The pictures were taken by Mr. A. D. Nicholas of 59 Yale street, during a tour of the British Isles which he and Mrs. Nicholas made last year. They were shown at the church last fall and the present program is in response to a persistent demand for a repeat production both by those who saw them at that time and others who were unable to attend.

RED CROSS SEWING

Mrs. George A. Dutting, chairman of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter, announces the sewing day for making hospital garments, women and children's clothing for relief quota will be held at the Unitarian Church every Monday starting Oct. 30. The room will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all women who are able to give any time to meet at the church. For any further information, please call Mrs. George A. Dutting, Win. 2191 or Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Win. 2096.

LINCOLN SCHOOL NOTES

Friday, Oct. 13 the pupils of the Lincoln School held the first assembly of the year.

A report of the nominating committee was in order and the following Red Cross officers for 1939-40 were installed: Myrna Zamanakos, grade 6, president; Salvatore Tibaldi, grade 6, vice president; Angelina Pattillo, grade 5, secretary; John Frongillo, grade 4, treasurer.

A business meeting followed, at which time reports of various Red Cross activities were heard. A brief program, prepared by the pupils of Grade 6, as an outgrowth of their social studies interest in Egypt, was presented.

Most of the class room subject matter entered into the preparation of this program, such as language, reading, spelling, geography and art.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Stanley H. Tead and Eleanor K. Tead, husband and wife as tenants by the entirety, to Winchester Trust Company, dated July 8, 1929, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5375, Page 97, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Tuesday, November 14, 1939, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows: "A certain parcel of land with the buildings and improvements thereon, including all furnaces, heaters, ranges, mantels, gas and electric light fixtures, and all other fixtures of whatever kind or nature contained or hereinafter installed in said buildings, situated in Winchester, Middlesex County, and being shown as Lot 70 on plan of Wedgemere Park, Winchester and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, as File Plan No. 111, bounded and described as follows:— Westerly by Oxford Street, eighty (80) feet; Northerly by Lot 154 as shown on said plan, one hundred fifty-two and 32/100 (152.32) feet; Easterly by Lots 161 and 162 as shown on said plan, eighty and 03/100 (80.03) feet; and Southerly by Lot 69 as shown on said plan, one hundred fifty and 67/100 (150.67) feet. Containing 12,104 square feet. For title see deeds to Stanley G. H. Fitch et al recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4400, Page 492, and Book 4428, Page 242, and Book 4424, Page 224, the premises being the property conveyed in the first mentioned deed and a part of the property conveyed by the second deeds. Said premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record and Building Line established by the Town of Winchester, recorded with said Deeds, Book 5343, Page 292. The above property is that conveyed to the grantors, Stanley H. Tead and Eleanor K. Tead by deed of Stanley G. H. Fitch, and another, to be recorded herewith." The said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens. $200 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of the sale and the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of the sale at Room 5, 13 Church Street, Winchester, Mass. Other particulars made known at the time of the sale. Winchester Trust Company, by G. Dwight Cabot, Treasurer. Mortgagee and present holder. WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE STARTS SEASON'S ACTIVITY

Active Members Meet

At the first active members' meeting of the 1939-1940 season of the Winchester Group Theatre, it was announced that the fall play to be produced in the Winchester High School Auditorium will be Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness."

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon B. Burnham, 72 Yale street. It was further announced that Beulah Paige Sibley, who did such an excellent job in directing the Group's spring play "First Lady," would direct "Ah Wilderness."

Special plans were formulated to make the plays accessible to an ever-increasing group of townspeople. The active members were urged to solicit support for the Group among the many people in town who have not yet signed up as sustaining members. Sustaining members are likewise requested to notify any active member of those desiring to take an active part in the organization.

The complete success of the "all seats reserved" policy inaugurated in the last season was reported at the meeting. It will be continued in the present season.

Mrs. William B. Spaulding of 379 Main street (tel. 0025-W) has charge of ticket assignments for the coming season.

The active member welcomed the decision of the Board to try and find some suitable building to be used by the Group to collect its lighting equipment, stage paraphernalia, records, properties, and books under one roof. Any persons knowing of a suitable barn, garage, or loft are requested to communicate with Ernest W. Gross, Win. 0732-W.

Rehearsals for "Ah Wilderness" will start on Monday, Nov. 6. Time and place will be announced later.

EPIPHANY SWINGS INTO HOME STRETCH OF BAZAAR PREPARATIONS

Epiphany women are almost too busy to talk these last days before their bazaar on Friday, Nov. 3. At the parish hall on Tuesday the Symmes corner needles of various kinds were plied so merrily that theirs was a silent corner, while Mrs. William Martens and her group were putting the finishing touches on their articles for their gift table. Everything offered will be handwork.

The library table was an engaging toy shop. The committee on toys is: Mrs. E. Frances Gallagher, chairman, and Mesdames George Marks, France Yetaw, Morris Freeman, Arthur Jackson, Henry Elton Moffette, Theodore Chillott, Paul Howard and John W. Bodman.

They will have a second table, and here most of the young shoppers will spend their pennies. There will be a table containing used toys.

The Christmas note will be struck at several different tables. Mrs. Wilbur E. Kinsley will have all one can need for Christmas wrappings. The Evening Branch, of which Mrs. W. James Horn is chairman, will have Christmas cards. Mrs. Robert Hart will preside over the table of preserved foods. Christmas shoppers will wisely take time for the table of children's clothing well-styled and well-made for which Mrs. Paul Forestor is the leader. The so-called White Elephant table will again be in charge of Mrs. Edward F. Boyd.

The Food Table, under the management of Mrs. Victor Moses, will have what the public demands in the way of old favorites as well as some new candidates for favor. Plants will be in charge of Mrs. E. Craig Greiner. The flower show will be arranged by Mrs. Paul Lamarche.

Decorations are in the hands of Mrs. Neil Borden, chairman, Mrs. Ejnar Bratt, Mrs. Granville Flagg, and Mrs. John Turner. They will use chrysanthemums of autumn colors against a background of green.

This bazaar offers customers a new article to carry home with them, a silhouette likeness of themselves or of a friend. These will be made by Mrs. Lillian C. Clarke. For the family dinner at 6:30, Mrs. Torr Harmer is ready now to announce the main dish, which will be the good November choice turkey.

"CARRIG-ROHANE" STUDIO—DANCE AND DRAMA

This fall will start the second season of classes in Dance and also in Acting given by Carlene Samoiloff, in her beautiful studio on Highland avenue. She will have classes for Women, for Young Girls, and for Little Boys and Girls in Dance, and a class for young men and young women in Acting.

Carlene Samoiloff has studied Dance with Ruth St. Denis in California for four years; Ballet technique with Adolph Bolm and Michel Mordkin; Daleroze with Elsa Finley and is familiar with the work of Harold Kreutzburg, Doris Humphry and Martha Graham. Her experience has been broad enough to enable her to apply some of these principles for her contemporary dance classes. These classes are designed to meet the various needs of each group. But the fundamentals remain throughout the work, the purpose of which is to:

1. To develop the sense of Dance and Rhythm and bring into objective expression the emotional impressions through dance forms.
2. To develop complete relaxation of muscle and nerve tentions.
3. To develop freedom of movement, control, lightness, and to strengthen the muscles and improve the posture.

The Theatre training of Carlene Samoiloff includes a years apprenticeship at the Neighborhood Play House in New York; one and one half years study observation and study with the Moscow Art Theatre abroad and in this country; three years study and membership with the American Laboratory Theatre under Richard Boleslavsky and Maria Ouspenskaya; two seasons with Max Reinhardt; and other work designing, directing and teaching. She was a member of the faculty of the Cambridge School at Kendal Green last year and is in the Dramatic Department of Tufts College this year.

She is considered especially well informed upon the Moscow Art Theatre. Her lectures on that subject are given at various schools and colleges, and will be one of the five lectures in the Drama League Series at the Boston Public Library this season.

For any information regarding the classes call or write: Carlene Samoiloff, Carrig-Rohane Studio, 314 Highland avenue, Winchester, telephone Winchester 2033-M.

Several more W. P. A. workers were laid off this week, having completed the mandatory 18 months period.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS WRIT TO STOP BOWLING ALLEY

Justice Ronan Rules Selectmen's License Cannot Violate Zoning Law

In a decision handed down Monday night Mr. Justice James J. Ronan of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court granted a writ of mandamus to Giovanni Tranfaglia and others of this town commanding Building Commissioner Maurice Dinneen to revoke the license issued by him to Salvatore Marchesi for the excavation for foundations for a bowling alley at 66 Swanton street and to refuse to issue any permit for a building to be used for such purpose.

In his finding Justice Ronan found that while a bowling alley is undoubtedly a place of amusement as designated under section 5 of the town's Zoning Laws, as contended by proponents, he also found that section 9 of the Zoning Laws expressly provides that no building shall be constructed or used for any purpose which results in causing noise or vibrations or which is harmful to property located in certain districts, and this obtains despite any other provision of the by-law to the contrary. The Justice agreed with the findings of an auditor that the location of the proposed bowling alley is in a business district of the town as provided by the Zoning Laws.

The auditor, who had heard the evidence in the case before it was submitted to the Supreme Judicial Court for decision had found that the operation of a bowling alley at the proposed location would result in the diminution in the rentals of the various dwellings within a radius of 150 feet from the proposed site. Justice Ronan ruled that the infliction of such damage upon the property is sufficient to constitute a violation of section 9 of the Zoning Laws. He also ruled "that the license granted by the Selectmen for the establishment and maintenance of a bowling alley under the General Laws, chapter 140, section 177, is no defense to a violation of a zoning law."

This decision is the latest in a case which has been argued pro and con since the Board of Selectmen granted a license to Mr. Marchesi for the operation of a bowling alley last spring. In accordance with the Board's decision the Building Commissioner issued a building permit.

Residents and property owners in the vicinity of the proposed alleys petitioned the Board of Appeal to order the building permit revoked because of alleged violations of the Zoning Laws of the town.

The Board of Appeal granted a hearing on June 28, at which time those seeking the revocation of the permit were represented by Attorney Thad Smith and Mr. Marchesi, by Attorney Frank Hurley. After hearing arguments from both sides the Board of Appeal refused to order the permit revoked, finding that the bowling alley, as a place of amusement so designated by the Zoning Laws could rightfully be erected and maintained at a place which the same Zoning Laws fix as a business district of the town.

From this decision those objecting to the bowling alley sought relief in the courts. On Aug. 2, Town Counsel Addison R. Pike appeared at a preliminary hearing before Mr. Justice Lummus upon the validity of a part of Section 12-B of the Zoning By-Law which permits an adjoining owner affected by the issuance of a building permit to appeal to the Board of Appeal of the town.

Justice Lummus ruled that part of the section invalid and further ruled that such property owner's only recourse is to petition the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to revoke the permit.

Justice Lummus then affirmed that the case of Giovanni Tranfaglia et al vs Maurice Dinneen (Building Commissioner of the Town of Winchester) was in the proper court and referred the evidence in the case to an auditor, which is the usual procedure in such cases.

The auditor heard the evidence on Aug. 16 and 17, Attorney Smith appearing for those objecting to the bowling alley and Attorney Hurley for Mr. Marchesi. It was after hearing the report of the auditor that Justice Ronan made his findings Monday evening, ruling the petitioners entitled to a writ of mandamus and ordering the issuance of such a writ.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW ASSEMBLY

The next regular meeting of the Winchester Assembly Order of Rainbow for Girls, will be held on Friday, Nov. 10 at 6:30 p. m., in the Masonic Hall, Mt. Vernon street, Winchester. Initiation of candidates. Please note change of time.

A refund of $9,211.25 for the Winchester Country Club for golf and tennis taxes levied by the government for 1931 to 1935 was ordered by Judge Hugh D. McLellan in federal court Monday. The court ruled that the taxes did not come under the statutory forms of dues or membership fees.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Manley Ives of this town announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Ives Whittemore, to Lieut. Charles Jackson Paine. The wedding took place Saturday at their home on Highland avenue.

JAMES NOWELL APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF UNITED FUND CAMPAIGN

Francis C. Gray, chairman of the Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign and Harold S. Fuller, President of the Winchester Community Chest announce the appointment of James Nowell as Winchester Community Chairman of the united campaign to be held Jan. 22 to Feb. 6.

This appointment has the approval of everyone connected with the Winchester agencies. Living in Winchester all his life and always active in his civic responsibilities, Mr. Nowell is unusually well fitted for this office. He is treasurer of the Winchester Community Chest and was chairman of its fund campaign last May. He has worked on all previous Greater Boston campaigns not only in Winchester but also in Boston. He has also served on the Board of Directors of several of the social agencies in Winchester and Boston.

His knowledge of town affairs, his genuine interest in the work of the agencies, his judgment, his experience and his enthusiasm should make him not only an able administrator, but also an inspiring leader.

"THREE CORNERED MOON"

The Parish Players, the dramatic society of the First Congregational Church, are presenting the famous comedy, and Broadway success "Three Cornered Moon" tonight and tomorrow night in the parish hall of the church.

The Parish Players are well known for their finished productions which are said to compare favorably with those of the best summer theatres. Possibly one of the reasons for the success of this particular little theatre group is its policy of building up a corps of seasoned players and using them as a nucleus for each production, bearing in mind, however, that new faces and new talent are vital to the success of any dramatic organization, as they not only give spice to every cast, but often develop into the seasoned players of the future.

The cast for "Three Cornered Moon" fills all these requirements. Ellouise T. Graves plays one of the leading women's roles and is well-known to Parish Players audiences. Other seasoned players are: Edith Chamberlin Eugene M. Pollard, Clifford Cunninghan, Jr., John Kishler, Margaret Greene, who appeared in "Stage Door." New to the Parish Players stage are: Jane Armstrong, Kezar G. Nichols, J. Henry Smith, Jr.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

The Shakespeare Class of Winchester, one of the oldest Shakespearian organizations in the country, celebrated its 50th anniversary on Tuesday as the luncheon guests of the Misses Joy of Lawson road. Members and honorary members from out of town joined in making the occasion a most memorable one both as a tribute to Shakespeare and as a reunion marking the anniversary. Letters were read from Mrs. Emily Dorsey of Germantown, Pa., from Mrs. Ham of Puerto Rico, from Mrs. John E. Nickerson who sent an original poem. A most interesting record of the first 40 years, compiled by Miss Lydia J. Sanderson was supplemented by an informal resume of the last 10 years. Some very appropriate songs were contributed by Mrs. George Hale Reed. Mrs. Caroline S. Fitts was the author in true Shakespearian form of a very clever and humorous dialogue that purported to take place between good Queen Bess and Shakespeare himself. It was an occasion long to be remembered.

GODDU—JENSEN

Mr and Mrs. James Jensen announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Mr. Dana W. Goddu, at Phoenix, Arizona, on Saturday, Oct. 14.

Mr. Goddu and his bride are making their home in Phoenix where he is associated as staff photographer with the Peublo Grande Museum. Mr. Goddu, a former widely known Winchester young man, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Goddu at Chestnut street. He has been making his home in the West for several years.

MR. REED WILL PREACH

Next Sunday morning, Nov. 5, Mr. Reed will preach at the regular 10:45 service in the Winchester Unitarian Church. His subject will be "Can We Mind Our Own Business?" a sermon suggested by the delicate personal problems that may come from the duty of Neutrality. The public is invited.

BELMONT HERE SATURDAY

Game Will Decide Middlesex League Championship

Belmont High School's 1939 gridiron machine rolls into Winchester Saturday afternoon bound for the Shore road athletic field and the football game will virtually decide the current Middlesex League championship. Both Belmont and Winchester have a single game remaining to play, respectively, with Lexington and Concord, but on form it is inconceivable that either can lose their final league contests.

Winchester can win the league title tomorrow by defeating Belmont. The locals are undefeated to date in league competition. Belmont hasn't lost a league game either, but has played scoreless ties with both Maynard and Stoneham. If Belmont should defeat Winchester tomorrow, the best it can get is a tie for the league flag with the locals.

On paper Winchester should be favored over Belmont, at least on the basis of comparative scores. The locals have played fully as hard a schedule as the Red and Blue and their record, at least against the same teams, is much better.

Winchester beat Stoneham 7—0, and Maynard 21—6. These scores would lead one to figure the locals about two touchdowns better than Belmont, held to scoreless ties by these teams. Belmont did not play last Saturday which makes it a bit more difficult to judge its present form.

The locals, aside from getting the feel of scoring once again, didn't get much benefit from last week's game with Maynard. The visitors were too weak offensively to test Winchester's defense which looked none too good against what effective passing the visitors showed. The Orange running game was nil.

Winchester hasn't lost a football game to Belmont since 1934 when a forward pass that local followers will always believe was illegal gave the Red and Blue a 6—0 win at Belmont, an offside penalty robbing Winchester of the tieing touchdown. In '33 Winchester won the league title by beating Belmont 12—6 in one of the best high school football games this writer has ever seen.

The entire student body is supporting the current Winchester team 100 per cent tomorrow, an enthusiastic football rally having been held at high school this morning. Belmont always brings a big crowd to Winchester and it looks like seats will be at a premium at the Shore road field Saturday. The kickoff is at 2 p. m.

Following are the last 10 Winchester-Belmont scores:

1931—Winchester	0—Belmont	0
1932—Winchester	0—Belmont	7
1933—Winchester	12—Belmont	6
1935—Winchester	19—Belmont	0

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Messrs. Edward F. Bowler and William J. Callahan have received their appointment as permanent members of the police department, their six months' probationary period having been successfully passed.

Town Hall has been granted to the First Congregational Church for a rummage sale on Nov. 9 and to St. Mary's Church for a turkey whist on Nov. 27.

Truck bids for snow and ice removal will be opened Nov. 13 at 8 o'clock p. m. in the Selectmen's office.

The hearing on the laying out of New Meadows road has been postponed until Nov. 20.

The planning board is interested in a conference of department heads affected by the six year planning program to be held some time in December.

ELKS TO DEDICATE MEMORIAL

Arrangements are complete for the exercises which will dedicate the new Elks' Memorial Boulder in Wildwood Cemetery on Armistice Day, Nov. 11 at 10:30 a. m. The public is cordially invited to the dedication and will find the boulder at the Elks' lot on Amaranthe avenue.

William H. Vayo is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dedication and is being assisted by Neil J. McCarthy, John McCarron, Dr. James H. O'Connor and Arthur J. Harty.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Keenan of Mystic Valley Parkway announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean to J. Russell Sweeney, son of Mrs. James J. Sweeney of Lewis road, Belmont.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 2. From which fact we deduce the idea that there should be another 100 per cent meeting this week just to keep pace with our record of Oct. 26, also 100 per cent. And so the club benefits just as the members themselves benefit. Let us have more such meetings.

Our senior member, Pat Walsh celebrates as of this date the anniversary of his birth. And he was roundly cheered as he stood before us today. For he is a staunch Rotarian and his sparkling wit and sage counsel have become a tradition in our club.

"The ghost walked" at the luncheon hour today but he was demanding compensation rather than distributing it. Nor were our audible groans as he flittered hither and thither which circumstance further confirms the opinion that our members are not dues dodgers.

President Nick Fitzgerald entertained the Club Assembly at his home on Monday evening, Oct. 30, at which time new officers were appointed to fill the vacancies resulting from the resignation of Past President Harry Damon. The Directors confirmed the unanimous viva voce election of President Nick as carried at the club meeting of Oct. 26 and also appointed George R. Carter Vice President of the club and Chairman of the Club Service Committee to serve for the unexpired term of 1939-1940. Malcolm D. Bennett has been appointed Director for the same period and President Nick has appointed Dr. Harry L. Mueller to the Club Service Committee.

District Governor Daniel W. Beach paid his official visit to our club at the current meeting. For an hour previous to the regular meeting he was in consultation with the club assembly and left many valuable suggestions with respect to club administration. The after-luncheon period at the regular meeting was turned over to Governor Bill" who at this time he delivered his formal address to the club. This address was chiefly devoted to an interpretation of Rotary's Vocational Service activities, an interpretation which has received comparatively little attention in this area. It is urged that, in the industrial field, Rotary should apply itself to the resolution of those difficulties and misunderstandings which disturb equitable and friendly relations between employer and employee. Unquestionably in many instances certain Rotarians are in a position to accomplish much good along this line. Also Governor Bill referred to the interesting suggestion that Rotary classifications could well be extended to include in any given industrial concern two individuals to represent management and labor respectively.

This address was thoughtfully worked out and was received with the careful attention which it deserved. Winchester Rotarians are convinced that their District Governor is a capable and energetic official and hope to have the honor and pleasure of entertaining him again from time to time. We trust that our own activities may be of value to him in rendering a good report for the District.

WINCHESTER FOURTH IN MIDDLESEX CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Winchester's Walter Paulson finished third and the local high school cross country team, fourth, in the annual Middlesex District "Big Six" cross country meet at Woburn Wednesday afternoon.

Beverly High won the meet with 38 points, Woburn was second with 46, Melrose, third with 60, Winchester, fourth with 83, Stoneham, fifth with 160, and Wakefield last with 175.

Larry Cullen, Woburn captain, was the individual winner, running the distance in 15 min. and 54 secs. His team-mate Adam Diamont was second, 15 yards back, and Paulson, third, holding that position throughout the race. His brother, Robert Paulson was Winchester's next man in ninth position. Following is the order of finish:

Won by Cullen (Wob); 2nd, Diamont (Wob); 3rd, W. Paulson (Win); 4th, Jacques (Bev); 5th, Zurbach (Mel); 6th, Benjamin (Bev); 7th, Mitchell (Bev); 8th, Sears (Bev); 9th, R. Amico (Wak); 40th, Broadstreet (Wak); 41st, Christopher (Wak); 42nd, Hawes (Win).

MISS CLEARY GOLF CHAMP AT WOBURN

Miss Ruth Cleary of Cambridge street retained her championship rating at the Woburn Country Club by defeating another Winchester girl, Miss Harriet Pilkington of Wilson street, in the final round of the recent annual ladies' tournament on the club links.

The match was hotly contested and all even at the conclusion of 18 holes. The girls halved the 19th and 20th holes, though Miss Pilkington had to sink a 10 foot put to equal the champion whose approach stopped 15 inches from the cup.

At the 21st hole Miss Cleary drove straight down the fairway for 125 yards. Her second shot was just short of the grade leading to the green and she was on six feet from the pin in three. Two puts gave her a five for the hole.

Miss Pilkington needed six, her hefty drive hooking into the rough. She made a nice recovery and a good third shot well up the fairway toward the green. Her approach was a bit too strong and she too needed a pair of puts to sink her ball one stroke down to the champion.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

On Thursday evening, Nov. 16, at 8 o'clock, Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will discuss the "Tax Base in Massachusetts" before the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church. In so doing, he will cover both the various sources of income from taxes in Massachusetts and the final impact of those taxes on the people of our state.

Originally appointed Commissioner by the late Calvin Coolidge while the latter was Governor, Mr. Long has filled his position with distinction and is recognized as one of the leading authorities on taxation in the United States. At the present time he is editor of the National Tax Bulletin published by the National Tax Association and is an executive of that association of which he was formerly president.

Being an attorney-at-law as well as a tax executive, Mr. Long is unusually qualified to discuss any phase of taxation from every angle and the members of the Men's Club are looking forward to a very profitable as well as interesting evening.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, which will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8, promises to be of much interest. Honorable Robert E. Bradford, District Attorney of Middlesex County, will speak on the subject of Crime Erosion, dealing especially with the indifference of the average citizen, which permits crime to exist, resulting in bad government. He will explain how it can and should be corrected locally.

The Education Committee will present two speakers on this program. Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks will discuss a bill concerning the Deportation of Aliens and Mrs. Robert Keeney will review the position of the Philippine Islands as presented in John Gunther's "Inside Asia."

Following the program, tea will be served by the Social Committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, chairman.

COLLECTOR NICHOLS AT AMHERST

Nathaniel M. Nichols, collector of taxes in Winchester will represent the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association at the fourth annual conference of the Massachusetts State College at Amherst today and tomorrow, speaking on "tax collections exemptions and delinquencies."

Winchester was the only community in the Commonwealth that had any 1939 taxes collected when the legislature permitted the recinding of the tax rate, and the rate is now $27.20. More than 74 per cent of the 1939 taxes are collected and there are no taxes uncollected of any previous year. Only two water bills remain uncollected two months old. There are no water liens and only six-tenths of one per cent was taken in tax titles for 1938 taxes this year.

MISS ARCHER ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Buren Archer of Bacon street and Deerfield, N. H., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Gould Archer, to Mr. William Franklin McClintock, son of Mr. and Mrs. William James McClintock of Norman road, Melrose.

Miss Archer was graduated from Chapel Hill School, Waltham in 1937 and attended Westbrook Junior College at Portland, Me.

Mr. McClintock is a graduate of Melrose High School, class of 1935, and attended Cambridge School of Liberal Arts.

The wedding is to take place in the early spring.

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY WED

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hart of Montreal have announced the marriage of their daughter Ann VerTreese to Robert Howland Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Warren of Mt. Vernon street, Boston, in Montreal, on Wednesday, Oct. 25. On their return from a wedding trip, the young couple will make their home in Boston, where Mr. Warren is engaged in business.

MRS. CLARA G. BROOKS

The death of Mrs. Clara G. Brooks at her large estate just over the Winchester line in West Medford last week releases her large holdings of land and forest to the New England Federation of Bird Clubs. This land is largely situated in Winchester and consists of one-half of the Brooks estate nearest Main street.

Mrs. Brooks was great aunt of Governor Saltonstall. She was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery in Medford just across the wall from her estate. Funeral services were held in King's Chapel, Boston. She was born in Boston Feb. 8, 1845, the daughter of George and Helen Gardner. She was married in 1872 to Shepard Brooks, son of Gorham Brooks. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Helen Emmons of Boston, and Rachel Jackson of Westwood, wife of former state treasurer James Jackson. a son, Gorham Brooks of Boston also survives with six grandchildren. She was 95 years of age at the time of her death.

For many years Mrs. Brooks did much to assist various organizations interested in the preservation of historical buildings. She contributed large amounts to the Medford Historical Society and the Royal House Association. Her husband, Shepard Brooks, was descendant of Gen. Brooks, one of George Washington's most trusted officers in the Revolutionary War.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH BAZAAR

The singularly handsome crocheted bedspread which will be on sale at the 100th Anniversary Bazaar at the First Congregational Church Nov. 22 and 23 has an unique if brief history.

So great and enthusiastic was the response to the call for bazaar workers that it was necessary to hold tryouts for the "bedspread team."

When the keen competition was over a team of 13 skillful crocheters were chosen and their artistic efforts have produced a handsome bedspread.

Members of the "bedspread team" are Mrs. B. A. Albro, Mrs. R. C. Cardinal, Mrs. D. F. Choate, Mrs. C. H. Eaton, Mrs. F. N. Kerr, Mrs. F. H. Knight, Mrs. J. C. McCormick, Mrs. E. A. Merriam, Mrs. C. M. Morgan, Mrs. E. C. Sanderson, Mrs. F. R. Sears, Mrs. F. L. Ripley, and Mrs. B. F. Townshend.

Complete plans for the 100th Anniversary Bazaar are well under way at the present moment. The "bedspread team" has set a standard that promises to make the affair an eminently successful one.

Miss Mabel W. Stinson is attending the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Town Clerks' Association which is being held next Wednesday at the fine new town hall in Stoneham.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The speaker of the evening meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club to be held on Nov. 15, at 7:45 o'clock in the Art Room of the Winchester Public Library will be Mr. Laurence B. Fletcher, secretary of the trustees of public reservations. Mr. Fletcher, well known for his lectures on "Birds" will speak on "The Activities of the Trustees in Preserving Beautiful and Historic Places in Massachusetts" and will show many colored pictures. In conclusion, Mr. Fletcher will take the audience on a 1200 foot colored motion picture field trip, from the Cape to the North Shore and as far west as the Berkshires. Guest tickets are available.

COMMUNITY FUND FORCES UNITE

This winter six communities will conduct a united campaign with Greater Boston Community Federation to raise funds for their social agencies. They are Belmont, Cambridge, Lexington, Dedham, Watertown and Winchester, the last three uniting for the first time.

Although Winchester for several years has conducted intensive campaigns for the Greater Boston Fund, this will be the first time that the Winchester agencies will benefit directly.

The arrangement made with the Greater Boston Federation by the Directors of the Winchester Chest as to the allottment of funds for the Winchester agencies is most generous and equitable and is expected to prove satisfactory to all concerned.

Of the 170 participating agencies benefitting by this campaign Winchester has seven. These include the Winchester Hospital, Home for the Aged, District Nursing Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Community Council and the Chest itself.

The elimination of the extra campaign is most gratifying to the several hundred workers who have worked on so many previous drives and to the many subscribers who have contributed to so many separate agencies. It is hoped that the response to the appeal for both workers and subscriptions for this one campaign will reflect this feeling of satisfaction.

MRS. OLIVE H. DODGE

Mrs. Olive H. Dodge, widow of W. H. Dodge, who had been making her home in Winchester with her daughter, Mrs. Carl J. Sittinger, at 25 Lakeview road, died Sunday morning, Oct. 29, after a long illness.

Mrs. Dodge was the daughter of Ebenezer B., and Maria S. (Kimball) French. She was born June 11, 1864, in Tewksbury, her family having been one of three active in incorporating Tewksbury years ago when it was set apart from Billerica. For the past 13 years she had been a resident of Winchester, previously for many years having made her home in Lowell. She was a member of the First Congregational Church and of the Western Missionary Society.

Besides Mrs. Sittinger, Mrs. Dodge leaves a daughter, Miss Gladys L. Dodge of this town; a son, Harold F. Dodge of Mountain Lakes, N. J.; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the late residence on Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Tewksbury Center Cemetery.

ROGER VANE PETTINGELL JR.

Roger Vane Pettingell, Jr., who died Friday morning, Oct. 27, was the son of Roger V., and Edith R. (Jones) Pettingell of 211 Forest street.

He was born Jan. 9, 1914, in Winthrop, but for the past 19 years had made his home with his parents in Winchester and was graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1933.

In high school he was a member of the varsity tennis and cross country teams and as a senior was the winner of the boys' championship in the annual Park Department tennis tournament for high school boys and girls. He continued his tennis after leaving school and was well known as a doubles player, participating in many open tournaments in Greater Boston. He was a member of a Boston chess club and of the Winchester Lawn Tennis Association.

In addition to a tennis supply and racquet stringing business of his own, he was associated in business with his father as a manufacturers' agent for electrical supplies. His pleasant manner and even disposition won him the esteem of all who knew him and to his many friends his untimely passing brought genuine regret.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Clifton W. McNeill and Miss June Pettingell; and by three brothers, Gordon, Ormonde and Richard Pettingell, all of this town.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon in the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn.

LARAWAY COMPANY TO CONTINUE

The J. A. Laraway Co., will be continued at the same old address, 17 Park street, by Edson S. Laraway, son of the late owner Jonas A. Laraway, and Harold H. McKinley, son-in-law of the late proprietor.

Edson Laraway was brought up in the plumbing and heating business, learning the trade from his father, the ablest of teachers. For the past few years he has been plumbing and heating department head, in charge of buying, estimating, and sales for one of the country's largest retail plumbing and heating establishments.

Mr. McKinley, the holder of a Massachusetts Master Plumbers' license, has been associated with the J. A. Laraway Co. for the past eight years and is well known around town.

With this combination we feel sure that in the future customers old and new will receive the best of advice and workmanship as has been the Company's boast for the past 43 years.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Three very interesting Departmental programs will be presented next week, to which all Fortnightly members are cordially invited.

On Monday, the sixth, the Literature group will hold its first meeting, for a discussion of "Book Reviews and Book Reviewing," with Anna Grosvenor and Mabelle Long giving papers. If there is a more timely topic for discussion than Book Reviewing—well there just isn't! Come and learn how to do it well!

Tuesday, the 7th, is the annual American Home Day, and Dorothy Ebens has arranged an outstanding all day program. The morning session will begin at 10 with a motion picture entitled, "Hawaiian Harvest" followed by a lecture on party luncheons. At 12:30 a chicken pie luncheon will be served at the Crawford Memorial Church.

At 1:45 another motion picture, covering the Atlantic from Rockport to Martha's Vineyard, will be shown, followed by a musical program by Mrs. Leah Marie Haynes, harpist. As an added treat, Mr. Chester Hill will tell us about sound effects in use on stage and radio.

On Firday, Nov. 10th, the Antiques Group will hold an open meeting at which there will be an exhibit of old prints. Members wishing to exhibit prints from their own collections must notify Mrs. Roger Hadley, Win. 0946, or Mrs. Andrew Cornwall, Win. 0604, to arrange for space. Mrs. Roland Carter is tea chairman, and will be assisted by Mrs. Forrest Burseley, Mrs. Everett Kidder, Mrs. Eugene Peppard and Mrs. Austin Welch.

REPUBLICAN BRIDGE PARTY WELL ATTENDED

The finance committee of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, Mrs. Walter W. Winship, chairman, sponsored the annual dessert bridge party to raise club funds, at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee of Ledgewood road on Tuesday of this week. Fifty tables were set up in the spacious rooms and an Hallowe'en note was used in the napkins, covers and the black and yellow celophane wrapped lily bulbs given as table prizes.

Assisting Mrs. Bradlee in receiving and seating those attending were Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, club president, Mrs. Winship, Mrs. Leo W. Blaisdell, Mrs. Lucius Smith and Mrs. William Bowe. Coffee and cake was served by the large corp of waitresses under the direction of Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr.

SPOKE AT BOOK FAIR

Mrs. Dwight Hutchinson, whom older residents of the town will remember as Dorothy Dwight Powers, who lived in Glengarry and graduated from Winchester High School in the early 1900's was the hit speaker at the Book Fair last week Thursday afternoon at the Boston Garden. Mrs. Hutchinson is the author of the book, "For Three Months Only," and also proved to be an interesting and amusing speaker.

TO TELEPHONE USERS IN BOSTON AND VICINITY

As recently announced by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, savings totaling $175,000 a year for many telephone users became effective Nov. 1. At the same time, a faster, more efficient and more extensive dial service went into operation in Metropolitan Boston.

As a result of wide extension of the direct dial area, any dial telephone in Boston and vicinity may now reach nearly 420,000 telephones by dialing directly. These include nearly every telephone listed in the Boston directory and all telephones in the city of Lynn.

These service improvements are made possible by many years of research by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and by this Company.

LETTERS ARE NOW ON THE WAY to all customers whose service or rates are affected by the new improvements, and the new Boston telephone directories, which will be delivered shortly, will include complete details of the new service. We call your attention to the introductory pages of the forthcoming directory for further information on our new and more complete service for our Boston customers.

The Telephone Business Office serving your community will gladly answer any questions about the new service.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT SIMMONS

Besides Miss Virginia Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan R. Chapin of Lawrence street, who was last week elected president of the freshman class, several Winchester girls are taking prominent parts in extra-curricular activities at Simmons College.

Miss Flora Elizabeth Hayes, daughter of Mr. Lawrence W. Hayes of Penn road and a member of the junior class, has been cast in "Girls in Uniform," a three act play to be presented by the College Dramatic Club on Dec. 8. She is a member of the English Club.

Miss Lillian Elizabeth Speedie, daughter of Mrs. C. Elizabeth Speedie of Oxford street, has been elected commuter representative on the social activities committee of the Student Government. She is a member of the freshman class.

Miss Katherine Pierce Hall, a sophomore, is in the cast of the annual play to be given tonight by members of that class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Hall of Winslow road.

CHOSEN TUFTS SECRETARY

Gertrude M. Aitchison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Aitchison of Governors avenue, a senior at Tufts College, has been elected secretary of the Canterbury Club, an organization which sponsors the appearance of speakers at Tufts for discussion of literary topics. Miss Aitchison is vice-president of her sorority, Chi Alpha Chapter of Chi Omega and captains the varsity archery team at Tufts.

"THE MAN NAMED MANSFIELD"

The following biographical sketch, written by Jerry Nason, Boston Globe sports writer, for the Bates Game number of the Harvard A. A. News will prove interesting to Coach Mansfield's many Winchester friends, and is especially timely in view of his Bates team's unexpected victory over the potent University of Maine in the opening game of the Maine State football series last Saturday. Incidentally Mr. Nason, who is perhaps best known in the field of track but whose football articles are also widely read, makes his home in Winchester on Oneida road. His first Winchester assignment, if memory serves, was back in the days when he was doing "schoolboy sports" for the Globe and Don Emery's team played its "Donnybrook Fair" Mystic League game with the Melrose team led by Rex Kidd.

The Man Named Mansfield by Jerry Nason

The vigilant editor of this volume of football literature asked us to write a piece ("Make it 800 words," said he, "and full of facts") on the subject of Wendell D. "Manny" Mansfield, successor to the redoubtable Dave Morey as head coach of Bates football.

Well, we'd have you see the new Bates boss as a gentleman of impeccable personal habits, yet no prude; a master of fundamental knowledge of football, without being a boresome task master; a man who was around when they passed out personalities, but of retiring manner for all of that.

In other words, the new keeper of the Bobcat is as fine a gentleman as can be found associated with the game of football here or elsewhere, a competent coach, a gracious loser, and above all a patient teacher.

It has been three years or more since Manny operated locally as the coach of all sports at the Winchester High School in surburban Boston. It is a tribute to his ability, his character, and his knowledge of human nature that the citizens of that community—particularly the young citizens—still speak of him in affectionate remembrance despite the success of the present coaching regime there.

Today, marking the second contest in which Manny has served as a head coach of an intercollegiate football team, thus is of considerable historical importance to himself, especially since his baptism comes within the ivied structure of the Harvard Stadium.

Twenty-one years ago today Manny was wearing the uniform of a private in the United States Army, a stripling just off the sports fields of New Haven (Conn.) High School. This afternoon as he sends his garnet-shirted Bates team storming across the Stadium for the opening kick-off he will have passed another significant milestone down the years. For Manny came up the "hard way."

At New Haven High School, in the years between 1916 and 1918, Mansfield had the distinction of winning five letters in athletics, meantime finding time to excel in his classrooms and supervise Troop 27 of the Boy Scouts of America, champions of the State of Connecticut.

Manny is extremely reticent on the subject of his prowess as an athlete in those bygone days, although not averse to making casual mention of his golf score upon occasion. But in those days Manny was a rip-snorting end, or so one assumes, because he was awarded the Holmes trophy as the outstanding football player on his team one season.

He played three years of basketball with such distinguished interscholastic exponents as Georgie Greenberg and Pat Alprovitz, played a year of baseball, and performed on the track team. These versatile endeavors served as a warm-up, and Manny cooled off by competing on the first swimming team in the history of New Haven High School. The coach was named Robert Kiphuth, a gentleman who is well known at Harvard because he has since become coach of those extremely able swimming teams at Yale.

After the doughboys had straightened out matters across the Atlantic, the matter of preparing himself for the coaching profession became paramount in Manny's life. He had long before decided on entering Springfield, but the matter of finances reared its derisive countenance. With the earnestness and determination, however, which have marked all his ventures before and since, Manny found himself a job and for three years laid aside funds to assist his college education.

Going through Springfield was no romp for the young man from New Haven who, although long on enthusiasm, was a trifle short on cash. One suspects it was hard sledding at times. Certainly Manny was forced to restrict his athletic enterprises. He played three years of varsity football, but shunned the inviting expanses of the basketball court and the baseball diamond.

Manny was not only financing his own college years but also contributing to the upkeep back home. Any job was acceptable that paid an honest dollar, and an industrious young man, under those circumstances, found little time to play games for fun.

In the pursuit of the necessary finances to complete his senior year Mansfield ultimately sought succor in the field of local professional football. On various Sunday afternoons he operated at end for New Britain Blues, Providence Steam Rollers, the West Hartfords, etc.

Manny battled his way through to commencement, and his long struggle was awarded with an appointment to the Winchester High School. He took over the direction of the physical education program, coached the football, basketball, and baseball teams. In his dozen years there his various teams won 85 per cent of all their contests and won so many championships of the Middlesex Interscholastic League in which they competed that it amounted to a virtual monopoly. There is some question as to who felt the more unhappy when Springfield beckoned in 1937, Manny or the forlorn committeemen of Winchester.

Mansfield had enjoyed his work at Winchester, but his heart had long been set on entering the college field. So he accepted the bid to assist Paul Stagg with varsity football and coach the freshman basketball team, which group, incidentally, lost only one contest in his two seasons there. Then, on last July 1, out of a clear sky, the athletic authorities at Bates announced that Wendell D. Mansfield had been appointed head coach of football.

"And who," asked Bates men, is Wendell D. Mansfield?"

Manny never was one for blowing his own horn, gentlemen. But he's the man who, as an undergraduate at Springfield College, coached the freshman football team and was a student instructor of physics and mathematics.

He is, as my grandmother used to put it, "all wool and a yard wide!"

GIRL OF THE MONTH

Gertrude Meserve, Winchester young woman, has been honored with selection as "Girl of the Month" by "Youth Today," a national magazine for young people published in New York City, according to word reaching here.

"Gertrude Meserve, Winchester, Mass., who, at 19, is the youngest full-fledged commercial pilot in America. Gertrude has wanted to fly ever since she can remember and began preparing early for an air career by making model airplanes and flying them. It wasn't until she was 17, however, while still a student at Winchester High School, that she began to take lessons in flying. One month out of high school, Gertrude received her solo certificate and two months later she earned her private certificate. Now she has a commercial certificate and nearly 300 flying hours to her credit. Gertrude has had more than a glimpse of danger. While she was doing precision spins over Boston harbor last year, the motor of her plane went dead. Quick thinking saved the day when she succeeded in bringing the plane out of the spin. She made a forced landing on a playground—which happened to be deserted at the time!

When she isn't in the air, Gertrude takes part in outdoor sports. She intends to become an instructor in aviation, to build up her flying hours. But she won't really be satisfied, she confesses, until she is sitting at the controls of an air-liner."

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED MAYNARD

Winchester High School's football team returned to the win column Saturday afternoon by defeating Maynard High School 21—6 in a Middlesex League game on the Shore Road athletic field.

Only a slim crowd saw the contest which was long and drawn out, marred by frequent injuries to the visiting team and considerably delayed by a long argument over a questionable play in the third quarter, on which the officials reversed themselves. Maynard's eleven was about the poorest the Orange has ever brought to Winchester and the visitors' showing was not enhanced by the injuries which removed several of their first string operatives from the game.

Only the size of the Winchester score was in doubt after the first few minutes of play. Maynard scored its touchdown on a fluke and bar another lucky break had no chance to cross the local goal line. The Orange backs were very small and had neither the speed or shiftiness necessary to offset their lack of stature. Sarvella and Brigham, tackles; Whelan, end; and Crowley, back, were the best of the Maynard players, and big Sarvella took a lot of pounding at his left tackle slot before he left the game in the final quarter, a very tired boy.

Tracy, McEwen and Derby were standouts in the local backfield, with the latter showing real flashes of running form when inserted late in the game. On the rushline "Tony" DeTeso stood out as usual, and Frank Marabella's placement kicking was very high grade, the big boy getting three out of three, one against a very high wind. Derby, punting late in the final quarter, got off a corking spiral against the wind that carried 51 yards from the Winchester 34 to the Maynard 25, one of the prettiest kicks we have seen in a Winchester game for a dog's age.

Winchester made 12 first downs and 194 yards by rushing to two first downs for Maynard and 28 yards on the ground. The visitors got one of their first downs on a long pass and the other on a penalty. The officials helped the locals to a couple of their first downs.

In the air Winchester threw 14 passes and completed four for 25½ yards. One long heave of some 30 yards was completed out of bounds and did not count. Maynard tried 19 aerials, completed five for 86 yards and had one intercepted. The visitors lost 25 yards in penalties to 10 for Winchester and each team fumbled twice, Maynard losing the ball once in this way

The game was only a couple of minutes along when Maynard, the receiver, had to kick. Crowley's boot into the high wind carried out of bounds from the 25 yard to his 31, and Winchester had a scoring chance.

Tracy circled end for nine yards and McEwen hit inside tackle for a first down on the 17. On a reverse Tracy reached the one yard line, but here Maynard braced and stopped Galuffo twice and Tracy once for no gain. On fourth down Galuffo spun over for the touchdown and Marabella kicked the goal.

Just before the end of the first quarter Maynard had to kick, Crowley's boot going to the Winchester 32. McCormack passed to McEwen for nine yards, and McCormack made a first down on a line play at the Maynard 21 as the quarter ended.

McCormack spun for seven and Marabella slid through tackle to the Maynard nine. Sarvella got McCormack for a yard loss, but on the next play, McEwen on a reverse circled his own left end for the touchdown. Again Marabella kicked the goal.

Toward the end of the half two nice coffin-corner kicks by Crowley drove the locals back, and after the second Marabella kicked out to Winchester's 35. Harris knocked down a touchdown pass from Crowley to Whelan, but once again the Orange took to the air and this time Crowley's long arch was batted by the local defender into the arms of Brigham, big tackle, who plowed over the Winchester goal line carrying two or three local players with him. Carberry's try for placement was squarely blocked by the fighting Winchester line.

The third quarter was nearly over when Boardley recovered a Maynard fumble on the Orange 29. McEwen got away for a first down at the 18, Galuffo added four and a pass from Provinzano to Marabella reached the five. McEwen then went off tackle for what looked like a touchdown, but fumbled when tackled and the ball bounded squarely into the arms of Fourati, Maynard back, who galloped to midfield before Provinzano pulled him down from behind.

The officials started to put the ball in play at that point and the Winchester coaching staff, Messrs. Lauer, Shaw and Lentine went onto the field in flying wedge formation. They contended that the Winchester ball-carrier's knee had hit the ground just outside the goal line before the ball bounced from his arms and therefore the ball was dead at that spot in Winchester's possession. One official agreed, the other said the carrier lost the ball before his knee hit the ground and the other didn't see the play. The Maynard boys argued that the ball was a free one, but Coach Vodokelys didn't enter the debate until after the Winchester coaches had convinced the officials that the ball was theirs at the two foot mark. When Referee Colucci started for the goal line the Maynard coach rushed out and protested vigorously, but to no avail. Play was resumed with the Orange goal less than a yard away.

With the fighting-mad Orange linemen set for a buck Winchester crossed them up and Provinzano passed out to the right to Marabella who went over for the score. Marabella kicked the goal.

That ended the scoring and toward the end of the game Coach Lauer had his third string players in the game, more than holding their own with the tired Maynard boys. The summary:

TEELE COVERS A DOUBLE

Royal P. Teele, president of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, achieved the ultimate for horseshoe pitchers at the matches last week-end when he cancelled a double ringer by putting his two shoes on the stake.

Accuracy forces the admission that Royal's exceptional pitching came while he was playing on the "second" court, he and "Bob" Walsh having been "given the works" by S. "Willoughby" Mobbs and Roland "Wrong Count" Pridham, an exceedingly strong doubles combination indeed. Roy was pitching against Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the "State of Maine Champ." Arthur, in an effort to discourage his fire-chasing opponent, tossed on a double ringer with that nonchalance that only a pelagrogue can hope to achieve.

Again accuracy impells the statement that one of the Butters ringers was a scaler or skipper, but both were firmly wrapped around the stake when Teele squared away for his epoch-making effort.

Roy's first shoe found the mark and his second landed squarely on top of the first. "Not a question of a doubt," he had sealed the dizzy heights. His raucous whoops of triumph and self-congratulatory handshakes were distributed vigorously and ad lib. That the association's president was very happy, none could question. Despite an occasional "boo" his mates accorded him the honor that was his just due. Members of the association present seemed much more surprised than Roy.

It might be said while recording the day's achievements that the team of "Wild Willie" McLaughlin and the association secretary actually took a two-games-out-of-three series from Mobbs and Pridham, thereby winning the whole-souled gratitude of all who had vainly tried to do that little thing.

Mention should be made of the fact that "Joe" Flaherty, whose attendance record has been a bit on the seamy side of late, was present at the last session, talking his usual fine game!

AWARDED VASSAR KEY

At the Phi Beta Kappa dinner held at Vassar College on Oct. 19, Jean Symmes of Scarsdale, N. Y., was awarded the Vassar Key as the highest ranking student in the college.

Miss Symmes, class of 1940, is the sister of Kathryn Symmes, Vassar '37, and Laurence Symmes, Jr., Dartmouth, '38, both members of Phi Beta Kappa also.

"There is still a chance," we read, "that Mr. Roosevelt will reconsider and proclaim the traditional Thanksgiving date. It is not a political issue, and he could retire from his first decision with good grace. By doing so he would certainly give transportation and communication executives cause for thanksgiving." Well—in our opinion the whole scheme was just another misconceived New Deal idea, and if the President should reconsider and place the date where it belongs through tradition, it will be the first time he has admitted the human element possessed by the rest of us.

SOCRATES SAYS-

AN AMERICAN OBLIGATION

The possibilities are that both sides are waiting to see what stand the United States is to take on neutrality. If both sides are waiting to ascertain the American stand on neutrality, the United States Congress could commit one of history's greatest diplomatic blunders by the poor timing of any change in our neutrality laws.

Peace talk is in the air. European face-saving and a round table solution seem almost impossible; but the alternative is even more impossible.

Good statesmanship would seem to indicate that America keep both sides waiting, for perhaps they might wait indefinitely. Even though active hostilities break out on the Western Front peace negotiations will still be in process. Should America, at just the wrong time, greatly encourage one side or greatly discourage the other, a catastrophe so great could ingulf the whole of Europe that civilization, democracy, and even Christianity would be in grave danger of collapse.

That there is no immediate danger to American shipping or American involvement in the war seems imminent was conceded by the administration's opposition to "splitting the neutrality bill."

England and France do not yet require any assistance; but humanity does and the greatest nation on earth should recognize the full obligations that go with its position and remain calm. Congress should wait until we know exactly what is going to happen in Europe. We are simply guessing if we act before we know.

America's obligation is to continue to strive for world peace and never to lend its enormous influence for any cause other than peace, until every method of solution is definitely proven to be impossible.

World peace is also entitled to "non - partisanship" and America should not make a "5 to 4" decision on any problem as vital as war.

Congress should wait. Our national interests will not suffer by waiting. We can lift our embargo in plenty of time. If poorly timed, we might touch off the spark.

The possibilities of the United States legislating itself out of war is too naive for serious debate. Our entrance into war, if we go in, will be caused by sentiment or emotional hysteria beyond logical control. But we can, if smart, try to serve world peace by waiting. Let this Special Session go down in history as the most important session ever held by Congress,—the one session that never made a mistake—for it waited.

HELPFUL SAFETY REMINDERS FOR BICYCLISTS

The state law requires that:

First. Each bicycle shall be equipped with a bell and when ridden after dark shall have a light to be used during the hours between one-half hour after sunset and one-half hour before sunrise.

Second. All bicyclists shall ride on the extreme right of traffic not more than two abreast.

All bicyclists must observe one way street regulations and all traffic lights. At Winchester Square special police officers will be on duty to aid bicyclists at 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon and again from 2:45 p. m. to 3 p. m.

It is strongly recommended that at all other hours bicyclists should get off and walk with their bicycle in making a LEFT HAND TURN at the center.

Signed.

HIGHWAY SAFETY CAMPAIGN

To the Editor of the Star:

On Thursday, Oct. 26, I called into conference at the State House certain state officials, and officers of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association and the Massachusetts Safety Council, to discuss methods for reducing motor vehicle fatalities during the two closing months of the year.

The plan upon which we have agreed is to ask all motorists driving in Massachusetts voluntarily to pledge themselves not to drive above 45 miles an hour at night or in stormy weather, even under the most favorable highway conditions, and not above 25 miles an hour in congested city areas.

It was suggested at this conference by the Commissioner of Public Safety, and supported by the other officials present, that no factor would give greater assurance of gaining this co-operation of the motorists, than the editorial and news column support of the newspapers of the state.

I will deeply appreciate the help that your own newspaper may give us in this highway safety campaign.

Very truly yours,
Leverett Saltonstall,
Governor of the Commonwealth

LOWELL THOMAS LECTURE SUCCESSFUL

Lowell Thomas has come and gone and the Scholarship Fund Committee can now relax after a feverish three weeks and with a justifiable feeling of pride in a job well done. Undoubtedly, no previous committee ever faced such attractive competition as did this one on Oct. 28 what with the presence in town of Monsignor Fulton Sheen, whom many of us wanted to hear, the first Country Club dance and the fact that it was the night of the Harvard - Dartmouth game.

Mr. Thomas based his talk on the theme that "giants have not vanished from the earth" and "romance still lives, even in America" and gave as an example of the latter, Jimmy Doolittle. Mr. Thomas also spoke about responses to news broadcasts and a study the N. B. C. made of 266,000 telegrams which was to prove "what the American public is thinking about." One thousand were signed "Mae West" and all said the same thing! At that time Mr. Thomas was employed by a well-known magazine and several thousand more said "cancel my subscription." Thus the caution with which most news commentators approach any subject. He spoke of his experiences with those gallant, if somewhat rough-and-ready, Australians who took Jerusalem and who were cut to shreds at the awful fiasco of Gallipoli; of his long wished for visit to Afghanistan, the forbidden, where he was met by an American citizen; of the camel caravans 15 miles long wending their way across the desert which for him produced a puncture an hour; and so on for an evening of delightful entertainment.

Mrs. Stanley Barnes, president of the Mothers' Association introduced Mr. Thomas and thanked all those who had worked so hard to make the evening a success and now wishes to supplement that with special thanks to the Scholarship Committee.

Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, chairman of the Scholarship Fund Committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank the Committee for the close cooperation extended her.

Mrs. Thedore Elliott, chairman of the Ticket Committee announces the following ladies officiated at Mary Spaulding's and extend her thanks for their help:

Mrs. Harold Dodds
Mrs. Clarence Newton
Mrs. Victor Wolff
Mrs. Francis Millett
Mrs. John Burchard
Mrs. Sanford Moses
Mrs. John Wills
Mrs. Marshall Pihl
Mrs. Wilfred MacKenzie
Mrs. Harrie Nutter
Mrs. L. R. Moulton, Jr.
Mrs. Joseph Tansey
Mrs. Theodore Atkinson
Mrs. Lucius Smith
Mrs. Raymond J. Dickman
Mrs. Melvin Engle
Mrs. Harold Partridge
Mrs. Fred Chamberlain
Mrs. Harold Twombley
Mrs. Dean Blanchard

It goes without saying that our sincere thanks go to Mary Spaulding and her associates for their courtesy and to all those who cooperated with us.

Everyone enjoyed the music of Bill Partridge and his orchestra and the decorative appearance of the flower girls.

And so the Scholarship Committee brings to a close its main activity for the year. Many new friendships have been made during the drive, many old ones renewed. A financial report cannot be made until the spring when the contributions from the various schools are all in, but the consensus of opinion is that the affair has been a great success.

JOSEPH L. DUFFEE

Joseph L. Duffee, who died at his home, 37 South street, Medford, Monday morning after a short illness, formerly for sme years was the proprietor of a fish market in Winchester center located on Main street at the site of the present Hood's store.

Mr. Duffee was 65 years old and a native of Winchester. He moved from Winchester to Medford 28 years ago and conducted a successful fish business in that city until his retirement. Mr. Duffee was a widower, his wife, Mrs. Helen D. (Sutherland) Duffee having died several years ago. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Reginald V. Smith and Mrs. Norman L. Reed of Medford, and a son, J. Lawrence Duffee of Long Island, N. Y.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Gaffey Funeral Parlors in Medford with services at St. Joseph's Church, Medford. Requiem High mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Church Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery.

The Winchester League of Women Voters met at the lovely home of Mrs. Lewis Wadsworth, 1 Arlington street on Friday, Oct. 27, with the president, Mrs. William Cusack, in the chair. After the reports by the secretary, Mrs. John L. Turner, and the treasurer, Mrs. John S. Dickey, the names of 31 new members were read by Mrs. William Goodhue, chairman of the membership committee.

Mrs. Ralph Sparks as chairman of the department of government and its operation announced a study group being held each Wednesday morning through Nov. 8 at her house, 45 Cabot street, on "How Our Government Spends Our Money." She also announced plans for the "School of Politics" to be held Dec. 8, at Fortnightly Hall under the auspices of the Winchester League of Women Voters and the Fortnightly, the subject to be, "Education for Democracy." All those wishing tickets for any session or the luncheon may call Mrs. Ralph Sparks, Win. 1092 or Mrs. Philip Woodward, Win. 2067-M

Mrs. Malcolm Nichols as chairman of department of Government and Economic Welfare announced that a study class will be held Wednesday mornings beginning Nov. 15, and running through Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. Theodore Monroe, 37 Cabot street; the subject being "A Coordinated System of Public Welfare and Adequate Standards of Administration of the Department of Public Welfare."

The president announced that Mrs. Joshua Knowles is heading a committee to publish a classified Winchester street directory with additional features that will be of great use to Winchester citizens and will be ready for distribution in a few months. She also announced that the Lowell Institute was conducting a most interesting course of lectures with Maj. George Fielding Elloitt, author of "The Ramparts We Watch" each Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8 p. m. at the Boston Public Library which should be of much interest to league members.

Mrs. Richard Field of Weston then spoke to the members on the national expansion program and said that the aim now is to quadruple the membership, increase the funds and at the same time stimulate interest in the league. She was followed by Mrs. Marshall Pihl, chairman of the Finance Committee, who outlined plans for the Winchester league in this work. She also mentioned that Nov. 10 was League Friday, every member in every league making some new contact for that league.

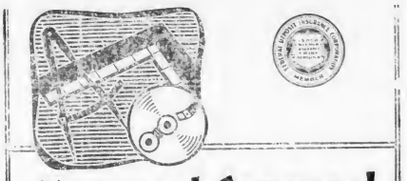

The program was then turned over to Mrs. Errol Horner, second vice president of the Winchester league and recently elected finance chairman of the Massachusetts State League, who introduced Mrs. La Rue Brown, president of the State League as speaker of the afternoon whose subject was "The Massachusetts League of Women Voters in its First Non-legislative Year." After taking us back to the days of the Woman Suffrage Campaign and telling us how our league was founded as a natural result of that campaign by some of the Suffragists themselves. Mrs. Brown brought us to the present year which is a non-legislative one for the league. During such a year the league has special duties to perform such as the following:

1. Putting finances on a better basis.
2. Taking care of their own work on League bills.
3. Civil Service. (In particular against the Veteran's preference.)
4. Protecting the rights of married women and
5. Guarding our Constitutional rights.

The League is also interested in the juvenile court of which Massachusetts has only one good one. After the Patriarca episode a commission on paroles and pardons was appointed. The League is particularly interested in paroles and pardons and the care of women offenders and of good personnel in government. Mrs. Brown closed her talk by saying that in a non-legislative year the League ought to pay special attention to support of adequate administration of the Food and Drug Act, the federal civil service and foreign affairs.

At the close of the meeting a most delightful tea was served by Mrs. William Bowe and her committee with Mrs Clifton S. Hall and Mrs. Joseph Worthen as pourers.

McCormack's Pharmacy has installed one of the latest type soda fountains and a fine new floor. Evidently "Pat's" milkshakes are building the business right up!

WYMAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The fall meeting of the Wyman School Mothers' Association was held Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 31, at 3 o'clock with the president, Mrs. John Penniman, presiding. The names of mothers who will serve as grade representatives for this year were announced as follows:

Chairman—Mrs. John Burchard
Kindergarten—Mrs. Raymond Dexter
Grade 1—Mrs. L. J. Mead, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Aitken
Grade 2—Mrs. James McGovern, Mrs. Charles H. Burnham
Grade 3—Mrs. Leon Sargent, Mrs. Raymond Thayer
Grade 4—Mrs. Maurice Garrett, Mrs. Edwin E. Chick
Grade 5—Mrs. Nicholas Brown, Mrs. Harold Bugbee
Grade 6—Mrs. Fred Eberle, Mrs. Thomas Kerwan

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Penniman introduced the speaker, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, who was formerly with the Judge Baker Foundation and is now a consultant in Parent Education connected with the Division of Child Hygiene of the Massachusetts Dept. of Health. Mrs. Abbott is also a well known Winchester resident. The subject of the lecture was "Home as a Factor in the Life of a Child."

Mrs. Abbott began by telling of the intelligent help offered to parents by the State in the guidance of their children. Childrens' greatest need in the face of present day unsettled economic conditions is a sense of security, so that they may become well-adjusted adults. Parents should respect the right of a child to be himself and should not expect perfection, but encourage him to his own best efforts.

The constructive value of family group interests and activities was emphasized, so that our home life would not be so decentralized.

Our greatest help to adolescents is to teach them a constructive philosophy of life which will enable them to master successfully the problems they will meet.

Mrs. Langley Keyes and her committee served delicious refreshments afterward, and we enjoyed a pleasant half hour with Miss Lowry and the teachers.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The club held its first open meeting last Wednesday night in its new quarters at 724 Main street, corner of Lake street. The club room will be available for gatherings during the skiing months with regular business meetings the first Wednesday of each month. Furniture for the club room is being supplied by the members. The entrance is from the ramp leading up from Main street and by a private door.

Delegates to the annual convention of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association in Albany, N. Y. next Sunday are Willard P. Grush and Fred Whitney. Many members are also planning to go to the convention.

Work parties are scheduled for every week-end at Horn Pond mountain until the ground freezes and for what work may be done thereafter. Please get in touch with Harry Bean as to the time. Members are requested to bring their own tools. There is serious talk about giving the Ineten Ski Runners of Woburn a real hearing and backing this a joint development.

"Adam and Fallen" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, November 5.

The Golden Text is: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Ephesians 5: 14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap, corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Galatians 6:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The continual contemplation of existence as material and corporeal—as beginning and ending, and with birth, decay, and dissolution as its component parts—hides the true and spiritual Life, and causes our standard to trail in the dust" (p. 550).

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

"Half a dozen of our towns already have gone over the top, but that doesn't mean there can be any letdown," says Andrew S. Seiler, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, of which our town is a member, in the drive in aid of the Annual Maintenance Appeal of The Salvation Army.

"We are still many thousand dollars short of our quota of $35,000," he continued, "and everyone knows how much The Salvation Army needs that $35,000, and many, many thousands of dollars more, in order for it to fittingly continue its work in feeding the hungry, clothing the poor, sheltering the homeless, nursing the sick and suffering, and giving help wherever it is needed, regardless of race, color or creed."

The chairman of our own Sponsoring Committee, William N. Beggs, and our community's public spirited men and women who are aiding him in getting the much needed financial ammunition to enable The Army That Never Sleeps to continue its great campaign for relief of the unfortunate and underprivileged, are laboring hard to have Winchester finish among the leaders in the big drive.

Checks still continue to come in to G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Committee, although perhaps not as fast, or for as large sums as was hoped for. Townsmen, who want to contribute, can send their checks to Mr. Cabot, Winchester Trust Company, or give them to the official collector for The Salvation Army. Beware of unauthorized collectors.

The official collector for The Salvation Army is in full uniform, wears the words "Public Relations Department" on his collar and carries credentials properly identifying him.

The Salvation Army has 23 institutions and departments in Greater Boston, which serve all communities within a 50 mile radius. It depends solely on the money given in answer to its Annual Maintenance Appeal to keep up and operate these institutions and departments for aid, help and mercy.

ARLINGTON OPTOMETRIST ADDS OPTICAL LABORATORY

Dr. Donald W. Horley announces the addition of a complete optical laboratory to his present offices at 476 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington Centre.

This addition makes Dr. Horley's office one of the most completely equipped optical offices in Greater Boston and enables local residents to have their eyes examined and glasses repaired without going to Boston.

Lenses can be duplicated without a copy of a prescription through the use of the Lensometer which measures the power of any lens, whether single vision or bifocal.

Besides his equipment and machinery Dr. Horley carries a complete stock of lenses, frames, temples, etc., so that repair work on broken glasses can rapidly be performed.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club had its first regular meeting Thursday, Oct. 26, with Miss Mary Alice Fitch presiding. Mrs. Charles R. Main was hostess for the afternoon. Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon poured. Artistically arranged delicately-colored pink roses graced not only the serving table but in unexpected places throughout the house.

Two subjects were presented by Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge, Sr., "Clematis Time in New England Gardens" and "Cultivation of Lilacs." Mrs. von Rosenvinge stressed the fact that few if any clematis have been shown since the World War at flower shows and that the New England of the 20th century has not taken the same interest in clematis as the New England of the 19th; that the genus is distinguished as much by variety as by beauty including not only 300 species but an even larger number of beautiful hybrids. A list was given by the speaker as suggestions for clematis in our gardens, which included colors of white, blue, pink, scarlet, claret-red and yellow; the kind of vine or shrub, its height, length and shape of leaves, width of flowers (½ to 3½ inches) and when in bloom.

The subject on lilacs included the history as well as the cultivation and the work done at the Arnold Arboretum where there are 320 different varieties and species of lilacs, the best lilac collection in this country and probably in the world. Mr Ernest H. Wilson, author of many books on his collection of rare plants, was quoted and his story was told of his search for rare plants and finding a shrub with hanging clusters of rosy-pink blossoms; gathered the seeds of the same year and the result being a beautiful lilac with clusters 8 to 10 inches in length. Six different species from China and two from the mountains of Korea are gifts from Mr. Wilson to the Arnold Arboretum. Mrs. von Rosenvinge closed her talk with a verse from Walt Whitman's "When Lilacs Last in the Door-Yard Bloomed."

WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The November all day meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church was held yesterday in the church parlors with a large number of members present. From 10 o'clock until noon fingers were busily employed with missionary sewing, followed by a delicious luncheon served under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Burnham. At 2 o'clock a business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Martin Swanson presiding. At this time the annual ceremony of presenting and opening the gift boxes was held, and a goodly sum for missionary work was realized. With all business for the day disposed of, the speaker, Mrs. Everett C. Herrick of Newton held the undivided attention of members for the remainder of the afternoon with her announced subject, "Chat on Bells" illustrated by her large collection from all over the world. The next meeting of the League will be held on Dec. 7, with Mrs. Earl Richardson as luncheon chairman.

TIPSY DRIVER FINED

Tuesday evening at 7:45 Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman John Hanlon took into custody at a filling station on Cambridge street the operator of a Chevrolet sedan who was booked at headquarters on charges of drunkeness and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

The motorist who gave his name as Charles N. Hammond of Park road, Lexington, was found guilty in the district court at Woburn Wednesday morning and fined $50.

GILLETTE—WHITE

There is Winchester interest in the marriage of Miss Emily White of New York City, daughter of Mrs. James Lucas of Forest street, to David B. Gillette of New York and Roxbury which took place at the Church of the Ascension in New York on Saturday, Oct. 14, with Rev. J. Brooks Hawkins officiating.

The bride, wearing a gown of deep blue wool with dubonnet accessories and a corsage of orchids, was attended by Mrs. Edward Scanlon (Christine Higgins) of Newark, N. J. Mrs. Scanlon wore a gown of autumn brown velvet with a moss green hat and a gardenia corsage. Albert T. Gillette of Yonkers, N. Y., was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Fifth Avenue hotel, Mrs. Lucas, the bride's mother, wearing black velvet with a corsage of pink roses, assisting in receiving. Upon their return from a wedding journey to Washington, D. C., Mr. Gillette and his bride will make their home in Yonkers, N. Y.

The bride has been associated with the New York office of Stone and Webster. Mr. Gillette is in business in Scarsdale and Yonkers.

O. E. S.

All Eastern Star members are cordially invited to attend the 184th Stated Meeting of Winchester Chapter No. 175 O. E. S. to be held in Masonic Apartments, Monday evening, Nov. 6, at 5 o'clock. (Note time of opening.)

At 6:30 supper will be served. Mr. William Wood, P. P., is chairman and will be assisted by the Advisory Board of Winchester Assembly, order of Rainbow for Girls. Ticket reservations for which each must be responsible may be made on or before Saturday, Nov. 4.

At 7:45 the Chapter will reconvene for the Official Inspection by Ida E. White, P. M., Deputy Grand Matron, assisted by Edith H. Bamford, P. M., Deputy Grand Marshal. Soloist T. Parker Clarke, P. P.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT BENNETT JUNIOR COLLEGE

Two Winchester girls, Miss Ann Kidder, daughter of former Selectman and Mrs. Arthur A. Kidder of Everett avenue, and Miss Marion David, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Davis of Lakeview road, figured in the recent student elections at Bennett Junior College at Millbrook, N. Y. Miss Davis was elected to the college student council, and Miss Kidder was made her class leader in social work.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The fall meeting of the Winchester College Club will be held at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 7. It will be guest night, when husbands of the members, or other guests will be welcomed; coffee will be served at 7:45. The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Norman J. Padelford, professor of international law at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, and his subject will be "Beyond the News in World Affairs." Dr. Padelford is a renowned authority on European affairs, and those who have been privileged to hear him speak feel that the College Club has a rare treat in store. Dr. Padelford has recently written an important book, "International Law and Diplomacy in the Spanish Civil Strife" which is published by Macmillan.

The Music Group, because of the continued illness of the leader, Mrs. John P. Carr, is again obliged to postpone its first meeting to November 16, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. William Morton, 38 Arlington street.

The History Group will meet on Monday, Nov. 6, at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. James MacGovern, 48 Everett avenue, for a continued discussion of "The Versailles Treaty and Its Aftermath."

The Nature Study Group, which was organized for the first time this fall under the leadership of Mrs. John Chipman, is a flourishing group of about 25 members. At the first meeting they touched upon Botany in the study of "Pines," many specimens of which Mrs. Chipman had collected throughout the country. At the next meeting to be held on Thursday, Nov. 9 at Mrs. Chipman's home, 2 Allen road, at 10 a. m., a study will be made of "Weather Maps," forecasting, clouds, proverbs and popular fallacies about the weather.

PAST NOBLE GRAND'S CLUB

The Past Noble Grand's Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, I.78, met at the home of our president, Sister Ella Good, Franklin avenue, West Medford on Monday evening, Oct. 30.

The following members arrived at an early hour in costume as follows: Jessie Ripley, pink domino; Maud Wolloff, nightie and cap; Josephine Arnold, witch; Ella Good, fancy; Ellie Sharon, little old lady; Ruth McDonald, bathing beauty; Mabel Larson, gypsy; Lillian Donaghey, scarecrow; Kathleen Cameron, ghost; Ethel Horn, Irish gentleman; Arzilia Higgins, fancy; Ruth Good, Irish Coleen; Edith Russell, fancy; Bessie Mobbs, gay nineties; and our new members who were initiated that evening, Margaret Parker, who arrived as a farmerette.

The usual business meeting was held and was presided over by our president, after which Hallowe'en games were played, we then marched to the dining room, which was prettily decorated for Hallowe'en, with a very lovely center piece representing a bountiful harvest. A very delicious supper was served by the hostess assisted by Sisters Ruth Good and Ruth McDonald. The party broke up at a late hour to meet again with Sister Ruth McDonald, 85 Park drive, Boston, on Nov. 28.

VANDALS AT PUFFERS

Sometime previous to Saturday evening vandals broke into the storeroom at the old Puffer Manufacturing Company's plant on Swanton street, now being torn down and stole a quantity of valuable metal findings and several small engines.

Access was gained to the old forge shop by entering a basement door on the westerly side of the building, after which the thieves climbed to the first floor and broke through the partition into the store-room.

In addition to doing considerable damage the thieves stripped a soda fountain of block tin, German silver and brass, as well as taking a quantity of copper tubing and the brass from a Diesel engine stored there. The police are investigating.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Scout Leader Training

Fellsland Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America is at present time in the midst of its fall training schedule, getting under way last Tuesday evening, with a tent making-sleeping bag training course, under the direction of Harry A. Moore of Winchester. This course will run for five consecutive Tuesday evenings, and will include the making of tents, sleeping bags, pack boards, and pack baskets. This training is most essential for troops and other units planning fall and winter camping programs. The course is being held at Scout headquarters, Winchester.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, the training course on "Elements of Scout Leadership—Part 2" got under way with a very fine turn-out of interested leaders. This course will cover all phases of the Scouting program, and will be held on five consecutive Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p. m. Special speakers and instructors have been engaged for each session, and the course is open to all registered Scouters and friends who may be interested. The first session was held at the Hobbs Junior High School in West Medford, but all future sessions will be held at the Hervey School in West Medford.

Beginning Nov. 15, the Council will give instructions in a course on camp cookery, which will cover four sessions, two indoor and two outdoor sessions. At this course all of the elementary and essential parts of camp cookery will be given, including barbecued chicken supper at the outdoor session and an underground cooked ham and bean supper at another session. Field Scout Executive Elliott R. Dudley of the Fellsland Council will be the instructor in this course. Due to his vast experience in cookery, it is expected that this course will be one of the highlights of the training season.

On Nov. 6, the concluding session of the Council Cubbing course will be held at the Winchester Congregational Church (instead of Legion Home), at 7:30 p. m. All parents and friends of Cubbing are invited to attend.

MSGR. FULTON J. SHEEN, LECTURES IN WINCHESTER

Describing the spirit of revolution as three sided, one side being Irrationality, another Violence and the third Atheism, Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, Professor of Theology at the Catholic University of Washington, presented an illuminating picture of Europe today, suffering under the tyranny of Dictatorships, in a lecture last Saturday night in Fortnightly Hall.

"Revolution," said Dr. Sheen, "Is revolt against Nature and the natural course of life, and is unnatural, or irrational, because of its chaotic lack of plan or program, with a tendency to jump from scheme to scheme with no forethought or consideration."

Msgr. Sheen was introduced by the Rev. A. S. Malone, Rector of St. Mary's Church. A musical program by Miss Margaret O'Connell, soprano, accompanied by Miss Mary Lenon, preceded the lecture.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The next meeting will be held at 11 a. m., Nov. 7, to sew for the bazaar. Let us all do our bit.

Those who missed the Oct. 24 meeting were unfortunate.

Mrs. Charles F. Dutch was the speaker and she told of her experiences in trying to return to America after England had declared war. She sailed on one of the boats which rescued many of the Athenia survivors and her word picture of that event was vivid.

Roll Call this year starts Armistice Day and runs through Nov. 30th and National Headquarters is calling on your Winchester Chapter to raise the largest membership in its history. Due to the ever increasing demands for service at home and abroad, the American Red Cross obligations call for at least a million new members. Your local chapter is inviting all adult members of each family to do their bit by enrolling for membership to insure success of the Roll Call. Remember the Red Cross is the world's greatest badge of courage and membership is in reach of every adult.

DEL GROSSO—VALENTE

In St. Anthony's Church, North Woburn, on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29, Miss Madeline Valente, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Valente of Main street, North Woburn, became the bride of Ernest Del Grosso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Del Grosso of Holland street.

Rev. Andrew J. White, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony at 3 o'clock and the church organist, Edson Kimball, played the wedding music. The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Mary Valente. Paul Capone of Winchester was Mr. Del. Grosso's best man, and the ushers were Frank Valente of Woburn, brother of the bride; and Anthony DeAngelis of this town.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. Del Grosso and his bride will make their home on Irving street in Winchester.

GAVE LUNCHEON FOR COMMUNITY CHAIRMAN

Mrs. John W. Pearson of this town, metropolitan vice chairman in the educational division of Greater Boston's 1940 Community Fund, gave a luncheon at her home on Tuesday for Mrs. James O. Murray, Community Chairman of Winchester, and other associates in the Mystic area.

Guests of Mrs. Pearson were Mrs. Phister Cowin, metropolitan chairman of the educational division; Mrs. Margaret M. Baldwin, metropolitan vice chairman; and ladies who will lead their communities in the forthcoming work to pave the way for Greater Boston's 1940 Community Fund Campaign. The community chairmen were: Mrs. Russell T. Hamblet of Arlington; Mrs. John Montgomery of Medford; Mrs. Charles Johnson of Somerville; and Mrs. William Wade of Woburn.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The October meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. Ida M. Belichon, 22 Governor's avenue, with Mrs. Annie M. B. Sanborn in the chair. The subject of the meeting was Social Hygiene, in connection with an address in the August 12 "Union Signal" by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the American Social Hygiene Association. The plan was to discuss the subject after Mrs. Sanborn had presented it, but it was found that there was no time left for discussion. The conversation on the liquor question in general and personal incidents relating to it was so animated that the afternoon passed quickly. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her daughter. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

GORDON—BURNS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns of Rangely announce the marriage of Mrs. Burns' daughter, Janet, to Mr. Charles Gordon of New York. The wedding took place in July in Las Vegas, Nev.

Mrs. Gordon attended the Bishop Lee School and has been studying voice in New York for the past two years. Mr. Gordon was graduated from the University of Southern California. They will make their home at 231 East 45th street, New York after Nov. 15.

CORRECTION

An error occurred in reporting the date of the annual bazaar of the Women's Auxiliary of the Boston M. S. P. C. A. in a recent issue of the Star. The bazaar will be held at the Society Headquarters, 180 Longwood avenue, Boston, on Wednesday, Nov. 8.

CAN PEACE GROW AMID THE RED STORM OF WAR?

Sunday morning, Nov. 5, at the 11 o'clock service the congregation at the Church of the Epiphany will hear a man whose chosen life work makes strong his desire for peace, and whose life experience has made great his knowledge of war. The sermon will be by a visiting priest of the Church, the Rev. Ernest H. Forster of Nanking, China.

A number of his hearers will be men who shared in his first experience of war. He was a first lieutenant in the military intelligence service of the United States in the World War, and Epiphany has its full quota of men who were in their country's forces 21 years ago. His second experience has been in the country to which he went as a layman, a teacher, after his days in uniform were over, and where he later was ordained and undertook mission work.

When the red storm of war burst over his city of Nanking, he and Mrs. Forster remained. On their first wedding anniversary they were nursing wounded Chinese in the Nanking railway station when all government officials and leaders like the heads of banks and of schools had fled, the representatives of the Church stayed on duty. Mr. Forster was one of the very few Americans who remained through the sack of Nanking.

It was not from bravado that these Christians stayed. It was from conviction that even while war rages the seeds of peace can and must be sown and nurtured. Peace, the art of living together, will come out of the hearts of men, not out of the mouths of the guns. So those who teach and live the lives of peace-makers find that not even war ends or blocks their work.

Winchester has a special interest in Mr. Forster, since he comes from the Missionary District of Shanghai whose Bishop is the Rt. Rev. William Payne Roberts, whose wife, Dorothy Mills Roberts, was a former resident of this town.

Another bond of interest is that Mrs. Forster, formerly Clarissa Townsend, and president of the Massachusetts Branch of the Girls' Friendly Society, filled speaking engagements in the Epiphany parish, before her marriage.

Mr. Forster's coming is very timely. He will help our thought, speaking on a Sunday just before Armistice Day, on the questions that we face.

In addition to the celebration of Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. the Church of the Epiphany will be open throughout Saturday, Armistice Day, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. for those who wish to come in for quiet individual prayer and thought.

GEORGE HERMAN SOMES

George Herman Somes, retired Boston wholesale grocer who died Sunday at his home, 18 Evans road, Brookline, was the father of David A. Somes of Glen road.

The late Mr. Somes, who was 95 years old, was for more than 60 years in business in Eoston. He was born in Gloucester, and in 1862 joined the wholesale grocery firm of Claflin, Saville & Co., in Boston, becoming a partner in 1870. On Jan. 1, 1877, the firm became Saville, Somes & Co., and continued a widely known business house until Jan. 1, 1923, when the business was sold.

Mr. Somes retired at that time. He had made his home in Brookline for nearly half a century. Besides his son in Winchester, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Louise (Cummings) Somes, and a daughter, Miss Mary D. Somes of Brookline.

Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, conducted the funeral services which were held Tuesday afternoon at the Bigelow Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

AWARDED MEDAL

Word has been received at the Executive offices of H. P. Hood & Sons that one of their men has been cited for a Pasteur Medal Award for exceptional service within the Milk Industry. Notification of this citation was in the form of a telegram from Charles Speaks of the Milk Industry Foundation now attending the International Convention of Milk and Ice Cream Dealers at San Francisco where announcement of the awards was made.

Richard Connors of 17 Lincoln street, Charlestown, has been awarded a bronze Pasteur Medal for his heroic act performed on Feb. 13th when he rescued a woman from drowning after she had plunged from a four-foot seawall into the sluiceway of the Charles River Dam shortly after she had been reported missing by her husband who had taken her from the Mattapan State Hospital for the day. The woman was seen by a taxi driver as she struck the water and his shouts for help were heard by Mr. Connors, who fully clothed leaped into the sluiceway, clasped the woman to him and pulled her to shore. She was given first aid by the Metropolitan Police and both rescued and rescuer were taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital for treatment. Police state that the prompt action of Mr. Connors saved the life of the woman.

Nomination of Mr. Connors to the Milk Industry Foundation for a Pasteur Medal award was made by Weston B. Haskell, Director of Public Relations of the Company.

Public presentation of the medal will take place upon the return of Mr. Harvey P. Hood, 2nd, president of the Company from the West Coast.

MISS EILEEN O'SULLIVAN

Miss Eileen O'Sullivan, 17 year old daughter of Eugene and Leona (Noonan) O'Sullivan of Malden, died Monday, Oct. 30, in the Carney Hospital, Boston, after a short illness.

Miss O'Sullivan was born in Malden and was a member of the senior class at the Malden High School. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, Stephen A. and Eugene O'Sullivan, both of Malden. Her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Noonan, and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna O'Sullivan, are residents of Winchester, the last named having been before her retirement for many years a member of the teaching staff at the Wadleigh School.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in the Sacred Heart Church, Malden. The entire senior Class of Malden High School attended the mass and six members of the class served as bearers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Attractive decorations of black and orange streamers, lanterns, witches, black cats and pumpkins provided an appropriate setting for the party and a further festive note was added by the gay costumes worn by the guests.

Miss McLaughlin was attired as Bo-Peep and Miss Pridham as a witch. Guests were costumed as follows: Marie Fitzpatrick, Spanish man; Barbara Kenton, Snow White; Barbara Foley, Gypsy; Ruth Kerrigan, Military leader; Carolyn McLaughlin, a Witch; Eleanor Donovan, a Gypsy; Mary Dunbury, Pilgrim; Elsie Sylvester, Aunt Jemima; Margaret Joyce, Chinese; Marie O'Leary, European Peasant; Catherine Foley, Hawaiian; and Janet MacDonald, Witch.

LINCOLN SCHOOL NEWS

The entire program was an outgrowth of the study of early pioneer days and the opening up of the West. The class, under Miss McCarron's guidance, presented original stories and paintings depicting pioneer life, overland routes to the west, and the beginning of trade. A large map made by the class was well explained by Anna Gambino who traced cross country routes and river sources with ease and assurance. Two miniature covered wagons made by Joseph Giacalone and Mario Buzzotta were on display.

Individual and cooperative group work proved that the pupils were all interested in the subject, and by working together gained a splendid mastery.

PRESIDENT OF SENATE TO SPEAK

The Men's Club of the Winchester Unitarian Church is fortunate to be able to announce that the Hon. Joseph R. Cotton of Lexington, president of the Massachusetts State Senate, will be guest speaker at its meeting, Friday evening, Nov. 17. Supper will be served at 6:30 and the program of the evening will begin at about 7:45.

President Cotton has served in the Massachusetts Senate since 1927 and previously had served in the House of Representatives, and as Selectman and Moderator of Lexington. He is one of the leaders in our state and no one is more qualified than he to speak as he will on "The Issues Confronting Our State Government Today." Following his remarks, questions from the floor will be in order.

A cordial invitation to attend both the supper and the meeting is extended to all men in Winchester. A telephone call to William B. Wood, Win. 1506-M, will reserve a place at table. Supper 65c. The club earnestly requests a large response to this invitation to assure an audience worthy of the speaker.

LEGION TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Winchester Post 97, American Legion, will pay tribute to its dead "buddies" on Armistice Day forenoon with the traditional exercises at the War Memorial commencing at 11 o'clock. Post members with their colors and guard will march to the memorial on the high school grounds from the Post Headquarters. Comdr. Marshall Symmes will be in charge of the detail and conduct the exercises, which the public is urged to attend.

The Post's annual pre-Armistice Day banquet was held at the Post Headquarters last evening when a catered turkey supper was served. Non Legion veterans of the town were guests of the Post at that time.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW ASSEMBLY

The next regular meeting of the Winchester Assembly Order of Rainbow for Girls, will be held on Friday, Nov. 10, at 8:30 p. m., in the Masonic Hall, Mt. Vernon street, Winchester. Initiation of candidates. Please note change of time.

LIBRARIAN RETIRES

Miss Cora A. Quimby Ends 58 Years of Service

Miss Cora A. Quimby, who has been connected with the Winchester Public Library for nearly 58 years and as librarian for over 50 years, will retire at her request on Jan. 1, 1940. In accepting her resignation the Board of Trustees passed the following resolution:

VOTED: That the Trustees accept the resignation of Miss Cora A. Quimby as Librarian of the Winchester Public Library, effective Jan. 1, 1940.

The Trustees feel that her long service of 58 years, unparalleled, we believe, in library service, entitles her to retire with freedom from care and with the opportunity to enjoy those interests which her devotion to the Library has perhaps made impossible.

We want to record our sincere belief that at no time has she shown greater interest and enthusiasm in her work than she is showing today.

As a token of the esteem in which she is held by the Trustees and, we are sure, by all the citizens of Winchester, we hereby appoint her Librarian Emeritus, a position which will enable her to continue her association with other members of her profession and which carries with it the highest of honors without burdensome duties. May she live long to enjoy her leisure which she has so richly earned. We wish her to feel that she carries with her the respect and affection of every member of the Board.

The Board of Trustees has elected as librarian, to succeed Miss Quimby, Miss Corinne Mead, at present librarian at the East Branch of the Watertown Mass.) Free Public Library.

Covering that double ringer was evidently too much for the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association president, Royal P. Teele. In the matches last week-end he and no less a partner than "Wild Willie" McLaughlin lost two out of three games to "Bob" Walsh and the association secretary, after leading in the deciding game, 21 to 9.

EXCELLENT EXHIBITION OF ETCHINGS

Lovers of dry point have had an unusual opportunity to indulge their picture preference in the excellent collection of etchings, loaned by Mr. Charles Hadley Watkins of Ridgefield road and exhibited at the Library Art Gallery under the auspices of the Winchester Art Association. Mr. Watkins has been collecting etchings for some years and last summer he acquired a fine collection, enabling him to show at the library pictures representative of the better schools of craftsmen from 1500 to the present day. It is unfortunate that so fine a collection could be shown for so short a time, the exhibition coming down today, for a large group of etchings was hung and new enrun could be found with each round of the gallery.

There is a preciseness to etchings that is much less spectacular than paintings where the artist can often compensate with color for imperfection in drawing and design. Etching lends itself admirably to detail and pictures of an architectural nature, splendid examples of both being in the Watkins collection. Harvard Hall by the American contemporary artist Samuel Chamberlain is a masterpiece of detail, showing a lofty panelled room lighted by small-paned windows with a fireplace in the background and rows of snowy covered tables surrounded by arm chairs. Architectural perfection is achieved by the Frenchman, Charles Meryon (1821-68) in La Petite Pomp, showing a small arched bridge in front of a long many windowed block of buildings surmounted by the spires of a cathedral.

Among the many portraits shown are three by William Strang, an Englishman (1859-1921); Rudyard Kipling, an interesting study, and Goulding, and Goulding's Mother. The last named is etched with great sharpness and clarity. The Russian contemporary William Auerbach-Levy's Timothy Cole depicts admirably the strength and determination that is found in some men past their physical prime. An abundance of atmosphere is apparent in the three Navajo Indian studies by the American contemporary etcher, Cadwalader Washburn.

There is humor in The Good Neighbors by the French artist Felix Buhot (1847-1898), showing an old man and woman under an umbrella, accompanied by a dog, approching a tall gabled house through a garden in the rain. Mourning by the contemporary Frenchman, Jacques Beurdely, a study of graceful trees in a field of tall grasses with vague buildings in the background, is etched with great delicacy.

Lovers of water scenes will have their attention attracted by the English contemporary etcher, W. H. Wyllie's study of the Thames River, showing long barges on the water with massive piles of buildings showing dimly through the mist and reek of the river. J. Andre Smith, an American contemporary, has been very successful in achieving an air of brooding calmness in his Midnight Marshes, an unusual etching.

There is a wealth of detail and action in the biblical Christ Cleansing the Temple by the Dutchman, Rembrandt van Ryn (1607-1669); and a most unusual interpretation of the Prodigal Son is the line engravine study by the German Albrecht Durer (1471-1528).

E. Lumsden's etching of The City Wall, a Chinese study, has great delicacy, and there is much homely detail in Le Poissonnerie (fish shop) by the American contemporary Arthur Heintelman. The buxom fishwife, standing with arms akimbo before her stall talking with a man seated upon a low stool is to the life.

There is a very real suggestion of chill and blustering wind in Winter Blast on Stourbridge Canal by the English contemporary, Frank Short. Another Englishman E. Herbert Whydale, has admirably portrayed action in The Load, showing a boy running at the head of two horses hauling a heavily laden two wheel cart up a steep slope.

The American A. W. Blum in his Mungo Beach and the English E. Lumsden in the Indian study, Le Jumma Agra, show in striking fashion how much the master etcher can portray with a very few lines.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

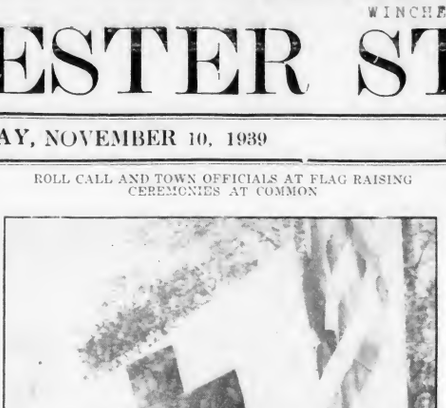

Herbert E. Stone, 3 Edgehill road, was drawn to serve as traverse juror at the first session of the Superior Criminal Court at Cambridge, to report Dec. 4 for duty.

The Board has received a copy of the resolutions spread upon the records of the Woburn City Council thanking the Town of Winchester for its co-operation and the courtesy of the Park Department in extending the use of some playgrounds to Woburn children.

MR. REED WILL PREACH

Next Sunday, Nov. 12, will be Armistice Sunday in the Winchester Unitarian Church. Mr. Reed will preach the sermon for the day, "Where Men and Nations Meet." The service is at 10:55, and the public is invited.

ROLL CALL AND TOWN OFFICIALS AT FLAG RAISING CEREMONIES AT COMMON

COMMUNITY RELIEF COMMITTEE ORGANIZES

At a recent meeting of representatives of the various town agencies engaged in local welfare work the Winchester Community Relief Committee organized for the current year with George T. Davidson, chairman of the Park Board, as chairman; Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn, treasurer; and Miss Nellie M. Sullivan of the Board of Public Welfare, secretary.

The purpose of the committee is to prevent duplication of assistance at Thanksgiving and Christmas in some of the town's less fortunate homes while others, equally deserving, get none.

The committee, in effect, acts as a clearing house for names of those in need of help or cheer during the holiday season and will be glad to be informed of any who should be remembered this coming Thanksgiving. It is also appealing to the citizens of the town who possibly can do so to send in donations of money, food, fuel, etc., as soon as possible. These donations will be called for if any of the above officers is notified.

Mr. Davidson's telephone number is Win. 1511-W; Mrs. Sanborn's, Win. 0420; and Miss Sullivan's, Win. 0095.

WINCHESTER AT WELLESLEY

Winchester High School's football team, smarting under the 6 to 0 defeat administered by Belmont High last week, will journey to Wellesley tomorrow afternoon determined to get back into the win column at the expense of unbeaten, untied Wellesley High School.

On paper this seems quite an assignment, but Wellesley has built its reputation against none too potent teams so that Winchester's experience against schools like Arlington, Marblehead, Stoneham Punchard and Belmont may stand it in good stead against the college towners.

Wellesley's latest victory was a 52 to 6 win over Concord, these six points being the first scored on Winchester's Saturday opponents this fall. If Concord can score on Wellesley, Winchester surely should, but whether the locals can prevent Wellesley from scoring is something else again.

Wellesley's offense is said to be built around Frost, a former Beverly boy, who is reputed to be good. The locals are expected to spring some new offensive tricks tomorrow and are conceding Wellesley not a thing.

TAX COMMISSIONER, HENRY F LONG, TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

The fact that Tax Commissioner, Henry F. Long, is to speak before the Men's Club at the First Congregational Church on next Thursday evening, Nov. 16, at 8 p. m. has aroused a great deal of interest among those in Winchester who are interested in the theory of taxation.

Mr. Long's subject, "The Tax Base in Massachusetts" is sufficiently broad to enable him to discuss the nature of all the various taxes imposed in Massachusetts as well as the final impact of those taxes upon the citizen of this state.

The Board of Selectmen, the Board of Assessors and the members of the Town Finance Committee have been invited to intend, and all men belonging to the Winchester Taxpayers' Association are hereby extended a similar invitation.

POST OFFICE HOLIDAY NOTICE

On Armistice Day, Saturday, Nov. 11, there will be no delivery of mail, excepting special delivery matter.

The lobby of the post office will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 a. m. to permit box-holders access to their post office boxes, but there will be no window service of any kind.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Seven members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 9, one of whom has already made up for his absence.

President Nick announced today that the club has registered two 100 per cent meetings in succession. Shall we make it three?

The October revision of the club roster was placed in the hands of our members today. This edition indicates recent changes in the list of officers and committees. The attention of members is called to the list on the final pages of the roster which shows the time and place of meeting of a number of nearby clubs. Please keep this handy for consultation if you have been or are to be absent from the home meeting.

We learn that the series of lectures sponsored by five of our District clubs in the interests of the Institute of International Understanding were well received and constituted a real service in extending acquaintance with the problems and attitudes of foreign peoples. It is regrettable that the attendance was not larger. We believe that this enterprise should be repeated at some future season and that the general public should be extensively familiarized with its objects and accomplishments.

At the request of the Commander of Winchester Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the club listened today to an address by Miss Anderson, who described for us the outline of an outdoor spectacle and musical comedy which is proposed for exhibition in this town at an early date.

The chief address at this meeting was delivered by the club's first president, George T. Davidson. George related many pleasing anecdotes of the early days of the club and told of services promoted in those times which were known as club members by only about one third of our present membership. He made an earnest plea for more intensive activity on the part of individual club members, declaring that in this way alone could we achieve the Rotarian ideals of the dignifying of our occupations and of service to the community, thereby justifying our existence as a Rotary Club. George's talk found members very responsive to his suggestions and he received many congratulations. Our present enthusiasms encourage us to look forward to a year of accomplishment.

Question and answer for the day: What nature of activities are best suited for Rotary Clubs?

Those in which all members can take part.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Marlene Garbick, 8 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Garbick of 66 Sylvester avenue, was bruised about the right leg yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when she was struck while crossing Mt. Vernon street in front of the fire station by a beach wagon, owned by Peter D. Carlo of 50 Harvard street and driven by Paul J. Marchesi of 6 Holland street. Marchesi told the police the little girl ran from between parked cars into the path of the machine. She was taken into the fire station by Fireman John J. O'Melia and then taken home in Patrol Car 51 by Officer John J. Dolan.

MRS. EMMA CHARLOTTE ANDERSON

Mrs. Emma Charlotte Anderson, wife of Andrew Anderson, died Wednesday night, Nov. 8, at her home, 348 Washington street, following a week's illness.

Mrs. Anderson was born April 7, 1860, in Lerdala, Westergotland, Sweden. She had been for half a century a resident of Winchester, being chiefly concerned with the management of her home and the care of her family.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Emma A. Barkman of Boston and Mrs. Anna A. Hakanson of this town; a son, Andrew F. Anderson of Winchester; and four grandchildren, Warren Hakanson of Kingport, Tenn., Richard A. Hakanson of Winchester and Barbara and Phyllis Anderson both of this town.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Kelley & Hawes Chapel by Mr. Henry O. Glidden, reader at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MISS POLAND SHOWERED

Miss Margery Anne Poland was the guest of honor on Wednesday evening at a luncheon shower at the home of her cousin, Miss Mara McDonald of Hill street. Those present included the relatives and a few intimate friends of Miss Poland, who was the recipient of a gift of silver.

Miss Poland, a graduate of Winchester, Faulkner and Bellevue Hospitals, will be married in St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, on Saturday, Nov. 25, to Mr. Joseph Eugene Flaherty of Winchester.

Miss Mara McDonald, the luncheon hostess, is to be the bridesmaid at the coming wedding.

Red Cross 1939 Roll Call

The American Red Cross this year is confronted with tremendously increased responsibilities and, in particular, their facilities are much in demand as a result of the present European War. Consequently, the American Red Cross is redoubling its appeal to the people of America for their support in the problem of fighting human suffering.

The unsurpassed service in the alleviation of human suffering given by the Red Cross, both in our own country and abroad, during the past year has obviously created a firm bond between the people and the Red Cross unit. This service has not only been extended to stamp out misery in the form of disease and the ever present threat of accidental death but has been futher burdened by the aid necessary to innocent non-combatants of the war.

Since it is obvious that the demands made upon the Red Cross continue to increase in recent years it should not be difficult for us to fully understand the necessity of a great increase in membership. The ability of this great organization to function is directly proportionate to the support given it by the public, therefore, the definite need of your membership.

The Red Cross appeal for your support this year will go into definite action on Nov. 11th to the 30th. In this respect, it is with gratitude we recognize that our community has never in the past failed to respond enthusiastically to the Red Cross call for assistance and, therefore, I am confident that we shall be able to take pride in the enrollment of our share of the million or more members of this great organization.

As chairman of the board of selectmen of the Town of Winchester I designate the period between Nov. 11th to the 30th inclusive as the occasion when all members will have an opportunity to renew their affiliation, and to afford those not heretofore enrolled an opportunity to contribute their share to help the Red Cross help others.

Richard W. MacAdams,
Chairman, Board of Selectmen

MISS RYAN NEWSCOPE CONTEST WINNER

Miss Jean Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Joseph Ryan of Cliff street, was the first prize winner in the recently concluded Newscope Tease Contest sponsored by the Boston Transcript. Contestants were obliged to go through papers assiduously for six days to find the answers to four daily questions.

Several were successful in finding the answers and the prizes had to be awarded on the basis of accuracy in reporting the answers and neatness.

Miss Ryan's first prize was $100. She is a graduate of Winchester High School and of Smith College, and is at present associated as secretary with a Cambridge school. It is said that feminine persistence, specialization in Latin at college, a penchant for detective literature and her secretarial ability to anticipate her boss's every whim were contributing factors to her success.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Leonard W. Cronkhite, Moderator of the New England Town Meeting of the Air, will speak on "International Affairs" at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly on Monday. A splendid speaker, with a thorough knowledge of his subject, Mr. Cronkhite's appearance is timely, and keenly anticipated by those who yearn to know where America stands today, and will be standing tomorrow, in the universal crises that exists.

Don't forget the Eighth District Conference, to be held in Reading on Friday, Nov. 24, with the Reading Women's Club as hostess. There is to be a splendid program, of interest to all. Save the date—more publicity later.

No publicity is needed regarding the luncheon bridge on Wednesday. Every available ticket has been sold, so if you have not already secured yours there is just no hope for you. The slightly smaller area of the Masonic quarters has limited the table allotment to 40, all of which have gone long since. Sorry, but I warned you!

JOHN McNALLY

John McNally, who died Saturday morning, Nov. 4, after a long illness, was a retired letter carrier and the first exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks. His home was for many years at 15 Eaton street.

Mr. McNally was 72 years old. He was born in Lawrence and spent his youth in that city, coming to Winchester 50 years ago. As a young man he was employed in the Eastern Market in Boston, then situated near the site of the old Boston & Lowell depot.

Coming to Winchester Mr. McNally was appointed a letter carrier at the Winchester Postoffice July 1, 1893. After 37 years' service, most of which was spent on the so-called east side hill district route, he retired July 31, 1930. He was among those active in getting the Elks' charter for Winchester, was a charter member of Winchester Lodge, 1445, and its first exalted ruler in 1922-23. He was also a former trustee of the Cooperative Bank in Woburn, and was widely known in that city as well as by citizens in all walks of life in Winchester.

On April 8, 1891, in St. Mary's Church, Mr. McNally married Anna L. Lafleur of this town who died Sept. 15. Surviving are two sons, Francis X. McNally of Needham and Leo V. McNally of Richmond, Va.

The Elks' funeral ritual was exemplified Sunday evening at the home of Mr. McNally's son at 34 Wittier street, Needham, by the officers of Winchester Lodge with Exalted Ruler John J. Doherty presiding. The funeral was held from his son's home Monday morning with solemn requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church in this town.

Rev. Fr. Francis Sullivan was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney, subdeacon. Bearers were four grandsons of the deceased, Joseph and Daniel McNally of Winchester and John and Donald McNally of Needham. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Sullivan.

GEORGE WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER

The November meeting of the Chapter will be held in the assembly hall of the George Washington School on Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 2:15. There will be a brief business meeting followed by an old fashioned program. Mrs. Thomas Edwards is leading a group of mothers in a program of old time songs and Mrs. Arnold Chandler, chairman of dramatics is presenting another group in a play, "To My Dear Nieces" by Carolyn Gilpatric, one of our own townspeople. The social committee will serve refreshments in helping with the afternoon.

In the rear of the hall there will be an attractive food sale arranged for by the ways and means committee where one may find a most tempting and appetizing array of good things.

All mothers are urged to come and enjoy a most interesting program. Small children will be taken care of in the nursery.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The meeting was opened by the new president, Mr. Marshall W. Symmes, who cordially welcomed an unusually large number of members and guests. During the business meeting Mr. Symmes announced that Rev. Arthur Winn had been appointed to fill the vacancy on the Board of Directors left vacant by the death of Mr. Jonas A. Laraway.

Miss Quimby for the gifts committee had on display a number of gifts received since the April meeting, including several old books from Miss Minna B. Noyes, Miss Eva M. Palmer and the estate of Mrs. Fanny Symmes; maps and copies of articles in the "Winchester Star" on "Gimi Field and the New Freight Yard" by Hon. Lewis Parkhurst; a framed photograph of the Judkins estate showing house and grounds, now owned by St. Mary's parish, taken many years ago; and several small articles including a charcoal flat iron and open top thimble, which proved very interesting to many of the members.

Mr. Snow's subject was "The Islands of Boston Harbor, Their History and Romance, 1624-1936." He illustrated his talk first with lantern slides and later with colored moving pictures. He first showed on the screen a map of the harbor, pointing out the location of many of the islands. The first picture shown was that of Boston Light, which Mr. Snow said was the oldest lighthouse on the American continent, the first light being placed there on Sept. 14, 1716. He also showed on the screen and gave the history of Graves Light and Minot's Light. He touched on the history of many of the islands, including Apple Island, Governor's Island, Castle Island, Calf Island, Lovell's Island, Grape Island and Brewster's Island. Of particular interest were the pictures of Fort Warren and the legend of the Lady in Black connected with that island. Mr. Snow knew his subject thoroughly, and this was one of the most interesting lectures given before the society.

SISTER CLARA AGNES

Sister Clara Agnes of the Order of St. Joseph's, former superior at St. Mary's Convent in Winchester, died Friday, Nov. 3, at Betheny Convent in Framingham after a long period of failing health.

Sister Clara Agnes was born Sarah Perley July 24, 1859, in West Newbury. She entered the novitiate of St. Joseph's in Framingham at the age of 20 and on March 31, 1939, observed her 60th anniversary as a nun.

She was for many years a mother superior, serving at St. Paul's in Cambridge, St. John's, Quincy; and at the Sacred Heart Parish in Stoughton. She served at St. Mary's during the pastorate of the late Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, making many friends among local parishioners. There are no immediate survivors.

High mass was celebrated Monday morning at the Betheny Chapel in Framingham. Rev. Fr. George Quigley of St. Philip's Church, Boston, a former curate at St. Mary's was seated in the sanctuary and Dr. Richard W. Sheehy of this town was one of the pallbearers. Interment was in St. Stephen's Cemetery, Framingham.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mystic School Mothers' Association held its fourth grade tea on Wednesday, Nov. 1 at the home of Mrs. R. H. B Smith on Lawson road. In spite of the rainy day about 20 attended and reported it as a very successful and lovely occasion. The fifth grade tea will be held Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Kumler on Main street. A general meeting of the Association is called for Friday, Nov. 10 at 10 o'clock in the auditorium of the Mystic School.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The November board meetinng of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held on Friday, Nov. 3 at the home of the president, Mrs. Adelaide Homer with the following members present: Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Miss Adelaide Homer, Mrs. Erol Horner, Mrs. Ralph Jope, Mrs. Clarence McDavitt, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. John Pearson, Mrs. Gardner Pond, Mrs. Thomas Righter, Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. Henry Spencer, Mrs. Jameson Slocum and Mrs. Charles Young.

Mrs. O'Leary, superior of the staff, reported 261 visits made during the month with a total of 2024 visits since April 1. She also reported that Mrs. Horner and her committee had assembled two obstetrical packages according to specifications. These packages are sterilized at the hospital and kept there. The doctor notifies the hospital when they are needed. After being used they are returned to the hospital to be sterlized. Another interesting item in Mrs. O'Leary's report was the inspection and health supervision of the Winchester Nursery School and the West-Side Nursery School.

Several members of the board attended the meetng of the M. O. P. H. N. at the Hotel Statler on Oct. 31, and brought interesting reports of the different conferences they attended.

Mrs. McDavitt gave a brief review of "Community Health" by Dr. Hiscock and Mrs. Nichols reviewed "Introduction to Public Health" by Dr. Harry Mustard. These two books were purchased by the association to be added to the Reference Library to be kept at the Health Centre and are available to the staff and to the board members.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The American Legion Auxiliary to Post 97 held its first meeting this year last Monday evening in the Legion headquarters, under the direction of the new president, Mrs. Mary E. Gilbody.

The meeting was largely attended which was very encouraging for the new president and other officers. Much business was transacted. Many new members were initiated and plans made for another class at the first meeting in December.

New committees for the year were appointed and plans discusssed to have the second meeting in each month, a "social" if possible.

Plans were also settled for a Bridge Party to be held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 22 at 2 o'clock at the home of our president, Mrs. Gilbody, 77 Washington street. All members are urged to come and bring one or more friends with them.

ILLUSTRATED TALK

"Jewelry and leather craft" will be the subject of Miss Paula Mountain's illustrated talk at the next meeting of the Winchester Fortnightly Juniors, held at the home of Miss Aline Bursley, 290 Main street, Winchester, Monday evening, Nov. 13. New members will be formally welcomed at this time.

BELMONT WON FROM WINCHESTER

Pass in Closing Minutes Brought 6—0 Score

An aggressive, hard charging football team from Belmont High School gave Winchester its first Middlesex League defeat since 1936 last Saturday afternoon when it won from the local eleven in a hard fought game on the Shore road athletic field, 6—0.

A comparatively small crowd, especially for a Winchester-Belmont championship game, saw the battle which was pretty much decided right on the rushline where the alert visiting forwards outplayed the local boys completely. Behind the line the difference was not so marked, but the Belmont backs ran harder than the Winchester ball-carriers and got going a lot faster.

The visitors varied their offense more than Winchester and had the better passing game while Arico's ability to catch punts and run them back permitted Belmont to gain on most exchanges of kicks.

Belmont bottled up Galuffo's spinner play completely and refused to be fooled by the locals' reverses and laterals. Time and again these running plays were stopped on the scrimmage line, yet the locals kept pegging away on the ground, throwing only seven passes all afternoon, and completing but one of them.

Belmont made eight first downs to two for Winchester, rushing for 138 yards to 50 for the locals. The visitors completed five of 11 passes for 55 yards, including their touchdown, while Winchester made one of seven aerials good for 15 yards on the final play of the first half. Belmont fumbled three times, recovering twice, and lost five yards in the final moments of play for stalling. Winchester recovered its only fumble and lost 10 yards in penalties, once for offside and once for back in motion.

The first half was pretty much an even thing, each team making two first downs and Belmont making 60 yards by rushing to Winchester's 21½. A fumbled punt and a blocked kick kept the ball in the visitors' territory much of that time.

Belmont had Winchester back on its heels soon after the opening whistle when Eagan's punt went out of bounds on the one yard line, but Marabella's boot from the end zone was muffed by Arico and recovered by Winchester on its 43 yard line.

Here Tracy and Galuffo ground out a first down, but the locals had to kick and Arico ran back Marabella's punt to his 23 yard line. Burns and Eagan hit the line for a first down on the 46, but a fumble lost four yards and Eagan's kick was blocked by the whole Winchester line, the ball being recovered by Marabella on the Belmont 27.

This was Winchester's chance, but McEwen failed to gain in two rushes and two tries at the line by Galuffo left the ball a yard short of a first down. Winchester contended that it had but three downs and a lengthy argument ensued in which the coaches of both teams, players and officials were involved, the officials seeming very uncertain which way to call it.

The ball was finally given to Belmont, and neither team was able to go anywhere during the remainder of the first half, though the locals completed a Provinzano to Tracy pass for 15 yards and a first down on the Belmont 39 as the whistle blew.

Marabella took the second half kickoff and aided by some good blocking got past the entire Belmont team into the clear, being hauled down from behind on the 50 yard line by two Belmont boys.

Winchester was stopped cold and Marabella kicked to the Belmont 20. An exchange of kicks gave Belmont the ball at its 30, and a long pass from Eagan to Burke gave the visitors a first down at Winchester's 46. Walsh and Burns made a first down at Winchester's 34, but after a two yard gain, Galuffo got Carlton for a 10 yard loss and Arico on a shovel pass from Eagan got back only seven.

Here Belmont went haywire, and thinking they had only a yard to go for first down, instead of 11 yards, sent Eagan into the line. Eagan made two yards off tackle, but there were still nine to go and Winchester took the ball on downs at its 33.

Once again the locals had to kick and Marabella's short boot was returned by Burns to the Belmont 40 as the final quarter opened.

The visitors made a first down at midfield, and Arico went to within a foot of another first down. Eagan, however, was smeared for a loss on a pass play, and on another pass play, tripped and fell while fading back, the ball being downed on the Belmont 45. Eagan kicked to the Winchester 10, Belmont stopping the locals dead on three running plays.

Marabella got off a nice boot to midfield, and ths time Belmont went to town. Arico and Eagan made it first down on the Winchester 38. An Eagan to Burke pass was good for four yards the Belmont end making a corking catch of a difficult ball to hold. Walsh was smeared for a yard loss on a try at end and another pass was grounded.

On fourth down Eagan dropped back to kick, but instead handed the ball to Arico on a modification of the old statue of liberty, the mighty mite galloping past the surprised Winchester defense to a first down at the 24.

Arico cut back for three and then took a flat pass from Eagan for a first down at the local 10. Once again Eagan faded back and shot off a pass far across the field to the left, to Burke, who had gotten past the Winchester wingback. Burke took the pass over his shoulder about three yards out and though tackled, fell across the line for the all important touchdown. Eagans attempt to pass for the extra point was batted down.

Less than two minutes remained to play, and when Provinzano fumbled the Belmont kickoff with the visitors recovering at the locals 15 it was all over. Following is the summary:

Notes

How did Maynard hold Belmont to a scoreless tie? That question was on the lips of many as they left the Shore road field last Saturday. The Red and Blue looked three or four touchdowns better than the Orange.

That Belmont line was as good as any the locals have faced this year. Burke and Whiting were good ends, McLean an outstanding tackle and the sturdy red-headed West, a capable guard. Arico was the standout in the backfield, though Mr. Eagan was a pretty handy man, kicking and passing and bucking well enough.

"Tony" DeTeso and Peter Galuffo, Winchester's co-captains were standouts for the locals. Galuffo's spinner didn't go anywhere but "Ruggedl" played a fine defensive game. DeTeso, also, played strongly on the defense, tackling sharply and diagnosing the Belmont plays well.

Don't blame the boys too much for being fooled on that modified statue of liberty play. It was well done by Eagan and Arico, the former even facing slightly sideways to create the impression he was going to angle a kick for the sidelines. Better, more experienced players than the locals have been "sucked in" on this ancient play, which looks great when it goes!

Arico was a real mighty mite alright, but hardly as good as his older brother Ted, who thrilled the big crowd in a losing cause two years ago. The younger Arico hasn't his older brother's speed, but is a real gamester and a big asset to his team.

Belmont brought a really good student band to the game, led by a slip of a drum-majorette in French blue trousers and gold silk shirt. The girlie twirled two spangled batons in excellent fashion while the band gave a spirited version of the "Beer Barrel Polka."

For once the Winchester student body gave the band a good reception, standing and clapping, if a bit faintly, when the musicians formed a "W" in front of the local stands and giving them a real hand when they finished "the barrel." The Belmont boys and girls played well and had a good trumpet section, as well as some good trombones. Their capes made the youngsters look a bit funny, but there was nothing funny about their playing. They were good!

Too bad Marabella hadn't a bit more speed on that second half kickoff. He was really in the clear and headed for pay dirt when he was hauled down from behind.

Winchester hadn't lost to Belmont until this year since 1934. Previous to Saturday's defeat the locals hadn't lost a Middlesex League contest since 1936 when Maynard won, 13—6, in a bruising battle at Maynard. Last year the locals were tied by the burly Maynard eleven, but in '37 were undefeated in league competition, making Saturday's loss the first in a league game Coach Lauer has experienced since coming to Winchester.

"Tony" DeTeso wasn't at all happy about coming out at the start of the final quarter. Winchester's demon center loves his football and hates to miss even a minute or so of play.

The game was a great one to win and a tough one to lose. Belmont was very happy going home and well they might be. In the last five games played between the two schools, they had won but once, scoring 12 points to Winchester's 77.

Even with the loss the local boys are virtually assured of another tie for the championship. Winchester, however, was out for a clean-cut win and was disappointed with the outcome.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON AGAIN

Both of Winchester's goals were made from scrimmage, Mildred Rogers making the first from just inside the striking circle during the first half, and Helen Carroll, the second from close up in front of the goal after half time. Helen's goal was the first a Winchester wing has scored this fall.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds beat the Belmont seconds, 1—0, with Janet Doub the only scorer. The summary:

Want to Feel like a Big Shot?

PROBABLY you're a big shot already to someone, so you know something of how good it feels.

What we mean is, how'd you like to feel like you used to think a big shot must feel, cruising along in his big brawny Buick, envy of every youngster in town?

Fact is, a big brawny Buick—this year's beauty of a Buick—is within your reach right now, if you just put your mind to it.

A husky headlong 107-horsepowered giant valve-in-head straight-eight can be yours to command—you can roll around town in the staunch and steady carriage that's sure big, beautiful and a bearcat in action when its boss gives the word!

Yes, you can ride in the gentle lap of Foamtex-cushioned luxury—shift gears with a flip of your finger, take bumps without notice in BuiCoil Springing's "full float" comfort, even signal your turns by a touch on a lever that shuts itself off when you're through with it.

And what do you pay for all this—budget-bursting prices?

Ix-nay! On the contrary, you can buy a Buick for less than some sixes! And you'll find when you look into what's included in these prices that they cover many an item that you will be asked to pay extra for elsewhere.

All it takes, really, is the imagination to step up to the car you've really wanted—and once you've made that step, there's no real problem, for this Buick retains its extra first cost in the extra trade-in value it has when you come to buy again.

So lift your sights. Quit grading yourself down. This year, go after the car you really want—which means talking delivered prices and trade-in terms with your nearest Buick dealer.

Only car in the world with all these features

★ "MICROPOISED" DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE ★ OIL-SAVING PISTON RINGS IN ANOLITE PISTONS ★ "CATWALK-COOLING" PLUS ULTRA-RAPID CIRCULATION UNDER PRESSURE ★ BUICOIL SPRINGING FOR THE "FULL FLOAT" RIDE ★ FULL-LENGTH TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE ★ TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES ★ AUTOMATIC CHOKE ★ SELF-BANKING KNEE-ACTION, RECOIL WHEEL MOUNTING ★ FORE-N-AFT FLASH-WAY DIRECTION SIGNAL ★ STRONGER NEW "DOUBLE WALL" TURRET TOP BODY BY FISHER — WITH SAFETY PLATE GLASS ALL AROUND ★ EASY ACTION HANDISHIFT TRANSMISSION ★ SAFETY-UNIT SEALED BEAM HEADLIGHTS

And then there is the case of the four girls who lost their jobs. They were employed in an office well known to most of us to do typewriting and other things. The annoyance of the Social Security tax and form filing became so unendurable that they were all discharged and the typewriting turned over to a company at a saving in cost and trouble. Now their meager bit is added to the propaganda total of "benefits."

Notwithstanding the rejection of the "President's Thanksgiving" (which may be classified as a substitute for the fast waning President's Birthday) by the New England States along with 22 in the Union, it is interesting to note that the Post Office has been instructed to observe the date. Like it or not. You get no mail on the 23rd. What did Mr. Hitler or Mr. Stalin say about America? It seems a sordid affair.

WAS FATHER OF CHARLES D. ROCHE

John J. Roche, retired Woburn Police officer who died at his home, 22 Wright street, in that city, Tuesday, Nov. 7, was the father of Charles D. Roche of this town, a teacher in the Woburn High School and former well known semi-professional baseball player.

The deceased was born in Boston Sept. 19, 1855, coming to Woburn at the age of six years and spending the remainder of his life there. He was an ardent baseball fan and as a young man toured the country with a Boston amateur baseball team.

He was appointed to the Police force of Woburn May 2, 1895, and retired Aug. 11, 1917. Besides his son in Winchester he leaves five daughters, three sons, a brother and a sister.

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated yesterday morning in St. Charles Church, Woburn. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

"AH WILDERNESS" REHEARSALS START—SETS BEING BUILT

Mr. and Mrs. James Woolley of Fells road have full charge of the production of the Group Theater's fall play. The cast has already started rehearsing. The stage crew under the supervision of George W. Hayden, Jr., is developing the interesting sets to be used in the play. One of the most important tasks connected with the forthcoming production is the assembling of costumes of the period of the play, 1902. Mrs. T. R. Godwin is head of the costume committee.

"Ah Wilderness" is one of Eugene O'Neill's newer plays. It is a highly dramatic word-peiture of life in a typical New England family in the days when people were still shocked by the Rubyat of Omar Kiam, the poetry of Swinburne, and the existence of what were considered novel ideas in the youth of the era.

The Group Theatre has entered this first play of the 1939-40 in the second annual Little Theater tournament being conducted by the Concord Players of Concord, Mass. This competition aroused much interest last year and every effort is being made by the active members of the Group to carry off this year's honors.

There are still some good seats available for sustaining members. All those interested in becoming sustaining members of the Winchester Group Theater are urged to communicate with Mrs. William E. Spaulding, Win. 0025-W.

WINCHESTER SALE

Gustave A. Josephson, Winchester builder has sold the property at 76 Yale street to Mr. Fred W. Allison of Medford, who buys for a home. The house, of old Colonial architecture contains 10 rooms, three tiled baths, chestnut paneled library with fireplace, up to the mintue modern kitchen with tiled walls, two open porches, game room in the basement with fireplace and hardwood floors, attached two-car garage, insulated throughout, slate roof, heated by hot water circulating system, and Delco oil burner. There is a tiled guest lavatory on the first floor and a lavatory in the basement.

The house as a beautiful setting at the corner of Yale street and Drexel avenue. The well landscaped grounds contain over 12,000 sq. ft. of land.

Mr. Josephson has recently completed this home, and has already started construction of two more high grade houses in this fashionable Wedgemere park section, the houses being located on Drexel avenue.

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

On Nov. 8, the monthly Junior Red Cross meeting was held. The president, Douglas Converse reported the work of the month, that of filling Christmas boxes. David Whorf read thank you notes from Junior Red Cross members in Hungary, Edward Hicks reported Red Cross activities of children in foreign lands were doing.

On Nov. 7, grades 4, 5 and 6 enjoyed a film sent to us by a school in Latvia showing their school life and outdoor activities.

"MOVIE QUEEN" TO BE PRESENTED BY WINCHESTER V. F. W.

No ingredient has been left out to make the production, staged for the benefit of the V. F. W. Relief Fund, an outstanding event of the season. "Movie Queen" will play at the Town Hall Nov. 23 and 24. It is a combination stage show and moving picture, a three-act musical comedy on the stage plus Winchester in the movies.

"Movie Queen" follows the career of Mary Brown, who wins a trip to Hollywood as a reward for writing an essay on her petunia garden. Arriving in Hollywood she is mistaken for the great actress, Marlena Slarbo, and gets into the movies entirely by mistake. The rest of the stage show has to do with making her into a star and is a comedy of errors from beginning to end, from which Mary finally emerges as the Movie Queen. Having become the Movie Queen, she wishes to make a return visit to her home town, Winchester. It is at this point that the stage show stops and the movies begin, starting with the Queen's arrival, ostensibly from Hollywood, scheduled for the 2 p. m. train, Wednesday, Nov. 15. The film will include her reception, the parade in her honor, under the leadership of parade chairman, Fred Stevenson, the presentation of the key to the town, her tour of the town, her attempted kidnapping with well-known business and professional men in the roles of kidnappers, her thrilling rescue and many, many others. Movies will be taken around Winchester and surrounding towns all during the next two weeks, and many unsuspecting citizens will find themselves unexpectedly upon the screen.

The identity of the local girl, selected to play the part of the "Movie Queen" will not be revealed until she steps from the train on Nov. 15. Movie pictures will be taken not only of participants in this parade, but also of spectators and shown as part of the production on Nov. 23 and Nov. 24. Others of the all-local cast for the fast-moving, musial comedy are being chosen from prominent men and women, well-known for their acting ability. A dancing chorus will be selected from the high school group as part of the stage show.

Committees were appointed, and an all-star cast is in the process of being selected under the chairmanship of Comdr. Edward Fitzgerald. The general chairman is Martin Kinnane; chairman of the ticket committee, John O'Melia; chairman of properties, Clifford Lindberg; chairman of film advertising, John Regan; chairman of publicity, Comdr. Edward Fitzgerald. Fred Stevenson is now forming a parade which promises to be fun for all; anyone wishing to take part, please get in touch with him or with one of the other committee men. Come and greet the Queen at the depot on Nov. 15, and then come and see yourself and friends in the movies on Nov. 23 and 24.

The Fire Department was called at 4:06 Wednesday afternoon by an alarm from telephone Box 48 for a fire in a boys' shed built in a tree on Water Department land at the rear of Royal street.

POEMS BY AGNES CARR

The Star acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a copy of Agnes Carr's new book of poems, "Where Happiness Is," from the publishers, Waverly House of Boston. The book is one which richly repays one for the reading.

Miss Carr has led no cloistered life. Her work as a newspaper writer on Metropolitan dailies has brought her face to face with life in its many phases and her verses reflect a knowledge, appreciation and tolerance of human nature that can be acquired only by one who has rubbed elbows with her fellow man.

The homely philosophy, courageous outlook and sympathetic understanding of Miss Carr's poems have brought pleasure and comfort to a host of readers in all walks of life. "Where Happiness Is" presents many of her favorite verses in attractive and convenient form.

MISS AVERY TO SPEAK ON FRANCE

At the third lecture in her Winchester series, to be given on Wednesday, November 15, at 2:30 p. m., in the Wyman School hall, Eunice Harriet Avery will discuss France under war time strain, her organization, her problems, her attitudes. Ushering for this lecture will be Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Mrs. Robert Jennings and Mrs. Benjamin P. Marshall, Jr. At the ticket table will be Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley, chairman of the committee for the lectures, and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst.

WINCHESTER GIRLS IN FINAL GAMES

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team have two hard games between them and another unbeaten, untied and unscored upon season as they face Melrose and Watertown respectively on Wednesday and Friday afternoons next week. Both games will be played on Manchester Field and the Melrose contest is expected to provide a real test.

A PROCLAMATION

Time-honored custom calls upon us to observe Thanksgiving Day. It is a good custom, whose proclaimed purpose is worthy of all acceptation. Sincerity here is of the essence. Not for revelry and sport, and not for the inauguration of Christmas shopping, is this day set apart. It may furnish opportunity for wholesome recreation and sport, and it may be followed by stimulated buying; but the purpose of this Proclamation is, without sham of pretense, to call upon our people to give thanks to "the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation."

If some of us, because of bewildering and distressing conditions at home and abroad, wonder what sources of thanksgiving there are at this particular time, let us remind ourselves of the historical origin of Thanksgiving in America, and the conditions which surrounded it. One-half of the little Pilgrim band at Plymouth had died during the preceding year. Four households were wiped out entirely, and only four households were left unentered by what Bradford called the "General Sickness." They had no prosperity. Their harvest was not bountiful. Yet out of these meager remnants they maed their Thanksgiving, gave solemn thanks to Almighty God, and shared their scanty store with the Indians. We have far greater material reasons for gratitude than had our Pilgrim sires when they observed the first Thanksgiving Day on these shores. And we also have infinitely greater reasons than had the poor and persecuted Hebrews of Old Testament times, and yet the Book of Psalms, which is the expression of their lives, is the greatest collection of thanksgiving literature in the world. Thus it would seem that a disposition to give thanks springs not so much from material benefits as from an attitude of mind and a condition of soul which give one a sense of values, enabling him to see the spiritual in the material, the eternal in the temporal, the permanent in the transient.

It is meet and right that this disposition should be evoked and fostered, for it helps to maintain the spiritual conception of life in a crassly materialistic age.

We have reason to give thanks for the commonplace blessings of life,—thanks to God that the smile of His favor has charmed the earth to yield her increase in food to sustain our bodies and in beauty to delight our souls; thanks to God for our homes, and for the peace and security that surround them, and for the loved ones that bless and brighten them.

Let us be thankful, too, for America and for the fact that it is still "the land of the free and the home of the brave," and for democracy which holds that every person is valuable because he is a person. When we remember how autocracies enslave the bodies, minds and consciences of men; how ferociously they suppress criticism; how rigidly they censor speech and press, education and religion; when we remember their persecutions and blood purges, then with utter sincerity we should thank God for the Bill of Rights incorporated in the Constitution of the United States, guaranteeing us free speech, free press, freedom of assembly and petition, freedom of religion, of person and property against unwarranted seizure, and trial by jury in courts of law.

We cannot seriously meditate long upon these blessings without praying that they may be continued. And such praying, if honestly and intelligently done, will lead us to dedicate ourselves anew to the preservations of "the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity." That means that we should aim at the social habits of sincerity instead of pretense, good will instead of hate, tolerance instead of bigotry, peace instead of war. We must not allow liberty to become license. We must balance individual freedom by social responsibility. We must control emotion by intelligence. Instead of resorting to physical force and violence, let us rely upon education to sway public opinion.

Since, as the Psalmist declares, "it is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord," and since the prayer of self-dedication which grows out of sincere thanksgiving is good for ourselves not only, but also for that code of ethics and that way of life which we call democracy, therefore, I, Leverett Saltonstall, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do proclaim Thursday, Nobember 30, next, as a day of and do earnestly recommend that on that day the people, assembled in places of worship and in their homes, give expression to their feelings of gratitude to our kind Heavenly Father for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us.

in the Somerville Public Library where she completed a nine months' course. Following this she was appointed assistant to the reference librarian in the same library. In 1927 she went to the Watertown Public Library as children's librarian of the East Branch Library. Since 1930 she has been the East Branch Librarian. Last year this branch had a circulation of 147,153 books, very much in excess of the circulation of the Winchester Public Library. Miss Mead has been in library work for a total of 17 years.

She has travelled extensively in the United States, Canada, Labrador, and the countries of Europe. In 1926 she made a trip around the world, including some countries which are seldom visited by tourists, such as British New Guinea, Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania.

She has been greatly interested in community activities in Watertown. She organized and served two years as Chairman of the Watertown Citizens' Recreation Committee. She founded a Boys' Club at the Library which has solved the disciplinary problems. She founded the Antique Club at the library which has a membership of 100; also a Neighborhood Book Club. he is a former secretary of the Massachusetts Library Association and former president of the Charles River Library Club. These activities have been directed towards wider use of the library. Public spirited citizens of Watertown have expressed themselves strongly as to her enthusiasm and helpfulness in these activities.

Mrs. Edward P. Furber, a former chairman of the Board of Library Trustees of Watertown has said this of her and of her qualifications as Librarian:

"Miss Corinne Mead is a forward looking person who believes in a socialized library. Her memberships in the America Library Association, the Massachusetts Library Association, the Charles River Library Club and the Round Table of Children's Librarians of Greater Boston show her professional interest. She has high ideals of the place of a librarian in the community and carries out these ideals in her public service. I feel that Winchester is most fortunate to have her as their Librarian and I feel that Watertown has lost an outstanding librarian and citizen."

One who has a very wide experience in library work and who has been in a position to know of Miss Mead's work writes the trustees,

"I can't tell you how pleased I am that you have appointed Miss Mead. I feel that you could not have made a wiser choice and I look for a most successful future for your library in such efficient hands. She is, in my opinion, outstanding in our profession and has unusual qualifications for leadership. She is one who has done a unique piece of work in making her library an important factor in the community."

Miss Mead will assume her duties on January 1, 1940.

WINCHESTER MT. HOLYOKE ASSOCIATION BOOK TALK

The Winchester Library Hall was filled on the morning of Nov. 7 for Alice Dixon Bond's talk on "Non-fiction of the Fall."

Mrs. Bond recommended Vincent Sheean's "Not Peace but a Sword" because it gives the reader a background for what the newspapers give us news everyday. "Maud," which is edited by Richard Lee Strout, Mrs. Bond said is what the publishers really claim it to be, a discovery, and is compiled from the diaries of the real Maud who lived in Cairo, Ill., in the 80's. The reviewer described A. A. Milne's "Autobiography" as being full of sheer enjoyment and J. B. Priestley's "Rain on Godshill" as a stimulating afternoon with a provocative mind.

Mrs. Bond called Henry Seidel Canby's "Thoreau" the definitive volume on the Concord author, a re-interpretation in the light of the present generation. "Wind, Sand and Stars" though published in July, was included in the list because many readers had missed this excellent account of Antoine de St. Exupery's thoughts and flights.

Mrs. James B. Willing, the book talk chairman, announced that at the next meeting, on Dec. 5, books from Mary Spaulding's Book Shop would be on sale for the benefit of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Association Scholarship Fund.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, November 12.
The Golden Text is: "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh": (II Corinthians 5:16)
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For our conversation is in heaven: from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself" (Philippians 3:20, 21).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human birth, growth, maturity, and decay are as the grass springing from the soil with beautiful green blades, afterwards to wither and return to the native nothingness. This mortal seeming is temporal: it never merges into immortal being, but finally disappears, and immortal man, spiritual and eternal, is found to be the real man" (p. 190).

"THREE CORNERED MOON"

"Three Cornered Moon" by Gertrude Tonkonogy was chosen by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church as the opening production of their 14th season in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire last Friday and Saturday evenings. Francis Hart directed the production, for which the setting was by George W. Hayden, Jr. Samuel M. Graves was production chairman. The cast follows:

Mrs. Rimplegar ..... Edith M. Chamberlin
Douglas Rimplegar ..... Kezar G. Nichols
Kenneth Rimplegar .... J. Henry Smith, Jr.
Jenney, the Maid ..... Jane Armstrong
Ed Rimplegar .... Clifford Cunningham, Jr.
Elizabeth Rimplegar ..... Elloiuse T. Graves
Donald ..... John P. Kishler
Dr. Allan Stevens ..... Eugene M. Pollard
Kitty ..... Margaret Greene

In their presentation of "Three Cornered Moon" the Players lived up to their reputation as one of the finest amateur groups in the state. In interpreting what seemed at best a mediocre play they were continually called upon to rescue a plot which faded with no apparent reason, and did so in excellen fashion.

Such as it was the plot dealt with the Rimplegar family's struggle with poverty, induced by mother's hazy conception of "margins." Donald, the long-haired (virtually) novelist is sensitive to work and seek's Elizabeth's protection from the wrath of the starving Rimplegars.

The play moves slowly and as one would suspect Elizabeth sends Donald into the cold world, deciding to marry Dr. Stevens, while Kenneth becomes a lawyer. Douglas seems just another brother, somewhat unnecessary to the plot, as does Kitty, and what becomes of the remainder of the cast is left wholly to the imagination of the audience. Possibly the author did not know either.

John Kishler, making his third appearance with the Players as Donald showed a fine understanding of his character, marred by speaking many of his lines in a voice that faded to a whisper.

Eugene Pollard, an old standby, handled most of the play's laugh lines exceptionally well and was very successful in injecting his own sense of comedy into the role of the lucky medico, Dr. Stevens.

Elloiuse Graves, playing Elizabeth, occasionally strayed from character, but always managed to make her return without attracting the audience's attention. Her big scene at the close of the second act was played as only a veteran actor could handle it.

Edith Chamberlin played well a role quite similar to that she played so successfully in "You Can't Take It With You." May the reviewer suggest to both Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Graves that ladies rarely appear attractive running up stairs.

Jane Armstrong, a newcomer to the Little Theatre, did well with the small part of Jenney, the maid of dubious nationality. She seemed capable of more important roles. Margaret Greene and Kezar Nichols played the unimportant Kitty and Douglas in satisfactory fashion.

The play was handily finished, lacking continuity and plot interest. Perhaps its choice served a useful purpose in conveying the impression that the Players are capable of much better things.

The working model executed by James Woolley, Eugene Pollard and George Hayden, Jr., is a masterpiece, showing much hard work and cleverness of design. The Players have every right to be proud of the men who created it. W. W. W.

ELKS OBSERVED DISTRICT DEPUTY'S NIGHT

Winchester Lodge of Elks observed District Deputy's Night Tuesday evening, at the lodge rooms in Lyceum Hall with Harold Fields of Brookline, D. D. G. E. R., as guest speaker. Other speakers were Past Grand Exalted Ruler John F. Malley, William Hogan, president of the State Elks' Association; Michael McLaughlin, representing Governor Saltonstall; and Richard W. MacAdams, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

K. OF C. NOTES

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, held its first social event of the fall season, an informal harvest frolic last Friday evening at the Woburn Country Club with an attendance of 75 couples. Jimmy Hennessey's Orchestra furnished music for the dancing and refreshments were served. A "Sadie Hawkins" dance featured the specialty numbers. Walter Burns was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

In accordance with the wishes of the Supreme Knight for special prayers on Armistice Day for world peace, members of Winchester Council will attend mass on Saturday morning at St. Mary's Church at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8, was one of outstanding interest. Various committees reported and club members were gratified to learn from chairman Mrs. Walter Winship, of the financial success of the Hallowe'en bridge party. The president, Mrs. Warren Whitman, ably expressed the sentiments of the club in her sincere tribute to a former club president, Mrs. Helen L. Fessenden, who had worked so unceasingly, not only for the best interests of this club, but for the community itself.

Mrs. Robert Keeney of the Education committee, completely captivated the audience by her fascinating presentation of some of the highlights from John Gunther's "Inside Asia" and the club is hoping to hear more from Mrs. Keeney at another meeting.

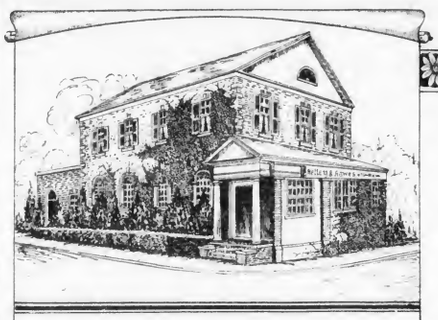

Guest speaker for the afternoon was the Hon. Robert F. Bradford, District Attorney of Middlesex County. Mr. Bradford chose for his subject "Crime Erosion" and tracing organized crime from its origin to the present day, gave a vivid, colorful but appalling picture of its effect on a community. Interesting personal experiences gave special emphasis to the discussion. We were pleased to have Mr. Bradford quote the motto, which our president, Mrs. Whitman, brought to us "What our fathers have bequeathed to us we must earn to keep," as especially applicable in ousting crime.

Mrs. Ralph Sparks of the Education committee presented in a concise and intelligible manner the points we must look for, when the bills dealing with immigration and the deportation of aliens, comes before Congress. The club hopes to have the privilege of hearing Mrs. Sparks discuss these measures at a later meeting.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Doughnuts, cheese and cider were served by the social committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, chairman, Mrs. Charles A. Burnham and Mrs. Malcolm Nichols served.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

On Tuesday, Nov. 21, the Ladies' Friendly Society will hold its first bazaar in five years. The chairmen are Mrs. Alger T. Bunten and Mrs. A. Allen Kimball.

The bazaar starts at 2 o'clock, and, until the Men's Club show ends in the evening, will contain something for everyone.

The Metcalf Union, Emmons Ellis, president, will put on three moving pictures for the children in the afternoon at 3 p. m., 4 p. m., and 5 p. m.

Pop corn balls will be made and sold by the girls in the Union with the assistance of the eighth grade girls.

At 6 o'clock a delicious buffet style supper will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. Allen Kimball and Mrs. Theo. P. Wilson.

Besides running a country store at the bazaar, the Men's Club are presenting an entertainment at 8 o'clock.

Under the direction of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee and Mrs. Everett F. Kidder the women have been serving for weeks for their table, containing all the useful home articles.

Other tables will be the White Elephant, Mrs. John Moser, chairman; useable articles of all descriptions that we may have tired of but some one else may enjoy.

House and Garden: Mrs. W. Allen Wilde, Mrs. John R. Wallace, chairmen; kitchen gadgets, wrapping paper both for Christmas and household use, pottery, garden supplies, etc.

Parcel Post: Mrs. Warren F. Godu, Mrs. Clark W. Collins, chairmen; wrapped gifts for 25c. A surprise in every package. Grabs for the children. Personal labels useable for envelopes and packages.

Gift table: Mrs. Alger T. Bunten, Mrs. Edward H. Ketterson, chairmen; all kinds of gifts suitable for Christmas presents including hand made dolls.

Just keep this date in mind, Nov. 21. There will be no admission fee to the bazaar and only a nominal one to the supper.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY

The "big scoop" from the high school for this week's Star is the announcement of the cast of characters for the Junior-Senior Class play, "The Late Christopher Bean," to be presented in January.

Dr. Haggett, whose desire for money drives him beyond ethical standards, will be played by James Coon; Susan, his kind and lovable daughter, Leila Jane Smith; Abby, the maid, in the family for 15 years; Edna McCormack; Mrs. Haggett, the ambitious mother with "cityfied" ways, Jane Armstrong; Ada Haggett, the "would-be" debutante, Sylvia Robinson; Warren Creamer the shy but determined "local" lover, Peter Hickey; Tallant, the "city slicker," Robert Elliott; Rosen, the Jewish buyer of the "beaux arts," Wallace Howard; and Davenport, the real and honest art critic, William Palson.

If you are familiar with the play and are acquainted with these young people, you are struck by the nicety and fitness of the choice. So able a cast, and so delightful a play assures pleasure to the patrons and profit to the classes.

ARTHUR W. HALE

Arthur W. Hale, formerly of this town, passed away Sunday at the age of 76 at the Robert Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

Mr. Hale was born in Boxford in 1863, the son of Alfred and Margaret (Heard) Hale. He was of the ninth generation in direct descent from Thomas Hale who came from England and settled in Newbury in 1636. Mr. Hale's boyhood was spent in Ipswich. When he was a young man his family moved to Winchester where they lived on Lagrange street. In 1890 he married Edith Kinsman of this town and established a home on Black Horse terrace. Mr. Hale was engaged in business in Boston as a member of the stock exchange. He was for many years a deacon in the First Congregational Church and also maintained an active interest in town affairs. Two years ago, following Mrs. Hale's death, he moved to Brimmer street, Boston.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Park Street Congregational Church, Boston, and burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Paul B. Elliott of 11 Warren street, two sons, Edward Kinsman Hale and Robert Heard Hale, both of New York, and a brother, Charles Alfred Hale of Watertown.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 7

On Monday evening, Nov. 6, Troop 7 was visited by Commissioners Cole of Winchester, Waters of Woburn, and Thompson of Medford for the annual inspection. After introduction by the troop committee chairman, the troop passed in review and then was given a very rigid inspection and the troop records carefully examined, with the splendid total of 99 points out of a possible 100, a record never before reached; and was achieved by the hard and painstaking work of the scoutmaster, John C. Casler.

During the evening the Scouts were busy making fire by flint and steel and practicing compass work for the coming rally to be held with the other troops in town at the Baptist Church on Dec. 4. Parents and friends of Scouting will be invited to this rally.

MYSTIC SCHOOL BRIDGE

Friday, the 17th of November has been chosen for the annual bridge at the Mystic School to benefit the Mothers' Association. The various committees are hard at work preparing for the event, under the guidance of Mrs. Sanford Moses, general chairman.

NEW ART ASSOCIATION EXHIBIT

Winchester's many amateur theatrical participants and fans should find the Art Association's current exhibition at the public library of great interest and value. In the gallery are being shown, commencing today and continuing through the month, Lee Simonson's designs for stage settings, costumes and his ballet pictures.

Most of the exhibition came directly from Madison, Wis., where it has been shown in connection with the opening of the new Memorial Theatre, for which Mr. Simonson has been consultant. Additional material is from New York where he has done productions for Broadway managements and where in 1933-34 he collected and organized the Exhibition of International Theatre Art shown at the Museum of Modern Art.

Mr. Simonson's original stage settings were done for the Washington Square Players. Subsequently he became one of the founders and directors of The Theatre Guild, doing most of the Guild's important productions, many of which are a part of the local exhibition. He is the author of a number of books on the theatre, advisor to the National Council on School Building Problems and consultant on several college and university theatres. Included in his photographs at the library gallery are several by Francis Bruhiere which are among the first of stage sets under stage lights to be taken in this country.

Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, whose knowledge of and connection with the theatre is extensive, made a most helpful introduction to Mr. Simonson's show last week Wednesday evening when she gave an illustrated talk at the library art gallery on theatre design, commencing with examples of the old theatre and bringing the subject up to modern stage design. Her anecdotes were amusing and entertaining and her slides absorbing. Many will enjoy the Simonson show the more because of her address.

WAS NATIVE OF WINCHESTER

Mrs. Elizabeth M. McGonagle, wife of Dennis J. McGonagle of 2 Carter street, Woburn, who died Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 7, after a long illness, was a native of this town. She was the daughter of the late Daniel and Margaret Dineen, and was educated in Winchester, going to make her home in Woburn at the time of her marriage.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McGonagle leaves a daughter, Denyse; a son, Jerome; a sister, Mrs. Mary Fallon of Gardner; and three brothers in Winchester, Edward, Frank and John Dineen.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in the Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

DRIVE NEARS END

With the cities and towns comprising the Metropolitan Section of the organization in aid of the annual maintenance appeal of the Salvation Army entering the home stretch in the drive, Chairman William N. Beggs of the Winchester Sponsoring Committee is asking our charitably inclined men and women to rally and put Winchester in the front ranks of the communities furnishing the funds which enable the Army to carry on its work of feeding the hungry, clothing the poor, sheltering the homeless, nursing the sick and suffering, aiding the unfortunate and giving the helping hand wherever help is needed, regardless of race, color or creed.

"In the Greater Boston area last year," says Mr. Beggs, "more than 350,000 were given the helping hand by the Salvation Army. An even greater number of suffering humanity may be in need of aid in the coming 12 months. Remember that with the exception of the special Christmas dinner requests, the Salvation Army depends solely on its annual maintenance appeal for the upkeep and maintenance of the 26 institutions and departments that enable it to cover every sector of the relief front.

"Your only chance of helping the Army that Never Sleeps in its ceaseless campaign against hunger, want, privation, sickness, suffering, misfortune of all kinds, is now. As the Salvation Army gives its help regardless of race, color or creed, so should we, regardless of race, or color or creed, join in helping the Salvation Army help others.

"If the official Salvation Army collector, who is in full uniform, has the words Public Relations Department on his collar, and carriers credentials bearing my signature, has not, or does not call on you, you can make your checks payable to the Salvation Army and send them to the treasurer of our committee, Mr. G. Dwight Cabot, Winchester Trust Company, Winchester."

CHAIRMAN NAMED

Mrs. Mary Carpenter has accepted again the chairmanship of the 1939 Christmas Seal sale, it was announced this week by Dr. Carl C. MacCorison president of the Southern Middlesex Health Association. This will be the 33rd consecutive year that the nation-wide educational campaign against tuberculosis has been carried on by tuberculosis associations, both state and local.

"'Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis' is the slogan of the campaign," said Mrs. Carpenter. "No home is safe from this disease until all homes are safe. Tuberculosis is still the leading cause of death in the age group from 15 to 45. This group includes our young people, and men and women in the most productive years of their lives.

"The Christmas Seal campaign will open on Thanksgiving Day and continue through Christmas.

NEWTON—MOFFETTE WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Edward Irving Aldrich of Brookline announces the marriage of her neice, Mrs. Hope Aldrich Moffette of this town, to Mr. Thomas Caldwell Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Newton of Brookline. The ceremony took place Friday, Oct. 20, at Provincetown. Mr. and Mrs. Newton will live in Winchester at 5 Cottage avenue. Mrs. Newton is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Aldrich of Brookline.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

Mr. Lawrence B. Fletcher, secretary of the Trustees of Public Reservations will present a brand new lecture at the Better Homes Garden Club on Nov. 15 at 7:45 p. m. at the art room of the public library.

Mr. Fletcher is well known to the Winchester audience and an interesting meeting is in store for everyone. Colored slides of the reservations owned by the Society, others they hope to own and a 1200 foot field trip from the north to the south shore, all promise a pleasant evening. Also there will be shown new slides on the humming bird.

STREET LIGHTS OUT DURING STORM

During the heavy rain and windstorm last Sunday evening all street lights went out in the Symmes Corner section of the town, also in the vicinity of Dix street, Myrtle street and Hemingway street. A tree was blown down on Cambridge street near the Langley estate and a large limb was brought down at Forest and Cross streets. The high wind and rain caused a wire to short circuit in a tree on Highland avenue at Mason street and awnings were badly torn at the Edison Light office and Shoe Hospital in the center.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The fall meeting of the Winchester College Club was held at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 7. Coffee was served at 7:45, the president, Mrs. John L. Lobingier called upon the membership chairman, Mrs. F. M. Gunby for a brief report of the statistics of the College Club, which has completed ten years of existence in Winchester, and upon Mrs. Fred H. Abbott representing the Morning Study Groups and Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, for the Evening Study Groups, to explain the plans for the organization's 11th year.

Four Morning Study Groups have been formed, taking up the subjects, "The Versailles Treaty and Its Aftermath," "Nature Lore," "Listeners' Music," and "A Study of Colonial Architecture." The Evening Study Groups which will start in January, will devote itself to the topic, "Inside America." Plans are also being made for a series of Museum Trips so that those who have had a particular interest in the Art Study Classes of the last two years, may follow a few of the important exhibitions that will come to museums in and around Boston during the season.

Mrs. Lobingier introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Norman J. Padelford, Professor of International Law at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, who spoke on, "Beyond the News in World Affairs." Dr. Padelford stressed some of the alternatives with their difficulties and possible effects, which face the United States at this time; isolation, federation with the other democracies of the world, going to war, mediation of a peace between the warring nations and a middle-of the road course which sums to offer the best solution to our difficulties. It would involve co-operation of the peoples of all nations for a world economy, with lower tariffs, aggressive democracy, definite influence on the side of peace, more effective International Law, and a more powerful form of international organization combining legislative, executive, judicial and military powers.

It was announced that 45 members had enrolled in the Morning Study Group interested in "Colonial Architecture" of which Mrs. Alton A. Jackson as chairman, and that it would be impossible to admit any others because of the difficultie of handling such a large number.

CRAWFORD MEMORIAL METHODIST CHURCH FALL FESTIVAL

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church has set Nov. 17 as the day for its annual bazaar which this year takes the form of a Fall Festival. Bittersweet, barberry and the warm coloring of gay autumn foliage emphasize the beauty of the harvest season and make a fitting background for the many attractive gifts, both decorative and useful, which fill all the tables. All the fall season the women of the church have been busily planning that a large and varied assortment of usable articles should be displayed, ready for their patrons, and the results are gratifying. Morning coffee, a luncheon, afternoon tea, and a turkey supper are each in turn offering to the interested shopper an opportunity to relax and enjoy the friendly atmosphere which prevails.

The muskrats in Wedge Pond have constructed two houses near the Main street side. One would judge by the size and thickness of their houses that we are in for a hard winter. Many residents remember when Black Ball Pond, where our present athletic field is now situated, was the favorite place to hunt muskrats for their skins. A good muskrat skin in those days brought $1.00.

DAVID LEWIS STORY

Winchester's Last G. A. R. Veteran Dead

Flags on the common and public buildings were displayed at half staff following the death of David Lewis Story, the last Grand Army veteran making his home in Winchester and the sole surviving member of John H. Chipman, Jr., Post 89, G. A. R., of Beverly.

Mr. Story died Monday afternoon, Nov. 13, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carrie L. Eldredge, 61 Church street, after a short illness. In his 97th year, he was one of the town's oldest residents.

Born Feb. 18, 1843, in Essex, Mr. Story was the son of David and Suzannah (Goldsmith) Story. He was educated and spent his boyhood in Essex, leaving that town a boy of 19 to enlist in Co. K of the 40th Massachusetts Volunteers at the time of the Civil War.

He fought in the principal battles of the War of the Rebellion, Bull Run, Cold River, Appomotax Court House, Gettysburg and the Siege of Richmond, serving as one of President Lincoln's bodyguard when the Great Emancipator entered Richmond after its capture by Union forces. For meritorious service he was made private orderly to General Charles G. Devens, for whom the present Fort Devens is named, and was serving in that capacity at the end of the war.

Returning home, he married Miss Georgianna Pickett and settled in Beverly where he was first employed at the Story Shipyards, owned by members of his family and still engaged in building sailing ships. Later he was for some years a stitcher in one of the Beverly shoe factories, after which he served as sexton of the Baptist Church in that city until his retirement, shortly before he came to Winchester.

He came to this town with his daughter in 1908 and had since made his home with her here. He was widely known and universally popular, his pleasant, kindly manner and depth of character endearing him to all with whom he came in contact. He was especially beloved by children and he himself was never so happy as when surrounded, first by his grandchildren and then by his great grandchildren and their little friends.

Mr. Story was for many years a familiar figure in Winchester's Memorial Day parades, and this year when a cold prevented his participation he was remembered with a bouquet of flowers by his friends, the Legionnaires. During the summer of 1938, accompanied by his daughters, he attended the reunion of Union and Confederate Veterans at Gettysburg, Penn., upon the 75th anniversary of the famous battle there, camping out upon the old battleground with his comrades who wore the Blue and the Gray. Besides his membership in the Beverly Grand Army Post he was an honorary member of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion; and of Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. E., being the third oldest Elk in the United States.

Besides Mrs. Eldredge, Mr. Story leaves a daughter, Mrs. Percy I. Fletcher of Fairhaven; five grandsons, Kenneth Eldredge of West Haven, Conn., Reuel W. Eldredge of Melrose, Donald M. Eldredge of Newton Center, Stewart Eldredge of Winchester and Alan S. Eldredge of Avon, N. J., a granddaughter, Miss Elcanor S. Fletcher of Washington, D. C.; and nine great-grandchildren. His wife died more than 50 years ago.

The Elks' funeral ritual was exemplified Tuesday evening at the late residence by Exalted Ruler John J. Doherty and the officers of Winchester Lodge.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, and a former pastor, Rev. Henry E. Hodge of Melrose, officiating. Military honors were accorded by Winchester Post, American Legion, a detail under Comdr. Marshall W. Symmes, escorting the body from the late residence to the church and acting as pallbearers. Members of Winchester Lodge of Elks acted as honorary bearers. Beverly Sons of Veterans conducted their funeral ritual, both at the church and at the interment which was at the Hale Street Cemetery in Beverly.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dye of 42 Whitney road, Medford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Bernice Dye, to Robert Wallace Fay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Fay of 36 Park avenue, this town.

Miss Dye graduated from the Winchester High School in 1937 and is now attending the Marboro School in Boston.

Mr. Fay graduated from M. I. T. in 1934 and is now associated with the American Airlines, Inc. as a passenger agent at the East Boston airport.

POSTAL SERVICE ON THANKSGIVING DAY

The President's Proclamation designates Thursday, the 23rd of November, 1939, as a day of general thanksgiving and that day will be the legal holiday in the Post Office Department this year.

However, in view of that fact that Nov. 23 is not to be observed locally, the Winchester Post Office will render full service to the patrons of the office on that day, and will observe Thanksgiving on Nov. 30.

EPIPHANY YOUNG PEOPLE

Invite Former Speaker to a Return Engagement

"The best proof of the pudding is in the second helping," a popular American lecturer used to say as he stood up to speak to an audience that had already heard him and had invited him again. At their November meeting, Sunday evening, Nov. 19, at 5 o'clock, the Fireside Group of the Epiphany Young People have asked Mr. Robert Keeney to come to them for a second time.

As a matter of fact this invitation is even more than a second helping, for many of the Fireside Group have a vital acquaintance with Mr. Keeney in their daily work and his. They either are or have been students in Mr. Keeney's classes in English at the Winchester High School. And in literature classes it is the very stuff of life itself that is under consideration and the way the instructor looks at life is of the greatest interest to his students. Mr. Keeney will call his conversation with the Fireside Group "A Teacher Will Philosophize."

Mr. Keeney came to Winchester High from a Newton High School. He has helped a goodly number of Winchester boys and girls to prepare for college in his classes, and a good long list of them have gone directly from his instruction triumphantly through college board examinations and into college work.

MRS. HILDRETH GUEST OF HONOR

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will be the guest of honor at the Eighth District Fine Arts Conference to be held in Security Hall, Woburn street, Reading, on Friday, Nov. 24.

Morning speakers include Mrs. Percy N. Sweetser, president of the Reading Women's Club; Mrs. John H. Kimball, general federation director; Arthur Fletcher, state chairman, American Home; Mrs. Francis R. Sweeney, state chairman, social welfare; and Mrs. Eliot R. Scudder, chairman, club institute department.

Luncheon reservations must be made by Nov. 21, with Mrs. C. A. Parker, 240 Hancock street, Stoneham.

Afternoon speakers will be Mrs. Walter W. Johnson, president, Stoneham Women's Club, followed by music by the Stoneham Women's Club Chorus, and an illustrated lecture by Paul Dempsey of the Waltham Experiment Station; also Mrs. Malcolm Green, state chairman, international relations, and Miss Frances Letson, state chairman, juniors.

EN KA TO PACK BASKETS

Once again the En Ka Society of this town will pack the Thanksgiving baskets which are to be distributed to less fortunate residents of the town the day before Thanksgiving.

The Winchester Community Relief Committee, of which Park Commissioner George T. Davidson is chairman, is in charge of the distribution and is bending every effort in cooperation with other welfare agencies of the town to avoid duplication of holiday assistance so that all may share in the good cheer.

Mrs. Harry Sanborn of 8 Black Horse terrace is once again acting as treasurer of the committee and contributions may be sent directly to her. Miss Nellie M. Sullivan of the Board of Public Welfare is secretary of the committee.

Gifts of money, fuel, food and clothing are earnestly solicited and will be called for if any of the officers of the committee is notified. Attention is called to the committee notice on the front page of the Star.

GRAY—CHIPPINDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Chippindale announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence Parker, to Mr. Everett Whitney Gray at Lowell, on Saturday, Nov. 11.

The bride, a graduate of Leslie School, has been active in the educational field, while Mr. Gray, having completed courses at Colby College and the Harvard Business School is now engaged in the investment business in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray will be at home after Dec. 1 at their residence at 39 Kenwin road, Winchester.

FOR MISS ESTHER GABLER OF NEW YORK

A formal dinner party is being given Saturday evening by Miss Virginia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ranson E. Smith, for her house guest, Miss Esther Gabler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Gabler of Schenectady, N. Y., in honor of her coming marriage to Mr. Haeward E. Robinson, Jr., also of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Ransom E. Smith are giving a cocktail party for Miss Gabler preceding the dinner.

WINCHESTER WOMEN ATTEND BOSTON ANNIVERSARY MEETING

Wednesday, Nov. 15, several women of Epiphany Parish accompanied Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills, head of women's activities, to the diocesan meeting of the Women's Auxiliary. It marked the 62nd anniversary of the founding of the Auxiliary in the diocese of Massachusetts. Winchester representatives included Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley, Mrs. Donald Heath, Mrs. Herbert Kelley, Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. Arthur Phinney and Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD OF AMERICA

Winchester Branch

The social service and welfare workers of the town anticipate each year the regular meeting of this Guild shortly before Thanksgiving. All the garments and household linens to be distributed are fresh and new.

The Methodist Church opens its hospitable doors for this annual occasion on Wednesday, Nov. 22 at 2 p. m. The 21 directors and members of their groups and interested friends will see the exhibit of articles contributed and also have the privilege of hearing from our new visiting nurse, Mrs. O'Leary.

The Needlework Guild is a unique organization, and represents truly the spirit of democracy; neither race nor creed prevents one from becoming a member. The contribution of two new useful articles a year, with no price specified, is the only requirement. The help of Girl Scouts is appreciated and members are invited to see the exhibit on the way from school.

SCHOOL OF POLITICS DEC. 8

John Barry, of the Boston Globe, will be the luncheon speaker at the Winchester School of Politics, Dec. 8. Mr. Barry will speak on, "The Press in Wartime."

Mr. Barry is one of the best known reporters in New England. He travelled with the King and Queen of England from their arrival in Canada to their departure for home. He does everything from interviewing the President at the White House to reporting the horse-races. Mr. Barry is now writing a day by day diary of the war. He has been 20 years on the Globe and is still young. At the morning session, 10 o'clock, Prof. John J. Mahoney of Boston University, will speak on, "Education for Citizenship," and at the afternoon session, 2:15, Edward C. Lindeman, of New York School of Social Work will speak on, "Foundations of Democratic Culture."

This School has been arranged by the Fortnightly, the Winchester League of Women Voters, and the State League of Women Voters, for all interested in the subject of Education in Citizenship.

OPEN HOUSE NIGHT AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

On Tuesday, Nov. 21, the faculty of the Junior High School and the parents of children in the school will meet when Open House is held at 7:45 p. m. Each room will have a host and hostess and the teacher of the respective rooms, to greet the parents. This is an excellent opportunity to meet the Junior High faculty and each other and the Parent-Teachers' Association hopes to have a goodly percentage of narents there.

Before the visiting begins, there will be a brief business meeting in Room 203 at which all parents in the Junior High School are requested to be present.

M. S. P. C. A. PLANS BAZAAR

Great plans are underway for the annual bazaar to be held Thursday, Dec. 14, at the home of Mrs. Richard Taylor on Mt. Vernon street. This is the one way this Chapter raises its money so plan to come and help us make it a success.

The bazaar will be held from 1:30 until 5 and a new feature will be tea, served at any time during the afternoon. You will find lots of things to tempt you from all sorts of home made "goodies" for you and the family to catnip for tabby. Mark your engagement pad now before you forget. Plan to spend a little time with us sometime during the afternoon of Dec. 14.

CONCORD OUT OF MIDDLESEX LEAGUE

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex League Wednesday, Concord High School announced its withdrawal from the football circuit to be effective at the conclusion of the present season. It will remain in the basketball and baseball leagues. Rudolph Sussman, head master of Reading High School, was elected president and Manfred L. Warren, principal of Lexington High School, secretary-treasurer.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Paul Gauchi, Jr., of 10 Chester street and Irma Giammatteo of 283 Webster street, East Boston.

FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY

The Fire Department answered 12 alarms over the past week-end, most of them for grass or brush fires, many started by the careless use of incinerators. The men were called three times to Baldwin street, to Penn road, Irving street, Highland avenue, and Lawson road, Rangely road, Church street at the rear of the Trust Company, the Parkway near the Fells, to Russell's Hill off Cross street, and to Hemingway street.

While engaged in putting out the fire at Russell's Hill the firemen discovered a pony that had wandered away from a nearby riding school. Lieut. Ray Hanscom mounted the animal and with Fireman Walter Carroll at his head he was returned to his stable.

Sunday afternoon at 4:15 the department was called to put out a fire in a Chevrolet sedan at Highland avenue and Main street. The machine was owned by Lowell man. At 4:45 Sunday afternoon there was a brisk brush fire at the rear of Winning Farm off Ridge street at the Winchester-Woburn-Lexington line. Box 7-7-145 was put on for additional men at 5:20.

Monday evening at 7:25 a telephone call was received from the Country Club for a fire there in a Chevrolet sedan owned by Frederick Lowe of 192 Lexington avenue, Cambridge. At 12:14 Tuesday there was a grass fire between Garfield and Brookside avenues in the highlands. Box 37 came in at 3:17 Tuesday afternoon for a fire in a pile of wood against a fence at the home of Mr. Peter Provinzano, 37 Florence street. Wednesday morning at 10:31 there was a call to put out burning leaves near the home of Selectman Elliott Cameron. At 3:25 Wednesday afternoon there was a brush fire at the rear of the home of Mr. L. G. Gustin, 7 Lakeview terrace.

CAR TIPPED OVER IN COLLISION

A Hudson sedan, driven by Florence E. Plummer of 12 Clematis street, was tipped over and badly damaged Wednesday afternoon shortly before 2:40 in a collision with a Ford sedan on Highland avenue at Englewood road.

Mrs. Plummer told the Police she was driving her machine north and was turning left into Englewood road when her car was in collision with the Ford which was also headed north and which was driven by Wilfred G. Cummings of 59 Cambridge street, Woburn. The force of the collision tipped over the Hudson and wrecked both cars so badly they had to be towed away.

Riding with Mrs. Plummer was her mother Mrs. Emma Snow of 12 Clematis street, who complained of injuries to her head and was treated by Dr. Robert L. Emery, subsequently being taken home by the physician. Riding with Cummings was John White of Marrett road, Lexington, who was cut about the face but declined medical attention.

EN KA DAY FOR RED CROSS

Mondays, from 10 o'clock until 1 o'clock have been set aside as En Ka Day for Red Cross workers. Meetings are held at the Church of the Epiphany.

Coffee is served between 12 and 1 o'clock, but workers are asked to bring their own sandwiches.

Miss Eleanor Dow, chairman of the Civic Committee, and Mrs. Alvin Mancib are in charge of this work. To date children's dresses and hospital garments have been made. Yarn is supplied for knitting sweaters.

The need for helpers is great and it is hoped that many more En Ka members will find time to give to this worth while work.

MR. GRINDLE FORUM SPEAKER

Wade L. Grindle, principal of the Winchester High School, was one of principals leading the forum discussion of "Student Strikes" at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Davis Club, composed of educators who have studied in seminar groups conducted by Dean Jesse B. Davis of Boston University's School of Education.

The forum, which was held at the B. U. Woman's Building on Commonwealth avenue in Boston, was preceded by dinner. John L. Miller, superintendent of schools in Brockton led the forum discussion.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Nature Study Group will meet on Thursday, Nov. 23 at 10 a. m. at the home of the chairman, Mrs. John Chipman, 2 Allen road.

The next meeting of the History Study Group will be on Monday, Nov. 20, 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. J. W. Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 16.

Again we have the pleasure of welcoming a new member to our club and to Rotary. Dr. Angelo L. Maietta, well known physician of this town, specializing allergist, has entered the Rotarian service and was formally greeted today by past president Billy Beggs and informally but cordially by other Rotarians present. We look forward to a long period of pleasant companionship and Rotarian activity with "Ange."

Our Dr. Harry L. Mueller announces that as a Reserve Officer of the United States Army he is prepared to give assistance to those men of Winchester who wish to enlist in the army. United States citizens between the ages of 18 and 35, physically fit, are eligible for enlistment. Enlistment period extends to Jan. 1, 1940. Dr. Mueller's office address is 31 Church street, Winchester.

The Rotary Club of Stoneham announces a "Gay Nineties Party" to be held at the new Town Hall, Stoneham on Nov 24. Knowing as we do the capabilities of our Stoneham friends in this field of endeavor we confidently predict a very lively and enjoyable entertainment for all who join in or attend the festivities. You are requested to be present in costume. We hope that a large delegation of Winchesterites will avail themselves of this invitation.

The Rotary Club of Paris, France, is adjusting itself to the experiences of war. The weekly meetings of the club will continue as usual but Rotarians will content themselves with a simple, one course meal. The bulletin of the club will be published twice per month instead of weekly. Rotarian Raoul Dautry, member of the club, has been appointed Minister of Armament, a position of the highest importance. Twenty-nine members of the club have been mobilized.

Through the courtesy of the Johns-Manville Co., a motion picture descriptive of their home insulation service was exhibited at our current meeting. Mr. Lawrence Berge, manager of the company's home insulation division, was in charge of the presentation and was assisted by engineer Monahan. This picture very clearly illustrated the manner in which rock wool is prepared from the native rock as well as its proper method of application to frame dwellings. We wish to express our thanks to the Johns-Manville Company and its representatives for this very instructive entertainment.

Next week, Nov. 23, we shall listen to an address by Sheriff Joseph M. McElroy of Middlesex County. This address is bound to be of significance. We have all been reading in the daily papers comments concerning the duties of sheriffs and the manner in which the office is conducted. Sheriff McElroy is everywhere recognized as an able official and he is eminently qualified to present to us the position of the sheriff in our scheme of government. Please honor him with a full attendance on Nov. 23.

Percentage of attendance, Nov. 9, 85.29 per cent.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Mr. Kingman P. Cass has been appointed the member from the Board to solicit for the Community Chest among the departments under the control of the Selectmen.

Dec. 7 at 7:45 p. m., is the time set for the meeting of town departments with the Planning Board to consider further the 6-year planning program, the meeting is to be in the General Committee room.

Twenty-seven persons representing the various town departments met in the General Committee room on Wednesday evening to listen to a talk by Dr. Charles J. Rohr of Amherst, Professor in the Economics department, on the subject of making town reports readable and interesting to the general public. He presented copies of several illustrated reports from different parts of the country and there was a general round table discussion. Some of those present felt that the reports should be a complete and detailed account of all the town affairs as a matter of historical record, but it was pointed out that as the town increases in size there would be a natural increase in certain records which would in time become too bulky to be published in one book. Everybody was much interested in the doctor's talk and it seemed to be the sense of the meeting that most of the reports offered by those present could and would be materially reduced. Dr. Rohr has analyzed hundreds of reports and had many valuable suggestions to offer.

MR. RICHARDSON AT UNITARIAN CHURCH, SUNDAY

At the regular morning service at 10:45 Sunday, Nov. 19, in the Winchester Unitarian Church, the preacher will be Rev. Robert Dale Richardson of the Medford Unitarian Church. Mr. Richardson is one of the leaders among the younger men of the Unitarian fellowship. The public is invited.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Penniman, the all day sewing meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank S. Garrett, 12 Everett avenue, on Tuesday, Nov. 21 at 10 a. m. The January meeting will probably be held at Mrs. Penniman's.

Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox is the sewing chairman this year with Mrs. John G. Penniman, sib-chairman. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Frederick W. Aseltine, Mrs. Edward W. Berry, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Anna May Dodds, Mrs. Edmund A. Merriam, Mrs. Isaiah C. Young and Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, the president, ex-officio.

All members of the Circle who are interested in sewing or knitting are urged to attend and help with this worth-while work. Bring a box lunch. Coffee will be served by the hostess.

JOHN J. McCARTHY

John J. McCarthy of 206 Washington street, a well known resident of Winchester for more than 20 years, died Saturday evening, Nov. 11, at the Winchester Hospital, after a long illness.

Mr. McCarthy was in his 62nd year. He was born in Boston, educated in the schools of his native city and as a young man learned the plumber's trade which he had since followed. He was a member and for the past five years trustee of Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. E., having many friends both in and out of Elks' circles.

Mr. McCarthy leaves his wife, the former Esther C. DeRocher; a sister, Mrs. John Kearns of Winchester; and a brother, Charles McCarthy of Boston.

The Elks' funeral ritual was exemplified at the late residence Tuesday evening by the officers of Winchester Lodge led by John J. Doherty, exalted ruler.

The funeral was held from the late residence Wednesday morning with solemn requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

WAS MOTHER OF FRED H. SCHOLL

Word was receved this week in Winchester of the death on Tuesday, Nov. 14, in Ventura, Calif., of Mrs. Emily A. Scholl, mother of Fred H. Scholl of this town, widely known in Elks' circles as past exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks and past District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of Massachusetts Northeast.

Mrs. Scholl had been ill for several months. She was a native of Paris, France, but had lived most of her life in this country and had been a resident of Ventura, Calif., for the past 20 years, going West from Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Scholl was the widow of Frederick H. Scholl, late captain in the United States Army. Besides her son in Winchester, she leaves a son, William Scholl of Waverly, and a sister, Miss Johanna Volmer of Los Angeles, Calif.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Miss Volmer's home. Interment was at Los Angeles.

DINNER PARTY

Miss Edythe Derby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Derby of Church street, gave a dinner party at her home on Armistice Eve, her guests including Miss Ann Lowney, Miss Kay Sutton, Mr. "Coke" Edwards and Mrs. Gene Murray, all of Arlington.

After dinner the party went on to Boston for a pleasant evening dancing to music of one of the popular orchestras.

NORMAN CLARKE

DE MOLAY DANCE

Norman Clarke, Past Master Councilor of Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay, at present editor in chief of the Star and Crescent, is one of the outstanding workers for its annual Thanksgiving dance, which is to be held the evening of Nov. 29 at Metcalf Hall, in the Unitarian Church in Winchester.

TAYLOR—CABOT

Miss Jeanette Cabot, daughter of Mr. G. Dwight Cabot of Seneca road, was married Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, to Harold E. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taylor of West Melford. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, at the home of the bride's father at 4 o'clock.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Walter F. Hodges of Cambridge, and Mr. Hodges was best man.

Mrs. Taylor was graduated from the Chamberlain School in 1935. Mr. Taylor graduated from Worcester Academy in 1931 and from Northeastern University in 1936.

REPRESENTED SORORITY AT TUFTS

Miss Phyllis Lybeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck of Everell road, a senior at Tufts College, last week attended a dessert bridge held by Boston City Panhellenic Council, and accepted a silver platter on behalf of her sorority, Lambda Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta. Miss Lybeck is president of the group. The platter is an annual award, given for improvement in scholastic standing. Miss Lybeck was in the line for the reception which preceded the afternoon's activities. At Tufts, she is prominent in musical organizations and in Panhellenic affairs.

ENTERTAINED CADETS

Miss Jean Thumim, daughter of Major Nathan Thumim of Oxford street, spent last week-end at home, coming up from the House-in-the-Pines School at Norton with her classmate, Miss Ann Draper of Canton, whom she entertained as house guest. The girls, with Miss Nancy Christiansen and Miss Betty Holloran of Firthcliffe, N. Y., attended the Harvard-Army game on Saturday, and following the game they entertained Corp. Thomas Ward and Cadets Robert Keagy and Rodney O'Connor at Miss Thumim's home, later going to the Copley-Plaza for dancing.

HELPING DARTMOUTH CONCERT AND DANCE

Several residents of Winchester are actively interested in the holiday party being given Thanksgiving night at the Hotel Copley-Plaza in Boston by Dartmouth graduates and their friends in Greater Boston. The program includes a concert by the Dartmouth Musical Clubs with dancing afterward to the music of the Barbary Coast Orchestra.

Leon F. Sargent is serving as one of the ushers, and Mrs. Walter W. Winship and Mrs. William C. Cusack are among the women who are assisting.

BISHOP—SHEA

On Armistice Day morning at 9 o'clock, in the Immaculate Conception Church, Miss Mary Agnes Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Shea of Glenwood avenue, became the bride of John Harold Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Bishop of Carberry street, Medford. The pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. James F. Fitzsimons, performed the marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. The church was attractively decorated with white carnations and yellow astors.

Mrs. Kathryn Payne Callahan of Somerville was the organist, playing the conventional wedding marches for the entrance and exit of the bridal party. Vocal solos, sung by Frank Carroll of Woburn, included the Ave Maria by Rosewig, On This Day O Beautiful Mother, O Lord I Am Not Worthy and Prayer Perfect.

Miss Shea was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Frances M. Shea. The bride wore a Mary, Queen of Scots, style gown of white satin with a bridal veil and carried a mother of pearl missal with a cluster of orchids and valley lilies. The honor maid wore a colonial style gown of crushed rose moire with a matching coronet and nose tip veil, and carried a colonial bouquet.

James Keough Bishop of New Rochelle, N. Y., was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Joseph Edward Shea of this town, brother of the bride; and Joseph P. Drolet of Belmont.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Shaker Glen House in Woburn. Mrs. Shea, the bride's mother, wore a rose crepe gown with a corsage of yellow tea roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bishop, wore black lace with a red rose corsage.

Mr. Bishop and his bride left after the reception to sail for Baltimore and Virginia where they will visit Brother Silvia, a brother of the bridegroom, who is stationed in that state. Upon their return they will make their home in Medford at 25 Emeral street.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. Bishop, who is an accountant with the Friend Lumber Company in Medford, graduated from Medford High School and from the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

WINCHESTER HIGH UPSET WELLESLEY

Provinzano to Vespucci Pass Game's Only Score

Winchester High bounded back from its Belmont licking to knock Wellesley High from its unbeaten untied pedestal last Saturday afternoon, winning 6—0 at Hunnewell Field, Wellesley, in one of the big upsets of the schoolboy season hereabouts.

There was nothing flukey about the Winchester victory. It was richly deserved, the local boys outplaying their opposition by much more than the score would indicate. Winchester made 12 first downs and 109 yards by rushing, completed four out of eight passes for 45 yards, recovered one of two fumbles and lost only five yards, in one offside penalty. Wellesley made four first downs and 52 yards by rushing, completed two of three passes for 21 yards and lost its only fumble. The losers were penalized six times for offside, one penalty hurting badly by nullifying a 37 yard gallop by Frost who was downed inside the locals' 30.

Wellesley had the look of a team having an off day. Its boys were big enough, but aside from Frost, transfer from Beverly High, its backs were ineffective and Frost himself, aside from his long jaunt that didn't count, seldom could get rolling in the face of Winchester's aggressive line play.

Winchester scored but once, a pass from "Pete" Provinzano to "Barney" Vespucci covering 27 yards and going for a score midway through the second quarter. Another touchdown was missed when Galuffo was stopped inches from the Wellesley goal line toward the end of the third quarter. As the final whistle blew Galuffo had crashed to first down on the Wellesley eight yard line.

Wellesley never seriously threatened after the first few minutes of play and was seldom across midfield during the last three quarters. The locals were clicking beautifully, both offensively and defensively, blocking two punts and often nailing the Wellesley ball carriers before they got to the line of scrimmage.

In a defensive sense "Tony" DeTeso and big Frank Marabella were outstanding, the latter blocking both the Wellesley punts, once while lying flat on his face. Offensively "Pete" Galuffo, Dean Derby, Provinzano and Vespucci starred, but the entire team played fine ball and contributed to the victory.

Winchester received but had to kick and Wellesley started from its 46. Aided by an offside against Winchester Frost rushed to a first down at the 36, and then in two more rushes made another at the 26.

Here the local line smeared Frost for a three yard loss. The Wellesley half got back only two and Epifano was stopped for another yard deficit. Frost's flat pass to Epifano was good for only six yards and Winchester had the ball on its 22.

The local machine rushed along to the Wellesley 40 where on the first play of the second quarter Galuffo tumbled and Wellesley recovered. The locals stopped Wellesley's running game cold and Cleveland dropped back to kick.

Derby swept end for nine yards and Galuffo spun for the first down. Then with the ball on the 27 Provinzano followed a wave of interference out to the right, then suddenly faded and threw a pretty pass away across the field to the left where Vespucci, all alone, took the ball in stride over his shoulder at the 15 and ran across the goal line untouched. Marabella's try for goal at placement failed. This ended the scoring.

Shortly after the resumption of play in the second half Marabella, prone on the ground, blocked with his hand a Frost punt which the Wellesley ace was trying to get away after a low, poor pass. The ball went out of bounds at the Wellesley 20 and was Winchester's ball, first and 10 at that point.

Derby picked up a yard and Galuffo spun to a first down at the 10. The Wellesley line looked very vulnerable but instead of rushing, Provinzano passed twice, both heaves being incomplete. Galuffo then crashed for four and once again for what looked like a touchdown. The referee ruled, however, that the ball was inches short of the distance and Wellesley kicked out of danger.

Wellesley had a brief chance to yell on the first play of the final quarter when Frost on a fake pass play broke through a big hole inside Winchester's right tackle, running from his own 35 to the Winchester 28. An offside penalty brought the ball back however and after a 15 yard pass from Frost to McLeod had made a first down, Frost fumbled and McCormack recovered at the Wellesley 45.

McEwen's fumble ended another goalward surge on the Wellesley 25, but after Frost had hit tackle for nine, his long pass was intercepted by McEwen who ran the ball back to the Wellesley 48. In three rushes Galuffo picked up two first downs, advancing the ball to the Wellesley 28. Three offside penalties against Wellesley and some effective bucking by Galuffo took the ball to successive first downs at the 18 and eight yard line as the game ended. The summary:

WATERTOWN GIRLS HERE TODAY

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team plays Watertown High girls this afternoon at 3 o'clock on Manchester Field. The game will close the local schedule and the Winchester girls will be trying hard to maintain their perfect record for the season.

Walter "Little Joe" Josephson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave A. Josephson of Sheridan circle, former Winchester High and Huntington School star end, is playing a regular end on the freshman eleven at Springfield College. Tall "Joe" is one of the best pass receivers developed at Winchester High in many years and should make the varsity grade at Springfield.

WINCHESTER GIRLS DEFEAT MELROSE

Winchester High girls' field hockey team won from the Melrose High girls' eleven, 1—0, Wednesday afternoon on Manchester Field, maintaining their undefeated, untied, unscored upon record at the expense of the scarlet clad invaders.

Mildred Rogers, Winchester's active little center forward decided the game with a goal toward the end of the second half and a tightly contested, hard fought contest it was.

Melrose brought a good team to Winchester and played the locals very even. The visiting players passed well and showed a superior team game to Winchester, but the local girls seemed faster and stronger individually, hitting the ball much harder than the visitors.

There wasn't too much choice in the forward lines with Ciley, Melrose's busy little left inner, matching the best of the local girls. On defense the Winchester backs cleared fullbacks, Dolly Greene playing especially well on defense.

Toward the end of the half with Ciley and Balfour doing some effective carrying, Melrose put on the pressure and kept the ball well within the Winchester 25 until the final whistle. The Winchester defense, however, ganged up in front of their uprights and turned every Melrose shot aside.

Tibbetts of Melrose took the ball on the opening bully of the second half but the Winchester halfbacks quickly broke up the visitors' offensive threat, though play was in local territory during much of the time. At one time play was right in front of the Winchester uprights, but the Melrose girls lacked that good stiff shot necessary to get the ball past the local defense.

Finally Joyce Maxson passed out to Helen Carroll who took the ball deep into Melrose territory before being checked by the visitors' fullbacks. Returned by Melrose to midfield, the ball was banged hard out to the left by Margaret Greene. Eventually it was taken by Priscilla Tapley along her left wing patrol well down the field and passed in toward the Melrose goal.

One spirited scrimmage was interrupted by a penalty corner against Melrose, and once again the ball went into a whirl of sticks and legs as Winchester sought to score and Melrose to clear. Out of this scrimmage a little to the left of the sticks the ball appeared, to be pounced upon and driven past Goaler Vinton by Mildred Rogers, the visiting goalie having no chance to save.

Melrose tried hard to tie the score and twice left winger Balfour carried to the Winchester sticks, only to have her shots thrust aside. Once from a spirited scrimmage in front of the Winchester goal the ball actually rolled into the net, but the whistle had blown for a rule infraction and the score didn't count.

As a matter of fact the whistles were blowing merrily much of the time, both teams seeming to have a lot of trouble with their sticks and with "obstructing."

Between the halves of the first team game the Melrose seconds won a hard fought 1—0 victory from the local seconds. Following is the varsity summary:

LEADS MAINE JUNIORS

James "Bucky" Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Harris of Lakeview road, has been elected president of the junior class at the University of Maine. "Bucky" has been a member of the varsity football team at Maine for the past two seasons and this year started the game in the Maine State series with Bates. He is a former Winchester School football captain, playing quarterback during his schoolboy days.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Winchester's "Ken" Gurney, from his halfback post, scored one of the touchdowns that enabled Springfield College to defeat the College of the City of New York, 26 to 0 last Saturday. "Ken", whose home is on Hemingway street, is a Winchester High graduate and a junior at Springfield where he is also a member of the gym team.

The Winchester High School's second football team won from the Stoneham seconds, 12 to 0, at Stoneham on Monday. Dean Derby scored both touchdowns, one on an intercepted pass, and the other on a pass from Peter Provinzano.

"Bill" Croughwell, who was the high school's football manager in 1937 is now playing in the backfield of the Bowdoin freshman team.

WINCHESTER GIRL ON BOSTON FIELD HOCKEY TEAM

Peggy Shinnick, now a freshman at Sargent College of Physical Education, is at Albany this week-end playing in the Northeastern tournament on the first Boston Field Hockey team. She is the only student in the lineup, the other ten players being professional teachers of field hockey.

The team is as follows:

Kathryn Snyder, rw	Winsor School
Myra Sawyer, ri	LaSalle
Muriel McClellan, cf	LaSalle
Adele Loyson, li	Newton High
Peggy Shinnick, lw	Sargent College
Dorothy Sullivan, rhb	Smith College
Mary Hanify, lhb	Swampscott High
Harriet Cole, lhb	North Shore Country Day
Frances Pierce, rfb	Bennington College
Helen Park, g	Wellesley College

This fall Peggy has played field hockey at Wellesley, Mt. Holyoke and Smith Colleges. Her choice of physical education as a profession seems to have been thoroughly wise.

Peggy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shinnick of Washington street. She graduated from Winchester High School in 1938, winning varsity letters in field hockey and basketball and serving as business manager of the school yearbook.

CONCORD HERE TOMORROW

Winchester High, riding the crest of its win over previously unbeaten and untied Wellesley, returns to the home town tomorrow for a Middlesex League game with Concord High on the Shore road athletic field.

It's hard to see how the locals can lose this one but the game is important as the the last Concord will play against Winchester as a member of the Middlesex League.

Concord announced yesterday its withdrawal from the league which its authorities believe has become out of balance and too strong for Concord to compete in.

The boys from the historic town have had a poor season and have absorbed sme terrific beatings. It's evidently a far cry from the days of Rooney, the Flannery's, the Dees, DeCiccos, Big Fish Kingman, and the Mara boys to the present group at Concord. The Middlesex League was emphatically not too tough for those boys.

FRESHMEN WON

The Winchester High's freshmen football team won its first game of the season last Friday at the Shore road athletic field by defeating the Concord freshmen by the score of 13 to 8. "Bob" Fynn scored the first touchdown for Winchester, and Jack Errico registered the second on a pass from "Bill" West. Errico also made the point after on a pass from West.

"Franny" Murray, former Winchester High football star, now playing left halfback for Northeastern freshmen made a touchdown against the Harvard Junior Varsity last Friday.

The Big Kicks in Not Being Rich

YES, it's nice to have a lot of money to spend. But don't forget there's also plenty of fun to be had "on the way up" to affluence.

There's the satisfaction of achieving something better than you're used to—stepping up, for instance, to this smart, swift, solid Buick after you've been driving run-of-the-mill cars.

Just you feel the silk-smooth surge of its great 107 horsepower micro-poise-balanced straight-eight engine—and you know that all that went before was only preliminary to this big thrill.

You flip the firm, easy gearshift—and the click of its action under your hands says here's the real thing in precision-made mechanisms, not just a stopgap to tide you over.

You roll your steady, even-going, firm-riding way, and the taut, staunch, everywhere-substantial feel of this fine carriage brings a sense of "getting somewhere" as satisfying as your first gilt-edged bond.

You've got action in this honey. You've got style. You've got value, and everybody knows it. You've got life—you'll romp up hills and tame the wide-open spaces and doff your cap to no one on the way.

And there's nothing light, or loose, or tinny, or labored about it anywhere. Here's the sure, steady, take-it-in-stride demeanor of a car that's competent-plus.

Suppose you have to stretch a bit to buy this Buick—well, you'll find that will only make you prize this great eight all the more!

So go look at the car that can mark a milestone in your life. It doesn't cost a thing to find out how little a really good car will stand you delivered.

The Social Security people, so we read, are searching for some nine million people entitled to benefits under this benevolent act. The nine million, we read, are unknown to the board and are therefore ineligible for benefits. A large proportion of the nine million, "officials said," will never be found. Well—the money is paid. There will be plenty of use for it. Let the milking of America go right along. Someone is getting the "benefit" of it.

SOCRATES SAYS-

THIRD TERM

There is considerable speculation concerning what effect the World War of centralized government against democracies will have upon the 1940 election. Although President Roosevelt said in his radio speech of Sept. 3, 1939: "Let me make the simple plea that partisanship and selfishness be adjourned," some New Dealers are openly stating that because of war, President Roosevelt will be drafted for a third term.

While everyone discounts the extreme interest of many of these New Dealers because it can be attributed to the fact that they have either been appointed to office by President Roosevelt or stand to lose something if he is not re-elected, it is not so clear on what logic, political or otherwise, they can base their assumption that a third term is possible because of war, even though President Roosevelt should agree, which seems extremely unlikely.

The basis of the New Deal is built upon greater centralized control of government and for seven years America has witnessed a tremendous growth of bureaucracy and various schemes of economic control and regimentation.

While it has, without doubt, never been the intention of the Democratic Party or even liberal New Dealers to have America go the full distance of complete central control, the theories expounded constantly over the air and in every other conceivable way, have confused many as to just how far the New Deal meant to go and whether it could stop short at any given stage.

There have been undoubtedly many who have wondered if full centralized government did not have something in its favor. The constant propaganda tending to show the successes in the totalitarian central governments probably has caused such thoughts where they have existed. This war will clear up any such misconceptions.

The Hitler (centralized government) war has now started. Whether it is over or not before the 1940 election, the citizens in the democracies of the world will have ample means, by way of world-wide radio and news, to analyze pretty thoroughly the exact cause of this war and what part centralized governments have played in its creation.

It seems fantastic and with little political acumen to believe that the citizens of America or any other democracy will not, by 1940, insist that any vestige of further centralized control of their affairs by government be drastically curbed.

While democracies at war allow—through the necessity for coordinated action— greater centralized control, they will not tolerate the same controls in times of peace.

America is not at war. It is at peace and it intends to stay a peace. If at peace in 1940, why thoughts of a third term, as we will not be at war? If at war, neutrality will have failed. Then what would happen to thoughts of a third term, as the New Deal did not keep us out of war?

If it is thought that America will be at war in 1940 and hence the citizens will hesitate to "change in the middle of the stream," then indeed politics and partisanship certainly required the plea of President Roosevelt that such be adjourned. If the belief that a third term is to result in 1940 and that it is to come about because we are to be at war, how difficult this will make the President's desire to stay neutral.

This war may be long or perhaps short. Regardless of its length the full desirability of citizens for individual freedom from centralized government control will be so forcibly brought home to them that no matter how much they may agree with any particular objective of the New Deal, they will demand a full return, even to the town meeting idea, even a referendum for the declaration of all wars may result, as the pendulum always moving too far each way.

The war will destroy in the minds of citizens any belief they may have had that the trend of centralized government—as started by the New Deal—is a thing wanted in America. It will have no chance of being "drafted." The war, instead of helping it, will kill it.

The New England Council has recently organized a committee of technical experts to seek out new products which should be made in the region.

REUBEN BURSEY

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Winchester annual campaign for the Salvation Army gets going at fullsteam ahead with the arrival of the official collector Reuben Bursey. He has already started contacting men and women as the start for the $2000 quota is made.

William N. Beggs, who is chairman of the sponsoring group announces that the collector will be fully uniformed and have words "Public Relations Secretary" on coat collar. In addition he will carry a credential letter signed by Mr. Beggs. This precaution is made so that unauthorized collectors may be avoided.

In a letter written to many women and men in Winchester, Mr. Beggs said:

"The Salvation Army comes to its friends in Winchester in its annual appeal seeking a quota of $2000."

"This money is needed to continue a huge humanitarian work. This means that the Evangeline Booth Home and Hospital will keep on giving modern attention and Christian-like care to the unmarried mothers. The hungry will be fed and clothes will be furnished the needy. Friendless men and women will be taken from the streets and led to places where hope is restored. It means a continued search for lonesome youth. Your money could be used for no better purpose. The program includes fresh air activities, day nursery and many types of service by a score of units."

The sponsoring committee asks every man and women in this district to help and that if not contacted by the collector to mail or hand donation to the campaign treasurer. He is G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company.

It is also pointed out that a portion of the money collected here, is held in Winchester, supervised by local business folk to meet any emergencies.

GEORGE WASHINGTON HIGHLAND CHAPTER

The chapter held a most successful meeting on Tuesday in the assembly hall ofthe Washington School. After a brief business meeting presided over by Mrs. Lyman Smith, the president, she introduced Mrs. Thomas Edwards, music chairman, who presented Miss Mildred Hudson, a dramatic contralto, who has recently returned from England. She is the guest of one of our mothers and graciously entertained us with her pleasing voice and charming personality. The following mothers sang a group of old time songs; Mrs. Harold Slack, Mrs. George Chatfield, Mrs. Leonard Erickson, Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves, Mrs. Clarence Newton, Mrs. Frank Horn and Mrs. Ernest Babcock. Mrs Edwards was accompanist.

These ladies were dressed in beautiful old fashioned costumes and were gathered about the piano, the hall dimmed and lights furnished by many tall white tapers. It was a lovely picture and so well done.

Mrs. Arnold Chandler, dramatic chairman, then presented the play, "To My Dear Nieces." The cast was made up of the following: Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs. John Wells, Mrs. Stewart Harris and Mrs. Arnold Chandler. This play was most amusing from start to finish and each member of the cast was excellent in her part.

Following the play Mrs. Frederick Ives and her social committee dressed as country maids served cider and crullers from a table decorated with harvest fruits and vegetables.

A food sale by the ways and means committee netted a fine sum for our treasury.

On Friday, Nov. 10, Mrs. Jerome Foster of Ainsworth road opened her home for the kindergarten of the George Washington School. Mrs. Lyman Smith poured and there was a fine attendance of 30 mothers. Miss Hatch, principal, her assistant, Miss Dobson and Miss Ashton, kindergarten teacher, together with Miss Lewis and Miss Stover were special guests of the mothers. These grade teas furnish a fine opportunity for closer contact between mother and teacher and take place during the school year.

BADMINTON

The First Congregational Badminton Club enjoyed a very pleasant evening last Wednesday night. They had the good fortune of having one of Boston's professional players who demonstrated and instructed badminton. Mr. John R. Keefe at the Boston Badminton Club is connected with James W. Brine in Boston.

Mr. Jack Brewer of the Boston University Club is another of the professional men which the club plans to have with them this winter.

The club meets every Wednesday evening, but due to the church bazaar, the next meeting will be Nov. 29.

BOOK NEWS

"From Another World"
by Louis Untermeyer

In a foreword to this autobiography which was written for his three sons, Louis Untermeyer expresses the wistful hope that it may survive the burnings and 'purges' meted out to other recordings of other worlds. That such a fear should be felt, and, feeling, protested in this country, the Ultima Thule of liberty seekers, is to make pause and listen more intently to the hate which is printed and heard sung today. For it is another world of which he writes, and that in space of time, so close behind us. For some, it will always be remembered as the 'roaring' twenties.' For others, and those to whom this book will appeal as a literary feast, it was a time when fresh, revolutionary ideas were being born and reputations made on the turn of a phrase.

They are all here. Through the history of a life, and the growing force of one of the finest poets of the era, are woven sketches, reminiscenses, never-before-published verses, intimate letters of Amy Lowell, Sara Teasdale, Vachel Lindsay, Lee Simonson, H. L. Mencken, Robert Frost, Elinor Wylie, Isadora Duncan, D. H. Lawrence, and a host of other 'names' of that day. The histories of "The Masses," "The Seven Arts," "The Smart Set" and other journalistic highlights are herein recorded with exact and often amusing detail.

And not the least part of this book's worth are Untermeyer's own reflections and analysis' of his friends' works nor his own summing up of the position today for creative artists.

It is with a profound sense of nostalgia that we lay this book down. It was indeed 'another world.' Unhappy, even, but never numbed.—[Reviewed by A. E. Harwood, Winslow Press Book Shop.

"HELP THE ELKS HELP WINCHESTER"

Each year Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. Elks dispenses charity in many ways. Food for the hungry, medical attendance and hospitalization for the sick. Fuel and clothing for those in need of them.

In years past the Elks' Charity' Fund was replenished by the annual Charity Ball. This event, due to unfavorable conditions, was abandoned some years ago and the charity fund now is kept alive by the donations of members and by occasional parties.

The fund at the present time is sadly depleted and to return it to the amount necessary, the Elks are to run a charity bridge and whist party Wednesday, Nov. 22, at 8 o'clock in Lyceum Hall.

We earnestly solicit donations of prizes and money from those who are charitably inclined, and hope for a large attendance.

Any who wish to assist the Elks, either with donations or prizes are asked to communicate with Charles A. Farrar, P. E. R., 12 Myrtle street, or phone Win. 0089. Donations will be called for.

SENATOR WALSH TO SPEAK IN STONEHAM

The Stoneham League for Peace Action has secured Senator David I. Walsh as the speaker for its public meeting to be held in the auditorium of the new town hall, Central street, Stoneham, on Sunday evening, Nov. 19, at 8 p. m. He will speak on "How America Can Keep Out of War."

The League invites the friends of Senator Walsh to come and hear what he has to say on this question in which he is vitally interested. Senator Walsh has consistently worked for strict neutrality and a practical peace policy. His speeches in Congress and elsewhere have advocated a "wholehearted, clearly expressed and emphatic" neutrality coupled with "an equally decisive program of self-defense."

The citizens of your community now have an opportunity to hear what Senator Walsh recommends as a wise policy since the repeal of the arms embargo.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In many magazines nowadays there may to seen brilliant advertisements proclaiming the advantages to the country, to industry in general, and to individuals, which the beer manufacturer brings. In rebuttal of these statements there in an article in "The Union Signal" of Aug. 26, 1939. The article, which follows, is worthy of deep thought.

"Brewers have overstepped themselves in recent advertising and publicity claims of beer's benefits to farm, labor, school and taxes.

The brewers take credit for creating a market for the products of 3,000,000 farm acres. They fail to point out that in 1938 more than 341,000,000 acres produced farm crops. Uses of brewers therefore required less than nine-tenths of one per cent of farm acreage—an infinitesimal amount. Dairy production boomed during Prohibition, and milk needs then required far more acreage in any single year than beer needs now require in any single year.

Repeal has not brought labor prosperity. There are as many men out of work now as in 1933, which would indicate that beer hasn't created "one million jobs in 100 industries." Actually, beer's annual outout of 50 million barrels has taken from the laboring man the big part of $2,200,000,000 now spent each year for beer. The beer industry certainly never has claimed that beer drinkking is an asset to a man looking for work.

As for taxes, the beer industry has extracted $5.50 from each person for every dollar of tax moneys paid by beer to various government units. The per capita cost of beer last year was $16.60 for every individual in the United States. At the same time 1,100,000 retail merchants who deal in necessities and ordinary luxuries lost two billions of possible business in the money spent for beer.

Next to the laborer, the relief client is probably beer's best customer. Yet since repeal the government has paid out over 10 billions for relief, hence he is engaged in "pump priming" the brewers' financial wells.

A beer tax revenue increase actually represents a waste of public wealth since it is of no constructive economic gain.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER
Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.
Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M.
Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street.) Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world, on Sunday, November 19.
The Golden Text is: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (I Corinthians 6:19).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other, or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" (Matthew 6:24, 25).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we follow the command of our Master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structure, or economy, but we shall be masters of the body, dictate its terms, and form and control it with Truth" (p. 228).

DEWICK & FLANDERS HONORED BY MERCANTILE INSURANCE COMPANY

A dinner in honor of its 40 years of representation of the Mercantile Insurance Co. of America was held for Dewick & Flanders, Inc., at the Hotel Touraine in Boston last week Thursday evening. Charles E. Chase, vice president of the Mercantile, was host to the 100 guests. He acted for President C. F. Shallcross, who could not attend. Others from the home office who attended were A. E. Murdock, secretary; H. A. Klocke, general agent, and William J. Traynor, publicity director. William A. Sturgis, local secretary at Boston, also was present.
In commemoration of the occasion, illuminated testimonial scrolls were presented by Mr. Case to Frank A. Dewick, president and assistant treasurer of the agency, and to Wallace F. Flanders, vice president and treasurer, who has been for many years a resident of Winchester. Theme of the dinner celebration was "Life Begins at Forty," souvenir copies of which were presented to the guests.
The agency was known as Tillinghast & Flanders when it was appointed on July 25, 1898, by the old North British & Mercantile Insurance Co. of New York, which later changed its name to Mercantile Insurance Co. of America. The firm of Dewick & Flanders was formed in 1902. It outgrew various offices in succeeding years and recently moved to new offices at 148 State street. Mr. Dewick began his insurance career in 1893 with Scull & Field and Mr. Flanders first entered the business in the office of Adam Archibald in 1888.

GOING HOLLYWOOD

Winchester is going Hollywood! Wednesday afternoon crowds gathered at the railway station here to greet their own Movie Queen, who arrived on the 2 p. m. train. She was welcomed by Chief of Police Rogers, who presented her with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. There were many notables at the station to greet the Movie Queen, who was revealed as a well-known local girl, Miss Lenore McNiff. Accompanying her were Starbo, who is Miss Ruth Collins and Ma Brown, Mrs. Frances Conlon. These three have the leading women's roles in the combination stage and screen show to be presented by the Aberjona Post, V. F. W. at the Winchester Town Hall on Nov. 23 and 24.
The welcoming parade which followed was splendid enough to suit any queen's taste. It featured the 80 piece Guardian Angel Band, sponsored by the Norman Prince Post, V. F. W. from Boston. Following Officer Irving Reardon on his motorcycle were Deputy Chief of Staff Joseph Cunningham, who was Chief Marshall, the Queen and her companions, chorus girls, Comdr. Edward Fitzgerald, who was parade Marshall, detachments from the Melrose Post, V. F. W. with their colors and from the Malden Post, V. F. W. Queen of the Past in an old-fashioned carry-all, children in costume, several riders from the Allendale Riding School, Fred Stevenson as the masked rider, floats from the Lions Club, the Ski Club, the Barbara Pratt Shop and the Red Cross, cars entered by various merchants and finally a truck from the Fire Department. The open cars were donated by Kelley & Hawes.
Mr. George Roland Carter, Mr. J. S. Finnigan and Mr. Fred Scholl, the judges, selected the unusual float of the Lions Club for first prize and Mrs. DeMorris, the Queen of the Past with her companion, Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald, both in wonderful old-fashioned costumes, won second prize.
Mr. Fred Stevenson was chairman of the parade committee.
Pictures were taken not only of the parade but also of spectators, and will be shown with many others after the stage show.
Twelve chorus girls chosen from the high school are Polly Kimball, Norma Boyle, Doroth-- Carroll, Berta Magnusson, Maxine Lybeck, Shirley Power, Claire McGrath, Lillian Boyle, Shirley Carroll, Anna Cole, Priscilla Flagg, Peggy Coulson.
There will be a children's matinee on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 23, at 4 o'clock. After the stage and screen show, ice cream will be given free to each child.
Sale of reserve seats will start at McCormack's on Tuesday morning, Nov. 21.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester Girl Scout Council held it regular monthly meeting in the library, Nov. 8 at 10 a. m. with Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, Commissioner, presiding. Committee reports were very interesting which included the Scout Sunday service held at the First Congregational Church and the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Report was also brought of the Senior Girls' Conference to be held at Cedar Hill Nov. 18 for older Scouts of 14 years and over. Mrs. C. Leslie Glenn, Commissioner for Massachusetts will speak at the conference and there will be special sessions on health and charm. The New England Local Directors' Study Club will be held at Springfield, Nov. 13, and our local director, Mrs. Harvey Glazier plans to attend. Local Scout leaders plan to attend the training course Nov. 13, in Melrose with Miss Thelma Trott as Regional trainer.

The Cabin has been in constant use during the month with troops using it for cook-outs and meeting place.

Troop 9 with Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell as leader has had some interesting meeting with their chief projects as arts and crafts, music and dancing, and cooking. Mrs. George Byford for painting and Mrs. Caldwell for Tenderfoot requirements and out-of-doors program. The latter group is planning a cook-out for Nov. 16th inviting Mrs. Gilbert Tapley, group organization chairman, Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, troop committe chairman and Mrs. Glazier. Informal groups are meeting during the week with Mrs. Caldwell to plan their individual program and to get better acquainted.

Oct. 30, 1939

Dear Mrs. Elliott,

"Mrs. Cini's troop meets at her house, 9 Stratford road, every Thursday afternoon. We have chosen four patrol leaders, a treasurer, an assistant treasurer, and a scribe. We pay five cents dues every week.

Friday, Oct. 27, was a teachers' convention, so, of course, we had a holiday. This day was chosen for a hike to the Girl Scout Cabin. Eighteen out of 21 girls were present. Mrs. Cini's sister went with us. When we arrived there we divided into our patrols and gathered dead twigs and dry leaves for our frankfurter roast. Each of us found a long sturdy twig to hold the frankfurter over the fire. They were alive so they didn't burn. Some of the girls brought jack knives to sharpen the edges. We brought our own sandwiches and drinks along. After we ate we went into the cabin where a few girls played the piano. We were home by 1:30 o'clock. What fun we did have. This day was the beginning of outdoor activities field."

Yours truly,
Carolyn Litchfield

THEY WONDER WHY

"The Japanese wonder why," said Rev. Ernest Forster of Nanking, China, to the congregation of the Epiphany Church on a recent Sunday morning. "They wonder why people who are under no compulsion, who have nothing to gain by it, stay on in fatigue, discomfort, and peril to their lives, as Christian doctors, nurses and clergymen are doing in war-torn China." Here is a new human motive, something that catches the eye and sticks in the mind. Bombs are falling and destroying, but as the invaders come in, here is a little unit of doctors and nurses keeping the merciful ministrations of a hospital open.

Wounds and suffering are the only credentials needed for admission. The hospital knows no enemies. Wounded Japanese and wounded Chinese are alike welcome and alike tended to by these men and women of far-off lands, of different race and color.

"We and the Chinese are of the same color, and racially we are close kin," thoughtful Japanese have said, "and yet they will not cooperate with us. With these Christians they do cooperate." So they ponder this spirit, this way of life, that builds bridges from man to man.

From other sources some of Mr. Forster's congregation knew that in China they count him a hero for the things he has quietly dared and done. But there was nothing about himself in his sermon. He was intent on a larger and more meaningful story. There was a minimum of the horror of war. He assumed that we in America who have ears to hear and hearts to care know what that war has been like. What Mr. Forster is telling America is what a vital belief in a living God is like and how in China he has seen it enabling men to do the impossible and to think and feel what of themselves they could not think and feel. He had seen Christian Chinese and Japanese lie in hospital beds with no nationalism making them hate each other. Even though compelled for a season to make and to suffer war, they remained the human stuff of which a peaceful world can be made.

Ginling College was the setting of one of the impossible things that became fact. Students and faculty had moved hundreds of miles to the west out of the war zone. But one American woman felt a clear commission to remain behind. She felt there might be a use for the empty college buildings. There was. It was a need that no one had apprehended or foreseen. When invading soldiers became a menace to many Chinese women and girls, they crowded for shelter, 12,000 of them, to the college buildings. There were no walls. There were no guards, no guns. Yet of those thousands, only five women suffered violence. All the others remained there in safety, though day after day for a long month maddened soldiers kept women of the area in terror and in peril.

"You in the United States," said Mr. Forster, "are intent on two questions, 'Can America keep out of this war?' and 'How can America keep out?' There is a much larger question, 'Have you the answer to war?' There is an answer."

Mr. Forster's heartening reports and his challenging question were in the ears of many Winchester people as they came into Epiphany for worship together or for individual prayer on Armistice Day.

K. OF C. NOTES

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, will hold an open meeting in the council chambers in the Randall Block Monday evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

The guest speaker will be Mr. George Mansfield, chief inspector in the office of the State Fire Marshal's office. Mr. Mansfield, who will be introduced by Lecturer Walter Burns, will speak upon the subject, "Incendiary Fires," illustrating his remarks with pictures.

At the conclusion of his address there will be a closed meeting of the council with Grand Knight Thomas Travers presiding.

CAR RAMMED BUS

Boyd A. Martin of 12 Euclid avenue, Quincy, was slightly injured and the Ford truck he was driving east on Church street was badly damaged in a collision with an Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway bus Monday afternoon at 2:30.

According to the story told the police by the driver of the bus, William Gaw of 3 Village street, Reading, he had stopped in front of the residence of Mr. Thomas Salmon at 128 Church street, to pick up a passenger when the bus was struck in the rear by the truck, owned by the Atlantic Sales Corporation of Boston.

Martin complained of injuries and stated that he would go to his physician. The rear of the bus was slightly damaged and the front of the truck so badly smashed it had to be towed away.

AUTOS CRASH HEAD-ON

Several persons were injured Saturday morning at 5:45 when a Chevrolet coach driven by Helmer S. Johnson of Peach Orchard road, Burlington, while headed south on Main street was in head-on collision opposite the J. F. Winn Coal Company office with a Buick sedan, driven by Gordon William Horton of Montrose street, Pinehurst.

The front ends of both machines were so badly damaged they had to be towed away by wreckers from the Super-Service Garage. Johnson told the Police he had sustained injuries to his chest but would go to his own physician for treatment.

In the Buick with Horton were Mrs. Agnes Babcock of Pine Grove avenue, Pinehurst; Mrs. Eva Gilligan of Ruthven avenue, Burlington; Ernest Babcock of Pine Grove avenue, Pinehurst and Mrs. Margaret Horton. All were taken to the Winchester Hospital by Patrolman Edward Bowler in the cruiser and from there to the office of a Woburn physician for treatment. All sustained minor injuries though it was feared that Mrs. Horton might have a fracture of the left leg.

At the hospital Horton was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Quigley on the charge of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. In court Monday morning his case was continued utnil Nov. 27.

H. B. RICHMOND SPEAKER

H. B. Richmond of 30 Swan road was the speaker at the banquet held on Tuesday, Nov. 14, at Rochester, N. Y., in connection with a three day conference between the Radio Manufacturers Associaton and the Institute of Radio Engineers on problems pertaining to television and new methods of static free broadcasting.

Mr. Richmond is the only person who is both a past president of the Radio Manufacturer's Association and and a Fellow of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The members and guests of the Better Homes Garden Club, who availed themselves of the opportunity to hear Mr. Laurence B. Fletcher were amply repaid.

Mr. Fletcher was an able guide and took his audience on a three day field trip in color through this glorious state to many beautiful spots, some only a mile or so off the beaten road where the busy motorist passes by. Waterfalls, that most of us never knew existed, a mile and a half rhododendron path, a natural rock garden what could be lovlier? The trustees of Massachusetts are doing a marvelous piece of work in buying and preserving these reservations. A group of people, who do care, so as all of us might enjoy these picturesque spots. A cordial invitation was extended to everyone to join one of these field trips, five of which are held in a year. In conclusion Mr. Fletcher showed his famous slides of the quick and elusive humming bird.

GROUP THEATER PLAY SATURDAY, DEC. 9

The first production in the 1939-40 season of the Winchester Group Theatre is Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness." The play, a comedy depicting situations in the early part of the century in a typical New England home, will be presented at the Winchester High School on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 8:30 p. m.

Rehearsals have been progressing nicely under the guidance of Beulah Paige Sibley, the Brookline theatrical director. James Woolley, who has charge of production with his wife, reports that the sets are well underway. Active members are working on the sets every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

"LITTLE WOMEN"

They're coming! Meg, Jo, Beth, and Amy. "Little Women," to be presented by the young people of the Second Congregational Church Friday and Saturday nights, Dec. 1 and 2, will bring you the four March sisters with their joys and sorrows and their friends and laughter.

The cast under the direction of Mrs. Harry Goodwin hope to give you a new and delightful interpretation of the familiar play. This dramatization of Louisa May Alcott's well-known book is based on a successful radio adaptation by Roger Wheeler which was broadcast in 1934.

The leading parts are taken by amateurs of considerable experience who have acted both in previous church plays and other non-professional dramatics. Although this play has been presented frequently in past years, it is certain that this cast will compare favorably with any of the previous ones.

SIMONSON EXHIBITION AT LIBRARY

Winchester's many theatrical enthusiasts will be intrigued with the exhibition of Lee Simonson's designs for stage settings and costumes, and the photographs of scenes from productions he has done, now being shown at the Library Art Gallery under the auspices of the Winchester Art Association. Those interested in photography will especially want to see the photographs, taken by Francis Bruhiere, which are among the first to be taken of stage sets under stage lights in this country.

To one not especially interested in theatre design these photographs are especially outstanding. They include detail and scenes from "The Faithful" "Silas Lapham," "Liliom," "Amphytrion" "Peer Gynt" and "The Tidings Brought to Mary." The scene photographed from the latter production is especially striking.

Colored working drawings for costumes in "Elizabeth the Queen," "Le Pas d'Acier," "Peer Gynt" (the Trolls), "The Tidings Brought to Mary" and "The Queen of Sheba" are also shown with three striking projects for Hamlet, done in colors. Among the photographs are sets for a modernistice bedroom and music nook with staircase.

The exhibit is quite different from those previously sponsored by the Art Association, and is in line with the new policy of showing not only art in its generally accepted form but also the newer channels into which the creative genius of artists is being directed.

Mr. Simonson's exhibit will remain at the library through November. The public is cordially invited to see and enjoy it.

OBSERVING 70TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Golden wedding anniversaries are noteworthy, 60th anniversaries are rare indeed and 70th anniversaries, so unusual as to be almost unheard of. It is necessary to use "almost" in this instance because observing the 70th anniversary of their marriage is just what Mr. and Mrs. George H. Eustis are doing at their home on Stevens street today.

Mr. Eustis and his wife, the former Clara Ann Ellis, were married by the Rev. Mr. Barnes at the Unitarian Church in Woburn Nov. 24, 1869. They came to Winchester in 1871 and have lived ever since that time in the same house, 14 Stevens street. Mr. Eustis, who was born Feb. 18, 1846 in Boston, is 93. Mrs. Eustis was born Feb. 29, 1848, in Waterville, Me., and is 91. Despite their advanced age both are enjoying good health. Mr. Eustis, widely known among residents of the town of all walks in life, was town treasurer from July 1910, to Aug. 1918. He has been a trustee of the town library since 1903 and has served as chairman of the board since 1911.

Mr. and Mrs. Eustis are the parents of three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Francis A. Gray of Auburn, Calif., Mrs. Clarence A. Burt of Springfield, Mrs. Morton C. Seelye of Puyallup, Washington; W. A. B. Eustis of San Francisco, Calif. and Ernest R. Eustis of this town, the last named being a town cemetery commissioner and treasurer of the Winchester Co-operative Bank.

SCHOOL OF POLITICS DEC. 8

Prof. John J. Mahoney of Watertown, Professor of Education since 1922, will be the morning speaker at the School of Politics being sponsored by the Fortnightly, the Winchester League of Women Voters and the State League, Friday, Dec. 8, in Fortnightly Hall, Winchester. Professor Mahoney will speak on, Education for Citizenship.

Eduard C. Lindeman of Whitebridge N. J., teacher, editor, lecturer and writer, will be the speaker at the afternoon session.

The public is invited to attend the school and may receive information from Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks, chairman, Winchester. Mrs. Sparks is entertaining at a tea, on Friday, at her home on Cabot street, the chairman and members of the committee for the school.

Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks is general chairman, Mrs. Phillip Woodward is co-chairman, in charge of program, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, publieity; Mrs. Clarence Newton tickets; Mrs. Roger Burgoyne, hall arrangement; Mrs. G. Raymond Baneroft and Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas, luncheon. Mrs. LaRue Brown, president of the Massachusetts League, Mrs. Paul Howard, president of the Fortnightly, Mrs. William C. Cusaek, president of the Winchester League of Women Voters and Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the presiding officers at different sessions.

MISS KATHERINE BOUTWELL ENGAGED

At a luncheon given Sunday at their farm in Milford, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hill Boutwell, 2nd, of Foxcroft road announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Hood Boutwell, to Harry Preston Hood, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Preston Hood of Wellesley Hills.

Miss Boutwell attended Colby Junior College and was graduated from Connecticut College for Women with the class of 1938. Last year she attended the Garland School. She is a great-granddaughter of the late Harvey Perley Hood, and a niece of Mr. Harvey P. Hood, 2nd, of Cambridge and Manchester.

Her fiance, who was graduated from Bowdoin College with the class of 1939, was a member of the Student Council, the White Key and the Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is a well-known Massachusetts amateur golfer.

The wedding will take place next spring.

MR. STONE AAA DIRECTOR

Mr. Herbert E. Stone of Edgehill road, vice president of the Second National Bank of Boston and a member of the advisory board of the Boston Automobile Club, was unanimously elected to the national board of directors of the American Automobile Association at its 37th meeting held recently in Washington.

Mr. Stone, with Bradbury F. Cushing of the Statler Hotel interests, attended the Washington meeting particularly to present an invitation from the State, Mayor Tobin and the Boston Chamber of Commerce to hold the 1940 convention of the American Automobile Association in Boston.

TO ADDRESS BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE

Mr. Clifford Macdonald, a resident of this town who has become increasingly popular throughout Greater Boston as a young peoples speaker, will address the Young People's Society of the First Baptist Church Sunday, Nov. 26 on the subject, "The Counterfeit War." The service to be held in the chapel of the church at 7 p. m. will be led by Mr. Carl Pynn. All young people are cordially invited to attend and unite with us. A good time is guaranteed.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Many Winchester friends, or at least a number of them, of Stephen Ryan, formerly of Winchester, ate vension over the week-end, as the result of 'Steve's' fortunate bagging of a 150 pound buck while on a hunting trip the past week with several greater Boston men. "Steve," who now resides in Medford, had a narrow escape from serious accident when, on the way back with his deer on the side of his car, the carcass worked loose and in some means or other got under the left rear wheel of his car and toppled it over. At the time he was going at about 25 miles per hour. Had he been going faster it is doubtful if any of his friends in Winehester would have enjoyed venson this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell Hildreth of Marblehead are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter, Alice Russell, born Nov. 18. Mrs. Hildreth is the former Mary Isbell Tibbetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tibbetts, of Sheffield road. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hildreth of Highland avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Pollard are spending this week with relatives in Detroit for the Nov. 23 Thanksgiving.

Elinor Reeves, Grace Croughwell and Gladys Fifield attended the week-end party at Kimball Union Academy last week as the guests of Joe Butler, Phil Cabot and Ted Burleigh.

The Winchester High School second football team closed their season Monday fternoon on the Shore road athletic field, dropping a 6 to 0 verdict to the Belmont Jay-Vees. The locals lost the game in a heart breaking manner, rushing the ball deep into Belmont territory, only to nave a pass intercepted on the Belmont two yard line and converted into the winning touchdown.

Fred Freeland Walker of Woburn and Burlington is enroute to the Pacific Coast on a business trip. Mr. Walker is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. John Maxson Wilcox of Woburn.

ARRESTED AFTER CRASH

One motorist was taken to the hospital and another arrested after a collision had reduced two cars to wreckage at the intersection of Church and Wildwood streets shortly before 12:30 yesterday morning.

According to the Police a Ford tudor sedan, driven by Edward F. Stepper of 1014 South street, Roslindale, while heading west on Church street, was in collision with a Plymouth sedan, being driven from Wildwood street onto Church street by Thomas J. Brennan of 29 Packard avenue, Somerville.

Both cars were so badly smashed they had to be towed away. Stepner was taken in Patrol 51 to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Philip McManus for cuts about the face and knee. Brennan was arrested by Officer James F. Noonan on the charges of drunkenness and driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He appeared in the district court at Woburn later Thursday morning when his case was continued until next Friday.

The ministers of the Protestant Churches will assist.

The First Baptist Church Choir will sing "Festival Te Deum" by Dudley Buck. The public is cordially invited.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN AWAIT WHISTLE

Big Crowd Expected for Turkey Day Classic

Winchester and Woburn High Schools conclude their current football schedules Thanksgiving morning when they hook up in their annual game on the Shore road athletic field commencing at 10:15. A huge crowd is expected for this year's contest and those who like to watch their football sitting down will do well to get to the field early.

For the first time in several years there is no pronounced favorite. Woburn, while it has won few games, has done much better than for several seasons and its supporters distinctly believe it has at least an even chance against the locals. Winchester, while not so good as a year ago, showed in the Wellesley game it can play football good enough to make the Tanners hustle all the way. There is no denying that the locals have played in and out football over the whole season, blowing very hot for one game and pretty cold the next. Against teams such as Woburn faces every week it is a very moot question whether Winchester's record would be as good as the Tanners.

Comparative scores favor the Orange and Black. Both teams played Stoneham, Winchester winning its game, 7 to 0; and Woburn coming through, 19 to 6. Winchester was outplayed in a scoreless tie by Marblehead, a team beaten better than 40 to 0 by Saugus last Saturday. Saugus could only score onee against Woburn, and you can't laugh off the Tanner's wins over Winthrop, Wakefield and Revere.

Winchester's offense against good teams has been far from impressive. The locals failed to score against Arlington, Marblehead, Punchard and Belmont, scoring single touchdown wins over Stoneham and Wellesley. Only against admittedly weak Lexington, Maynard and Concord has the Red and Black really clicked.

Woburn in turn hasn't run up any sizeable tallies, but it has shown a defense able to keep some pretty fair football teams to low scores. Melrose's three touchdowns is tops against the Tanners for the season, and Melrose is one of the strong schoolboy clubs in Greater Boston.

So it would seem the Woburn fans have some foundation for their optimism this Turkey Day, but we wouldn't want to wager much money either way. We have seen too many good clubs on each side held even by inferior teams aroused to fighting pitch by the rivalry of these Winchester-Woburn classies to be influenced by comparative scores or past form. These important considerations in other games go right out the window when the Red and Black mingle with the Black and Orange. The breaks as usual will play a big part in determining this year's winner, with the team scoring first being a hard one to defeat.

Woburn will have ready for action Jack and "Jim" Begley, huge linemen; Hogan, Moze, Brewer, Cassidy, O'Donnell, Garvey, O'Doherty and Smith who played against Winchester last year. "Dan" Stygles, Marabella, Holmes, Horie, Vespucci and those Co-Captain stalwarts, DeTeso and Galuffo saw service at Woburn in 1938.

The Tanners are reputed to have a strong, aggressive line, two good ends and a couple of good backs in Roache and Cassidy. They are said to be weak against a passing attack. Winchester has a potentially good line led by Tony DeTeso, a superlative center. It has a great back in Galuffo, another good one in McEwen. In Marabella it has a really good kicker. To date its passing game has been far from consistent.

So "you pays your money and takes your choice." Take a look at the record of games since 1925 before you really toss in the family plate on either club!

FIRST PRIZE FOR MANTLE ARRANGEMENT

The Winchester Garden Club was awarded first prize for dining room mantle arrangement at the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts. The club opened its Thanksgiving Decoration and Winter Bouquet Show Nov. 20 to continue until Dec. 1.

A committee of three, appointed by Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, exhibit chairman, had charge of this special exhibit: Mrs. Virgil M. Ghirardini, Mrs. Fred Russell, Mrs. Ejnar Bratt. The judges were Mrs. Arthur P. Teele, Regional Viee President of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts and Mrs. Anson Smith, instructor and authority on flower arrangement. Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, past president of the Winchester Garden Club served as clerk, keeping records of the awards in this class. Mrs. Whitman also had charge of the class featuring "Winter Bouquets for Library Tables."

The committee representing the Winchester Garden Club brought out in detail a unison of thought in this unique arrangement and had as a motif the beautiful mahogany mantle with its richly-earved wheat, seed-pods and rock-roses. The Chinese container held the arrangement of fountain, marsh and broom grass, milkweed, cat of ninetails, sumach, branches of dogwood, pheasant feathers and rock-roses. On each end of the mantle, brass candlesticks with ivory candles completed the setting.

Considering the fact that no perishable materials or evergreens were permissible in this arrangement, the committee deserves added praise.

STANLEY CHAPPLE TO LECTURE IN WINCHESTER

Stanley Chapple is to give a lecture on "The Influence of Rhythm in Music" at the home of Mrs. John Carr, 2 Gardner place, Wednesday evening, Dec. 6, at 8:15 p. m.

Mr. Chapple is associate director at Guild Hall, London. As a conductor, he has steadily risen in reputation, having been guest conductor of the Berlin Philharmonie, the Vienna Symphony, the London Symphony, the London Philharmonic and the British Broadeasting Corp. orchestra.

Mr. Chapple first came to America in 1930 to lecture in St. Louis. The result of that lecture was an annual summer class in Boston and subsequently in other eities.

The lecture will be illustrated at the piano with musie beginning with the oratorio up through modern music.

MISS POLAND SHOWERED

Warren M. Cox of Salisbury road, well known in local Elks circles as past exalted ruler of Woburn Lodge, 908, and district deputy grand exalted ruler of Massachusetts Northeast, will have his home coming visitation to Woburn Lodge Sunday afternoon at the Woburn High School auditorium on Montvale avenue commeneing at 3 o'clock.

Large delegations are expected from Elks' lodges in the Northeast and among the distinguished guests who will be present are John F. Malley of Boston, past grand exalted ruler of the Grand Lodge; E. Mark Sullivan of Boston, a member of the Grand Lodge Forum; and John F. Burke, chairman of the Grand Lodge's committees of State Elks' Associations.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 23. Should these four men "make up" for their absences it really would be a day of thankgiving for the club.

Speaking of Thanksgiving Day, there will be no meeting of this club on Nov. 30 but members are making a voluntary contribution of the luncheon charge regularly payable on that date to the community welfare fund. Members absent on Nov. 23 may forward this voluntary contribution to George Davidson, chairman of our Community Service committee.

Vice President George Carter is doing a grand job in the matter of procuring programs for our meetings. Which speaks volumes for George's loyalty to Rotary, since he is a very busy man in various fields of work.

District Governor Beach's October letter, distributed at this meeting is a communication of unusual interest. In the attendance report for the month we note that the Winchester club is on the honor list for the first time this year. Which helps a lot to be sure, even though we stand at the bottom of a list of 14 clubs. Governor Bill also lists the community service activities of the clubs in the District. A study of this list is very much worth while. Our own club is by no means inactive in this field but we believe that a careful perusal of the Governor's presentation will stimulate our members to still further effort. And usually this co-operative effort does not require a great deal of work on the part of the individual. But it does accomplish much for the community. We should indeed be grateful to Rotary for making it possible for our services to bring significant results, results which otherwise might be difficult of attainment.

Sheriff Joseph M. McElroy of Middlesex County addressed our club during the after-luncheon period of the current meeting. His topic was "Duties of the Sheriff." Sheriff McElroy is recognized as one of the Commonwealth's ablest administrators in his department of goverment and our County of Middlesex is the most populous of the counties of Massachusetts. It becomes evident, therefore, that his message was of great interest to us and, in view of recent comments on the shrievalty, most timely. The duties of this official are well nigh infinite in number and variety and the limits of space forbid their consideration here. But duties confirmed our opinion that he is the right man in the right place. His courtesy in coming to us at this time is deeply appreciated.

Remember! No meeting on Nov. 30. Come on Dec. 7 to listen to our fellow-townsman, Mr. Raymond S. Wilkins, a member of the official staff of Governor Saltonstall.

EDWARD DION

Edward Dion, who died Saturday, Nov. 18, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ralph J. Christie, 1 Johnson place, Woburn, was a native of Winchester and spent his early life in this town. Mr. Dion learned the currier's trade as a young man and had been for many years employed in the leather shops in Winchester and Woburn. He had been a resident of Woburn since leaving this town.

Besides his daughter, Mr. Dion leaves his wife, Mrs. Sarah (McGory) Dion; another daughter, Miss Frances Dion; two sons, Lawrence and Leo Dion; a brother Joseph Dion of Woburn; and two sisters, Rosella of Springfield; and Mrs. Albena Gott of Lynn.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning with high mass of requiem in St. Charles Church, Woburn. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

RETIRING SUPERINTENDENT DINED

Operators at the Winchester Telephone Exchange gave a dinner party last week Thursday evening at the Hotel Alpine in Boston for John Fentross of Medford who recently retired after 12 years service as the local exchange's superintendent. Jack as he is known to his associates has been in the telephone company's employ for more than 37 years, starting at the Oxford Exchange in Boston.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Miss Esther O'Melia, on behalf of the operators, presented Mr. Fentross with a handsome gold wrist watch. Mrs. Fentross, who was also a guest at the dinner, was remembered with a beautiful bouquet.

ATTACKED WIFE WITH ICE PICK

A Winchester man is being held in $2500 for appearance before the Grand Jury, charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon upon his wife. He was arrested Saturday night by Sergt. Joseph Derro, after a call for assistance had been sent into Police Headquarters.

When the Police arrived the man was being held by his son who went to his mother's assistance after the father had allegedly stabbed her several times about the face and arms with an ice pick. Another son, who had tried to help his mother, was also stabbed about the nose and hands.

Neither was dangerously wounded and both were treated at the office of Dr. Angelo Maietta. The father appeared in the Woburn Court Saturday morning.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The regular November meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday, Nov. 20, at the home of Mrs. Francis Carlson, 95 Mystic Valley Parkway, with the new regent, Mrs. J. Churchill Hindes presiding. While the chapter was conscious of the loss of Mrs. Newman, we felt that under the able leadership of Mrs. Hindes the chapter would continue to carry on very well.

The regent announced that the board had appointed the following officers to serve until the annual meeting, to fill vacancies caused by the death of Mrs. Newman and Mrs. Perley; recording secretary, Miss Clara R. Russell; vice regent, Mrs. George M. Bryne; historian, Miss Margaret Newman; chairman of membership committee, Mrs. Harry T. Jackson.

Miss Margaret Newman, who attended the State Board meeting in Boston last week representing the chapter, gave a resume of the meeting, and one interesting fact was that of the 153 old documents which have been sent to Washington during the last year representing 43 chapters, Massachusetts had contributed the largest number of any state.

At the close of the business meeting the regent presented Mrs. George A. Dutting, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, who spoke on the work of the Red Cross, particularly in Winchester. Mrs. Dutting said that many people thought the Red Cross functioned only in case of big disasters, but the fact is that the Red Cross is working every day in the year. She referred to its many activities in Winchester, especially its work in life-saving instruction at the summer playgrounds, first aid work for the Ski Club, police and firemen, classes in home hygiene given at the high school, the hospital visits to the Veterans' Hospital, besides the help given to appeals for assistance in many lines. Mrs. Dutting gave us a new insight into the great work being done by this humane organization.

After Mrs. Dutting's talk, tea was served by the hostess and her committee: Mrs. J. C. Hindes, Mrs. Harold C. Warn, Miss Margaret Newman and Mrs. Arthur H. Swan.

CROSSING TENDER RETIRES

Michael Crampton, veteran second shift gate tender at the Winchester Center crossing of the Boston & Maine Railroad, retired Nov. 14, after 34 years of continuous service, all in Winchester.

Citizens in all walks of life, both in and around Winchester, knew and liked "Mike" Crampton whose ready smile and pleasant manner will be missed especially by those who frequent the center.

Born in Ireland, Mr. Crampton lived for 35 years in Winchester on Clark street. He entered the railroad service Sept. 13, 1905, and has been continuously on the job since that time. He now makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. P. J. Sullivan, at 47 Whitney road in Medford.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Music Study Group held its first meeting on Thursday, Nov. 16 at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. William Morton, on Arlington street. The chairman, Mrs. John P. Carr introduced the course on, "Listeners' Music" for which 41 members have subscribed. During the morning victrola records were played by Mrs. Morton to illustrate the speaker's remarks. Mrs. Carr made special mention of the many free concerts that are available to the public, at the Boston Public Library, the Museum of Fine Arts, Faculty Concerts at the Longy School, at the Fogg Museum, the Gardner Museum, etc. On the radio, concerts may be heard daily 2-3 p. m., WCOP 112; 9-10 p. m., WMEX 150; Sunday, 3-4:30 p. m. and 10:3 -11 p. m.; Friday, 2 p. m. Damrosch, Saturday, 10-11:30 p. m., Toscanini. The reference book for this group is "Listeners' Music" by Leland Hall, a copy of which is in the Library on the College Club Shelf.

Because of Thanksgiving, the next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Carr, 2 Gardner place. For information in regard to the Music Study Group, members are requested to call Miss Mary Hodge, secretary, Win. 0559-M.

Mrs. Alton Jackson and her committee are making plans for the Architecture Study Group which will hold its first meeting on Jan. 12, 1940. The subject of study will be, "Architecture of the American Colonies and Early Republic." The committee recommends that all members who are interested in this subject take advantage of the opportunity now available to view the exhibition of American Architecture (prints) at the Addison Gallery in Andover. It will be held through Nov. 30, and is very worth while.

Mrs. Lester Armstrong, chairman of the committee who are planning Museum trips, recommends the exhibition of miniatures at the Currier Gallery in Manchester, N. H., by Jeremiah Pearson Hardy and Mary Ann Hardy, which is being held during November. "Old Time New England" magazine carries an article this month on these undiscovered artists.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

An outstanding musical program will be presented at the regular meeting on Monday, Nov. 27. The Chromatic Quintet, with Genevieve Thompson, violinist; Mabel Robbins, cellist; Dorothy Curtis, pianist and Gladys Crockford and Kenneth D. Custance, harpists presents a program of instrumental combinations that will thrill and delight all lovers of good music. This is a public meeting, to which guests may be invited.

Mr. Edward B. Ladd, well known Winchester amateur photographer, will present his colored motion pictures of the New York World's Fair, and his trip from New York to California by motor, at the meeting of the Conservation Committee on Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 2:30 in Fortnightly Hall. There will be an exhibition of autumn leaves and grasses, and at the conclusion of the meeting, tea will be served.

CLOSES BIG ORDER

R. H. B. Smith of Law... road, secured signed contracts on Wednesday of this week for 95,000 barrels of cement to be used in the construction of the Federal Flood Control Dam at Franklin Falls, N. H. This is reported to be the largest order placed with one company for the entire requirements of a single project in the New England states during at least the past ten years. It comprises approximately 400 carloads to be shipped during the next year and a half. Mr. Smith is assistant sales manager of the Universal Atlas cement subsidiary of the U. S. Steel corporation and has been actively working on this contract since July when the U. S. Army Engineers Corps advertised for bids for the construction of the dam. He closed the sale with Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company of Chicago, contractors for the concrete portion of the $4,600,000 project.

DINNER PARTY ARMISTICE EVE

Miss Edythe Derby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Derby of 91 Church street, had a dinner party Armistice Eve at her home. The guests included the Misses Ann Lowery and Kay Sutton, of Arlington; Mr. Courtland Edwards of Bowdoin College and Arlington, Mr. Robert Davis and Mr. Gene Murry, both of Arlington.

After dinner they went on to Boston where they enjoyed dancing to a popular orchestra.

TEELE AND MOBBS BEAT WAKEFIELD TEAM

The week-end matches of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association were enlivened last week by the challenge of a Wakefield team, Messrs. Dinan and Hudson, who arrived at the beach bringing their own shoes and eager for action.

The championship court was busy but the visitors took on the local team of Arthur Butters and Roland Pridham, finally coming from behind to win the deciding contest of a three game series after seeing their Winchester opponents reach 25. Incidentally there was some excellent pitching in the games, the Wakefield boys having five double ringers to their credit.

Moving up to the first court, Messrs. Dinan and Hudson engaged the Association's president, Royal P. Teele, and the number 1 pitcher of the outfit, Stanley Mobbs. At the end of three games the Wakefield boys were one game up. Mobbs did some very classy pitching in the next game to pull up even with the invaders.

Meanwhile Teele had been having a terrible time trying to control his shoes, and he still was far from his best as the teams entered the deciding game. Fortunately Hudson too lost the range for Mobbs and Dinan were having a great old duel, each tossing on ringers with monotonous regularity.

Spurred on by a flopping ringer that landed a foot from the pin and by the vocal admonitions of his partner and fellow association members, Royal pulled himself together and got three ringers that helped plenty. The and Mobbs finally pulling out on top 25 to 17.

Just to show there was no hard feelings the association secretary and "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, winner of a previous match with Butters, the State of Maine champ and "Wrong Count" Pridham, took on Willoughby and the Fireman (Mobbs and Teele), winning in two straight with McLaughlin going great guns!

Eleanor Reeves, Grace Croughwell and Barbara Fifield attended Kimball Union house parties and the Dartmouth-Cornell game over last weekend.

WINCHESTER GIRLS NIPPED WATERTOWN

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team closed another unbeaten, untied and unscored upon season last Friday afternoon by defeating the Watertown High girls, eleven, 1 to 0, on Manchester Field.

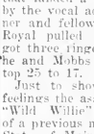

Neither team could score during the first half, play being very even. With the resumption of play in the second half, Winchester began to threaten, and finally Barbara Hughes, local right inner, took the ball about midway between the 25 and 50 yard lines in Watertown territory and carried to the goal where her shot was stopped by Gosler Renard. As the Watertown goalie attempted to clear, however, she back-handed the ball into the net as Hughes pressed in for another crack at it, this single goal being enough to decide the game.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds and Watertown seconds battled to a scoreless tie.

Following is the first team summary:

WINCHESTER		WATERTOWN
Carroll, rw		rw, Porter

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED CONCORD

41-0 Victory Gave Locals League Title Tie

Winchester High School's black busters steam-rollered Concord High, 41-0, last Saturday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field, thereby winning a tie for the current Middlesex League championship with Belmont. The game was just a romp for the locals, Assistant Coach Shaw who was in charge of the team in the absence of Coach Lauer, at Woburn for a pre-turkey day game peek at the Tanners, using second and third team men during much of the game and sending even several freshmen players into the fray.

Concord offered little opposition to Winchester, the visitors being completely outclassed. Winchester rolled up 13 first downs to four for Concord, rushing for 293 yards to 44 for the opposition. The locals completed three of 17 passes for 66 yards while Concord made two of ten aerials good for 35 yards. Winchester lost twenty yards in penalties while Concord lost six, the second of two offside penalties coming with the ball on the losers' two yard line.

The game wasn't much more than a minute old when the locals scored. Marabella kicked off to Henry who was stopped on his 25. Two tries at the line were piled up and Voigt kicked to Tracy who got back to his own 46. McEwen broke through the line for a first down at the Concord 32, and immediately, Galuffo spun through a big hole in the visiting frontier to score standing up. Marabella kicked the goal.

Immediately after the ensuing kick-off Winchester scored again in seven plays from its own 48 yard line, Galuffo again going over from four yards out. Marabella again kicked the goal.

With an entirely new team in action Winchester was over again on the first play of the third quarter, Derby scooting 12 yards around left end for the score. Concord spoiled an attempted pass for the extra point.

Marabella kicked off to start the third quarter, Boyd getting back to his 22. A pass interception by McEwen gave Winchester the ball at that point and five plays later Galuffo went over from the nine yard line. Again Marabella place kicked the goal.

Just before the start of the final quarter Derby ran a Concord punt to his 55. West picked up four and then lost four as the whole Concord line got through for once, Derby passing to McEwen for a first down at the Concord 33. McCormack spun through the line for a first down at the 15, McEwen got four and Tracy five.

A five yard penalty against Winchester put the ball back on the 11 from where Tracy, on a reverse was over standing up. McCormack bucked for the extra point.

Winchester's final points came shortly before the final whistle as Marabella recovered a ball fumbled after a Winchester interception of a Concord aerial at the visitor's 35. Galuffo in two rushes reached the 17 and an offside against Concord put the ball on the 12. A short pass on which Styples made a nice catch ate up eight yards and Galuffo bucked twice to make the first down on the two yard stripe. Here Concord was penalized half the distance to their goal line and on the next rush Galuffo was over. Styples rushed for the extra point. The summary:

Notes

Only a handful out for this game. Concord's poor record evidently kept its own supporters at home, and aside from high school students and a few faithful supporters, there were few in the Winchester stands. Uncertainty about the result of a game is what brings out the real fans.

Concord had the look of a beaten team, and small wonder! Absorbing 35 and 40 to 0 lickings each week isn't too much fun. The visitors appeared to have much greater possibilities than they showed.

Each year some unknown jumps into the fans' fancy in a single game. Last year the rubbery "Stan" Puffer made an instantaneous hit in the second half of the Wellesley game, and this year young "Billy" West aroused the stands when he swung into action.

This freshman back looked very good getting away once for 22 yards, passing well and generally looking as cool as ice in action. He has a great pair of legs and acts as if he "likes it."

Big Byron Horie was back at tackle after an enforced absence because of inelig.bility. A regular tackle last year he will provide some very good line insurance for the Woburn game.

This boy, McBrun in the Concord backfield, looked mighty good under about the toughest possible circumstances. He made some nice tackles and carried the ball well without any help. He would go places with a line ahead of him.

Flavin of Concord might have scored after receiving that first down pass at the beginning of the second half. He nabbed the ball at the Winchester 45 and advanced to the 34 before being pulled down. Had he cut out for the sidelines instead of in where his own mates slowed him up, he would have been away.

The Winchester bench showed plenty of pep, the boys not playing standing up and giving their mates on the field a hand every time they scored.

Assistant Coach Andy Lentine, old Winchester High and B. C. lineman, brought some of the local players down from the clouds when he reminded them that the opposition provided by Concord wasn't especially "tough." The current edition wasn't much like some of the Concord teams of' "Tentine" faced.

Coach Lauer took advantage of the opportunity to see Woburn play Revere, and ought to have learned more than the Tanner scouts picked up from their visit to Shore road. Woburn won, 12 to 0, from a big Revere team and according to several local fans, looked pretty good. Winchester of course, didn't have to show a thing against Concord.

It really is too bad that the game wasn't a bit stiffer. The locals had no worth-while opposition and this may hurt with the long wait to the Woburn game. It's evident Winchester will have no sinecure with this year's edition of the Tanners.

Assistant Coach Shaw sent in men with such rapidity that it was virtually impossible to keep track of them. Seems as if some of the boys must have met themselves going or coming, they were in and out so much.

Add the name of Murphy to those of the "Heebie Jeebies" who looked good against Concord. "Doc's" son carried once only but turned in a 12-yard first down.

Buck up on that passing game, Winchester. Three completions in 17 tries against a team like Concord is far from an impressive showing in the air!

WILL MAKE 15TH HARVARD-YALE GAME

Neal O'Hara in his nationally circulated newspaper column had this to say recently: "An ardent sports fan, and particularly a football enthusiast, Herbert L. Baldwin, the B&M and Maine Railroad's publicity chief, has probably established a record. He hasn't missed a Harvard football game in 14 years, played either at home or abroad."

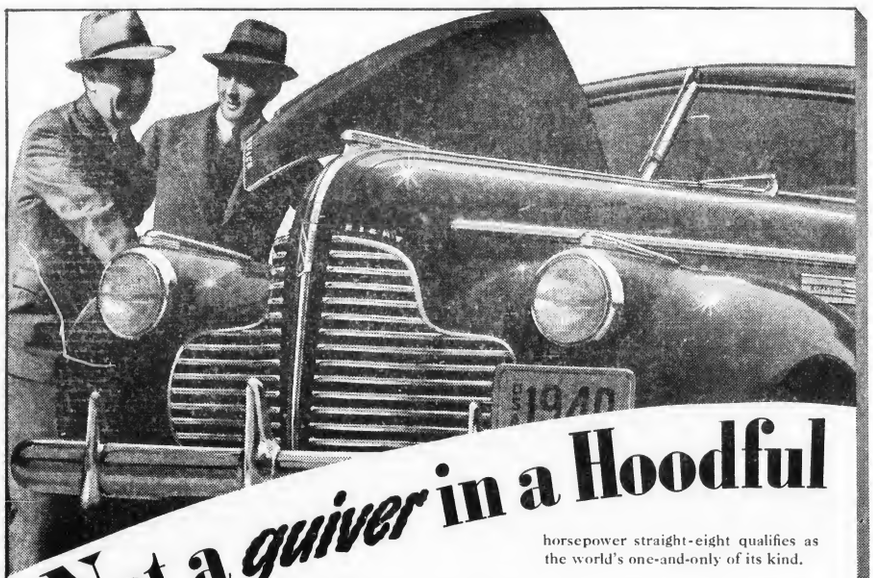

Mr. Baldwin, whose home is at 5 Ardley place, Winchester, will, with Mrs. Baldwin, be at the Harvard-Yale game at the Stadium Saturday this week and will then complete his 15th year of constant attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin both attended the games at Chicago and at Princeton this year. Mr. Baldwin, who before his connection with the two largest northern New England railroads was night city editor of the Boston Post is also an ardent hockey fan. With Mrs. Baldwin he attended all the play-off games last season both in New York and in Toronto, Can.

ON SWIMMING TEAM AT BATES

Miss Martha Blaisdell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Blaisdell, of 2 Wolcott terrace, was one of two successful candidates in the recent try-outs for membership in the newly formed Swimming Club for the women at Bates College, Lewiston, Me., where she is a sophomore this year.

Miss Blaisdell was graduated from Winchester High School in 1938. While there she played on the baseball team for which she won her letter. She was graduated with high honors. At Bates Miss Blaisdell is a member of the Dance Club.

Not a quiver in a Hoodful

LIFT the bonnet of a 1940 Buick and you'll see a hoodful of power plant whose very dimensions reveal the vast reserve of energy it puts at your command.

But just start this over-size giant—stir this sleeping brute into action, and you find that only the blur of the fan blades betrays its readiness to get up and go!

For you're looking at an engine balanced within limits eight to sixteen times closer than ordinary practice permits.

So precise is Buick's exclusive method of micropoise-balancing after assembly that a misplaced dime's weight on the flywheel rim is enough to reject any engine until that condition has been corrected.

On that score alone this hundred-plus horsepower straight-eight qualifies as the world's one-and-only of its kind.

But in addition to that it's a valve-in-head engine, 10% more efficient, size for size—and it's a Dynaflash valve-in-head, which means it gets more good out of every drop of gas!

The car this great eight powers has plenty else to lay claim to your attention—smart new styling, BuiCoil Springing's "full float" comfort, "finger flick" Handishift transmission, seats in some models that are next thing to five feet wide.

But even if you overlook them and all the rest of its 72 new features—your best buy's still Buick on its power plant alone.

There's not a quiver in a hoodful of ready-to-ramble energy—and nobody will be more pleased to prove it than your nearest Buick dealer!

One of the burning questions before the country today according to our Washington propagandists is the unemployment of youth. It is reported to be really serious and something must be done about it. Besides, it is casting a bad blot on business. Well —why worry. Under the laws enacted for their benefit, boys cannot work today until they are about 40 years old—and then they are eligible for a pension.

Our Washington propaganda bureau is now engaged in spreading the good news that we are to have an "economy budget." Those who remember other similar broadcasts during the past seven years, with their resulting accomplishments, will take it for what it is worth. In other words, you will not save anything, and if all goes well you will not have to pay any more—perhaps. Does it take more than seven years for you to believe that?

WHY I CANNOT BE A COMMUNIST

The young people of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church are fortunate to have Dr. Herbert Gezork as their next Forum leader. Dr. Gezork will be with the Forum for next month. His subjects will be: Why I Cannot be a Communist, Why I Cannot be a Fascist, Why I Believe in Democracy.

Dr. Gezork will discuss these subjects with complete frankness, and in the light of his recent experiences in Germany, which were both tragic and thrilling.

LOYALTY SUNDAY AT EPIPHANY

The wardens and vestrymen of the Church of the Epiphany have asked all members of the parish to make Sunday, Nov. 26, Loyalty Sunday. The date either falls opportunely or was chosen most carefully. For it weaves together more than one timely meaning of the word loyalty.

At the 11 o'clock service the pledge cards for financial support of the parish and the general church will be received. Mr. Henry E. Moffette is chairman of the committee. Associated with him are Messrs. Samuel M. Best, Thomas I. Freeburn, Torr W. Harmer, Gerald Y. Hills, Herbert W. Kelley and Harold B. Richmond.

ENTERTAINED GARDEN LOVERS CLUB

Mrs. Herbert B. Cox of 2 Curtis street entertained the Garden Lovers Club of Greater Boston on Friday afternoon, the 17th. The speaker, Mrs. Frank A. Tredinnick spoke on the subject, "Gracious Times." She illustrated her talk with interesting examples of Christmas decorations. A large attendance enjoyed the delightful tea served by the hostess.

MISS AVERY'S LECTURE

In the fourth lecture in the Smith College Club series to be given on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at 2:30 p. m., in the Wyman School hall, Eunice Harriet Avery will talk on, "The Pacific, from Alaska to the Philippines, as an American Project."

Attending the week-end party at Dartmouth over last week-end was Barbara Fifield of Woodside road, the guest of Bob Smith of New Britain, Conn.

OUTSTANDING CAST ASSEMBLED

For "Ah Wilderness" By Group

In announcing the names of those who are included in the cast of "Ah Wilderness" Mr. and Mrs. James Woolley, who have charge of the Group Theatre's fall play, call attention to the exceptional group of local talent taking part. Dr. Milne F. Blanchard, who has already made an enviable reputation on the amateur stages of Winchester, is cast as Nat Miller—the part played by George M. Cohan in the professional production. Clifford Cunningham, Jr., whose juvenile interpretations are admired by many of our townspeople, plays the part of Richard, the youth burdened by emotional conflicts. Surrounding these two leading players is a carefully selected list of actors and actresses. These include: Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mss Peggy Green, Mrs. Del Smith, Miss Helen Rassett and Mrs. Rosalind Lynch. One of the most delightful male characters is that of Sid, the family relation of the Miller's who just can't make the grade when it comes to giving up his two loves, laziness and beverages. This character will be portrayed by Dr. Eugene Pollard, a past president of the Group.

To add to the entire New England atmosphere which pervades the production Gordon Bennett, Mul Olivier and Sherman Russell complete the list of actors with one exception. This exception is the part of Tommy a regular American boy who is always getting into mischief and manages to keep the nerves of the other characters on edge. A real boy, Eben Caldwell, will portray this interesting character.

George W. Hayden, Jr., has designed the New England homestead sets to be used in the play. The scenery is practically ready as we go to press. The set building department seems to chalk up a new record for speed with every added production of the Group Theatre.

Miss Frances Pierce, in charge of properties, announced that the properties committee is already hard at work and consists of Mrs. Eloise Graves, Mrs. Hersilia Elmer, Mrs. Rowen Tufts, Mrs. Mabel Chilcotte, Messrs. Roger Newell and Edmund Merriam, Jr.

Tickets for sustaining and active members will be in the mails early next week. There are still some guest tickets available and these are obtainable from active members, or from Mrs. W. E. Spaulding Win. 0025-W.

The presentation of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness" at the Winchester High School on Saturday, Dec. 9 will mark the beginning of the Group Theatres sixth season of production. Fellow townspeople are strongly urged to become sustaining members of this well-known little theater organization and those interested in active membership can obtain full details from the Group's secretary, Mrs. Anne Burnham, Win. 0456.

LITTLE WOMEN

Have your made your plans to see Little Women as presented by the players of the Second Congregational Church on Dec. 1 or 2?

You haven't? Well, you certainly should!

This talented group is staging a worth while revival in their dramatization of Louisa May Alcott's familiar story, providing an evening of entertainment with laughter, tears and romance intermingled.

Followers of the drama in Winchester will recall the high standard in dramatics maintained by the young people of the Little Church in the Highlands; having to their credit such recent artistic successes as Goblin Gold; the operetta Cinderella in Flowerland; the miniature opera Hansel and Gretel; and Lady Gregory's Spreading the News.

Mrs. Harry Goodwin is again directing.

Harry Goodwin, George Hayden, John Robinson, John Webber and Peter MacDonald comprise the stage committee.

Mrs. Lillian Snyder and Barbara Wright are busy tracking down properties of the proper period.

Mrs. Alberta Baker, Betty and Marjorie Kendrick are carrying the very heavy burden of costuming.

Miss Olive Robinson has charge of tickets.

David Bartholomew is leading the publicity committee.

MOTORIST CAPTURED AFTER CHASE

Only after a long chase during which the rear tires of his machine were punctured by bullets from Officer Clarence Dunbury's revolver was a fugitive motorist captured and booked at headquarters late last Saturday night.

According to the police Officer Dunbury and Officer James F. Noonan were in the police cruiser on Main street near Highland avenue shortly before midnight last Saturday when they saw an automobile approaching them without lights and going at a high rate of speed.

The police cruiser gave chase up Highland avenue and at Lebanon street drew up with the fugitive machine when, it is alleged, the driver attempted to force the cruiser from the road. Near the hospital the police say, the driver again tried to ditch the cruiser, and the chase continued down Forest street into Washington street toward Montvale.

Patrolman Dunbury fired a shot from his revolver and accounted for one of the fugitive machine's tires, but the driver continued until a second shot put the other shoe out of commission. He was finally taken into custody beyond the Jewish cemeteries in East Woburn.

At headquarters he was booked for driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, failing to stop when signalled to do so by an officer, driving without lights and driving without a license. He gave his name as Francis McLeod, Jr., of 36 Wood street, Woburn.

In Court Wednesday morning he was found guilty by Associate Justice Curtis W. Nash, who assessed a fine of $100 for driving so as to endanger, adding $50 for failing to stop for an officer. The no lights and license counts were filed.

MRS. ETHEL STOKES WALLACE

Mrs. Ethel Stokes Wallace 70, wife of Herbert F. Wallace of 16 Lawson road, died Wednesday, Nov. 22 in Cambridge after a long illness. She had been in poor health a number of years. Mrs. Wallace was a native of Germantown, Pa. For many years she was active in the affairs of the Church of the Epiphany.

Besides her husband, a retired sales manager of the Edison lamp works of the General Electric Company in Boston, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. George C. Proctor of Winthrop; a brother, F. David Stokes of Roanoke, Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Glover Perin of Philadelphia and Miss Maude Stokes of Windham.

A solemn high mass of requiem was held in the chapel of the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, this morning. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MISS HAYES, SIMMONS COMMITTEE MEMBER

Miss Flora Elizabeth Hayes, daughter of Mr. Lawrence Warner Hayes, of 5 Penn road and a junior in the school of English at Simmons College, is on the committee for the Simmons Town Meeting.

The first town meeting was called to order in 1938 by President Bancroft Beatley. Subjects ranging from motion picture academy awards to foreign affairs were discussed, and it is expected that this year the field of questions will be as broad and interesting.

A new procedure which will go into effect this year is a panel discussion, preceding general exchange of opinions from the students, by members of two opposing groups. They will present the kernel of their argument in three minutes, and it is believed that this will stimulate discussion from the floor.

FOOTBALL WINDOW AT McCORMACK'S

Once again McCormack's Pharmacy is showing a clever football window in honor of the big Thanksgiving Day classic between Winchester and Woburn High Schools.

Illustrating the football song, "There's a Red Light on the Track for Woburn," the Woburn special is shown being stopped on the rails by a bunch of Winchester firemen dispensing "McCormack's Milkshakes."

Two elevens are shown lined up on the gridiron and surrounded with pictures of the players on both teams, their coaches, managers, physicians and even "the press." Better walk over and see the layout!

Alfred D. Elliott, local builder, has the contract to remodel the old Calumet Club house into an office building and clinic for a group of Winchester physicians. The roof is being removed and extensive alterations will be affected before the new plant is ready for occupancy some time in the spring.

FRANK JOSEPH HORIE

Frank Joseph Horie, well known in New England stationers' circles, died late Saturday night, Nov. 18, at his home, 3 Thornton road, after a long illness.

Mr. Horie was the son of John J., and Margaret (Bagley) Horie. He was born 51 years ago in Brooklyn, N. Y., was educated in the Brooklyn schools and spent his early life there. As a youth 30 years ago he entered the employ of Boorum & Pease Co. in New York as a clerk, by industry and ability rising to the position of New England manager for this house, dealing in loose leaf binders and blank books, with headquarters at 29 Otis street in Boston. He was a past president of the New England Traveler's Club and a member of the Boston, Connecticut Valley and Providence, R. I, Stationers' Associations.

Mr. Horie came to Winchester 14 years ago from Freeport, Long Island, N.Y. He leaves his wife, the former Viola Burke; four sons, Everett, Hartlyn, Byron and Justin Horie, all of Winchester; a sister, Gertrude; and two brothers, Alfred and John Horie, all of New York City.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Francis L. Sullivan, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney, subdeacon. Bearers were five past presidents of the New England Travelers' Club, Guy Hart, William Driscoll, James Armington, Fred Falamen and John Brooks, and Frank X. McQuillen, a business associate of Mr. Horie, representing the firm of Boorum & Pease Co. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

100TH ANNIVERSARY BAZAAR

The two-day. 100th anniversary bazaar at the First Congregational Church this week was a success that surpassed expectations.

Despite the adverse weather conditions on Wednesday, when Old Man Winter hinted pointedly at storms to come, the bazaar was attended by several hundreds of Winchester residents and friends.

Luncheon was served that day to more than 200 morning shoppers. an unexpected number that imperiled the larder. Afternoon tea was served gratis to an equal number of shoppers. Those pouring were Mrs. Howard J. Chidley. wife of the pastor. Mrs. Fred Carrier. Miss Edith Swett and Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell.

The old-fashioned turkey dinner on Thursday night was attended by 300, the maximum number that could be served.

General chairmen of the 100th anniversary bazaar were Mrs. Clifford Cunningham. Mrs. George Nardin, Mrs. Everett Vincent. Associate department chairmen were: handicrafts, Mrs. Howard Chidley; children's bazaar, Mrs. Samuel Graves; candy, Mrs. Edward Grosvenor; baby counter, Mrs. Harry Mueller; books, Mrs. Frederick Hatch; dinner, Mrs. F. Patterson Smith; flowers, Mrs. Walter Winship; food, Mrs. Henry Norris; luncheon, Mrs. John Drew; tea dance, Mrs. Samuel Graves· household, Mrs. William Kneeland and Miss Margaret Sands; tea, Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Nov. 26.

The Golden Text is: "When they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God?" (Isaiah 8:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all workers of iniquity do flourish; it is that they shall be destroyed for ever: but thou, Lord, art most high for evermore" (Psalms 92:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "At all times and under all circumstances overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you" (p. 571).

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL ASSOCIATES

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 21st a meeting of parents and teachers of the Junior High School was held in the school building to vote on the following recommendation:

The executive board of the Winchester Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, after considerable investigation and discussion, recommends that the Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association resign from the national Parent-Teacher's Congress; that the Winchester Junior High School Parent-Teachers' Association accept the invitation of the Winchester Mothers' Association to affiliate with them and be represented on their executive board: Further, that the Winchester Junior High School Parent Teachers' Association be known as the Winchester Junior High School Associates (fathers, mothers, teachers)."

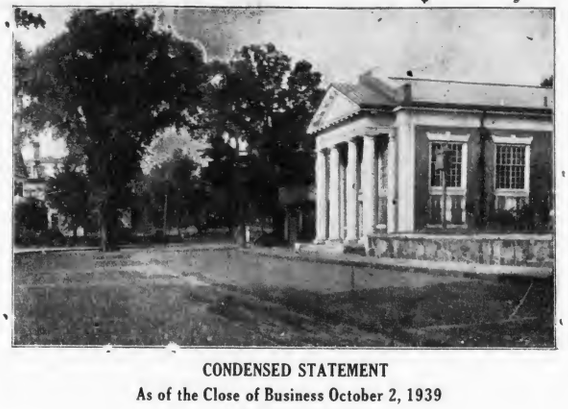

The vote taken on the above recommendation was unanimously in favor of making the change and it was further voted to enlarge the Junior High School Board to include teacher representatives and fathers.

At the meeting, Mrs. Lucius Smith, president, presiding, it was explained that Junior High School Boards for over ten years have been advocating this change. The Parent-Teacher Association has much to offer towns with a little different set-up to ours but it has been impossible for members of the various Boards to take advantage of the Parent-Teacher activities inasmuch as town activities provide a very full calendar. While the Junior High School Associates will be affiliated with the Mothers' Association, they will carry on their work independently and with a different set-up of participating fathers and teachers. The fundamental set-up of the various chapters of the Mothers' Association has worked so well and there has been such close cooperation among mothers, it is anticipated the Junior High Associates will be able to accomplish a great deal for the Junior High School.

After the business meeting, the parents visited the various rooms where they were greeted by a host and hostess together with the teacher of the respective rooms. This is of great benefit to first-year Junior High School parents to whom the new school is a new world. A tour of the building wakes one up to the fact that our children are certainly growing up and becoming real personages. For this very reason it is a very good thing for us to meet and understand the men and women who are going to have charge of our children during these very impressionable years. It was the consensus of opinion that they were in good hands starting with Mr. Dickman and going right down the line.

The machinery of the suction dredge at work in Mystic Lake became clogged recently and when taken apart a large turtle was found jammed in the works. It was said that it was still alive.

"MOVIE QUEEN"

"Movie Queen" scored a big success on its first showing Thursday. This production, a combination stage and screen show, was sponsored by the Aberjona Post, V. F. W. with the proceeds to go toward the V. F. W. Relief Fund.

An appreciative audience found the three-act musical comedy a laugh riot from start to finish. The story followed the startling career of Mary Brown, played by Miss Lennore McNiff, from the time she left Winchester on a free trip to Hollywood, which she won for writing a prize essay on her petunia garden, to her arrival in Hollywood where she was met by the dynamic press agent, played by William Waldron, and on to her subsequent debut in the moving picture world. Much to everyone's surprise Mary's first picture is acclaimed a hit and Marv a star. The first thing the new Movie Queen wanted to do was to bring her friends back to Winchester with her and show them around.

It was at this point that the stage show stopped and the story continued in the movies which proved highly entertaining. Included among the shots were pictures of the Elks Memorial, school children, people coming out of church, scenes of Winchester, the Woburn football game, the parade and the presentations of the flowers and the key to the city to the Queen, kidnap shots with well known Winchesterites taking the parts of gangsters to mention a few.

"Movie Queen" will be played Friday evening for the third and last time, with the curtain going up at 8:15.

WINCHESTER PARISH ENTERTAINS CLERGY OF NORTH SUBURBAN DISTRICT

The parish of the Epiphany was host at luncheon on Monday, Nov. 20, to the clergy of 20 Episcopal churches that constitute the North Suburban District of the Diocese of Massachusetts. The conference was called by the Rev. Frederic C. Lawrence of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge, and was under the direction of Archdeacon Arthur O. Phinney. The subject of the conference was "Missionary Education." The speaker and the leader of discussion was Bishop F. P. Bartlett of Idaho.

A committee from the Evening Branch prepared and served the menu of home-cooked food. It was so delicious and so exactly a man's kind of meal that one guest inquired whether this year's wandering Thanksgiving Day had wandered again and in Wincheste. had strolled over to Nov. 20. It certainly seemed to him a feast in the good old New England tradition. The complimented committee were Mrs. Bernard Cullen, Mrs. John Hanlon, Mrs. W. James Horn, Mrs. George Osborn and Mrs. John Sharon.

VISITOR'S DAY

Visitor's Day at the Home for Aged will be held this year on Dec. 5. Tea will be served from 3 to 5 p. m. The board of directors hope that all friends of the Home will remember the day and visit the Home, also send whatever they can best afford to share from the fall crops of their vegetable garden and fruit orchards or from the fresh supplies of jellies, preserves and pickles on their own pantry shelves.

Articles will be for sale which have been made by the ladies of the home. n24-2t

GARDEN CLUB PRIZE WINNER

The Winchester Garden Club was one of the first prize winners in Class 1 of the Thanksgiving Decoration and Winter Bouquet Show held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week under the auspices of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts.

In Class 1 entrants competed in Thanksgiving decorations for mantels and tops of bookcases. Those who arranged the Winchester Garden Club's display were Mrs. Fred Russell Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini and Mrs. Ejnar Bratt.

WEEK-END FIRES

The good weather which was prevalent last week-end kept the firemen on the jump with many grass and brush fires in town.

Friday morning at 9:39 there was a grass fire at the rear of the home of Mr. H. F. Ross on Lloyd street, and at 10:50 there was trouble with an oil burner at the home of Mr. Edward Comér on Franklin road. At 11:28 there was a brush fire on Englewood road and at 2:12 the driver of the Happy Home Bakers' wagon notified Headquarters of a bad grass fire on Holton street near the Rock and Brick Co. Box 333 was put on for this fire. Friday's last alarm was at 9:50 p. m. for a grass fire on Middlesex street.

Saturday's first run was at 10:30 in the morning for a brush fire on Sylvester avenue. While there the men discovered another grass fire in progress near the Eastern Felt Company on Canal street. Another fire was reported near the Eastern Felt Company plant at 12:45 p. m. and at 2:11 Box 34 came in for a grass fire on East street. While at this fire Engine 2 responded to an alarm for a grass fire on Glenwood avenue and at 4:07 there was a brush fire on Clark street at the rear of Hambly's Garage.

Sunday morning at 11:10 the department was called to put out leaves burning in a catch-basin on Church street near Rangely, and at 1:35 there was a brush fire on town land off Middlesex street.

Only one alarm came in Monday, the men being called at 12:10 p. m. to put out a grass fire at the rear of the home of Mr. Samuel Ginsberg on Euclid avenue.

MYSTIC SCHOOL BRIDGE

The annual Mystic School bridge, held last Friday in the school auditorium, proved an enjoyable and successful event. The stage presented a harvest scene with autumn foliage along with the artistic use of a wheel barrow laden with vegetables. Around the hall, the windows were dressed with colorful ears of corn, squash, and corn stalks. Gayly wraped gourds for table prizes, contributed another cheery note.

A fitting dessert of squash pie, cheese and coffee was served by a professional looking corps of waitresses dressed in black with white aprons.

After the card-playing got underway, girls of the fifth grade circulated among the tables, selling bright orange baskets of candy.

Play was interrupted for the drawing of the lucky ticket holders. Mrs. William Hickey of Edgehill road won the portable radio for which chances had been previously sold. Mrs. Douglas Bates of Pierrpont road won the door prize which Mrs. Gordon Parker had generously donated. This was a unique and charming bit of costume jewelry—a pin and a bracelet, exquisitely fashioned out of mahogany.

The success of the afternoon was due to the following committee members: Mrs. Sanford Moses, general chairman; Mrs. Daniel Beggs, Jr., tickets; Mrs. R. H. B. Smith, refreshments; Mrs. Maurice Freeman, decorations and prizes; Mrs. Donald Woodward, chances; Mrs. Loring Nichols, tables and chairs; Mrs. William Seaton, candy; Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth, publicity.

DINNER FOR NEWLY-WEDS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodbury Jones of Lakeview terrace gave a dinner party for 25 this week in honor of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hayden of Minneapolis, who were married recently in Europe.

Mr. Hayden is a graduate of Harvard and is now taking a post graduate course. Mrs. Hayden was the former Marie-Antoinette Grafin von Geldern-Egmond of Munich.

Among other members of the families present were Mr. Hayden's mother, Mrs. Caroline Dayton Hayden, daughter of the late George D. Dayton, founder of the Dayton Stores and her daughter of Minneapolis.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

1. How many District Nurses are there in Winchester?
2. How do you call the District Nurses to come to your home?
3. When are the District Nurses on duty?
4. Will the District Nurse tell a mother about her baby-to-come?

Send a question to the Winchester District Nursing Association, 2 Mt. Vernon street, or telephone Win. 0730 between 1 and 2 p. m. any work day.

1. There are two full time public health trained nurses.
2. Call Win. 1900.
3. They are on duty from 8 to 5 week days and on call Sundays and Holidays until 10 a. m. for emergency care only.
4. Yes, the District Nurse will be glad to help you prepare for the baby's coming and help with your problems as expectant mother or father.

EN KA PROVISIONAL TEA

Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, graciously opened her home on Friday, Nov. 17 for the annual En Ka Provisional Tea.

The new Provisionals welcomed into the Society were: Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, Mrs. Raymond C. Dexter, Mrs. James R. Doty, Mrs. Warren Goddu, Mrs. Benjamin Hill, Mrs. John M. Murray, Mrs. Robert M. Smith, Mrs. Clark Staples.

These Provisionals met with the Executive Board at 3 o'clock. At that time the president, Mrs. Charles Woolley introduced them to each board chairman, and explained the duties of that chairman.

At 4 o'clock all members were invited for tea. Over 70 active and associate members were present.

Mrs. Guy Howe, Mrs. Robert Clark, Miss Marguerite Barr, poured.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The bazaar, which the Ladies' Friendly Society held on Tuesday, was from every point of view a success. It must have been a great satisfaction to the chairmen, Mrs. Alger T. Bunten and Mrs. A. Allen Kimball.

On entering the hall the first table was quite properly the children's grabs run by Mrs. Clark W. Collins. It was very popular, as usual.

Next came the white elephant table. The chairman, Mrs. William N. Beggs and Mrs. John P. Moser, assisted by Mrs. Robert Bayliss, Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Chas. Jacobs.

Chairmen of the house and garden table were Mrs. W. Allan Wilde and Mrs. John R. Wallace, assisted by Mrs. Geo. H. Reed, Mrs. Curtis Nash and the Misses Alice and Elizabeth Mason.

Mr. W. B. Wood ran the general store and seemed to be doing a rushing business.

Mrs. Wade Grindle and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst were chairmen of the baby table. They were assisted by Mrs. Bouldin Burbank, Mrs. Henry Worcester, Mrs. Theo. von Rosenvinge and Mrs. Cole.

Mrs. Alger T. Bunten and Mrs. Edward H. Kenerson were chairmen of the gift table. They were assisted by Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, Mrs. James M. Joslin, Mrs. E. Adele Emery and Mrs. Raymond S. Wilkins. The hand made dolls at this table were quite unusual.

The household table under Mrs. Reginald Bradlee and Mrs. Everett F. Kidder assisted by Mrs. Fred Preston were doing a steady business.

Chairmen of the food and candy table were Mrs. Raymond C. Terhune, Mrs. Richard W. MacAdams, and Mrs. G. Russell Mann. They were assisted by Mrs. Chas. Fortis, Miss Mary Studley, Mrs. Cecil Covert and Mrs. J. E. Hallowell.

Mrs. Warren Goddu was chairman of the parcel post table. She was assisted by Mrs. Robert Holmes and Mrs. Chas. LeRoyer.

Then there was Mrs. Philip Sawyer selling the new soap you hang up to dry. Something quite different.

Another attraction was Valentine, the Graphologist. He could analize your handwriting or read your horoscope.

In the evening there was an artiste who did a brisk business in silhouettes.

There was a large attendance at the dinner. This must have been gratifying to the chairmen, Mrs. A. Allen Kimball and Mrs. Theo. P. Wilson.

The decorations under the direction of Mrs. Harold F. Meyer deserve a special word because they were so lovely and so seasonal. The stage was a mass of corn, squash and pumpkins, and on the serving table a huge cornucopia was pouring its harvest of fruit. The table covers were black with white runners displaying turkeys. The candles were yellow.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Irene E. Mathews, a widow, to Winchester Cooperative Bank, dated November 7, 1938, being Document No. 155674 noted on Certificate of Title No. 39630 filed in the South Registry District for Middlesex County in Registration Book 265, Page 421, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Tuesday, December 12, 1939, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises covered by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows: "A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon in Winchester, Middlesex County, bounded and described as follows: Southwesterly by Grey-on Road, fifty-nine and 02 100 (59.02) feet; Northwesterly by Lot 28 as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned, one hundred thirty-four and 93 100 (134.93) feet; Northeast by land now or formerly of George R. Nugent, fifty-nine and 03 100 (59.03) feet; and Southeasterly by Lots 2 and 3 on said plan, one hundred thirty-four and 10 100 (134.10) feet. Said parcel is shown as Lot 27 on said plan. All of said boundaries are determined by the Court to be located as shown on a subdivision plan as approved by the Court filed in the Land Registration Office, a copy of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the South Registry District of Middlesex County in Registration Book 385, Page 181, with Certificate No. 27558. The said premises are conveyed subject to a Building Line established by the Town of Winchester and to restrictions of record so far as now in force and applicable. Hereby conveying the same premises conveyed to the said Irene E. Mathews by Anthony M. McDonough by deed dated February 3, 1936, duly filed in the said Registry District." The said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens. $200 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of the sale and the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of the sale at Room 3, 13 Church Street, Winchester, Mass. Other particulars made known at the time of the sale. Winchester Cooperative Bank, By Ernest R. Eustis, Treasurer, Mortgagee and present holder. CAMPAIGN NOW UNDERWAY

The first report of the activity of the Salvation Army's campaign in Winchester, for a quota of $2000 indicates that Winchester men and women are still enthusiastic about the service that the Salvation Army renders the unfortunate.

Reuben Burscy, the official collector has been at work for several days. He is in full uniform and carries credentials signed by William N. Beggs, attorney, who is chairman of the Winchester sponsoring committee. Mr. Beggs suggests that in the event that you are not contacted by Mr. Bursey, that you send or hand your donation to the committee's treasurer. He is G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company, Winchester.

It is being made emphatic in this campaign that a portion of the money collected will be retained in Winchester for emergencies. This money is controlled by Winchester business leaders. According to Mr. Beggs, it has been the experience of the Salvation Army that frequently families in the dead of winter are found without fuel. The emergency also brings cases where families are temporarily short of food and raiment. Sometimes shoes are needed for children who must go to school. Slight operations are sometimes found—an emergency in families where there are no funds at hand. This type of work and many other errands of mercy are carried on by the money that you give to the Salvation Army.

Men and women of Winchester are invited to visit the units of service operated by the Salvation Army in Boston, by William A. Nicol, public relations secretary of the Salvation Army. A like invitation is tendered to each town in Massachusetts. Mr. Nicol feels that frequently supporters of the Salvation Army and those who are considering supporting the cause wonder what is done with the money collected. It is for this reason that Mr. Nicol invites all to visit the many units in the confines of Boston.

Troop 7

Troop 7 held their regular meeting last Monday night, and at the investiture service Thomas Derro, Frank Russo and Harry Bodakian received their registrations. Donald Johnson received merit badges for first aid, public health and a life badge. A medal was presented to James O'Connor, patrol leader of silver fox patrol for winning the patrol contest last year.

This troop is sponsoring a rally to be held Dec. 4 in the recreation room of the Baptist Church at 7:15 p. m. Troops 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6 are going to take part in this rally and friends and relatives are invited to witness a program of scouting.

THANKSGIVING DANCE

For the past month Middlesex Chapter Order of DeMolay has been buzzing with activity. The reason? Why the annual DeMolay dance of course.

For the past five years the DeMolay has held a Thanksgiving eve dance. Each time it has been a tremendous social success, the biggest event of the season. And this time will be no exception. In previous years the dance has been held at the Stoneham Country Club but that building has recently burned to the ground so the DeMolay boys have been forced to move elsewhere.

The organization is proud to announce its success in obtaining a much better hall than it has ever had before. The dance will be held in Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 29.

CROWLEY-SENNA SCHOOL OF DANCING

The Crowley-Senna School of Dancing, with studios in Woburn and Winchester, is conducting its Winchester classes in Fortnightly Hall, Waterfield Building, on Saturdays from 9-5 o'clock. Expert instruction is offered in tap, acrobatic and ballroom dancing, with special attention to beginners in the study of tap.

The school instructors, Miss Anna C. Crowley and Miss Katherine G. Senna, studied at the Cummings-Edwards School of Dancing in Woburn, and at the Paparone School of Dancing in Boston and New York.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Christian Science: A Satisfying Religion

by

Robert Stanley Ross, C.S.B. of New York City

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Friends:

It is a privilege to welcome you here this afternoon on behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester.

Christian Science, following the example of Jesus, offers practical proof of the utility of Christianity. The Scripture record reveals that many spiritually minded persons of that era successfully healed sickness and overcame other discordant conditions. Abraham, Jacob, Moses and the prophets thus expressed the ever-present Christ, many years before Jesus's time. Jesus's disciples Peter and John, seeing a lame man asking alms at the temple gate, freed him from that infirmity. Paul healed a cripple at Lystra, raised Eutychus from death, and proved harmless the poison of a viper that fastened on his hand. According to Luke's gospel, the seventy disciples that Jesus sent out to heal the sick returned with joy, saying, "Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name."

Jesus said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." Today this promise is being fulfilled through the teachings of Christian Science, which is restoring to religion the essential element of healing.

This afternoon it is our privilege to hear a lecture on Christian Science by a Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, Robert Stanley Ross, C. S. B. of New York City, whose subject is, "Christian Science: A Satisfying Religion,"—Mr. Ross.

Why is it that the Christian Science movement grows apace, notwithstanding the world's lagging interest in the things of Spirit? There is a reason for everything; there must be a reason for this. What is it? Is it not because Christian Science affords a healing refuge for those who are hopelessly afraid, sick, discouraged, and in want? Is it not because, after all material means have failed, Christian Science reveals the availability of God's all-protecting, all-providing goodness and love?

When John the Baptist wondered whether Christ Jesus was the looked-for Messiah, he sent two of his disciples to the Master with the question, "Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?" Jesus replied by pointing to his works, saying, "Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: the blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached unto them. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me."

It is as if he had said: These people were sick and in trouble. Neither prevailing systems of religion nor medicine were capable of healing them. But look at them now! They're well and happy! Could I send to John more convincing proof? Could I offer him clearer evidence of what constitutes true, practical, satisfying religion?

Impressive Incident

Recently a young man applied for membership in a local Christian Science church. During the customary examination, he told the membership committee that he had gone from one denomination to another in what seemed to him to be a fruitless search for God. Finally he had turned to Christian Science and there found that for which he had longed, namely, a satisfying religion.

When the committee asked the applicant why he felt so sure, he answered that it was because he had found in Christian Science a religion whose teaching was based upon a changeless, ever-available, divine Principle. Already, with only a meager understanding of the subject, he said that he had overcome a number of physical difficulties. He had even been steadily employed in the midst of world-wide unemployment. Having proved this divine Principle to be demonstrable in some ways, he said he was convinced that it was demonstrable in all ways.

To be sure, those who apply for membership in the Christian Science church are not required to express their convictions in the foregoing or any other fixed terms. Nevertheless, this applicant's conclusions were impressive. They showed that he had grasped early one of the basic, vital facts about this new-old religion; for truly the religion of Christian Science is based upon invariable divine Principle and demonstrated according to rule.

Writing on page 109 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says, "I knew the Principle of all harmonious Mind-action to be God, and that cures were produced in primitive Christian healing by holy, uplifting faith; but I must know the Science of this healing, and I won my way to absolute conclusions through divine revelation, reason, and demonstration."

WOBURN EDGED WINCHESTER

Early Game Safety Gave Orange 8—7 Victory

A blocked kick and safety in the early minutes of play gave a favored Woburn High School team the two points necessary to beat a late surging Winchester High eleven, 8—7, before a huge holiday crowd on the Shore road athletic field Thanksgiving morning. A 45 yard off tackle jaunt by Cassidy, Woburn's hard-hitting fullback, gave the Orange its touchdown, also in the first quarter. Winchester's score came four minutes before the final whistle on a cross-the-field pass from Peter Provinzano to Dean Derby, a surprise play which Woburn protested long and lustily.

A crowd of between five and seven thousand was attracted to the game which was played under perfect weather conditions, there being no wind and not too bright a sun. The field was very wet and slippery, the treacherous footing preventing at least one Woburn touchdown when Cassidy, after a 15 yard spin through the Winchester line midway through the second quarter slipped and fell five yards from the goal line with no one near enough to cut him down.

Both teams used questionable judgement at times, Woburn after Cassidy's tumble when, with two downs to make ten yards for a first down at the two yard line, it elected to pass and had its second poor pass incomplete in the end zone. The way the Orange was rolling at that point it would have been a miracle if Winchester had held them to two yards in two rushes.

Winchester can be criticised for waiting until fourth down to kick from its 23 yard line with the contest only a few minutes old. The locals gambled on a fake kick which was smeared for a four yard loss and its fourth down try was blocked.

Woburn rushed Winchester dizzy, though it had an edge of only six first downs to five. Three of Winchester's first downs came through the air and when it came to aerial warfare the locals, particularly in the second half, outclassed the Orange badly.

Woburn rolled up 231 yards on the ground to 50 for Winchester, its net yardage being 221 to 37. In the air Winchester completed six passes for 104½ yards, its only successful first half pass resulting in the loss of half a yard. Woburn tried five passes and completed one for five yards. The Orange intercepted four of Winchester's passes which early in the game were hurriedly and apparently carelessly thrown. Winchester lost 10 yards in penalties, once for offside and once for too many times out. Woburn lost 50 yards to the officials, losing 15 yarders for holding and clipping with another five for offside. Winchester recovered one of its three fumbles and Woburn two of its four.

The first half was all Woburn, Winchester's passes being sloppily executed and its running game absolutely shackled by the hard charging Orange linemen. It is only fair to say that when Galuffo went out of the game just before the end of the first quarter with a painful hip injury the backbone of the local running game was broken.

Cassidy ran Marabella's kickoff back to his 25, but the Orange couldn't gain and Cassidy kicked to Tracy who ran 10 yards to his 48. McEwen on a delayed pass cut inside his left tackle for a first down at Woburn's 41, but here a Provinzano pass was intercepted by Pizzo who reached the Woburn 40. Roche and Cassidy made it first down at Winchester's 35, but here the locals braced and stopped Cassidy about a yard from another first down.

Here a fumble lost the locals six yards, McEwen recovering on the 20. Galuffo picked up three and on third down Marabella dropped back in kick formation. Instead of kicking he ran with the ball and was dropped for a four yard loss by O'Rourke. His attempt to punt on fourth down was squarely blocked by Garvey, but was recovered by Marabella in a dive with two Woburn players for a two point safety, the big two points that meant the ball game.

Marabella's free kick from his 20 as returned by Cassidy to Winchester's 45. On first down Cassidy took the leather and on a full spinner hit inside Winchester's left tackle, and finding a big hole, got into the clear, spinning away and tossing off two tacklers to gallop 45 yards for a touchdown, going over standing up. His own try for goal from placement was wide and off the mark.

That ended the scoring for the half, though the Orange narrowly missed another touchdown when the speedy Garvey on an end around got well into the clear behind some savage blocking and had traveled from midfield to the local 22 yard line where he slipped in trying to change his pace and cut away from Derby, the Winchester safety man succeeding in knocking him from his feet.

Roche and Cassidy made it first down at the 12 just after the second quarter got under way. A costly 5 yard penalty for offside set the Tanners back to the 17 and a bad pass from center added another loss of three.

From the 20, Cassidy spun through the line for 15 yards, slipping while all alone in cutting away from a tackler on the five. It was third down coming up, and Woburn chose to pass. It's first pass from Roche to Mullen went incomplete and its second from Roche to O'Rourke was incomplete in the end zone, Winchester taking the ball on downs.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE

Large Delegation at Cox Visitation in Woburn

Winchester Lodge of Elks will hold its annual memorial services in Lyceum Hall Sunday afternoon, Dec. 4, at 2 o'clock. The ritual will be conducted by Exalted Ruler John Doherty and the officers of the Lodge.

A large delegation of local Elks went to Woburn Sunday afternoon to attend the home coming visitation of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of the Massachusetts Northeast, Warren Cox, a resident of this town and past Exalted Ruler of Woburn Lodge.

During the visitation a gas oven in the school cafeteria, where dinner for the Elks was being prepared, exploded, rocking the building and causing the 500 Elks assembled considerable excitement. Francis G. Chase of 54 Salisbury road, one of the proprietors of the White Spot, a restaurant at the Four Corners in Woburn, was injured as he was engaged in preparing the dinner, being hurled 12 feet across the cafeteria and cut about the face and head. One of the custodians of the school, Ivan Simonin of 20 Campbell street, Woburn, was struck in the face by one of the doors from the stove, sustaining multiple cuts and contusions about the face and head. He was taken to the Choate Memorial Hospital.

The conduct of the Elks assembled for the visitation was exemplary. After the first natural start at the heavy explosion they quickly recovered their composure and continued the ritualistic work with which they were engaged.

SUPERINTENDENT QUINN CO-OPERATING

An interesting coincidence here in town is the fact that there has been purchased several new records for school use to enable children to acquire and appreciate good musical values, and the State Department of Education through its University Extension Division offers for the first time in Winchester an afternoon course on "Appreciation of Music."

Teachers and other grown ups may enroll and receive a fund of information which will be of assistance to them in teaching and listening to symphonies, operas even the better type of the light operas.

Arnold Elston is to be the instructor and he formerly lectured at Boston University and at Columbia and serves as director of music, Longy School. The course opens Monday afternoon, Dec. 4 at 3:30 to 5 in the Noonan School, and comprises 16 lessons; this may be taken as an auditor or as a credit student.

Enrollment may be made at the first meeting of the class and flyers have been left at the Public Library and with Superintendent Quinn who has been co-operating with the division to the extent of notifying all his teachers about this course.

OUTSTANDING LEADER OF CHILDREN AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH TUESDAY

At a dinner on Dec. 5 at the First Congregational Church, the teachers and officers will have the opportunity of hearing Miss Jeannette Perkins speak about her work at the Riverside Church in New York City. Riverside Church School has a three hour program on Sunday morning for all children of the Sunday School. The school probably does the most outstanding piece of religious education in the entire country.

Miss Perkins is the editor of a new magazine for parents and teachers called, "Children's Religion." She is the author of many children's stories, and of books for teachers such as "Children's Worship," "The Family Goes Traveling" and "Oters Call It God." Miss Perkins has also written some of our best quarterlies and curriculum materials for the Primary Department.

Among those attending the "Dutch Treat" dinner at the Hotel Continental, Cambridge, last Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl, Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, Miss Christine Craven, Miss Gretchen E. Stone, Mr. Ernest W. Gross and Mr. Bradford U. Eddy. The dinner was held in connection with making awards in point of organization to date among 95 communities participating in Greater Boston's 1940 Community Fund campaign.

LECTURED IN CINCINNATI

Mrs. Charles Hadley Watkins of 2 Ridgefield road, has recently returned from Cincinnati, Ohio, where she lectured on Massachusetts glass at the Cincinnati Art Museum. While in Cincinnati, she was entertained at dinner in the home of Mr. Erastus Allen, president of the Ceramic Society and was guest of honor at a luncheon in the Hotel Alms, tendered by the president and board of the Early American Glass Club.

EXHIBITING AT BOSTON ART CLUB

Elizabeth M. (Mrs. John) Lobiugier of Manchester road is exhibiting oil paintings with water colors by Ruth Hammond at the Boston Art Club New Gallery 270 Dartmouth street, Boston, from Dec. 5 to Dec. 16. An invitation preview for friends of the exhibiting artists is being held Monday afternoon, Dec. 4, from 3 to 5 o'clock, at which time tea will be served.

SMITH—SHAW

The engagement of Miss Virginia Mason Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Harmond Shaw of Forest street, to Robert Wallace Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Eustis Smith of Ridge street, took place Saturday evening, Nov. 25, at 7 o'clock in the rectory of St. Mary's Church with Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney officiating. Miss Shaw's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Everett W. Horsey of Winchester, and Wilmer E. Smith, also of this town, was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a princess style gown of Chantilly lace over old ivory satin, made with a long train. Her double fingertip veil was arranged with a bridal cap, having a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses with orchids. Mrs. Hersey wore a gown of American beauty chiffon having puff sleeves, a shirred bodice and square neck. With it she wore a doll's hat of hyacinth shirred velvet and matching slippers, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. The bridal party received under a floral arch of white chrysanthemums, the ushers being Robert S. Shaw of Winchester, brother of the bride; and Arthur L. Smith of this town, brother of the bridegroom.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to New York City and Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Smith and his bride will make their home at Evans place in Greenwood.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1932, and has been employed as a secretary by the John Hancock Insurance Company in Boston. Mr. Smith, who is associated with the Lynn firm of Webber & Smith, was graduated from Winchester High School in 1932.

HORSESHOE DINNER

The active members of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Royal P. Teele at a dinner party given Tuesday evening at their home on Wedgemere avenue. The affair turned out to be a birthday surprise for Mr. Teele, who is the active and very enthusiastic president of the Palmer Beach pitchers.

A delicious dinner was served, the centerpiece of the candle-lighted table being a very decorative horse looking down at a gold horseshoe, placed on a mirror and surrounded by small gold and silver horses. Similar small horses served as place cards, steak was the piece de resistance and the ices were molded in the shape of horseshoes, another large horseshoe surmounting the icing on the birthday cake which President Teele cut in masterly fashion.

Following dinner the annual election was held, Mr. Teele being returned to the presidency and Jim Penaligan re-elected secretary, again to serve without pay. Mrs. Teele, along with those receiving the sincere thanks of the association, was elected to honorary membership.

As an especial feature the re-elected president was presented with what was termed a "typical Teele shoe," an antique gilded horseshoe tied with a red ribbon. Congratulations were also extended Bill McLaughlin for having entered the horseshoe "hall of fame" by covering a double ringer at the matches last weekend. Present at the dinner besides Willie, Jim and Roy, were Arthur Butters, Stanley Mobbs and Roland Pridham.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 6, offers a program so varied and interesting, that no one will want to miss it. The guest of honor, Mrs. Alfred B. Williams, vice chairman of the State committee, will speak on "Why I Am A Republican." Mrs. Lester Duffett of the Education committee will discuss the legislature in an off year under the biennial sessions system. Guest speaker for the afternoon will be the Hon. Chester T. Skibinski, young and dynamic state senator from Chicopee, who will have as his subject "The Pen—The Sword." Mr. Skibinski, who was in Poland during the recent crisis, will be able to present for us a vivid picture of situations and developments in Europe. The Social committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, chairman, will serve tea.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS RIVINIUS

Mr. and Mrs. George Ambrose Rivinius announced on Sunday the engagement of their daughter, Rosamond, to Mr. William Patrick Coady of Winchester, formerly of Pepperell.

Miss Rivinius was graduated from the Katharine Gibbs School and from Stoneleigh College. Mr. Coady is a graduate of Lawrence Academy, Groton. He was a member of the class of 1934 at Williams.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The Board has granted permission to the Salvation Army to set up a kettle for the collection of Christmas funds in front of the Woolworth store on Main street from Dec. 9-23.

Steps are being taken to prohibit parking directly in front of the theatre building. As matters stand now patrons of the theatre are unable to alight at the entrance and during rainy weather this is particularly annoying.

FLAHERTY—POLAND

A marriage of much Winchester interest took place at St. Patrick's Church in Stoneham on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 25, when Miss Margery Anne Poland, daughter of Mrs. Anna R. Rainville of Spring street, Stoneham, became the bride of Joseph Eugene Flaherty of this town, son of the late Fire Captain and Mrs. Eugene Flaherty. Rev. Leo Knapp, Ph.D., performed the marriage ceremony at 4 o'clock in a setting of white chrysanthemums, and the wedding music was played by Joseph Murray, organist. The soloist, John Fitzpatrick of Stoneham, sang "Ave Maria" by Rosewig and "O, Blessed Mother."

Miss Poland was given in marriage by her stepfather, Remi F. Rainville, and attended by her cousin, Miss Mara McDonald of this town. The bride wore a gown of aqua velvet with small matching maribou hat and slippers, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of sweetheart roses. Miss McDonald wore a moss rose velvet dress with matching maribou hat and slippers and carried an old fashioned bouquet of tea roses.

Mr. Flaherty had for his best man John Lynch of Winchester and the ushers were Joseph J. Flaherty of this town, brother-in-law of the bride; and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Philip G. Gange of Winchester.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Chase's 1880 House in Woburn, the bridal party being assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and two sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Gange and Mrs. Edward Leahy. Chrysanthemums in rich colored shades served as decorations.

Upon their return from a wedding journey to Washington, D. C., Mr. Flaherty and his bride will make their home in Winchester. The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and of the Faulkner Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Flaherty, who is associated with the General Electric Plant in Everett, graduated from Winchester High School and Montpelier Seminary, subsequently attending Norwich University.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS DISTRIBUTED

Through the medium of the Winchester Community Relief Committee 173 Thanksgiving baskets, given by churches, clubs, fraternal organizations, the Scouts, school children, Red Cross, Salvation Army and private citizens, were distributed to the town's less fortunate residents on Wednesday. In addition to the baskets Mr. Fotis Antippas of the Splendid Lunch provided dinners for needy homeless individuals at his restaurant.

The baskets were packed at the town hall under the personal direction of the Relief Committee secretary, Miss Nellie M. Sullivan of the Board of Pubic Welfare. As usual the packing was done by members of the En Ka Society. Mrs. Vincent J. Clarke acted as chairman of the En Ka group, the members of which were Mrs. Theodore E. Chilcott, Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., Mrs Robert H. Smith ad Mrs. Clarke Staples.

Besides Miss Sullivan the officers of the Relief Committee are Park Commissioner George T. Davidson, chairman and Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn, treasurer.

CAR ROBBED OF JEWELS

Tuesday evening shortly after 7:30 Police Headquarters was notified that jewelry valued at about $3000 had been stolen from an automobile which was parked on Converse place near the Eagle Cleansing Company.

The owner of the car, Samuel Adelman of 333 Washington street, Boston, a jewelry salesman, told the Police he had parked the machine on Converse place about 7:15 and had gone to the Carroll Perfumer's shop just around the corner to pick up his son whom he was to take home. When he returned he found one of the small windbreaker windows in the front door of his car broken and a jeweler's bag filled with the jewelry missing.

An immdiate investigation was commenced by the police.

OBSERVED 79TH BIRTHDAY

Winchester's veteran constable, Mr. Edward F. Maguire, oldest member of Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, observed his 79th birthday Monday evening with a family dinner arranged in honor of the event. "Eddie" as he is known far and wide has many friends who are delighted to offer congratulations and best wishes for continued health and happiness. The Star joins them with its felicitations.

GROUP THEATRE PRESENTS "AH WILDERNESS" DEC. 9

In High School Auditorium

The sixth season of the Winchester Group Theatre will start on Saturday, Dec. 9, with the presentation of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness" in the high school. The entire active membership of the Group has been working on this production and each department is confident that the play will be one of the outstanding one's in the Group's history.

Most of those associated with this production have been active in the Group's affairs for more than five productions and many since the inception of the organization. Added to these are many new and enthusiastic supporters who have joined the Group to work on scenery, properties, costumes, or take part in the cast of the play itself. This mixture of the experienced members with non-members whose talents and experience are now available to the Group Theatre is one of the many reasons for the ever-increasing success of this independent little theatre organization.

The choice of Eugene O'Neill's famous play has been favorably mentioned by many townspeople. This play is one of the choice bits of American dramatic writing. It is an excellent vehicle for the talented actors and actresses which have been assembled to make up the cast. While the Group makes every attempt to cast its plays from its own membership whenever the organization can secure assistance from others interested in the progress of the Group it takes advantage of this co-operation to enable its audiences to enjoy better plays and superior performances. In Winchester there is a splendid spirit of such co-operation from which the Group naturally profits.

TROUBLE AFTER GAME

The high feeling prevalent during the football game yesterday morning boiled over after the game as hilarious Woburn rooters were leaving the Shore road field by way of Swanton and Spruce street. Rival supporters mixed up in several scuffles and the cars of several Woburn motorists were stoned.

John J. Finnerty of 636 Main street, Woburn, reported at Headquarters that a stone broke the windshield of his automobile as he was driving on Swanton street near Spruce street. A passenger, John Doyle of 39 Church street, Woburn, was cut above the right eye by the stone, narrowly avoiding serious injury.

Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy with Motorcycle Officer Irving Reardon and Special Officer John Reardon dispersed a crowd of about 250 that had gathered near the corner of Swanton and Spruce streets.

The alarm of fire from Box 33 at 1:56 yesterday afternoon was false.

DR. G. L. CADY

Dr. George L. Cady, former national secretary of the American Missionary Association, who had been living in Winchester with his daughter, Mrs. Donald Simonds of 10 Cabot street, died Thursday night, Nov. 23, at the Winchester Hospital. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Dorchester where he served as pastor from 1908 until 1916.

Dr. Cady was 72 years old and a native of Lamont, Mich. He was educated at Mt. Hermon School and Olivet College, Mich., graduating as valedictorian of the class of 1890. He began his religious career with the American Sunday School Union at Washington, Iowa, establishing rural Sunday schools under difficult conditions. His early service also included evangelical work among the Mormons in Utah.

Dr. Cady was one of the most prominent clergymen of his denomination. After attending Chicago Theological Seminary, he was ordained in 1894 at Benton Harbor, Mich., subsequently having pastorates at Geneseo, Ill., Iowa City, and holding a professorship at the University of Iowa, from which he went to Dubuque, Iowa, in 1905.

He was called to the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Dorchester in 1908 and during his pastorate there was summoned by the then district attorney, Joseph C. Pelletier, to substantiate statements relating to the state prison. He was successful in improving conditions at the institution.

After eight years' service in Dorchester he went to the Plymouth Church in Lansing, Mich., remaining there until his appointment as secretary of the American Missionary Association. He retired from the latter post in 1936 after nearly 20 years' service.

Besides Mrs. Simonds, he leaves his wife, the former Florence V. O'Laughlin of Washington, Iowa; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons of Wellesley; two sons, George L. Cady, Jr., of Manchester, N. H., and Henry L. Cady of Los Angeles, Calif., and seven grandchildren.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club met Nov. 23 at the home of the hostess Mrs. John B. Wills and Mrs. Herbert T. West, a former president of the club, poured. Framed in a gold-carved oval enclosure, an artistically arranged fruit center of grapes, apples and comports with their green leaves graced the serving table.

Mrs. Reginald C. Robinson, a former president, gave an interesting report of the fall meeting of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts. During the business meeting, it was voted to make a donation for the eradication of the Dutch Elm Disease.

Mrs. Virgil M. Ghirardini, program chairman, presented the speaker, Mr. John B. Wills of Winchester whose subject was "Flowering Shrubs for Succession of Blooms." Mr. Wills, who is a recognized horticulturist, gave in detail concrete valuable information to the club. He suggested shrubs that decorate our gardens, permanent plantings, something to last and these when through blooming would form a background. In speaking of each shrub, Mr. Wills told of the cultivation, when and where to plant, color and size of blossom, when in bloom and if fruited.

Some of the shrubs suggested by Mr. Wills for planting were magnolia Stellata, Forsythia, Beauty Bush, Flowering Quince, Weeping Cheery, white and pink, Flowering Dogwood, American Red-Bud, Azalea Royal, Kaempferi, Daphne Cnearum, Japanese Flowering Crab, Viburnum Carlesi; Lilacs, among them President Grevy; different varieties of Wisteria, Hugonis Rose, Paul's Scarlet Hawthorne, Rhododendron Mrs. C. S. Sargent, and R. Carolinianum, Climbing Hydrangea, Mountain Laurel, Clematis Jackmani, Buddleia and Fleece (Polygonum Auberti).

Note books in evidence and the various questions asked, paid a tribute to a speaker with a cultural and scientific background.

WINCHESTER NEEDLE-WORK GUILD

Thirtieth Birthday

It was fitting that the annual meeting, held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday, Nov. 22, should be one of unusual interest and enthusiasm, for exactly 30 years have passed since Winchester formed its branch of this nation-wide organization.

The growth of this child of the parent group in Philadelphia has been gratifying. This year she has taken a greater stride ahead, since each of the 20 directors has added new members to her list, and there seems to be a clearer knowledge of the importance of this inter-denominational service to the community. Close affiliation with all welfare groups, and our busy devoted nurses, makes the distribution of new garments and household linens take on the aspect of personal giving of useful presents. Many homes and hearts will be happier for the generosity of those who "build the bridge from the land of plenty to the island of need."

Thirty members and friends came to see the exhibit and attend the meeting. The beautiful hand-made articles from the Girl Scouts, 23 in number, show that the Guild is well-named, and older members too are using their needles in the good cause. The total number of articles this year was 652, and they varied from our note-worthy warm blankets to tiny mittens and bootees.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Honorary President—Mrs. Harry Sanborn
President, for one year—Mrs. William C. Sachs
Vice President for four years—Mrs. Robert Armstrong
Secretary, for four years—Mrs. J. Albert Hersey
Treasurer, for four years—Mrs. George Fitch

WHERE DOM PEDRO FOUNDED AN EMPIRE BUT COFFEE BECAME KING

This lecture, profusely illustrated with color slides, and moving pictures, will take you down to Brazil, that great country to the south of us, a land of great coffee plantations and endless pampas, a land of monkeys and parrots and snakes, a land of cattle ranches, and unforgettable beauty.

There will be pictures of the amusing program held aboard ship as it passes over the equator, with all its hilarity and splendour. Rio De Janerio and the indescribable beauty of its harbor and city, and the surrounding country will be thrown upon the screen with powerful projectors.

These pictures were obtained with the help of the Brazilian Government, the National University, and the Rotary Club of Brazil, and with the assistance also of the United States Ambassador. Many of these scenes have never been taken before, and all are in natural colors.

The Brazilian Consul will also be present at the lecture to bid you welcome to his great country. Business men should be especially interested in this lecture on account of the new trade relations with South America.

This lecture will be given in the parish house of the First Congregational Church, Friday evening, December 8, at 8 p. m., by Dr. Charles H. Tozier.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the November issue of "Our Message" there is a detailed description of the State Convention of the W. C. T. U., held last month in Northampton.

One of the speakers was Miss Campbell, bringing greetings from 8,000 White Ribboners in India, and from Palestine, Miss Campbell said in part:

"Mahatma Gandhi, that unique reformer, shrewd politician and spiritual leader, has done heroic service in leading his people to adopt prohibition. People said, 'We cannot do without the revenue from drink to fill our coffers.' He said in reply and this statement was sent to me by him, 'I would rather see my country bankrupt than to coquette with Satan to square its accounts.' Today India rejoices in partial prohibition."

STATE FEDERATION TO HEAR MADAME PERKINS

Winchester Man Also To Speak

The Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth of this town is president, at its Division of Industry conference Monday, Dec. 4, at the Hotel Statler in Boston, will hear United States Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins discuss "Labor Problems." Mrs. Hildreth will be a guest at the conference and will bring greetings to the afternoon meeting at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Lars A. Svensson, chairman, will preside and a number of highly interesting and timely topics will be discussed by specialists in their respective fields.

Of especial local interest is the analysis of two phases of Housing, to be presented by Prof. John Ely Burchard of this town, director of the Bemis Foundation at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Jacob Crane of Washington, assistant administrator of the U. S. H. A. Professor Burchard will discuss "What Can Private Enterprise Do About It?" and Mr. Crane, "What is Government Doing About It?"

The luncheon speaker is Henry Parkman, Jr., corporation counsel of the City of Boston, former senator and past president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts.

THANKSGIVING AT FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

A Thanksgiving Day Service was held by First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester, in the church edifice at 10 o'clock on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 30. The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and its branches in the United States hold Thanksgiving Day services each year. The service held by the Christian Science Church in Winchester was in keeping with this custom.

"Thanksgiving was the subject of the lesson-sermon read at this service. The Golden text was, "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you." (I Thess. 5:16-18).

Among the Scriptural verses was included: "Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Enter into his gates with Thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations" (Ps. 100:x, 2, 4, 5).

And among the citations from Science and Health was: "God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love. Shall we plead for more at the open fount, which is pouring forth more than we accept? The unspoken desire does bring us nearer the source of all existence and blessedness" (page 2).

After the lesson-sermon the Christian Scientists in the congregation were given the opportunity to express gratitude for the blessings that had come to them during the past year. The time was fully taken with testimonies of healing and other benefits received.

The service was concluded with the benediction: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Eph. 5:1, 20).

THIN ICE

The cold weather over the week-end skimmed the shallower ponds of the town with ice and tempted several of the more daring of the town's youth upon the frozen surfaces.

Police Headquarters got its first call Saturday morning about 11:30 when Motorcycle Officer Irving Reardon made a trip to Winter Pond to drive off a group of boys who were trying the ice.

Saturday afternoon a nine year old girl broke through the ice at the edge of the town hall. She was taken from the small island there to her home on Lloyd street by Officer John Dolan.

Sunday afternoon boys found Winter Pond and the Mill Pond too tempting to resist and the Police were again called to cut short their dangerous sport, Officer Boyle going to Winter Pond and Officer Dolan to the Mill Pond.

Monday morning at 7:40 Officer William Callahan stopped the activities of some boys who were riding bicycles on the skim ice at Winter Pond.

WINCHESTER MUST GO OVER THE TOP!

SWIMMING OUT, TENNIS IN WITH PEGGY SHINNICK

Because swimming became an impossible sport for 18 year-old Peggy Shinnick of Winchester, she became one of the youngest professional tennis players in the country, a title which she still holds.

Miss Shinnick, a small and pretty brunette, exhibited a scarred elbow as she sat in the commuters' room at Boston University's Sargent College of Physical Education, where she is a freshman this year. "I had to do something because I couldn't swim or dive with this fractured elbow," she smiled. "So four years ago I started playing tennis. A few months later I entered a tournament at Longwood Cricket Club and from that time to last year, when I was 17 and became professional, I entered about 25 tournaments."

Her ability, however, spread to other sports, for Miss Shinnick not only holds several medals and cups for swimming, but she has just returned from representing Sargent College in the Northeast Field Hockey tournament held in Albany last weekend. She was the youngest member of the first team which represented the Boston area.

Her sterling tennis skill was spotted early in her career by William S. Packer, frequently referred to as "the father of tennis in Winchester." He took her in hand and has been coaching her ever since, watching her become not a national champion but an all-around athlete who picked up the fundamentals of the tennis game in a few months and soon became proficient enough to successfully coach, within the space of a little more than a year, more than 100 boys and girls, men and women.

Teaching her favorite sport has now become her novel way of "working her way through college." Last summer she paved the way to entering Boston University's 58e year old college of physical education by instructing younger children at Leonard Field, Winchester. During her spare time she also conducted private classes. She has also helped teach her Winchester schoolmates with Helen Boehm, coach at Wheaton, a job she has been offered again for next year.

Although Miss Shinnick's name is slowly becoming known to national tennis circles, the 18-year old athlete is a typical freshman. She gets enthusiastic over biology and science, has joined the tumblers' club, is interested in school dramatics and has recently revealed herself as an outstanding badminton player.

Neither a drinker or smoker, Peggy is aiming at a career of coaching tennis during school time and touring the country with field hockey teams during vacations.

At present she is so wrapped up with her work and study that she has been taking elocution lessons by paying for them with coaching her teacher's child. When she is not busy she devotes a good deal of spare time to knitting sweaters and socks.

"Children are much better tennis pupils than older people," the young professional announced authoritatively. "Some of the older men and women try to read through simple instructions and misinterpret directions. Serving is particularly difficult for aspiring tennis champs to learn. Somehow the combined motion of throwing up the ball and swinging the racquet into position becomes hard to co-ordinate."

Her success as tennis coach was brought to light this season when two of her young pupils distinguished themselves in an open Longwood Cricket Club match. She is a two letter graduate of Winchester High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shinnick of Washington street.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT WELLESLEY

Winchester girls have been active on the Wellesley College campus this fall. Two are in the Wellesley College Choir: Miss Margaret Abbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Abbe and Miss Jeanne Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Phelps.

Miss Mary Worthen daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Worthen is serving on the make-up committee of Barnswallows Dramatic Association. Miss Ruth L. Wadleigh, daughter of Mrs. Roy Ray Roberts, has been elected to membership in Phi Sigma, a society interested in modern poetry. Miss Kay Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. Snow, acted in the junior show, a production produced, written and acted solely by the Junior Class.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WIN HONORS AT HOUSE IN THE PINES

Miss Jeanne Anne Thumin, daughter of Maj. Nathan Thumin of Oxford street, has been elected business manager of the school yearbook at House in the Pines, Norton, and Miss Marjorie Burton, also a student at House in the Pines, has been elected a member of the Student Council for the last half of the fall term, representing the junior college division. Miss Burton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle W. Burton of Fellsdale Close. She has been elected assistant technical editor of the yearbook. At the annual fall riding meet she won a prize in the beginners class.

ACTIVE AT DEAN

As a member of the Glee Club of Dean Academy, Miss Louise Armstrong daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Armstrong of 18 Chestnut street took part in a Thanksgiving service held in the academy chapel, Nov. 23. On Tuesday, Nov. 28, Miss Armstrong attended the annual Thanksgiving dinner-dance, before leaving for home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

STAR ANNOUNCES ALL-MIDDLESEX LEAGUE ELEVENS

With the closing of the league season on Thanksgiving Day the Star announces its honorary All Middlesex first and second teams for 1939. The boys were chosen largely on what they showed against Winchester, with one or two exceptions, and we aren't self-satisfied enough to believe that our selections will be 100 per cent satisfactory to the sidewalk quarterbacks and Monday morning experts who see all and know all!

It wasn't too easy selecting an "all team" this fall. The general run of Middlesex League clubs was below the 1938, only Belmont being better this year than last. Real standout players are few and far between this year, and though it wasn't so hard choosing the first eleven there were so many boys about on par below this group that the final selection of the second team was only arrived at after careful consideration. We aren't smug enough to think we haven't missed some deserving players who failed to show to advantage when we were watching their clubs or that our selections matter very much anyhow. We do believe our teams are good representative league groups.

George Whelan of Maynard and Richard Whiting of Belmont, both captains of their respective teams, are our first string ends. Both are strong defensive ends, big enough to hold their own with tackles and good blockers in an offensive sense. Both are fair receivers, though perhaps not quite so good in this respect as the second team pair, Vespucci of Winchester and Burke of Belmont. The latter nabbed the pass that gave Winchester its first league defeat in several seasons.

Stephen Piaraino was the best tackle we saw this season, a short bend in front of the very dependable Alex Lirakis of Stoneham, a boy who lacked the color to have his worth appreciated by the crowd. Big Sarvella of Maynard and McLean of Belmont, another husky, lacked the offensive drive of Piaraino and Lirakis, but were hard to gain over. McLean especially looking good in this respect.

Charles Cashin of Belmont was probably the best all around guard in the league this year, having the edge over Winchester's Joe Palumbo, a steady, dependable lineman who, like Lirakis, lacked crowd appeal. Cross of Stoneham and the sturdy West of Belmont weren't too far behind the first team guards in all around class.

Picking center was a cinch. No boy in the league for the past three seasons has been in a class with Winchester's fiery little Anthony DeTeso, a worthy successor to the other great centers that have worn the Red and Black in preceding years. DeTeso is a real demon on defense, a great diagnoser of plays, a deadly tackler and an excellent passer. Is anything more necessary? Shedd of Belmont easily gets the second team berth, a good all around pivot.

Our first string backfield has Arico Belmont's mighty mite, at quarterback; Art Rich, Stoneham's burly bucker, and Egan, Belmont's triple threat, at the halfback posts, and "Pete" Galuffo, Winchester's veteran spin-bucker, at fullback. You aren't going far wrong with that group. Arico is a twisting, twirling, running fool, a fine safety man, corking punt-catcher and good pass receiver, sturdy and hard to hurt, a very durable boy. Rich, at 185 pounds is very fast and the hardest hitting back in the league with something to spare, a great man to have around when a couple of yards are needed for a first down.

Egan, Belmont's big fullback, does everything well. While not so good off the tackles as Rich or Galuffo he passes and kicks better than either, and is good on defense, a real handy-Andy. Galuffo has been one of the league's outstanding backs over the past two seasons. No one can spin with Peter and he is also a hard hitter in the bucking slot straightaway, passing fairly well and playing strongly on defense. There can be no questioning the fact that he has been the backbone of Winchester's defense both this year and last, a worthy successor to the great Ficociello.

"Jim" Stygles, Winchester's blocking back, at quarter; Bill McEwen, the locals' effective running back and "Johnnie" Angelosanto, Stoneham's blocker and defensive back, at the halves; and McBrun of Concord at fullback, constitute the second backfield, a long stride behind the first group but still a pretty fair all around quartet. McEwen was an adept at intercepting passes and to those who question the choice of McBrun we can say that he showed plenty without any assistance at all from his line.

Our utility lineman on the first team is Frank Marabella, Winchester's tackle, who might well be in a regular slot except for the fact that he played about half the season in the backfield. He is probably the best punter in the league and easily its best place-kicker. He belongs with the first team, a big rugged boy that has been very valuable to Winchester. Stoneham "Johnnie" Russell is first team utility back and rates it on his passing alone, though he is a pretty fair back in other departments of play. No chucker in the league is in his class when it comes to throwing that football around.

WINCHESTER BOY AWARDED SABRE

Two University of New Hampshire seniors, John D. Hanlon of Winchester and John P. Bulger, Jr., of Durham, N. H., were on Sunday evening presented sabres in recognition of outstanding military showing at Reserve Officers Training Corps camps during the past summer. Hanlon, a New Hampshire U. football star, is the son of Police Officer and Mrs. John E. Hanlon of Bridge street.

Awarded each year by the New Hampshire department of the Reserve Officers association, the presentations are made to the university student at Fort Devens, and at Fort Monroe, Va., who has shown excellency in drill, use of weapons, and general efficiency during the six weeks' encampment.

President William N. Cogswell of Concord, N. H., made the presentations in behalf of the department as a part of the program of its annual fall meeting.

WINCHESTER BOY ON ST. JOHN'S HONOR ROLL

Brother Mark, C.F.X., Director of Studies at St. John's Preparatory School in Danvers, announced today the honor list for the first quarter of the present scholastic year. Among those on the list is James T. Hintlian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, 115 Church street.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

Father Coughlin quoted Congressional Records showing the growth of strikes, starting with an average of about 760 strikes each year from 1929 to 1932. In 1933, the beginning of the New Deal, there were 1695 strikes; in 1934, 1856 strikes; in 1935, 2014; in 1936, 2172, and, in 1937, it jumped to 4730 strikes—six times as many as in the previous five years "before this administration came into power."

If strikes are a symbol of success, then this "administration," he said, "is a success." From 1933 to 1939, there was a total of 15,247 strikes in the United States, an increase of more than 415 per cent over the first five years preceding the current administration.

"Doesn't there seem to be something wrong in all this?" Father Coughlin asked.

Flaming youth seems once again to be on a destructive rampage in Winchester if one is to judge by an examination of the Police blotter after the week-end. During that time the goalposts on Manchester Field were torn down, the field hockey goals on Ginn Field were uprooted and thrown into the river, a life preserver was ripped from its upright on the Shore road and broken up and the new safety reflectors on the bridge at the Highlands Station pulled down and smashed. It is hard to follow the mental processes of those responsible for this latest example of hoodlumism. Presumably boys of this town are responsible, though in the case of the goalposts and nets followers of rival athletic teams from out-of-town could conceivably be to blame. We say followers because we emphatically do not believe that boys taking active part in athletics would be guilty of this destructiveness. The damage to the goalposts and athletic fields is of course bad enough, but the destruction of a life preserver and the reflectors at the new bridge is infinitely worse. The safety of the public is endangered in the latter instance and it is entirely within the realm of possibility that those responsible for the destruction of the safety equipment might be the ones to suffer because it was not in its accustomed place when needed. If so, they would be getting only their just desserts. However, it is more than likely that some innocent person would be the one to suffer because of this inexcusable rowdyism. Police Chief Rogers has ordered his men to bend every effort toward the apprehension of those responsible. If they are successful what then? Will something finally be done to impress our youth with the idea that public (and private) property is not to be destroyed with impunity? Or will the old vox humana stop be pulled out once more for yet another variation on the big brother theme? This seems to be the line on which the local authorities have operated to date. Results do not appear to have justified their leniency, however, laudable their motives!

SOCRATES SAYS-

FREEDOM OF THE SEAS

President Roosevelt said, when he signed the Neutrality Act:

"The United States has returned to its historic position."

Under the Act, American citizens are forbidden to venture on European seas, even to neutral European countries. American ships are forbidden to carry goods even to neutral countries —adjacent to countries at war.

Our slight knowledge of our historic position, however, seems ta rest on the belief that the "freedom of the seas" has always been the historic position of the United States. The War of 1812 certainly was based on our rights to sail where we chose. Even the World War had for its spark our rights as a neutral on the seas.

It may well be that reversing our historic position of "freedom of the seas" may be the practical way to attempt to avoid involvement and it may be well worth the sacrifice. However, it might be cleverer diplomacy —in the long run—to take the position that our great nation, in changing its "historic position," did so in order to fulfill better the obligation of the greatest nation on earth towards the furtherance of peace.

We have reversed our position—not "returned to it"—and we should not be ashamed of it.

THEN "WHY" THE SPECIAL SESSION?

President Roosevelt, on Oct. 26, 1939, said:

"In and out of Congress we have heard orators, commentators, and others, beating their breasts and proclaiming against sending the boys of American mothers to fight on the battlefields of Europe. That I do not hesitate to label as one of the worst fakes in current history. It is a deliberate setting up of an imaginary bogey man. The simple truth is that no person in Washington has ever suggested the remotest possibility of sending the boys to fight on the battlefields of Europe. That is why I label that argument a shameless and dishonest fake."

In the first place, it was by the so-called "beating of breasts" (formerly known as Free Speech) that the country proclaimed it did not want its boys sent to the battlefields of Europe.

Further, we thought that this Special Session of Congress was called to establish our neutrality in such a way that our boys could not be sent to the battlefields of Europe.

There must have been some reason for calling the Special Session. What the reason an "imaginary bogey man?"

A THANKSGIVING LETTER

11 Cottage avenue, Winchester, Mass.
Nov. 28, 1939

The Board of Selectmen
Town of Winchester, Massachusetts.
Gentlemen:

This is a Thansgiving letter. The purpose is not to particularly accentuate the holiday feature, but rather to actually give thanks in a true sense at a time when most of the observances are devoted to feasting. I believe I am not less thankful all the year round than most people—and I feel also that one day per year is altogether too short a period to devote to the special purpose of giving thanks to the Almighty for the blessings received,—but this particular year it becomes possible for me personally to put myself on record as giving thanks for a special reason and for a particular benefit.

On Sept. 26 of this year I was struck by an automobile as I walked toward Wedgemere railway station. By all averages there could be only one outcome, and it would have been impossible for me at this time to be giving thanks, and it would have been for my family a season of mourning. Instead, owing to the quickness of thought of a gentleman in immediately calling the Police Ambulance, and the almost unbelievable efficiency of the Winchester Police Department in protecting me while unconscious on the street and getting me to the Winchester Hospital, I am here to continue doing my part toward keeping this one of the finest and best governed towns in the United States. I accordingly ask you to place this letter in your files as a testimony from one who has himself benefited to a remarkable degree from the fact that, so far as I have been able to learn, it is the good fortune of the town to be blessed with a more than usually fine and efficient Police Department. To the individuals in the Department directly concerned I owe and give thanks in a more particular sense, but their good works could not have been possible were it not that there is a very high standard of efficiency, and a wonderfully fine humanitarian spirit, in the whole Force.

My thanks at this time of Thanksgiving are hereby given to the Police Department, individually and collectively, and I trust that you will bring this to their attention.

Sincerely yours,
George Henry McMillan

WINCHESTER DOCTOR HELPS TO LAND A MERMAID!

To the Editor of the Star:

Now that European countries are unsafe for tourists, Americans might well turn their attention to South America where sea and land offer adventure profit and pleasure.

Last summer, on the ninth day out from New York on the "Argentina," we crossed the equator, and after one of the crew cast out a line about 300 feet, we got the greatest strike of our fishing experience. Something bit the bait, "a mermaid," and after several minutes of pulling on the line by three husky sailors, a strange creature was pulled over the bow. When on deck, he announced in an awe-inspiring voice that he was "Neptune" and order the Captain to haul up at once his daughter, who was hanging on to the rudder. Every man under 70 rushed to the rescue—those over 70 formed a reception committee. It took three men to land Neptune, but it took over 100 to land his daughter and to seat her on the throne at Neptune's side. Court was opened at once, and under the foreman of the jury, Dr. J. M. Fernandes, President of the Rotary Club of Brazil, many neophytes who had never crossed the line before were taken by force to the judgment bar in front of Neptune—there sentenced, and the sentence immediately carried out. Meanwhile, the cameras were humming so that the people at home could enjoy the fun.

A few days later we steamed into the magnificent harbor of Rio, capital of Brazil, where Dom Pedro founded and ruled an empire for nearly half a century. Up at sunrise, plate after plate was exposed, and the movie hummed with joy as we sailed up to the wharf, landed, and drove up that magnificent boulevard, the Avenida Rio Branco, to the Hotel Gloria which is situated on the beautiful Guanabara Bay.

Mere words are useless to describe the panorama from the balcony of our room. At night, when myriads of colored lights flash out around the bay, the scene is a fairy land. Two natural wonders seem to dominte this city of your dreams: Sugar Loaf Peak, which resembles a volcanic cone at the Harbor's entrance, and Corcovado which is high above the city and around which is a chain of mountains.

Rio is a paradise for a lover of nature and is an amateur photographer's dream. Such is the country our party visited last summer, and of all the countries in the Western Hemisphere, and I have seen nearly every one, this country, the home of Dom Pedro, is one of the most fascinating and beautiful. Into this region I hope later to take some of my fellow-citizens with the aid of a color camera, in which every foot of film is a delightful revelation.

Play was in Winchester's territory throughout the remaining minutes of the half, and it looked bad on the new kickoff when Cassidy passed the ball, after receiving, to Roche, the Woburn sophomore streaking up the field to the Winchester 18 where he was finally pulled down.

Winchester, however, got a break when O'Doherty fumbled and Winchester recovered. A moment later, however, Cassidy intercepted a Winchester pass and got back to the local 15. Once again a penalty hurt the Orange, a 15 yarder for clipping putting the ball back on Winchester's 35. Roche and Cassidy made it first down on the 25 and a Cassidy to Roche pass added 5.

Two tries at the line were piled up and on fourth down a Cassidy pass fell incomplete in the end zone, just too far for Roche to reach. The Woburn back was all alone and a good pass would have meant another score in this instance.

Winchester started at its 20 with a five yard McEwen reverse. McEwen then faded and tossed a pass squarely into the arms of O'Donnell, Woburn center, who was finally dropped on the Winchester 10 just as it looked he might get to pay dirt.

Roche picked up two, but Ellis stopped Garvey on an end around for no gain, and Cassidy got back only four. With four yards to go a bad pass came back from center, Winchester taking the ball at its 5.

Woburn kept play well in Winchester's territory, but never seriously threatened again and early in the last quarter, Winchester took the ball on downs at its 25.

Provinzano passed to Derby for a first down on the 40 and three plays later passed again across the field to Marabella for what would have been a first down. Marabella fumbled when tackled and Woburn recovered, only to fumble in turn and have Callanan recover for Winchester at his 39.

Provinzano fumbled and Woburn recovered at the 30, but the Orange couldn't go anywhere and Cassidy kicked across the goal line.

Starting from the 20, Provinzano passed to Vespucci for a first down at the 40, and Coach Lauer apparently replaced three of his players. Actually only two were replaced, the third, Derby, remaining at the sideline, where he ran down to complete a beautiful pass from Provinzano at the Woburn 32 and scamper the rest of the way for a score.

Woburn kicked like the proverbial steer on the play, claiming it illegal. Back and forth the argument raged wth what looked like a disagreement between the officials. Referee Turner, however, ruled the play good, and Marabella place kicked the goal, making the score 8 to 7. In a moment the whole complexion of the game had changed.

Winchester, from what looked like a beaten club, was right back in the game, while Woburn, fighting mad, was clearly trying too hard. The going was pretty rugged at this point, but time ran out before any actual trouble occurred, neither team adding to its total. The summary:

Notes

Quite some doin's between the halves. Those Woburn lads who paraded to the Winchester side of the field with a "Beat Winchester" banner were surely looking for trouble. You can't blame the Winchester fans for resenting such taunting. It's fortunate serious trouble was prevented. Officer Clarence Dunbury nipped the real fighting in the bud, with Special Officer Stevenson putting the quietus on another trouble-seeker.

The crowd was on the field the whole second half, pretty much out of control. At the end of the game, a couple of hundred or so were actually on the playing field at the Shore road end.

Too bad Pete Galuffo had to miss his last game, but he was in too much pain to go back in, and had to be helped to the squad meeting between the halves. His loss hurt plenty, though his substitute, "Iron Mike" McCormack, was one of Winchester's outstanding players in the second half.

Vespucci at left end played his best game of the year, holding the speedy Roche and Garvey well in check. Ellis, too, was effective at the other flank.

Some real notables on the bench, folks, Price Wilson, editor of the Star; Park Commissioners Davidson and Packer; Elliott Cameron, Selectman; "Bob" Lybeck of the School Committee; Town Auditor "Bill" Priest; "Ted" Bartlett, former assistant coach; "Doc" McMannus, "Ken" Hall, Father Mahoney, besides the newspaper men and we think a couple of players. We aren't sure about the players.

T. P. got pretty tired waiting for the boys to get going during the argument after Winchester's touchdown. He admonished them to "play ball" in no uncertain tones.

Edwin N. Lovering, grand old man of Winchester High, was in the stands. Wonder how many Winchester-Woburn games "the gent" has seen?

Former Coach Mansfield and Mrs. Mansfield were in the stands. The last we saw of "Coach" he was trying to get away from an enthusiastic crowd who were trying to shake his hand. He seemed to be giving "Steamer" Hanlon, former Winchester football star, the razz about something.

The Woburn boys were surely sore when the referee allowed Winchester's touchdown, and it looked for a minute as if they'd argue themselves into a forfeit. The boys had to do the jawing because the "ref" wouldn't let either coach on the field.

Tony DeTeso didn't stand out quite so much as usual as Woburn had a couple of men on him most all morning. At that he made most of his team's tackles. Won't Winchester miss this demon center in years to come.

We aren't going to stick our head out and try to decide that touchdown argument. Read the rule book and decide for yourself!

Did the goal posts go? They did, and how!

HATAY REPUBLIC CHANGES HANDS AGAIN

Out of the recent mutual assistance pact between France and Turkey rose the name of a republic—Hatay—probaby unfamiliar to many news readers, although the republic is two years old.

Hatay, formerly the Sanjak or District of Alexandretta, is a 3000-square-mile area on the shore of the Mediterranean in the extreme northwest corner of Syria, where that mandated area has had a common border with Turkey, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Otherwise it can readily be located by following the direction in which the elongated peninsula on the northwest coast of the Island of Cyprus points like an accusing finger.

Nearly Half of Population is Turkish

With Alexandretta and Antioch, its leading cities, Hatay has nearly a quarter million people. More than forty per cent are Turks and the remainder Arabs, Jews, Armenians, Kurds and Circassians.

In November, 1937, Hatay attained autonomy when France and Turkey reached an agreement to permit the people of the district to govern themselves under the protection of both governments. France, prior to that time, had not enjoyed peaceful control of the area because of the numerous racial clashes. To assure peace in the republic under the 1937 agreement, France and Turkey each garrisoned 2500 troops in the district, and 1000 local soldiers were provided. Last October the French troops were recalled. Because of the greater Turkish population, Turks subsequently held the majority in the Hatay Parliament and schools were made to conform to a Turkish educational plan.

Hatay has long been a favored plum in the Near East pudding, largely because of Alexandretta which lies on the shore of the Gulf of Alexandretta, one of the finest natural harbors on the Levantine coast.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

We are always delighted to have the scribes of the different troops send in reports of the meetings. Below is an interesting write up by Janet Pride.

On Thursday, Nov. 23, Captain Symmes took Troop 2 on a hike, assisted by Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Rutherford. We started from our meeting place at the First Congregational Church and walked up Mt. Vernon street to the Fells. The troop was divided into two groups and a nature project given out. Each group took a different trail, meeting later at the Lawrence Observatory. Here Captain Symmes told us the requirements of the explorer's badge and we compared our nature notes which were taken on the trail. It was quite cold so after climbing to the top of the tower, we started back arriving at our starting point about dusk.

PULLED BOY FROM MILL POND

Tuesday, shortly after noon the attention of Patrolman John J. Murray was attracted to a group of boys who were starting out onto the ice of the Mill Pond from the bank at the Parkway side. He called to the boys, ordering them off the ice, and all obeyed but one who continued on in the direction of the island at the rear of the town hall.

About midway between the shore and island the ice broke and the boy went into the water. Officer Murray got a ladder to him with the assistance of an unidentified young man and the boy was taken from the pond to headquarters. He gave his name as Roland Latham, 13, of 84 Harvard street. Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy took him to his home in the patrol car.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Dec. 3.

The Golden Text is: "Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast" (Psalms 33:8, 9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. . . . Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them" (Genesis 1:31, and 2:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All that is made is the work of God, and all is good. We leave this brief, glorious history of spiritual creation (as stated in the first chapter of Genesis) in the hands of God, not man, in the keeping of Spirit, not matter, joyfully acknowledging now and forever God's supremacy, omnipotence, and omnipresence" (p. 521).

LIONS CLUB NOTES

We were favored with a visitation from District Governor, Joe Sliney of Somerville, who was quite enthusiastic over the progress that the club has made during the past six months. Joe is also quite anxious to give Woburn the benefit of the influence of Lionism, and is working hard to establish a new club there. He is being assisted by James Bill, an organizer, sent by Lions International and also by the local president.

The new Lions Club 1940 directory is going forward with marked progress. It will undoubtedly, be the best publication of this nature that has come to Winchester. The enthusiastic support of the local businessmen will enhance the charity fund to the Lions so that the success of their proposed community welfare projects will be assured. The advertisers subscriptions already amount to over $400 and subscriptions are still coming in daily.

Any local business interested in being represented in this Directory should communicate with Dr. Robert L. Emery, chairman of the committee, or President Leo F. Garvey.

Congratulations are in order for Lion Chris Powers for his enthusiastic work with reference to the Lions New Year's Costume Frolic that will be held on New Year's Eve at the American Legion Bungalow in Melrose. This party promises to be the greatest affair that the local Lions Club has sponsored. It is open to the public and tickets may be procured at Scholl's Restaurant. This affair is also being conducted to aid the charity fund.

The Lion roared again to such an extent in the Veterans of Foreign Wars parade that the first prize award for the best float in the parade was gained by the local club.

Attendance at the last meeting 70 per cent. We already have three members eligible for the 100 per cent attendance buttons to be awarded Jan. 1, 1940. All out next Monday at Fred's and see if we cannot pull the attendance up to 100 per cent as it should be.

Hats off to Lion Bob for his many contributions to the new Lion Club directory. Bob still has the old fight after all these years in Lionism!

NEW HAND LAUNDRY OPENING

Attention is called to the announcement, elsewhere in this issue, of the opening of the Embassy Hand Laundry on Monday, Dec. 11, at 7 Park street. Mrs. Etehl Horn, the proprietor, has been for the past 13 years the fancy ironer at the Bluebird Laundry, being well known to patrons of that establishment.

The Embassy is featuring high grade laundry work of all kinds, with shirts as low as 10c each. Mrs. Horn will be pleased to see her friends and patrons at her new establishment and assures them that their business will be appreciated and expertly handled.

RECREATION COMMITTEE TO VISIT NEEDHAM

The members of the Town's Recreation Committee are visiting Needham High School Monday evening, Dec. 4, to study the program in adult evening recreation in that high school. Any who are interested in the possibility of such recreation in our school buildings are cordially invited to go with the committee. For further information contact James H. Coon, 12 Brooks street, tel. Win. 1237-M.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Mr. Samuel J. Tyack a representative of Shreve, Crump & Lows, famous jewellers of Boston was the guest speaker.

Mr. Tyack, one of the few gemologists in this country gave a very interesting talk on precious stones, starting from ancient times to the present day. He described the discovery mining, cutting and coloring of all precious stones, their durability and value. His talk was very much enjoyed by all present after a business meeting, a date was set for a penny sale to be held in Lyceum Hall in December. Several attractive prizes will be awarded at this sale. Donations will be accepted at next meeting of the Guild Dec. 12.

EXHIBITION TO SHOW DEVELOPMENT OF WATERCOLOR PAINTING

The Winchester Art Association is sponsoring the exhibition opening next week at the Winchester Public library and showing the development of watercolor painting in America. Borrowed from the Fogg Museum, the exhibition includes paintings by some of the foremost exponents in the watercolor field and should prove very worth while. The paintings themselves are very valuable.

The Association is holding a preview and gallery talk on Sunday afternoon when Mr. Charles C. Cunningham will speak at 4 o'clock. Mr. Cunningham graduated from Harvard in 1931, playing both football and hockey. He majored in Fine Arts and is at present assistant curator of the Museum of Fine Arts. His address promises to be of unusual interest. Tea will be served after the talk.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The offices of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, have reported to this paper that the training program of the Council is now drawing to a close, after having completed 4 different types of training courses. The first of these to be completed was a training course for adults who wre interested in the Cub, or younger boy program. Some 35 interested citizens participated, and 2 certificates were given for those completing the entire work prescribed.

The course on camp cookery for scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and committeemen, was completed on Sunday afternoon after a very happy and constructive course on outdoor cookery methods. There will be nine certificates issued on this course.

The course on elementary scout work will hold its final session at the Hervey School, West Medford, on Monday evening, Dec. 11.

The tent making course will have two more sessions, on Tuesday evenings, and certificates will be issued to the men completing the work.

Final training for the year will take place on Saturday, Dec. 9, when all local men will migrate to Methuen and participate with some eight other Councils, covering the northeastern section of Massachusetts. At this course the best training men available from the entire New England states will present and guide discussions on all forms of camping and outdoor activities. This will be an afternoon and evening affair, to be held at the Central School, Methuen Center. Programs and reservations for this final course can be made through the Scout Office, Win. 2030.

Cub Pack Notes

The second meeting of Cub Pack 4 was held at the Mystic School, Nov. 21, at 3:30 p. m. Under the supervision of Mr. F. Meredith Cooper, Cubmaster, all boys present qualified as Bobcats. A project was started to collect old toys and deliver them to the Fire Station where they will be mended and distributed to less fortunate boys. Announcement was made that trips will be planned for once a month to historical places, sports events, and points of interest. Three sound motion pictures on Forestry were shown by Dr. Philip Rusden through the courtesy of Mr. E. C. Filler.

On Saturday, Nov. 25, Den 1, Pack 4, made a field trip to Middlesex Fells, accompanied by Mr. E. C. Filler and Mr. R. W. Kumler. The Cubs were given a talk and demonstration by Mr. Filler on the growth and structure of trees, how to identify different trees and tell their age. Instruction was also given on how to use a compass, pace off distances and what to do if lost in the woods. This was followed by a weenie roast and stories by Mr. Filler. It is contemplated that this trip will be given to the other Dens in the Pack sometime in the near future.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Last Sunday was Guild Visiting Day at the Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge. Semi-annually, liberal donations of canned goods are sent to the institution and all the branches join in sponsoring a very fine entertainment and concert for the patients.

Saturday, Dec. 2, the State Guild will hold its quarterly meeting at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, preceded by a luncheon. The Regent from all the branches are in attendance with the State officers and plans are to be made for the disbursing of the Christmas charities fund.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mrs. Josephine Bruce Chapin, chairman of the department of press and publicity of the Massachusetts State Federatin of Women's Clubs will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the literature group on Monday, Dec. 4, at 2 o'clock.

Miss Julia Gestzy, of Budapest, Hungary, an International News Correspondent who has seen service in almost every country in the world, will compare the news service in America with that of other countries where freedom of the press is unknown.

Mrs. Gordan Mann, press chairman, will give a paper on "The Newspaper as a Literary Form."

A cordial invitation is extended to other press chairmen or women interested in newspaper publicity work, to meet Mrs. Chapin and Miss Gestzy and hear their interesting stories.

Public Concert at the Fortnightly

On Monday, Nov. 27, the Fortnightly held its first open meeting of the season. The Chromatic Quintet of Boston presented a very beautiful program of music. The artists are: Gladys Crockford, harpist; Mervin Whitcomb, violinist; Mabel Robbins, cellist; Dorothy Curtis, pianist; Kenneth D. Custance, harpist.

Following is the program:

Ensemble
Gavotte in B flat ..... Handel
Jeanie Chant ..... Sokolow
Silver Shadows ..... Repper
Cello Solos
Rondo ..... Boccherini
Ariyez une Reve ..... Faure
Harp Duos
Rainbow music from "Das Rheingold" ..... Wagner
Wiegenlied ..... Brahms
Arabian Gypsy Fantasy ..... Gebhard
Violin Solos
Romance from Concerto in D minor ..... Wieniawski
Tempo di Minuetto ..... Poznani-Kreisler
Canzonetta ..... d'Ambrosio
Ensemble
To a Wild Rose ..... Macdowell
Go Down Moses ..... Negro Spiritual

In addition to the stated program, the Quintet yielded to the enthusiastic applause and generously gave an encore for each group of numbers. Even then the audience wished for more. Of especial interest is the fact that the Gebhart Fantasy was especially composed for these artists.

"SQUARING THE CIRCLE"

"Squaring the Circle" a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the Kingsley Fellowship of the Methodist Church on Thursday evening, Dec. 7, 8:15 p. m. in Waterfield Hall.

The story is of love under the trying conditions of extreme housing shortage in the new Russia. Two young friends share a dilapitated room loaned to them by a priest. Though allegedly "confirmed bachelors" both boys marry on the same sad day, unbeknown to each other. The single room is then forced to accommodate four people and to complicate the tragedy, the poet returns unexpectedly too. A chalk line is drawn across the floor and serves as the petion of the two "apartments."

Complications and bewildering predicaments pile up and the circle is finally squared but to see and hear the solution is worth coming for. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Kingsley Fellowship.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of Contagious Diseases was reported to the Board of Health for week ending, Thursday, Nov. 23:

Dog Bite	1
Lobar Pneumonia	1
Scarlet Fever	6

Maurice Dinneen, Agent

Billfolds at the Star office.

WEEK-END FIRES

The first of several alarms of fire over the week-end came in at the Central Fire Station at 12:30 Friday afternoon for a dump fire off Middlesex street. That same afternoon Box 42 sounded for a fire in a small shed housing dust from the buffer at the Beggs & Cobb plant. The damage was slight.

Sunday forenoon at 11:45 Box 21 was pulled for a fire in the house at 45 Church street owned by the Warren Institute of Savings and occupied by Mrs. Sophie Bowman. The fire started in some unknown manner in the kitchen and worked its way up a stairway, burning the kitchen, hall and attic, as well as doing considerable smoke damage elsewhere in the house.

DENMARK ON STRATEGIC SEA LANE

Among the smaller nations which share a common frontier with Germany, Denmark occupies a geographic seat front and center for possible sea operations in case of war. Moreover points out the National Geographic Society, Germany's strategic Kiel Canal, which links the North and Baltic Seas, is within 50 miles of the Danish-German border. This border less than 40 miles long, divides the narrow peninsula, as it juts out from north Europe, into two unequal parts, the larger share of which is continental Denmark. An elastic boundary mark, in the 1860's it was set considerably north of the present line in order to include the Schleswig-Holstein region taken from Denmark by Prussia as a result of the war among Prussia, Austria, and Denmark. This area was particularly desired by the German Chancellor Bismarck in order to build across it the canal (now Kiel) which would substitute for the long voyage around Denmark. After the World War, a plebiscite returned the northern part of Schleswig to Denmark, pushing the frontier south again. North and south through the German portion, the government is building a new motor road to stretch from Hamburg to Flensburg, near the Danish border. On its way it will burrow a mile-and-a-half tunnel route under the traffic-busy Kiel Canal.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

by Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Cauliflower is still insistent on publicity with prices around a dime instead of a quarter a head. Mushrooms too, are inexpensive for a luxury vegetable. All kinds of squash are plentiful and cheap.

Western Delicious Apples are one food which is too cheap because of the war and lack of export demand. Oranges are cheap and more plentiful, the Floridas also improving in quality. Grapefruit is now inexpensive.

Eggs and butter prices sheered off from their high levels of last week but fluctuation is to be expected in these commodities at this season.

Pork loins are among the attractive meat offerings this week though all meats are even to lower in price. Poultry prices remain at very low levels.

Low Cost Dinner
Baked Ham Loaf with Egg Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Shredded Buttered Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Apple Brown Betty
Tea or Coffee Milk

Moderate Cost Dinner
Roast Loin of Pork
Gravy Apple Sauce
Mashed Yams Cauliflower Vinaigrette
Bread and Butter
Squash Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit
Crown Roast of Pork
Glazed Apple Rings
Mashed Squash Spinach Goldenrod
Green Salad
Rolls and Butter
Pecan Pumpkin Tarts

LISBON RECEIVES AIR ADVENTURERS IN HARBOR USED BY EARLY EXPLORERS

It was just five days after coming of age that the United States airmail, which was inaugurated with a service between Washington and New York on May 15, 1918, celebrated its majority by starting the transatlantic service with Lisbon as its first continental call. Lisbon, capital of Portugal, being the most western of European capitals, is the closest to the United States.

Lisbon figured in aeronautic history just 20 years ago, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, when the U. S. Navy seaplane NC-4, made the first transatlantic flight from Newfoundland to Lisbon, May 16-27, 1919, stopping at the Azores.

Pert Seven Miles Up River Tagus

A city of approximately 600,000, Lisbon is about the same size as Washington, D. C., and almost on the same parallel of latitude. The capital is located on the Tagus River, extending about four miles along the north bank, and is about 7 miles from the ocean. The port where the Yankee Clipper landed is a broad estuary or tidal lake about three miles in length and a mile wide, one of the chief harbors of southwestern Europe.

The post office through which the airliner's mail passed is in the Praco do Commercio, better known to English-speaking visitors as "Black Horse Square," so called from the central equestrian statue of King Jose I. Along the south side of the square flows the Tagus; the other three sides of the square are occupied by the arsenal, the customs house and other public buildings, with the exchange and royal library in the vicinity.

Earthquake Renovated City

Built on a succession of hills, the city is divided as the result of the great earthquake of 1755 into the new and the old cities. In old Lisbon the tortuous streets are in places so narrow that outstretched arms can touch both walls; while in the newer city, built after the catastrophe in what were then suburbs, the architecture is more modern an the streets are broader and straight. The gayest promenade of the capital, the Avenida da Liberdade, is 300 feet wide and extends for nearly a mile from another of the many squares that add to the beauty of Lisbon.

The Rocio, another of Lisbon's open spaces, was facetiously named "Roly Poly Square" by the sailors, since the peculiar mosaic pavements of curved, undulating design, are supposed to produce dizzy sensations in pedestrians. This is the center of Lisbon's social life; once it was a public execution ground and bull ring. Bull fights are still the capital's major sport, but they differ from the conventional type; the bull is tortured but not killed, and thereafter resumes his country life.

In one section, less damaged by the earthquake, stand Moorish palaces and buildings a thousand years old. Many old structures, however, have been wholly lost, though some Roman ruins remain.

It was from Lisbon in 1488 that Diaz, the Portuguese explorer, sailed to discover the southern extremity of the African Continent. In 1497 Vasco da Gama with a fleet of four vessels, also put out of Lisbon Harbor on the voyage that took him around the Cape of Good Hope to discover a sea route to India, the lure that brought Columbus to America five years before.

PROPORTION OF POLES AND GERMANS IN POLISH CORRIDOR POPULATION

In the 16-point demands on Poland which Chancellor Hitler published just before the outbreak of hostilities, he demanded a plebiscite of the inhabitants of the Polish Corridor province of Poland, Pomorze, to determine to which nation that vital area should belong. One of the conditions of this proposed plebiscite would have been the enfranchisement of Germans who had lived in the region before it became part of modern Poland according to the Versailles Treaty in 1919, but who had returned to Germany at that time.

According to the 1931 nationality census based on language, 89.8 per cent of the people in Pomorze were Poles, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Germans living in that province at the last census numbered about 105,000 in a total population of 1,080,000, or a shade under 10 per cent.

Few Cities in Pomorze Province

The people of Pomorze are mainly agricultural; only four cities have more than 15,000 inhabitants. Poles and Germans live scattered through the countryside of the province, which has an area of 9917 square miles and narrows at the north to the strategic 85-mile-long bottleneck of "Corridor" between Germany and East Prussia. In the county of Sepolno, Germans live in groups large enough (according to the language census) to make up more than 20 per cent. In seven other of the counties of Pomorze, between 15 and 20 per cent were listed as German. In the other 11 the percentage of Germans was less than 15.

Pomorze has a higher percentage of the German minority in Poland than either of the other two western border provinces, Poznan and Silesia.

It must be emphasized that the census figures are based on a count by languages, and German authorities point out that many Germans in Poland speaking the two languages may have listed Polish as their tongue.

Admiral Byrd Greets Gene Tunney

More than 200 notables attended the Ford Exposition's banquet, at which the famous biographer and radio commentator Lowell Thomas presided. Among others at the speakers' table were Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, Gobi Desert explorer and director of the American Museum of Natural History; Col. Theodore Roosevelt, publisher; Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth; Col. Lenox Lohr, president of the National Broadcasting Company.

President Edsel Ford of the Ford Motor Company has been greatly interested in Admiral Byrd's earlier polar expeditions. Admiral Byrd flew over the North Pole in a plane he named "Josephine Ford" after Edsel Ford's daughter. The "Josephine Ford" is now at Dearborn in the Edison Institute, founded by Henry Ford.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Convincing Evidence

My friends, perhaps you also are longing for a satisfying religion. Perhaps you also are wondering whether, after all, there is available to mankind a religion which, like that of the Master, satisfies the reason, comforts the sorrowing, and methodically heals sickness and wrongdoing, discouragement and failure, want and woe. To you and others who may be similarly situated, we offer a loving recommendation. If acted upon in the same spirit, it will surely lift the burden of doubt from your thought and dispel all question as to the present availability of the divine power to help and heal and save.

And what may our recommendation be? Simply this: As a prelude to reading the textbook throughout, read the closing paragraph of Science and Health. In this chapter, which is entitled "Fruitage," you will find one hundred pages of authenticated testimonies pulsating with the joy and gratitude of persons who were healed by Christian Science, either mentally or mentally, physically or financially and, in most instances, after other means had failed. They were cases that would be looked upon, outside of Christian Science, as hopeless.

Here are a few of the healings recorded therein: rheumatism, astigmatism, hernia, catarrh, pulmonary tuberculosis, fibroid tumor, spinal deformity, cataract, valvular disease of the heart, asthma, cancer, Bright's disease, dropsy, indigestion, blindness, deafness, eczema, unhappiness, bad disposition, insanity, infidelity, tobacco habit, and alcoholism. Similar authenticated testimonies will be found weekly in the Christian Science Sentinel, and monthly in The Christian Science Journal.

The Amazing Book

Most impressive of all, no doubt, will be your discovery of the astonishing fact that every case recorded in those hundred pages was healed solely as the result of reading with an open mind Mrs. Eddy's notable book, or as the result of having it read. Could there be more convincing argument in support of the claim that Science and Health is an inspired volume? Will the prayerful perusal of any other known book (and prayerful perusal includes, of course, putting into practice what one reads) systematically uproot inveterate sin and cure so-called incurable disease? Again, should further evidence be needed to prove that the author of this book was uncommonly close to God?

If, however, the unprejudiced listener should still question the divine origin of Christian Science, he has only to study his Bible in the light which Science and Health throws upon its every pages. Then, wonder of wonders, he will find himself, by small beginnings, actually practicing Christian healing in obedience to the Master's command, "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."

Reward of Righteousness

During its comparatively brief history, Christian Science and its Discoverer and Founder have been subjected to the persecution that awaits, in one form or another, every pioneer departure from customary belief, especially when taken in the realm of religion. Nevertheless, it can be truthfully said, even at this early date, that, of all the questions knocking for admittance at the door of human consciousness, none is so insistent as Christian Science. More and more, it is becoming a topic of enlightened thought and conversation. No longer can one look upon oneself as a well-informed person unless one knows something firsthand and authentic about Christian Science.

And surely, in order to acquaint oneself with any subject, one would naturally appeal to the teaching of its foremost exponent; one would naturally resort to the source or fountainhead thereof! In this connection, let it be understood clearly that Christian Science is expounded originally, fully, and finally in the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, who, under God's directing, was spiritually prepared to carry out this divine commission. Obviously, the healing power of divine Truth and Love can be invoked successfully only by those who are loving and true.

The world's discoverers have been the world's benefactors, because their work has helped mankind to abandon limited for less limited points of view. But Mary Baker Eddy's discovery of the divine Principle underlying the healing works of prophet and apostle surpasses in importance all other discoveries, because it reveals the basis of harmonious existence and shows how spiritual truths can be effectually employed to solve human problems. The effect upon the world of this discovery is already incalculable. It is influencing for good every mode of human thought and activity. Writing on page 162 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy says, "The effect of this Science is to stir the human mind to a change of base, on which it may yield to the harmony of the divine Mind."

Utilization of Law

Notwithstanding the important part which scientific discoveries have played in the record of our time, nothing has been revealed that has not always been. All the constituents of these useful wonders have always been present, even though unknown. A savage and one familiar with the development of modern research, for example, could be standing side by side, but only the latter would be aware of any sense of dominion over the supposed density and power of matter, a dominion which the former would wholly lack. What would be the cause of this difference? Would it not be ignorance—ignorance which would deprive the savage of the enlightenment which education would afford the other?

Now, the facts relating to material discoveries illustrate spiritual truths. God is omnipresent. This law of omnipresent good is therefore available at all times for help and healing. And yet, owing to human ignorance of Spirit, God, this law is generally unknown and therefore unapplied. Through Mrs. Eddy's discovery of Christian Science, however, mankind is learning how to utilize the law of infinite Spirit, which is omnipresent but humanly invisible, as law must always be. It is teaching that the mighty, unseen power of God is always at hand and that everywhere it can be understood and successfully applied by those who are spiritually awake and loving'y obedient to divine law.

A Biblical Illustration

In the second book of Kings is an impressive example of the difference between one who is ignorant of divine law and one who understands it well enough to utilize it in behalf of oneself and others. An Israelitish girl, who waited upon Naaman's wife, told her mistress that Naaman, who was commander of the king's army and a leper, could be healed of leprosy by a particular prophet who resided in Israel. Hearing this, Naaman's king sent an urgent letter to the king of Israel, asking him to heal Naaman. When he read the strange request, the king of Israel, himself unaware of the availability of divine law, protestingly exclaimed, "Am I God, . . . that this man doth send unto me to recover a man of his leprosy?"

On the other hand, when the prophet Elisha, who clearly understood the omnipresence of good, heard the request, he was undisturbed and confident. Was not this difference, though far more important, comparable to the difference between one who understands how to utilize scientific knowledge and one who does not? To the uninstructed, even mathematical law might seem to be mysterious, but to the mathematician it is natural and invariable. Although invisible, it is comprehensible and ever available.

And so, Christian Science is proving, as Elisha proved later by healing Naaman, that there is nothing mysterious about the law of spiritual healing. Its rules can be understood and sure results obtained through the prayer of spiritual understanding. Mrs. Eddy refers to this prayer as follows, on page 12 of Science and Health: "It is neither Science nor Truth which acts through blind belief, nor is it the human understanding of the divine healing Principle as manifested in Jesus, whose humble prayers were deep and conscientious protests of Truth,—of man's likeness to God and of man's unity with Truth and Love." It is this invisible, changeless law of omnipresent good that must be invoked in every true Christian Science treatment.

Long ago, Paul wrote, "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." If, then, that which is seen is a sick body, a discordant home, a failing business, lack of employment, or a harmful habit, the need is to see it as temporal, unreal, powerless, because it is not of God, good. When faced by that which seems to be, the Christian Scientist resolutely turns his thought to that which is. He prayerfully looks at the things which are not seen by material sight, not seen by God, Spirit, and to man in His image and likeness, who is always spiritual, always at peace, always safe.

A Make-believe World

In a recent public address, the dean of the graduate school of a noted American university said that mankind as a whole is dwelling in a world of make-believe instead of reality and that, accordingly, they have not yet heard the opening theme of the great symphony of being, in which every note speaks of truth, beauty, goodness, and harmony. "To discover this world," he said, "it is necessary to go far deeper than the physical senses are able to go. On the surface of things, we see prejudice, suffering, and wickedness; but if we go deep enough, there is truth everywhere; if we go deep enough, there is beauty everywhere; if we go deep enough, there is goodness everywhere; if we go deep enough, there is harmony everywhere. Because the world of physical sense is by its very nature an artificially built-up and make-believe world, the best it can do is to direct our gaze toward the world of reality and truth."

Although the dean's remarks indicate a tendency toward the truth of being, they do not reveal—as Christian Science alone can—the divine Principle of "truth, goodness, beauty, and harmony," for which the dean and others are groping.

But to continue: If, on a clear day, you were to look toward the eastern horizon at dawn, the sense of sight would say that the sun is rising. If you were to look toward the western horizon at dusk, the sense of sight would say that the sun is setting. In neither case, however, would sense testimony be telling the truth. Why? Because the sun has never risen and the sun will never set. That which seems to be the sun rising in the east and setting in the west is the earth turning on its axis from west to east. Therefore, in order to understand what is actually taking place, one would have to reject sense testimony. Not the phenomenon, but only the misleading human sense of it would have to be changed, in order to arrive at the truth.

Unreliable Testimony

Now, since material sense cannot be relied upon to tell the truth even about the things that are seen, how much less can it be relied upon to tell the truth about things that are not seen, namely the real or spiritual universe, including spiritual man! Recognizing this, Jesus said, "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment." He knew, on the one hand, that Spirit is the only presence, substance, and power. He knew, on the other hand, that so-called sense testimony refers only to matter, and that matter, whether seemingly bad or seemingly good, is untrue, because it denies the allness of God. It would have us believe that there is something besides the everywhereness of Spirit.

Accordingly, that which seems to be a material sky and mortal man, Christian Science uncovers as a false sense or material misinterpretation of reality. This false sense is the cause of all human discord. Progressively to abandon it in behalf of the divine ever-presence means to you and me an unfolding sense of health, happiness, and peace. Hence, Christian Science is not presuming to change or improve the real universe, nor the real man, but to correct the wrong or material sense about them. Writing on page 298 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says: "What is termed material sense can report only a mortal temporary sense of things, whereas spiritual sense can bear witness only to Truth. To material sense, the unreal is the real until this sense is corrected by Christian Science."

Tenacity of Belief

The difficulty with many of us, however, lies in the human disinclination to abandon this troublesome belief in matter. If we are not holding on to a belief in bad matter, we may be holding to a belief in good matter; hence, the continued human bondage to a false sense of existence. This was well illustrated when a mother found her young son trying to extricate his closed hand from the family sugar bowl. Recognizing quickly that the occasion presented an opportunity for teaching a helpful lesson, the mother told the boy that he had only to open his hand in order to be free. "But, mother," the lad replied, "I want the sugar!" "Well, my son," continued the mother, "it is plain to be seen that, under present circumstances, you cannot have both the sugar and your freedom. You must surrender either the one or the other." After thoughtfully surveying the situation for a moment or two, the child let go the lumps of sugar; then his hand was free.

Is not the predicament of mankind as a whole similar to that of the little boy? In one way or another, is not our closed hand in the sugar bowl of material sense? If we are not holding on to a belief in matter, may we not be holding on to a belief in well matter? If we are not holding on to a belief in material pain, may we not be holding on to a belief in material pleasure? Surely, the one is as unreal and misleading as the other! Why, then, should we wonder why we seem to be in bondage to human discord and limitation? Obviously, if we would be free mentally and morally, physically and financially, we must remove our hand from the sugar bowl of material sense; we must let go.

Man Is Immortal Now

Now, this misleading sense of things says that man is mortal, living in a discordant, material world, and subject to material law; whereas the exact opposite must be the case, if Spirit is true and material sense a liar, as the Bible says. Accordingly, Christian Science declares that, rightly considered, man is immortal, living in infinite Spirit (the kingdom of heaven), and subject only to spiritual law. If that is the truth (and it is), should we not fearlessly claim it? Never will man be other than he is now, namely, the image and likeness of God. To be rid of this false personal sense of existence calling itself an unhappy, diseased, unemployed, poverty-stricken, dying mortal, one has only to obey more and more Mrs. Eddy's inspired counsel on page 201 of Science and Health, where she writes, "The way to extract error from mortal mind is to pour in truth through flood-tides of Love."

Some time ago, for example, I read a charming parable about a baby lion that became separated from its mother. After much wandering the cub came upon an opening where a flock of sheep was grazing in the distance. Wearily making his way to the hillside, the little fellow was unselfishly adopted by a mother sheep, who thereafter looked upon him as her own.

A year or two later, a shaggy-maned old lion came upon the same scene and was amazed by the sight of a lion contentedly grazing with the sheep. At first he chuckled, then laughed, and finally roared in amusement. Looking up in surprise, the lion who believed himself to be a sheep asked why all the roaring. "Who wouldn't roar," came the rejoinder, "at the sight of a lion grazing with sheep?" Unaware of his feline ancestry, the young lion stoutly insisted that he was not a lion, but a sheep, and then resumed his grazing.

Not to be silenced, however, the older lion challenged the younger to follow him to a near-by pool of water in which he could see his reflection and thereby learn what he really was. Accepting the challenge, the one followed the other to the pool. Looking in again and again, the young lion, at first incredulous, was eventually compelled to admit that he was not a sheep, but a lion. Once convinced, he fondly bade farewell to his friends, the sheep, and disappeared into the jungle, never to return. The moral was that we are not what we believe we are, but what we are.

Enlightenment That Heals

Similarly, owing to man's supposed separation from the Father-Mother Principle, or true source of being, which is omnipresent Spirit, mankind are ignorantly believing that God's ideas, or children, are mortals, living in a material world, and subject to material law. But, thanks to Mary Baker Eddy, we now have the mirror of Christian Science, into which we may look, and learn what God's man really is—not a mortal, but an immortal; not the victim of material sense, but the carefree idea of divine Mind, God.

The healing power which accompanies this spiritual enlightenment was beautifully illustrated in a recent case. It was that of an elderly woman who for thirty-five years had been suffering from a particular bodily ailment. She said that she had spent a fortune in her search for healing by material means. But, instead of getting better, she grew steadily worse. While listening to a lecture on Christian Science, however, she became aware, and completely healed. When asked what specific truth it was that accomplished the healing, she said that it was at that point in the lecture where she realized clearly for the first time that man is not a mortal, either sick or well, with or without pain, but—in the likeness of God—incorporeal, inorganic, spiritual.

Modus Operandi Illustrated

Many years ago (obviously, before I knew anything about Christian Science), I attended the public exhibition of a professional hypnotist. Most of the persons who went to the stage as prospective subjects could not be controlled by the mental manipulator, simply because they refused, as he said, to "think" about nothing." On the other hand, a young man of my acquaintance, who willingly yielded his mentality to the hypnotist's suggestions, suddenly found himself believing that he was trying to save himself from drowning in the water that was not. Although physically safe on the stage, he manifested all the evidences of a person in grave danger.

By observing only the subject's struggle to save himself, one might have been deceived into trying to rescue a drowning man. Obviously, however, he would soon realize that the man did not need to be rescued from water, for there was no such water and no such man. The victim needed merely to be awakened from the hypnotic spell which was causing him to believe that he was what and where he was not. Once released or awakened from the hypnotic delusion, he would find himself restored to mental self-control and freedom.

Daydream of Material Sense

Similarly, because the world at large still believes that man is mortal, living in a material universe and subject to material law, Christian Science reveals that it is only from this hypnotic belief, this daydream of material sense, and not from supposed realities calling themselves sickness and unhappiness, unemployment and poverty, disaster and death, that human consciousness needs to be saved. The basic error is never person, place, or thing, but always erroneous suggestion appearing as such, in order mentally to deceive and mislead mankind. Accordingly, the axe of Truth must always be aimed at the root of the tree; namely, this supposed malicious mind or claim to existence apart from infinite Spirit or Mind called God, in order to bring out a harmonious sense of things in human experience.

Therefore, instead of trying to change matter that cannot see into matter that can see, and matter that cannot hear into matter that can hear; instead of trying to change matter that has a malignant growth into matter that has not a malignant growth, and matter that is unemployed into matter that is employed, Christian Science aims primarily to dispel the sense-dream of organized matter. It accomplishes this by stimulating human obedience to the law of infinite good, to the allness, everywhereness, and oniness of Spirit. This obedience progressively reveals the truth that the man of God's creating is not a mortal, either good or bad, sick or well, old or young, poor or rich, employed or unemployed, alive or dead, but that he is—in the likeness of Spirit—incorporeal, inorganic, spiritual. This revelation imparts the spiritual power that heals.

Only One Mind

Therefore, Christian Science is teaching mankind that the spiritual power to overcome material belief—whether manifesting itself as fear or worry, sickness or sin, unemployment or want—is available to all who are prepared to think and live in accord with the law of infinite Spirit or Mind. As already indicated, the modus operandi is simple. Whatever the discord that needs to be overcome, one must always start from the basis that God, infinite good, is the only Mind, and that man is not a mortal, either imperfect or perfect, but—as God's likeness—that he is incorporeal, inorganic, spiritual. Having lifted thought to this true sense of being, one can readily see that whatever seems to be unlike Spirit must be unreal—that is, a material sense or false concept of reality. Hence, all mistaken beliefs can be made to disappear before the understanding that God is the only Mind and that man, or true existence, is Mind's idea.

Thus one can see that what is called the human body does not affect one's thinking as much as one's thinking affects the body, as well as all other phases of human experience, including one's home, one's business, one's country, and one's world. We are not in them; they are in us—that is, in what we call our mind or consciousness. How important, then, that one's point of view be found more and more on the side of the spiritual, the good, and true! Mrs. Eddy makes this clear on page 208 of Science and Health, where she writes: "A material body only expresses a material and mortal mind. A mortal man possesses this body, and he makes it harmonious or discordant according to the images of thought impressed upon it. You embrace your body in your thought, and you should delineate upon it thoughts of health, not of sickness."

Some Helpful Hints

This so-called mind or material sense may be suggesting that you are afraid; that you believe that evil has power. But God is omnipresent good; hence in Him there is no fear, nothing to be afraid of, and no mortals susceptible to fear or any other frailty. It may be arguing that you are critical or criticized, hateful or hated. But God is infinite Love; hence everything in His universe is loving, lovable, and beloved. It may be arguing that you are confused, forgetful, and lacking in ability. But God is omnipresent Mind, hence His likeness, man, always knows what should be done and expresses the intelligence and ability with which to do it.

Material sense may be suggesting that you have lost your health; that your eyesight is dim or your hearing impaired. But health, sight, and hearing must abide in infinite Spirit; hence they are as omnipresent as God. They have nothing to do with organized matter, either good or bad. They are as permanent and indestructible as Spirit. They are safe in the heavenly Father's keeping.

If personal sense is whispering that man is material and that false appetite and other forms of sensuality are natural, you can turn the lie upon itself in the awareness that existence is not subject to animality, for man is incorporeal, hence inorganic; that he is spiritual, hence sinless. If personal sense is declaring that man must die, reject the lie in the assurance that man lives eternally, because he reflects God, who is omnipresent, changeless Life.

Accepting the fact of man's likeness to the Eternal and, in the foregoing manner, applying this truth to whatever phase of evil may present itself at the door of consciousness, we can progressively put off the so-called "old man" and become more and more aware of the "new man" or true selfhood. Writing in II Corinthians (3:18), Paul says, "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." And on page 126 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy assures us that "mortality will cease when man beholds himself God's reflection, even as man sees his reflection in a glass."

Summation

As numerical mistakes can be corrected only by human obedience to mathematical law, so the discords of earthly experience can be corrected only by human obedience to divine law, the law of present spiritual perfection. The promises of the Bible are inseparable from this obedience.

Christ Jesus makes it plain that adherence to religious creeds, doctrines, or opinions, however sincere it may be, will never bring about the needed change. And yet, without this change from a material to a spiritual point of view, no one should expect to reach that harmonious state of consciousness to which the Master referred as the kingdom of heaven.

Writing on page 26 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says: "Our Master taught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practised. His proof of Christianity was no form or system of religion and worship, but Christian Science, working out the harmony of Life and Love."

Christian Science is mankind's friend and comforter. It is capable of answering every question, solving every problem, and meeting every need. Why, then, should anyone hesitate longer about going to the nearest public library or Christian Science Reading Room and asking for a copy of Mrs. Eddy's notable book? Science and Health has healed others; it can heal you.

Owing to the spiritual light which this unique volume throws upon the teachings of the Bible, Mrs. Eddy has established that for which all the world has been waiting, namely, a satisfying religion.

MEN ACTIVE IN PROMOTING GIRL SCOUTING

Helping to Develop Better "World of Tomorrow," Says Mrs. Roosevelt

Men who are interested in helping to develop a better "world of tomorrow" are needed by the Girl Scout organization, according to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., of Oyster Bay, L. I. Mrs. Roosevelt, a vice-president of the national organization, said that there are many men helping now, and their cooperation is invaluable, but that more are needed.

"There are places on Girl Scout councils for bankers and for real estate men," she explained, "for salesmen and advertising men. Bankers in many communities are serving on finance committees, and helping Girl Scout council members to prepare their budgets. Real estate men are active on camp committees, and salesmen and advertising men are giving their advice and help to public relations committees.

"This combination of men and women on Girl Scout councils is increasing throughout the country," she continued. "There are 'Dad's Patrols' whose members visit Girl Scout camps before the season opens to see that all is in readiness or to make whatever repairs are necessary, and again at the end of the season, to help in closing camp."

"Men's Committees for Fund Raising are functioning with enthusiasm and with great success, and male members of Girl Scout Mariner Pilot Committees are giving their time for the further development of this program activity for girls from 14 to 18. We would like to have many other men working with Girl Scout councils to make our program available to the thousands of girls waiting to become Girl Scouts."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the October issue of "Missions" is the following article, which may be of interest to readers of the magazines named herein.

Without Liquor Advertising

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Curtis Publishing Co. in Philadelphia, as reported in the "Christian Advocate," a stockholder offered a resolution that the company accept liquor advertising in its three periodicals, "The Saturday Evening Post," "The Ladies' Home Journal," and "The Country Gentleman." President W. D. Fuller replied:

"We receive bales of letters from our subscribers complimenting the company on its present policy and pledging their support. In addition, a number of other advertisers have said that they would withdraw their advertising from our magazines if we accepted liquor advertising. In the opinion of the management, the result would be that the gain in liquor advertising would be more than offset by losses in other advertising, circulation, and prestige. On the basis of our present policy the company is doing fairly well."

In figures, it is said, that the company has a gross revenue of about $36,000,000 a year.

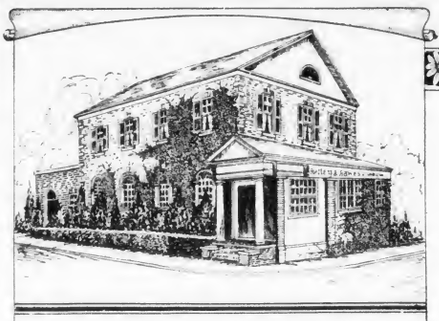

Here is an outstanding enterprise in America that has not been deluded by the return of liquor. And there are many other periodicals as well as numerous daily newspapers, that follow the same policy as the Curtis Publishing Company.

$2000 THE GOAL

REUBEN BURSEY
Official Collector

To give impetus to the Salvation Army's annual appeal in Winchester, which has $2,000 as its goal, a Tag Day, will be held here Saturday. It will be in charge of Reuben Bursey, the official collector. From morning until late in the evening Salvation Army workers will be stationed at busy points. All donors will be handed a shield-shaped tag.

Up to and after the Tag Day doings, Mr. Bursey will continue contacting former donors and those who have never aided the Army.

William N. Beggs, chairman of the sponsoring committee asks that all of Winchester folk avoid unauthorized collectors and give to no one but Mr. Bursey and the campaign treasurer, He is G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company. Mr. Beggs added:

"There will be may of our town people whom Mr. Bursey may not be able to contact in the effort to reach the goal of $2000. In that event I ask that you send or hand your donations to Mr. Cabot. The Salvation Army needs our aid. It is a fine week to show how thankful we are for what we have been enjoying in this land of no wars."

For a long time Massachusetts cities have felt the importance of the local Salvation Army fund. This is made up of a portion of the money collected in the one appeal made each year. A fund exists in Winchester. It is to bring relief in emergencies. It is to meet the need of a hurried order of coal, of wood, of food, and any other emergency that local business folk feel the need of quick action.

Andrew S. Seiler, general chairman of the Metropolitan Division of the Salvation Army appeal organization, of which Winchester is a part, announced at the final report meeting of the Greater Boston annual maintenance appeal committee, held in Boston, last week, that the $35,000 quota assigned to Metropolitan towns, would be soon at hand, if the former donors, new donors of Winchester and other towns of the 28 listed in the Metropolitan division, would seriously study the work of the Salvation Army.

Mr. Seiler said:

"Wellesley and Belmont are among the new cities listed in the Over-the-Top circle. Others already in that category are Braintree, Hingham, Lexington, Milton, Needham and Winthrop, with many towns showing a far better total collection than last year."

COMMUNITY FUND COMMITTEE MET

The Winchester committee of the educational division of the Greater Boston Community Fund met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. James Murray of Crescent road on Monday evening. Acting with Mrs. Murray are Mrs. Harrison Lyman, Mrs. William Hickey and Mrs. Ben Schneider. The committee reported excellent cooperation of Winchester organizations in making plans for speakers, movies and exhibits related to the campaign in January.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSIC GROUP

The Children's Music Group has had a particularly successful start on this, its eighth season. More and more children are taking advantage of its membership, which is open to any and all between the ages of 9 and 15 who are interested in music and are studying it in some form.

Group singing starts the monthly Sunday afternoon meetings. A free period gives opportunity for young soloists and ensemble players to share what they have been studying. Then comes a talk about some special composer whose music is illustrated by the young people themselves.

On Nov. 19, the happy, fun loving Haydn was the composer so chosen. The compositions used for illustration were his famous Toy Symphony for small orchestra and several toy instruments, two movements from his quartets, and one of his hymns, sung by Hubert Smith. David Chipman, Theodore Greene, Alexander Samoiloff.

Violins—Jean Stillman, Herbert Clement, Dorothy Carr, Arthur Phinney
'Cello—Betsey Drake
Cuckoo—Ruth Tapley and Doris Newton
Nightingale—Theodore Ginsberg
Triangle—Klaus Hahn
Rattle—Virginia Symmes
Quail—Torr Harmer
Drum—Walter Gallagher
Trumpet—Dominic Talone

After the program performed by the members and an intermission for refreshments, some artist of acknowledged reputation plays and explains his instrument.

At the first meeting Elford Caughey of the Boston Symphony Orchestra showed the mysteries of the harp. At the last meeting George Brown gave an exposition of the different effects which can be obtained on the 'cello and played a half hour program.

THE FREE PASS

The editor stood at the pearly gate,
His face was worn and old;
He meekly asked the man of fate
Admission to the fold.
"What have you done?" St. Peter asked,
"To seek admission here?"
"Oh, I ran a country printing plant
On earth for many a year."
The gate swung open sharply
As Peter touched the bell.
"Come in," he said, "and take a harp;
You've had enough of—er—trouble."

MUSIC APPRECIATION COURSE

For those men and women who have no previous knowledge of music but wish to know something of the works of the masters, a University Extension Course on "Appreciation of Music" will be given at the Noonan School, Winchester, under the auspices of the State Department of Education.

The course will be conducted on Monday afternoons, at 3:30 o'clock, beginning Dec. 4, by Dr. Arnold Elston, Director of Music at the Longy School of Music, and formerly lecturer at Columbia and Boston Universities. It is of college grade, but is designed also for music lovers in general as an introduction to the art of music and the great musical works. Lectures on the elements of music, the significant musical forms: folk song-, variations, fugue, sonata, symphony, opera, oratorio and art song, and the important historical styles from Bach to the 20th century. The lectures will be through phonograph recordings of representative masterpieces.

Dr. Elston has had a wide musical training here and abroad. Upon receiving his M. A. from Columbia, he studied abroad under a fellowship. Returning to this country he was appointed Naumburg Fellow in Composition and received a Ph. D. degree from Harvard.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Fresh pork is the outstanding market value this week, whether you are looking for loin chops, a roast or spareribs. Poultry remains low in price though preholiday prices are slightly higher. Beef costs about the same and lamb a trifle more than last week. Butter and egg prices are largely unchanged. Fish is relatively scarce.

Fruits are plentiful and with few exceptions they are inexpensive. Among the best values are apples, bananas, grapes, oranges, grapefruit and pears.

Cauliflower is still unusually low in price but the peak of the season is past. Broccoli, brussels sprouts, celery and spinach are reasonable.

Low Cost Dinner

Roast Fresh Shoulder of Pork
Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Diced Rutabagas
Bread and Butter
Apple Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Moderate Cost Dinner

Roast Loin of Pork Apple Sauce
Mashed Sweet Potatoes & Rutabagas
Creamed Celery
Bread and Butter
Squash Custard
Tea or Coffee Milk

GIBRALTAR—ENGLAND'S SENTINEL ON THE MEDITERRANEAN—IS GRIM NATURAL FORTRESS

Europe's general nervousness is being translated into action at Gibraltar, as warships gather and England rushes land and air defense for her sentry at the doorway to the Mediterranean.

The Rock of Gibraltar, standing guard over the strait of the same name which divides the continents of Europe and Africa, is one of the world's most stategic spots, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Studded With Guns

A great rugged finger pointed at Spanish Morocco from the Spanish mainland at the western entrance to the Mediterranean, Gibralter is surrounded on three sides by water. On the fourth side, it is linked with Spain by a low, sandy isthmus known as "Neutral Ground," and bounded on the north by what is marked on official maps as an "Iron Fence" and on the south by an "Unclimable Fence."

Three miles long and less than a mile wide, Gibraltar's towering limestone mass rears its head at its highest point nearly 1400 feet above the blue Mediterranean. Cut in its rocky sides are the famous "galleries," studded with camouflaged guns capable of shooting five miles across the Bay of Algeciras on the west, as well as across the Strait itself to Africa some 14 miles away. Still more guns, heavy artillery and anti-aircraft guns, are now being set up. Food supplies and munitions are being stored in the heart of the Rock, and men are working on a bombproof tunnel to be used as refuge in case of emergency.

Equally important in the defense of "Gib," as it is familiarly called by those who live there, are the vast water reservoirs also chiseled out of solid rock. Holding hundreds of millions of gallons, these reservoirs are filled by a simple but ingenious arrangement of "water sheds" which catch rain water as it falls and direct its flow to the reservoirs.

An odd feature of the Rock of Gibraltar is its monkey population. In caves high above the town lives a colony of Barbary apes. Protected by law, they are the only wild monkeys in Europe.

England's Since 1704

Gibraltar's history goes back more than a thousand years before Christ. The Phoenicians knew it, the Carthaginians, Romans, and Visigoths. As one of the ancient "Pillars of Hercules" (the other was on the African coast just across the Strait) Gibraltar in the 8th century saw the first Moorish invasion. Its present name is a corruption of the Moorish "Jebel Tarik" (Hill of Tarik) in honor of the conquering chief.

Contested at different times by Moors and Spaniards, the "Rock" was seized by England in 1704. Nine years later it was ceded to Great Britain by Spain; but the struggle for its possession was not yet settled. The most ambitious attempt to regain this territory came in 1779 when the British for four years successfully held the fort against siege by French and Spanish forces.

Today, clinging to the west and southern slopes of the Rock, the cosmopolitan town of Gibraltar shows the effects of a lifetime on one of the most traveled international crossroads of the world. There East and West meet in a racial conglomeration of Greeks, Syrians, Indians, Englishmen, Spaniards, Negroes, Moors, Frenchmen and Americans. Its civil population is something over 19,500 between "sundown and sunrise."

Sailors and soldiers lend a military tone to the city, dominating a mixture of tourists, business men, engineers, workers, merchants—and recently refugees.

During the World War this town was the base for 50 U. S. ships and submarine chasers.

In normal times, Gibraltar's chief interest is trade and supplying fuel, stores and water to shipping. Nearly 5000 vessels stopped there in 1936.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Zissis Tsoukas to Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, dated December 27, 1927, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5182 Page 174, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction at 9:30 A. M. on the twenty-sixth day of December 1939 on the mortgaged premises situated in Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

A certain lot or parcel of land with the brick building thereon, situated at the corner of Church Street and Common Street in Winchester in said County of Middlesex, shown upon a Plan of Land in Winchester, Mass., June [illegible], 1911, D. W. Pratt, Engineer, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 223, Plan [illegible], being bounded and described as follows:

Southerly by Church Street, fifty-one and 45/100 (51.45) feet; Easterly or Southeasterly by Common Street by a line parallel with and ninety-three (93) feet distant from the center line of the Boston & Lowell Railroad location, fifty and 14/100 (50.14) feet; Northerly or Northeasterly by the northerly or outer line or face of the brick wall of said building the premises beyond said brick wall of said building being land now or formerly of Clara L. Pond, forty-five and 13/100 (45.13) feet; Easterly or Southeasterly again by land now or formerly of said Clara L. Pond, 48/100 (0.48) of a foot; Northerly or Northeasterly again by land now or formerly of said Clara L. Pond, two and 51/100 (2.51) feet; and Westerly or Northwesterly by the center line of a right of way at land now or formerly of Theodore P. Wilson, sixty-seven and 86/100 (67.86) feet.

The said right of way at the westerly or northwesterly side of the granted premises is five (5) feet in width, one-half of such width being included in the premises hereby conveyed, and extends from the northerly or northeasterly limit of the premises hereby conveyed southerly to Church Street, the other half of said width being owned by Theodore P. Wilson, under deed from said Clara L. Pond dated June 1, 1914, and duly recorded.

Said right of way space, as stated in said deed to Wilson, is to be kept open and available for the uses of both adjoining estates, for purposes of drainage, maintaining pipes under ground, access to the buildings, and the general care of the premises on both sides of the same.

The fee and soil in the portion included in the foregoing description and hereby conveyed being subject to such rights in favor of the adjoining premises of said Wilson, the said Wilson's portion of the said right of way space likewise being subject to such right in favor of the estate hereby conveyed. The rights reserved to said Clara L. Pond and her heirs and assigns in said deed to Wilson being hereby granted and conveyed to the grantee herein named.

The easterly or southeasterly strip of land seven feet in width included in the foregoing description and conveyance is restricted and made subject to the provisions in deed from Boston and Lowell Railroad to Wm. H. Osgood, dated May 19, 1847, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 514, Page 131, and in deed of said Wm. H. Osgood to Stephen Cutter et als, dated June 25, 1847, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 513, Page 206.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by Freeland E. Hovey, Trustee, by deed dated Dec. 15, 1922 and recorded with said Deeds, Book 4578, Page 288."

Said premises will be sold subject to all outstanding taxes, tax titles and other municipal liens, if any.

Terms of Sale Three hundred (300) Dollars to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, balance in ten days; other particulars at the time and place of sale.

COLOMBIA'S NEW OIL 'HIGHWAY'

A new oil pipeline in Colombia, South America, 263 miles long and capable of delivering 25,000 barrels a day is pouring "liquid gold" into the Caribbean seaport of Covenas. In 1937 Colombia produced more than 20,000,000 barrels of oil, 40 times more than 13 years ago.

The first and only other pipeline to the sea was constructed in 1926, inaugurating Colombia's export trade in petroleum, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The republic ranked ninth in world petroleum output before the development of the field just opened.

The new 12-inch pipeline carries the oil from Petrolea in the Barco concession, near the Venezuelean border of eastern Colombia, to the new port on the Golfo de Morrosquillo. The oil field is 700 feet above sea level. In its course to the sea the oil is pumped over the Eastern Cordillera at a height of 5,400 feet near Convencion and then descends to the sea. The line crosses the Magdalena River just north of La Gloria and follows a westerly course that leads past Magangue, Corozal and Sincelejo to the Caribbean Sea.

Construction of the line was made difficult by the mountain heights and the swampy jungle land through which it passes after crossing the Magdalena River. Added to this was the general lack of highway and rail facilities. There is no railroad within 300 miles of the right-of-way except for a short and disconnected stretch extending from Cucuta, Columbia, to Encontrados, Venezuela, which passes 25 miles east of Petrolea and the Barco oil concession.

New Highway to Parallel Pipeline

Eight times the size of Illinois, Colombia has less than 2,000 miles of railway. Illinois has over 12,000 miles of railroad and over 10,000 miles of highway. The total length of Colombia's motor highways is 4,114 miles. Mountains seriously handicap the road-building program now under way. A new road paralleling the pipeline is under construction and will open vast new areas to development.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John J. Paine and Mary C. Paine, his wife in her own right to Louis Levin, dated January 25, 1938 and filed with Land Court Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds as Document No. 150529, noted on Certificate of Title No. 42627 in Book 285, Page 393, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Tuesday, December 26, 1939 at 10:00 A. M., all and singular the premises described in said mortgage to wit:

"The land on Pond Street with the buildings thereon, Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, and being shown as Lot 4 on a plan entitled "Plan of Land in Winchester, Frederick A. Ewell, Engineer, dated November 18, 1935" which plan is filed in the Land Registration office a copy of a portion of which is filed in the Registry of Deeds for the South Registry District of Middlesex County as Plan No. 15999A in Registry Book 262, Page 177 with Certificate No. 39947. Said lot 4 is bounded and described as follows:

NORTHWESTERLY: By Pond Street by two lines measuring Fourteen & 20/100 (14.20) and Fifty & 80/100 (50.80) feet respectively a total of Sixty-five (65) feet;

NORTHEASTERLY: By Lot 3, as shown on said plan One hundred eight (108) feet;

SOUTHEASTERLY: By Winter Pond, as shown on said plan, and

SOUTHWESTERLY: By Lot 5, as shown on said plan, about Ninety-two (92) feet.

The above described land is subject to easements and restrictions of record."

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes, outstanding tax titles, municipal liens and assessments, if any such there be.

Five hundred dollars (cash or certified check) to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Balance in 10 days. Other terms to be announced at the sale.

LOUIS LEVIN
Present holder of said mortgage.

XMAS SEALS MERIT SUPPORT

The campaifn against tuberculosis, made possible by Christmas Seals, merits the support of all people, President Roosevelt said recently in praising the activities of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The 33rd annual Christmas Seal Campaign of the National Association and its nearly 2000 affiliated groups throughout the country started on Dec. 1.

"As the Christmas Season approaches, my mind is drawn to the fact that it is again time for all of us to give our support to the sale of Christmas Seals," President Roosevelt said.

This is such a well established custom in the United States that it seems hardly necessary again to call the attention of the people to its importance.

"Tuberculosis still menaces the lives of all our citizens and it leads in the cause of death of those between the ages of 15 and 45. The fine work that has been done by the Nation Tuberculosis Association in the prevention of this dreaded disease merits the continued support of all the people of our country."

WINCHESTER GIRL HAS SIMMONS PANDA

A baby panda—toy store variety—was launched on a career of immediate jubilation and ultimate usefulness recently when it was chosen mascot of the freshman class of Simmons College, Virginia Chapin of Lawrence street, president of the class announced last week-end.

According to the tradition of Simmons mascots, the panda, as yet unnamed, will share the joys and sorrows of the class of 1943 until graduation and thereafter will remain in the custody of the senior president until the first class baby is born. He will then be handed over to this lucky infant as a toy.

A large number of Simmons mascots of all shapes, names and species have already ended up, badly mangled, in nurseries. The latest to be turned over to a class baby was Peter Penguin, mascot of the class of 1938, who was presented to young Patty Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Ball, of 86 Middlesex street, Winchester. Mrs. Ball was formerly Theodora Yates, Simmons School of English, '38.

Popeye the Sailor, mascot of the class of 1939, is still in the custody of the senior president, Marjory Duggan of Lynn. Classes still at college have the following mascots: seniors, a teddy-bear called Winnie the Pooh; juniors, Bunny Rabibt; and sophomore., Raggedy Ann.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mildred Buchanan Flagg will tell of her interviews with famous people under the title "Celebrity Chatalogs" at the regular meeting on Monday.

Mrs. Flagg is an author, editor, ghost writer and accomplished speaker of wide experience. Fortnightly members are looking forward with keen anticipation to hearing her.

MORRISON ELECTED

Howard A. Morrison, Jr., of 12 Glen road, has been elected to Gridiron, the honorary undergraduate publications society at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Morrison, a junior at the Institute, was elected on the basis of his capable service on THE TECH, semi-weekly newspaper of the undergraduates.

MISS MILDRED GHIRARDINI

Formerly a resident of Winchester, Miss Ghirardini was very active in Winchester High School from where she was graduated last year. She was editor-in-chief of the Yearbook and head cheer leader, and was elected the "person who did the most for the school."

OLD TREE FELLED

The giant cottonwood tree which stood near the Bacon street entrance to Ginn Field has been cut down, as it seemed to be in the way of improvements now being made. It was 109 years old according to rings on the stump. It is said that this tree stood there before the railroad was built to Winchester.

Cottonwood trees are rare in this section and there are probably not a dozen of them in the whole town. This was by far the largest known in this part of the country. Cottonwood trees are peculiar in that they shed most of their bark at certain intervals.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY TO HAVE DINNER

Winchester Junior Fortnightly will have dinner with the China Group of Boston, Friday, Dec. 8 at 6:30 at the King Wah Loo Restaurant, 16 Tyler street, Boston. Dr. Theodore Greene of Cheeloo University is to be the speaker.

Cheeloo is the university which transferred itself and students over 1000 miles from Isinan, Shantung to Shengtu, Szechnan in order to escape destruction. Dr. Greene's discussion will be on present day conditions in China.

WHITELAW WRIGHT PLEDGED AT TUFTS

Whitelaw Wright, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Wright of 14 Fletcher street, has recently been pledged to Beta Mu Chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity at Tufts College, where he is a member of the freshman class. Mr. Wright is enrolled in the Engineering School.

GROUP THEATRE PRESENTS O'NEILL PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Saturday Evening, Dec. 9

The first play in the sixth season of the Winchester Group Theatre will be presented at the Winchester High School on Saturday evening, Dec. 9 at 8:30.

Eugene O'Neills "Ah Wilderness" is the choice of the Group for their first production of the new season. O'Neill, one of the greatest living dramatists, has written a play filled with the warmth and sympathetic understanding of a mature mind. Against the background of New England in 1906 he has thrown a picture of an age-old family problem. It is the type of problem which occurs in every home where there is a son—and where one hears that "his folks are worried about him." This play reestablishes the confidence we all have in the destiny and basic strength of the plain, undistinguished, "every-day" American citizen.

The entire production has been handled to demonstrate the sincerity with which O'Neill approached his problem. The direction of Beulah Page Sibley has enabled the members of the cast to portray a group of exceptionally interesting New Englanders. The audience will be the final judge as to whether they have done their task well. George W. Hayden, Jr. has surrounded the cast with a proper setting. James and Joy Woolley have given most careful thought to every detail of production, stage management and costuming, with the help of the many active members of this well-known little theater organization.

On Saturday night in the high school auditorium the Group Theater will continue its policy of good entertainment.

MRS. ANNIE SOULE LEWIS

Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis, widow of Frederic H. Lewis and for more than half a century a teacher of pianoforte in Winchester, Woburn and Medford, died Tuesday morning, Dec. 5, at her home, 131 Washington street. She had been in poor health for the past five years.

Mrs. Lewis was born July 13, 1856 in Taunton, the daughter of Leander, and Caroline Lucinda (Graham) Soule. On her father's side she was a direct descendent of George Soule who came to this country on the Mayflower, and was also descended from Capt. Miles Standish and John Alden of the Pilgrim Colony.

She grew up in a musical atmosphere, her father, an old fashioned "singing school" teacher, having directed both bands and choruses as well as training some of the choruses for the Peace Jubilees in Boston in 1869 and 1872.

Mrs. Lewis attended the public schools of Taunton and when of high school age began the study of piano at the New England Conservatory, from which she was graduated in 1875, shortly before her 19th birthday.

While a music student in Boston she met her husband, a graduate of the then College of Music connected with Boston University, who taught piano for 16 years at the Conservatory and who at the age of 17, in competition with other candidates, secured the position of organist at the Unitarian Church in Woburn, playing what was at that time one of the largest organs in New England.

Mrs. Lewis was married in Taunton during August of 1878 and went to live in Woburn where her husband died in 1898. She commenced her professional career as a teacher of pianoforte in that city, she and her husband having studios in the old Savings Bank Building and later in the Dow Block. After Mr. Lewis' death she taught at her home and with the exception of two years abroad had taught continuously until ill health forced her retirement about five years ago, a span of over 50 years.

In 1903, with her son and members of her family, she went abroad, traveling on the continent with headquarters in Leipzig and availing herself of the cultural and social opportunities afforded by lectures, concerts and opera. In Leipzig, also, she taught groups of music students her own method of teaching pianoforte to children.

Returning to this country in 1905, Mrs. Lewis settled in Winchester where she had since made her home, first at 18 Mystic avenue and for the past 16 years at 131 Washington street. She continued to teach, maintaining studios in both Woburn and Medford as well as at her home, and extending her number of pupils' recitals beyond the 200 mark. In Woburn her recitals were given for many years in the Unitarian Vestry. In Winchester they were given at the high school assembly hall, Unitarian Church and old Fortnightly Hall in the Randall Block.

Mrs. Lewis was a gentlewoman of the old school; cultured, refined, gracious. She was held in high esteem by all with whom she came in contact and beloved by all who knew her intimately. Though successful in teaching adults, her forte was the musical instruction of children and through her own example and precepts she was very happy in her effort to mold youthful character with the development of sound musicianship.

Mrs. Lewis is survived by her son, Frederic Ferguson Lewis, widely known local organist and assistant assessor, with whom she made her home; a sister, Mrs. Henry P. Smith of Wellesley Hills and a brother, Carleton L. Soule of New Bedford.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Mt. Auburn Crematory Chapel with Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Lewis family lot in one of the older cemeteries in Manchester, N. H.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The regular monthly board meeting of the League, was held on Tuesday morning, Dec. 5 at the home of the president, Mrs. Wm. Cusack.

Those present were: Mrs. Geo. Brayley, Mrs. Theodore Browne, Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, Mrs. Donald Belcher, Mrs. John S. Dickey, Mrs. Wm. Goodhue, Mrs. Clifton Hall, Mrs. Errol Horner, Mrs. Philip Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Newton, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Edwin Rooney, Mrs. Ralph Sparks and Mrs. John L. Turner.

After a final discussion of plans for the School of Politics meeting on Friday, Dec. 8, it was decided to hold a tea at the conclusion of the class now being held on Public Welfare under the direction of Mrs. Malcolm Nichols. This will be at the home of Mrs. Theodore Monroe, 37 Cabot street on Tuesday, Dec. 19 and everyone who is interested in the League is invited to attend.

WINCHESTER'S BALANCE DUE STATE $82,428.28

Winchester had to pay the Commonwealth of Massachusetts $82,428.28, after the amount returned to the town in income and business taxes, State and Military aid, etc., had been subtracted from the amount due the Commonwealth in State taxes assessed upon the town. The amount due the Commonwealth was $120,673.14. The State returned to the Town $38,244.86, leaving a balance due the Commonwealth of $82,428 28. This balance was payable Nov. 20.

MRS. HELEN HARPER DAVIS HAMERSTROM

Mrs. Helen Harper Davis Hamerstrom, wife of Frederick N. Hamerstrom of 5 Lagrange street, died early Sunday morning, Dec. 3, at the Baker Memorial Hospital in Boston.

Mrs. Hamerstrom was born in Germantown, Pa., and lived there until after her marriage. She had been a resident of Winchester for 18 years and was actively identified with the Parish of the Epiphany, serving as a member of its Church Service League, Altar Guild and Committee of Gifts and Memorials. She was also a member of the Winchester League of Women Voters, Better Homes Garden Club, Winchester International Relations Group and was an active worker for the Red Cross.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Davis, of Winchester, Frederick N. Hamerstrom, Jr. of Plainfield, Wis., and a sister, Miss Jane Davis of Germantown, Pa.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. Organ music was played by the church choirmaster, Enos Held. Interment was in Northwood Cemeterv, Germantown.

In the closing of the earthly life of Helen Hamerstrom the Parish of the Epiphany has lost one of its most loyal and devoted members, and her large circle of friends in Winchester will treasure every memory of her rare character, and radiant personality.

Her spirit of broad sympathy for human need; her keen intellect, and clear vision of things pertaining to the spirit, seemed to illumine her every act of service. No detail was to small for her to accomplish with a perfection of skill rarely seen, and with a spirit of cheer which proved infectious.

With high courage and unselfish devotion in the face of ill-health, she set an example of Christ-like fortitude which will never cease to be an inspiration to all who touched her life.

At this season of Thanksgiving, we have a deep sense of gratitude that one possessed of such nobility of soul has lived in our midst.

ART CLASSES

Many people are surprised at the continued demand for art instruction in our community. In addition to all that the schools offer four classes are now in operation, two of which are sponsored by the Winchester Art Association. Of the latter, one is for children under the general management of Mrs. Hollis Nickerson. These boys and girls are engaged in most interesting activities, but unless vacancies should occur no more can be accommodated in this group.

The second Art Association class is for adults. They meet each Monday morning at 7 o'clock in White's Hall above McCormack's Drug Store. An active and interested group is working under Mr. Francis A. Merritt, art instructor at Abbot Academy. This class can accommodate about four more people. Any man or woman desiring information may phone Mrs. Truman M. Godfrey of Everett avenue, the Art Association's chairman for this activity. Whether one desires to enter the class next Monday or not until after Christmas it will be well to secure the information now.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

John "Steamer" Hanlon, son of Police Officer and Mrs. John E. Hanlon of Bridge street, spent his Thanksgiving vacation from N. H. State University with his parents in Winchester. "Steamer," who has been a regular back on the varsity eleven at New Hampshire during the past three seasons, brought to Winchester with him "Butch," the big wildcat that serves the team as mascot. The big cat was taken to the Zoo in Stoneham for safe keeping until next fall.

Monday evening at 6:45 an Eastern Massachusetts bus, being driven north on Main street in front of the Splendid Lunch in the center was in collision with a Plymouth coupe, being driven in the same direction by George W. Breslin of 2227 Massachusetts avenue, Lexington. The Plymouth was damaged in the collision. No one was injured.

George Hebb of 3 Stowell road, who has been home for the Thanksgiving holiday, returned to Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H., on Monday. George reports fine skating the previous week and that now they are looking forward to skiing weather.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club was held on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 6, with the president, Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, in the chair. The program was one of unusual merit and absorbing interest throughout. The guest of honor, Mrs. Alfred B. Williams, vice-chairman of the State Committee, spoke on "Why I Am A Republican," giving a complete and concrete summary of the aims and principles of this party, which is working so zealously to preserve the idcals and institutions of this great nation. Mrs. Williams pointed out that the present European situation has made the Republican party all the more determined that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish" and to this end along with Mrs. Whitman urged that everything be done to increase club membership and to acquaint everyone with information concerning federal, state, and local government.

Mrs. Fredcrick Hatch introduced the speaker for the Education Committee, Mrs. Errol Horner, who, for her subject the Federal Debt. Mrs. Horner presented so highly enlightening and comprehensive a survey of this situation as to give much food for thought.

The Honorable Chester T. Skibinski, State Senator from Chicopee, guest speaker for this program, held the undivided interest of his audience, as he so vividly and forcefully pictured his experiences in Poland just before the German invasion. Mr. Skibinski traveled throughout Poland and was everywhere impressed by the love and pride of the Polish people for their country and for the freedom which had made possible such vast improvements in the last 20 years.

He showed a rising little democracy, hemmed in by two totalitarian states, with the Polish corridor their only hope for an outlet for their products and world trade. He contrasted the situation of gloom and fear in the free city of Danzig already under the domination of the Nazis; with that of Warsaw, where gaiety and optimism held sway. In all walks of life, Mr. Skibinski said, it was the desire of the Polish people, who had not spent money building up armaments but in civic improvement, to keep their freedom and independence. So he thinks that while bombs may wipe out cities and crush civilian populations, while dictators may confiscate property and bring conquered people to misery and destruction; they can never destroy the soul of a nation so filled with love of country and love of freedom. Poland, beaten now, will rise again.

A social hour was enjoyed, with the festive air of Christmas evident in the charming centerpiece of evergreens and candles, which graced the tea table. Mrs. Stanley Howe, a member of the Social Committee, was in charge of the tea this month, and Mrs. Stanley Barnes was in November. Mrs. Walter W. Winship and Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden poured and Mrs. Howe was assisted by Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. Goodhue and Mrs. Gertrude Scammon.

MT. HOLYOKE CLUB OF WINCHESTER BOOK TALK

Each visitor to Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond's book talk on Tuesday morning, Dec. 5, found Mrs. Bond's list of book suggestions for Christmas waiting on her chair for her. Before discussing this list Mrs. Bond reviewed Charles A. Beard's "Giddy Minds and Foreign Quarrels" in some detail for the large group that filled Winchester Library Hall.

Mrs. James B. Willing, chairman of the book talks which benefit the Mt. Holyoke Club Scholarship Fund, announced that through the co-operation of Mary Spaulding's Bookshop, books which were on display would be sold and that others could be ordered to aid the fund. Mrs Bond's list contained suggestions for books for all types of minds and all ages, from grandmother to baby and should solve many a Christmas gift problem.

MR. CHAPMAN AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday morning, Dec. 10, at the regular morning service at 10:45 in the Winchester Unitarian Church, the preacher will be Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman of Lexington. Mr. Chapman is one of the leaders in the religious education department of the American Unitarian Association. He has served the Lexington Unitarian Church during the last seven years.

You will find too that the merchants listed in this issue are not only good people to know at the holiday season but are worthy of your patronage throughout the year!

DINNER PARTIES PRECEED GROUP THEATRE SHOW

Several dinner parties are being given Saturday evening with the hosts and their guests going on afterward to the performance of "Ah Wilderness" which the Winchester Group Theatre is presenting at the high school auditorium.

Among those entertaining are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills of Dartmouth street whose guests include Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dermot Townley-Tilson.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Spaulding of Main street are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Murray of Needham, Mr. and Mrs. William Cobb of Wellesley, Miss Lucille Harrison of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. John Rohrbough of Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Murray of Crescent road will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. E. V. French, Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Craven and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eaton.

MRS. NELLIE J. KELLOGG

Mrs. Nellie J. Kellogg widow of George G. Kellogg and for more than half a century a resident of Winchester died Tuesday morning Dec. 5, at her home, 86 Church street, following ten years of invalidism.

Mrs. Kellogg was born Oct. 20, 1855, in Barre, Vt. Her parents were Albert and Mary (Parker) Johonnott, and on her father's side she was a direct descendent of Daniel Johonnott, a French Hugenot who landed in Boston in 1645 and who is buried in the Old Granary Burying Ground. Another Johonnott, Peter, settled in Montpelier, Vt., at the time of the American Revolution and for several generations the family was prominent either as tanners or jewelers.

Mrs. Kellogg's father who died at the age of 93, was at the time of his death the oldest active living president of a bank in America.

Though born in Barre, practically all of Mrs. Kellogg's early life was spent in Montpelier, Vt., where she received her education. She was married Sept. 22, 1879, her husband, a former Boston broker, having died in 1921. She came to Winchester 55 years ago and had since made her home here, taking an active part in the affairs of the Unitarian Church and of its Ladies Friendly Society.

Mrs. Kellogg was a woman of great personal charm, beloved by all who knew her. She was held in great affection by children and young people who frequently called upon her, finding her always interested in their affairs and sympathetically inclined toward their ideas and activities. To the very end of her long life Mrs. Kellogg maintained her keen interest in current events and those who knew her intimately will long feel in her passing a sense of personal loss.

There are surviving a daughter, Mrs. Miles S. Sherrill of Cambridge; a son, Henry J. Kellogg of this town, with whom she made her home; and two granddaughters, Miss Caroline D. Kellogg and Miss Natalie J. Kellogg of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. The interment will be made Saturday morning in Freemount Cemetery, Montpelier.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Peterson of Baldwin street were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening when a large group of friends called at their home to congratulate them upon their 25th wedding anniversary which actually took place on Nov. 24. Mr. Peterson and his wife, the former Delia Doherty, were presented with a purse, and after an enjoyable entertainment program, refreshments were served.

Workmen are busy dividing the former Fells Market store on Main street, it being reported that the Splendid Lunch will occupy one half of the old space. The other half is to be occupied by a new market which is to be opened under the management of Vincent Boyle and Douglas Cox, with Fells Market for several years.

McCormack's Pharmacy was a busy place after the Thanksgiving Day football game. The proprietor, Henry McCormack, offered to give the victoriuos team his famous milkshakes on the house, and the Woburn squad availed themselves of the offer, en masse.

A resident of Forest street reported to the police last Friday morning that some one had entered his garage and taken a large box of grapes and a bushel of apples. The thieves evidently subscribed to the theory of exchange for they left behind them a burlap bag containing two inner tubes.

The police were called to a Norwood street home last Friday to look for a man who had disappeared with ten dollar bill given him in payment for some butter which he had brought to the door of a home there. He took the bill to get it changed and did not return. No trace of him could be found.

Another Winchester householder was victimized by a short change artist Wednesday afternoon when a woman on Salem street gave a man a ten dollar bill in payment for some butter and poultry. The man left to get the bill changed and did not return. The police were notified.

WINTON CLUB

The December meeting of the Winton Club was held last Monday at the home of Mrs. E. B. Badger on Prospect street. Five new members were welcomed into the active membership, Mrs. Raymond Dexter, Mrs. George A. Marks, Mrs. Loring P. Nichols, Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr., and Mrs. Jameson Slocum.

Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, president of the Winton Club, presided, and Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, chairman of the ways and means committee, divulged some of the plans for the 1940 Cabaret which takes place on Feb. 1, 2, and 3. Once again the Rogers Co. will provide the scenery and costumes, and Sammy Eisen, of the Ruby Newman orchestras will provide the music.

Mrs. Clarence McDavitt is chairman of the program and advertising committee and has assembled a large committee who are already working on clever ideas. The entertainment will be on the revue type with the color, action and comedy which has characterized these shows for many seasons past.

GEORGE E. SOAR

George E. Soar, Boston heating and ventilating contractor, died suddenly early Thursday morning, Dec. 7, at his home, 4 Pierrepont road. He observed his 61st birthday the previous Friday.

Mr. Soar was born in Roxbury, but spent most of his life in Everett, coming to Winchester in December, 1927. He was a life member of Palestine Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Everett.

For more than 35 years Mr. Soar had been a heating and ventilating contractor, heading his own firm in Boston. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ethel O. Soar; a daughter, Mrs. Adin B. Bailey; and two grandchildren, all of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the College Avenue Methodist Church in Somerville. Interment will be at Puritan Lawn in West Peabody.

BATES CHOSEN CHAIRMAN

Mr. Harold Bates of Oxford street, representing the Winchester Community Chest group, was chosen chairman of the metropolitan conference on social planning at its organization meeting held Wednesday at the Hotel Continental, Cambridge. About 200 representatives of social service in Greater Boston attended the formal organization.

FRANK DATTILO

Frank Dattilo, a well known resident of the Italian section of Winchester died early Wednesday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Angelina Cirurso, 57 Swanton street, after a long period of failing health.

Mr. Dattilo was in his 74th year. He was born in Italy and spent his youth in that country, coming to America as a young man and living for 10 years in Philadelphia before coming to Winchester. He had been a resident of this town for the past 30 years, having a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Dattilo's wife, Angela, died some years ago. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Theresa Torchia of Long Branch, N. J.; Mrs. Mary Provinzano and Mrs. Cirurso, both of Winchester; a son, Frank Dattilo, Jr., a member of the Winchester Park Department; and 17 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery.

GOODWIN—SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Lester F. Smith of Ridge street announce the marriage of their daughter, Winifred Amanda, to Mr. Malcolm Falconer Goodwin at Concord on Saturday, Dec. 2.

The bride was graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1932 and from the Copp Hospital Training School in 1935. Mr. Goodwin was graduated from the University of Maine in 1934 and is now associated with the United States Forestry Department.

INJURED AS CARS CRASHED

Several persons were badly shaken up Sunday afternoon at 5:30 as the result of a collision which wrecked two automobiles at the junction of Wildwood street and Wedgemere avenue.

According to the police the collision involved an Oldsmobile sedan driven west on Wildwood street by Howard L. Bennett of 272 Highland avenue, and a Terraplane sedan, driven north on Wedgemere avenue by Olive Boisclair of 103 French avenue, Brockton.

Mr. Bennett sustained injuries to his right elbow. Riding with him were Mrs. Bennett and Franklin L. Hunt of Stafford, Conn., both of whom were badly shaken up. Mrs. Boisclair and Mrs. Cora B. Nelson of Brockton, a passenger in her car, were also severely shaken and were taken to the home of friends on Dartmouth street by Officer D. Irving Reardon in the police cruiser.

Both the Olds and Terraplane were so badly damaged they had to be towed away, the Olds being taken to Pike's and the Terraplane, to the Central Garage.

WINCHESTER WOMAN RESCUED CAT

Climbing a 30 foot extension ladder was just nothing at all for Mrs. Rony Snyder of 59 Highland avenue, well known resident of the Highlands district, when it became necessary to indulge in this feat of aerial acrobatics to rescue her beautiful Persian cat, Robin, from the upper branches of a tall tree in Somerville.

Mrs. Snyder and Robin were en route to visit a former Winchester girl, Mrs. Alberta Seagrave Baker, at 35 Cherry street, Somerville, last Friday night when Robin jumped out of the Snyder car and promptly lost himself.

Mrs. Snyder reported his loss to the Somerville police, but despite their search, no trace of the cat was found until Saturday afternoon when a group of children discovered Robin perched in the uppermost branches of a tree at the corner of Summer and Ashland streets in Somerville.

Mrs. Baker sent word to Mrs. Snyder and notified the police, fire department and Animal Rescue League. The firemen regretfully informed Mrs. Baker that they had been forced to give up the rescue of cats, it took men out of headquarters when they might be badly needed. The police took a look at the slippery branches and decided a ladder was a necessity. Mrs. Snyder arrived beore the Animal Rescue League and promptly went into action.

Fourteen year old Norman Baker had found an extension ladder and with the assistance of bystanders this was placed in position. Up it Mrs. Snyder swarmed to her pet 30 feet above the ground.

Coaxing Robin onto her shoulder she retraced her steps carefully until the ground was reached, the crowd which had gathered cheering her on.

The Animal Rescue League arrived just as she made a perfect three-point landing.

WINCHESTER BOYS MENTIONED ON "ALL" TEAMS

The Boston Globe and Herald, in their all scholastic football team selections this year, give honorable mention to Winchester High's Co-Captain Anthony DeTeso as a center, Co-Captain Peter Galuffo as a back, Bernard Vespucci as an end; and Frank Marabella, as a tackle. The Boston Traveller limits its Winchester choices to honorable mention for DeTeso and Galuffo.

Seldom do the writers who pick the "All" teams for Boston papers see the boys on the smaller high school teams in action, and as a consequence honorable mention is about all these youngsters can hope for. An exception was the year that Paul Craigie of the Globe came out to see Captain "Andy" Lentine's team beat Woburn, 6 0, some years back and picked off "Lentine" for his center and captain. Those who saw Lentine and DeTeso through four years will admit that aside from a pronounced weight advantage, the ex-B. C. had little as a schoolboy pivot on the fiery little "Piggy," a lot of man for his inches and displacement.

The Extras are in the CAR—and not in the Price!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. *Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

YOU look this smooth-stepping Buick honey over, and its very manner tells you here's a one-in-a-million kind of automobile.

You look at the advertised prices, add something more for transportation and accessories—and there you begin to go wrong!

For one of the things that give this Buick its buy-value is the number of items included in the price that cost extra elsewhere!

For instance — the Flash-Way Direction Signal, standard on all models, costs around $10 extra elsewhere — even without the automatic cut-off.

Every Buick comes to you with automatic choke and an efficient oil cleaner — it's surprising how often they're sold as "extras."

Every Buick has dual horns, dual sun visors, locks on both front doors, electric lighter, assist straps,† robe cord,† glove compartment lock, front-door armrests, gas tank lock—all things often charged for elsewhere.

Every Buick has a Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine, micropoise-balanced after assembly. Every one has two stabilizers, and rear coil springs that never need lubrication.

All have torque-tube drive, battery under hood, two ways of starting. Super and Roadmaster have front seats close to five feet wide and all models have Safety Plate Glass all around.

And all this is included in the at-the-factory price. Why not see the nearest Buick dealer and see how little more it costs delivered to your door?

†Sedan models only

Only car in the world with all these features

KERRIGAN—COFFIN

Miss Ethel M. Coffin of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coffin of Barrington, N. S., and William C. Kerrigan, son of Mrs. Daniel H. Kerrigan of Winn street, Woburn, and the late Lieutenant Kerrigan, were married Thanksgiving afternoon at 4 o'clock in the rectory of St. Charles Church, Woburn, by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Charles P. Heaney.

Miss Coffin, wearing a powder blue wool frock with a feathered toque, short skunk bolero jacket and orchid corsage, was attended by Mrs. Susan Ring of this town. Mrs. Ring wore a wool dress of dusty pink with moss rose hat and slippers and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Arthur Kerrigan of Woburn was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony a reception for members of the immediate families was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother. Upon their return from a Canadian honeymoon, Mr. Kerrigan and his bride will make their home on Mishawum road in Woburn.

The bride, a graduate nurse, is a graduate of the Winchester Hospital Training School for Nurses. Mr. Kerrigan is a graduate of the Woburn High School and a member of the National Guard unit in Woburn.

A RARE ARTISTIC TREAT

Winchester art lovers will be interested to know that the etchings and lithographs of George Taylor Plowman, a well known etcher, will be exhibited by his son, Mr. Laurence Plowman of Winchester, in Fortnightly Hall, from 2-9 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 15.

George T. Plowman was born in Le Sueur, Minn., 1869 and died in Cambridge, Mass., 1932. He graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1892, and studied art in Paris and at the Royal College of Arts in London. He exhibited at the Royal Academy in London, the Paris Salon and in many cities in England and the United States.

His etchings have been placed in the permanent collections of the Congressional Library, the Metropolitan Museum, the Musuem of Fine Arts, the British Museum and South Kensington Museum in England and the Luxembourg Museum in France.

Besides the signed etchings which will be for sale, books on etchings and other graphic arts from Mr. Plowman's library, copper plates from which the etchings have been printed and many original drawings will also be exhibited for those who are interested in learning more about this form of art.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The December board meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held on Friday, Dec. 1, at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Ralph Jope, with the president, Miss Adelaide Homer, presiding. The following members were present: Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Miss Adelaide Homer, Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. Erol Horner, Mrs. Ralph Jope, Mrs. Clarence McDavitt, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. John Pearson, Mrs. Gardner Pond, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. Henry Spencer, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Jameson Slocum and Mrs. Charles Young.

Mrs. O'Leary, the supervisor, gave a very interesting report showing 251 visits made during the month of November. Much appreciation was expressed by Mrs. O'Leary and the board for the fine co-operation of En Ka in driving patients to and from the clinics in Boston and vicinity. Not only do En Ka members do the driving but they show a definite interest in seeing that the case is intelligently handled when the patient reaches the hospital.

TO PRESENT "MESSIAH" IN ARLINGTON

The Arlington Chorus and Community Orchestra, for the seventh consecutive Christmas concert will present Handel's beloved oratorio, "The Messiah" Sunday afternoon, Dec. 10, at 3 o'clock in Robbins Memorial Town Hall.

Winchester music lovers are cordially invited to attend the oratorio, for which no admission charge is made. Capacity audiences have attended previous concerts so an early arrival is urged.

The Arlington Chorus numbers 100 voices and the Community Orchestra numbers 50. Capable guest singers have been secured for the solo roles.

Most personal of all Christmas Cards are those especially chosen, one by one, for every friend and for each member of the family. Such cards have an individuality all their own.
It's often more pleasant to send them, too, and picking them out can be a lot of fun when the selection you have to choose from is as varied and as complete as our new showing.
Come in and see it soon—there are literally—Christmas Cards for everybody.

HIGH SCHOOL HOOP CANDIDATES OUT

Winchester High School basketball candidates reported to Coach George Lauer in the school gymnasium Monday afternoon to commence work for the coming campaign.

The locals open with Woburn Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 20, and much work must be done to place a capable team on the floor by that date.

Coach Lauer is not too optimistic over his prospects this year. Graduation took quite a toll from last year's capable quintet and only Capt. Byron Horie, center, and Tony DeTeso, guard, are back to start the current season.

Several second team men from last year are available, including Don Waugh, Hultgren, Frank Marabella, Greiner, Dick Merrow, Lane McGovern, Harold Boardley, Ray Harris, Tetrault, Provinzano and Callanan. These boys form an experienced nucleus, along with Bill McEwen, football halfback; Dean Derby, another football star; and Bill Martens.

Dec.
20—Woburn
Jan.
5—Stoneham*
10—Wakefield*
12—Woburn at Woburn
16—Concord at Concord*
19—Belmont at Belmont

MISS AVERY'S LECTURE

Ushers for the fifth lecture in Eunice Harriet Avery's Winchester series to be given on Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 p. m., in the Wyman School Hall, will be Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth and Mrs. Clark W. Collins. Miss Avery will discuss Germany.

This popular course of lectures on interpretations of world affairs is sponsored by the Smith College Club for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley, chairman of the lectures committee and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst will be at the ticket table.

RECEIVED B. A. IN ITALY

Joseph and Ralph Severino of Harvard street have received word that their brother, John, who has been studying in one of the Italian universities, has received his Bachelor of Arts degree. John Severino commenced the study of music and art when 11 years of age. He is now an elementary school master and is expected to assume a professor's position in the near future.

CHICKEN IS GOOD . . . . .
But HARROW'S SPECIAL
Broilers
. . . ARE BETTER!
Once your guests taste our Special Broilers, they'll be quick to ask for "seconds"! Such flavor comes from our feeding process—baby birds confined in wire batteries and forced to grow! No gallivanting! They're not to be compared with ordinary, tough, rangy, stringy chickens. And all inedible waste is removed immediately after killing. Why not try some today!
Serves Four . . . . . 2 for $1.25

Take A Lesson From The Past Few Years

Why not profit by the experience which these drastic years have brought. Fortunes wiped away; seeming security lost over night; money invested in securities which, on the face of things seemed above reproach, all vanished. Many are recovering and building positive future security under the Co-operative Plan of investment.

LIONS CLUB NOTES

The District Governor's bulletin for Novemer indicates that we led the 22 groups comprising District 33A in attendance for the month of November. If we can repeat for the month of December, International will present us with a large silver plated Lion trophy. Let's all get together and see if we can take this coveted prize.

The Novemer bulletin failed to include our new members in the membership contest drive. Had our genial District Governor not omitted this matter, we would have been in second place just in back of Everett.

Will "Joe" Sliney's face be red when he pays us another visit?

The new Danvers club will be chartered on Wednesday evening, Dec. 13 at the James Putnam Lodge in Danvers. This club is off to a flying start with 33 charter members.

We should go down and see the live wire members from the sponsoring club of Salem. Congratulations should be in order for the Salem club, as they are now on their way in sponsoring their third club this year.

Anyone notice the dignified bearing of Lion Chris Powers on the two occasions that he has been called upon to take over the gavel in the absence of the president? Dame Rumor has it that Chris is taking a correspondence course in public speaking.

"Bob" Emery's Lions Club directory committee is coming fast down the home stretch in the final drive before the publication goes to press. During the past week this live wire committee has turned in close to $200 in advertising subscriptions. Many thanks to "Doc" and all the members of this group.

Dr. Donahue, local optometrist, was the very welcome guest of Dr. Emery at our last meeting. Here's hoping that he liked the gang, because he certainly will be of invaluable assistance in promulgating our sight conservation program.

Lion "Tommy" Woods' contributions to the new directory indicate that apparently the hard-working "Tommy" will accept no ad less than a full page to each subscriber. The boys are beginning to call him "Full-page Tommy" as the result of his ability to get the big ones.

It was nice to see Paul Eberle back with us again at the last meeting. We certainly miss him when he is not able to attend our meetings. We sincerely hope that he can arrange his program so that he may be with us more frequently.

Our new member George Smith has finally located his typewritten speech that he promised to deliver last Monday. Anyone who knows George and is familiar with his oratorical ability will undoubtedly set aside an extra hour next Monday so that he may get the full benefit of George's talent.

It is of the utmost importance that every member be present next Monday at Fred's, as it is hoped that the directory committee will be in a position to submit a final report. Such an important event should come in the presence of all, as we are desirous of making this enterprise our outstanding project of the year.

AS our relations in the past have been so pleasant, we desire to express the wish that they will increase in good will and friendliness throughout A Happy and Prosperous New Year.

A sporting event of a type rarely staged in any city was held in Mechanics' Hall, Boston, Nov. 28, when a team of boys from Norfolk County School, Walpole, won a milking contest from their rivals, the Essex County School, Hawthorne. While a thousand people applauded and cheered, the winning team out-milked its opponents. Members of the winning team, left to right in the pictue are John Lowrie, Milton Daniels., Elton Daniels and William Coehran.

The contest was staged in connection with the H. P. Hood & Sons exhibit at the New England States Fair and Exhibition running through the week. The exhibit included eight Guernsey cows from the Hood Cherry Hill Farm in Beverly, a pen of calves and a pair of horses who have been on milk routes for many years, also a model milk room such as modern farmers have, with equipment to handle milk in the most approved manner.

The boys from the opposing teams milked in relays and gave a fine exhibition of skill in handling the cows as well as the amount of milk they secured in the eight minutes allotted to each team. The trophy was presented by Don N. Geyer, head of the Country Department of the Hood Company who is responsible for the high quality of the milk the Hood Company receives from about 5000 farmers.

In addition to the team prize, a $10 cash prize was awarded to Elton Daniels for his skill in milking and handling the cow. Many among the big crowd which watched the contest had never seen a cow milked before and some had never even seen a cow. Members of the Essex County team were David Irons, Arthur Gerow, Donald Herron and Joseph Kearney. The judges were Lester Thompkins of the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, George E. Erickson of the Middlesex County Extension Service, and Raymond Pierce of the Hood Company.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Christian Science Monitor has the following comment on the advertisements of the brewers and distillers. The quotation from the Monitor appeared in the "Union Signal" on the 19th of November, 1939.

"The New York State Liquor Authority recently published a pamphlet on temperance which includes a list of "warning signs" whereby the moderate drinker can tell when he is in danger of becoming a drunkard. Judging from the following statement from this booklet the safest kind of temperance is total abstinence:

"Every person who drinks should keep in mind that moderate drinkers do often turn into excessive drinkers and that no one begins by being a drunkard but drifts into it gradually. Do not fool yourself by thinking that no matter what the case may be with other people, you can always stop drinking when ever you want to. The only way to prove that you can stop drinking if you want to, is to stop."

The greatest contribution to sobriety, it would appear, will be made not by parents who "set a good example" by drinking moderately but by those who totally abstain rather than allow themselves or children to arrive at the place where they will have to prove they can stop drinking by stopping."

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for alterations and the erection of new buildings on lots owned by the following for the week ending Wednesday, Nov 29:

H. L. Dodge and S. E. Chevalier of Winchester—Alterations to dwelling at 27 Elm street.

Phyllis C. Sylvester of Winchester —New dwelling and garage, 2 Horn Pond Brook Parkway.

Kenneth Pond of Winchester—Addition of new 2 car garage to rear of present dwelling, 10 Prospect street.

LAND OF GENGHIS KHAN SEES AERIAL WARFARE

Shades of Genghis Khan! Near the birthplace of that famous Mongol conqueror, men today fly modern war machines that would bulge the eyes of the ruthless warrior who, on horseback, once won an empire from the Yellow River to the Black Sea.

Reports of air skirmishes, between Soviet and Japanese-backed forces along the Mongolian-Manchukuoan border, locate the scene of recent action just east of Lake Bor, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. This lake is on the eastern frontier of Outer Mongolia, in the same general vicinity as the River Onon, on whose banks the great Mongol Emperor, Genghis Khan, is believed to have been born more than 700 years ago.

Blood Sign of Conquest

According to legend, when the infant was examined he was found to hold in his clenched fish a small clot of dried blood. To the superstitious Mongols it was a sign of future conquest, and the boy, before long, began to fulfill the prophesy.

At an early age he succeeded his father as ruler of near-by tribes. In time, Genghis Khan and his hard-riding followers, killing, plundering and burning, overran the Great Wall of China, invaded Turkestan, and moved west all the way to the shores of the Dnieper River in European Russia.

Merciless, but capable, Genghis Khan (or as he is sometimes called, Chingis, or Jenghiz) established for himself and his descendants a vast and disciplined empire that covered all Asia and a large slice of eastern Europe. After he died, the far-flung kingdom which he left to his sons was split up, and eventually disintegrated.

Where Old Ways Stick

Modern Mongolia, homeland of the Mongol conquerors, is an area more than two million square miles in extent, stretching between Soviet Russia on the north and China on the south, with Japan's puppet state, Manchukuo, to the east. Outer Mongolia is under Soviet protection; Inner Mongolia, except for Japanese-held sections, is controlled by China.

Cutting across both Outer and Inner Mongolia is the cold, dry Gobi Desert and semi-desert partly fringed about by rolling pasture lands. On their high plateaus, nomad tribes still live much as they did in the day of Genghis Khan, tending their flocks of goats, sheep, cattle and ponies. The Mongolian is an excellent horseman, fast and daring; and racing is something of a business with many of them.

One of the worl's most remote and lonely regions, Mongolia is today considerably less populated than it used to be. There are probably less than a million Mongolians now, explorers say, where many millions once roamed a situation attributed to the fact that an increasingly arid climate took away their means of livelihood and drove them on to better pastures.

Despite its vast expanse, Mongolia has no railroads. Local transport is largely by camel, pony express, yak-back and even yak-cart. Travelers and scientists in the past decade brought in automobile caravans to speed them on their way, and now there is a regular automobile service in the summer months between Kalgan and Urga, chief town and trading center of Outer Mongolia. To cars, mud is a serious menace during wet weather, swallowing up wheels to the hubs. In some sections, bandits or racketeers, exact a toll from the traveler for each camel or automobile allowed to pass.

Several thousand Massachusetts home owners this year have accumulated the money for their October tax bills by making monthly installment payments to the bank.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTES

A program on castle life was presented by the sixth grade on Nov. 24 in the assembly hall. Jeanne Gilman read a list of the books that had been studied in preparation for this event. Reports were given as follows:

HOWARD PARKER NEW MANAGER OF CAPITOL THEATRE

Mr. Frank McManus, district manager for M. & P. Theatres, which recently acquired the Capitol Theatre in Arlington, today announced that Mr. Howard L. Parker would assume the management of the theatre.

Mr. Parker has had a long and colorful career in the show business. While still attending Mechanics Arts High School in 1927 he worked as a part time usher in the Scollay Square Olympia in Boston. In 1928 he was appointed chief of service at the Strand Theatre, Dorchester, and in 1929 he was promoted to assistant manager of the Strand. In 1930 he was transferred to the Morton Theatre, Dorchester, and in the same year he became assistant manager of the New Oriental Theatre in Mattapan.

Shortly after that he was transferred to the assistant managership of the Capitol, Allston, and then to the Central Square Theatre in Cambridge in the same capacity. After five years of service in Cambridge, he was promoted to manager of the Paramount in Newton, which he has just left to assume the managerial post of the Capitol, Arlington.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A. & P. Kitchen

The egg market broke more or less as ice does in the spring—all at once. Hens on the middle western farms as well as on eastern and western chicken farms started to lay and so there are generous supplies of both fresh brown and white eggs available at much lower prices.

Fresh and smoked pork prices are lower, so that pork chops and ham slices are both within reach of modest budgets.

Salad greens, including Iceberg and Boston lettuce, romaine, chicory and escarole are low in price. Apples, oranges and grapefruit are also very inexpensive.

Potatoes, both sweet and white, are healthful foods and both are in the cheap class.

Low Cost Dinner
Pork Chops Creamed Potatoes
Buttered Spinach
Bread and Butter
Apple Betty
Tea or Coffee Milk

Moderate Cost Dinner
Baked Ham Slice with Apple Rings
Mashed Sweet Potatoes New Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Orange Tapioca Cream
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

New Potatoes Green Beans
Avocado Salad
Rolls and Butter
Snow Pudding with Custard Sauce

GUANTANAMO, UNCLE SAM'S WATCHDOG ON THE CARIBBEAN

A sudden order recently for the American submarine Spearfish to abandon her South American shakedown cruise and proceed to Guantanamo, Cuba, calls attention to one of Uncle Sam's most strategically located naval bases. It lies on the south coast of Cuba only 75 miles from the island's eastern tip.

Many tourists familiar with Havana's night life and Santiago's history have heard little of Guantanamo, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. For sightseeing lures in this part of the island are scarce, and civilian visits to the station itself are forbidden except by special permission.

Convenient for U. S. Navy

To the United States Navy, however, the Guantanamo base is especially significant. Situated on the south shore of the far eastern end of Cuba, it controls the vital sea lane between Cuba and Haiti which links North Atlantic and Caribbean traffic.

In case of emergency, ships of some European countries must travel for days to reach these waters. United States' vessels are not only within easy access of base supplies but also have the advantage of familiarity with the area, due to annual target-practice maneuvers thereabouts. Guantanamo is, in fact, a sort of "winter home" for a considerable part of the U. S. Navy that is in the Atlantic.

Guantanamo Bay, the entrance to which is commanded on both sides by the naval station, is one of the best harbors in the West Indies. Extending 12 miles inland, it is wide enough to shelter the entire American fleet. At the same time its entrance is narrowed by a spit of land which, together with surrounding hills, helps afford protection against both storms and enemy attack.

Once a retreat for pirates, who used its protective shelter as a hide-out from which to pounce on shipping to the near-by port of Santiago, this harbor was also an English operating base against Spanish Santiago around the middle of the 18th century. The British commanding officer at that time was one Admiral Vernon, whose staff included Lawrence Washington, brother of the man who was to become the first president of the United States. Later, Lawrence Washington named his estate on the Potomac "Mount Vernon," after his former superior, the name which stuck even after George Washington took over the property.

Guantanamo Rented From Cuba

Guantanamo Bay came into American hands after the war of 1898, when U. S. Marines were landed there for action against the Spaniards. Setting up camp on a near-by hill, they fought off Spanish siege for several days, until reinforcements finally gave them control of the area.

In the early 1900's land on both sides of the bay was leased to the United States by the Cuban government for the purpose of establishing the present naval base. Under the jurisdiction of the American Navy Department, this base is maintained solely for the use of the fleet.

IN MEMORIAM

The Directors of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association desire at their first meeting since the death of their fellow director, Jonas A. Laraway, to express their feeling of personal loss.

Mr. Laraway was assiduous in his attendance at meetings of the Board of Directors of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association; his deep interest in and practical knowledge of civic affairs made him a leader both in this Association and in the town. He was never afraid to express his convictions wherever he was, and fear of being in the minority held no threat for him.

Mr. Laraway was a vigorous speaker, delivering shrewd blows; but the humor which pervaded his speeches, often bringing gales of laughter from his hearers, kept all who knew him friendly, and even those with whom he engaged in battle could take no offense.

Mr. Laraway, intelligently interested in the town in which he lived for so many years, a valued and faithful member of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association, a courageous, witty fighter for the right as he saw it, was a good citizen in the highest sense.

We desire not only to express our sense of personal loss, but also to testify to the public loss occasioned to the town in the death of Jonas A. Laraway, our fellow director, a citizen who served his community with zeal and courage.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Zisis Tsoukas to Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, dated December 27, 1927, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5182, Page 474, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction at 9:30 A. M. on the twenty-sixth day of December 1939 on the mortgaged premises situated in Winchester, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

"A certain lot or parcel of land, with the brick building thereon, situated at the corner of Church Street and Common Street in Winchester in said County of Middlesex, shown upon a Plan of Land in Winchester, Mass., June 19, 1914, D. W. Pratt, Engineer, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 224, Plan 39, being bounded and described as follows:

Southerly by Church Street, fifty-one and 45/100 (51.45) feet; Easterly or Southeasterly by Common Street by a line parallel with and ninety-three (93) feet distant from the center line of the Boston & Lowell Railroad location, fifty and 14/100 (50.14) feet; Northerly or Northeasterly by the northerly or outer line or face of the brick wall of said building; the premises beyond said brick wall of said building being land now or formerly of Clara L. Pond, forty-five and 13/100 (45.13) feet; Easterly or Southeasterly again by land now or formerly of said Clara L. Pond, 48/100 (0.48) of a foot; Northerly or Northwesterly again by land now or formerly of said Clara L. Pond, two and 51/100 (2.51) feet; and Westerly or Northwesterly by the center line of a right of way at land now or formerly of Theodore P. Wilson, sixty-seven and 86/100 (67.86) feet.

The said right of way at the westerly or northwesterly side of the granted premises is fifteen (15) feet in width, one-half of such width being included in the premises hereby conveyed, and extends from the northerly or northeasterly line of the premises hereby conveyed southerly to Church Street, the other half of said width being owned by Theodore P. Wilson, under deed from said Clara L. Pond dated June 1, 1914, and duly recorded.

Said right of way space, as stated in said deed to Wilson, is to be kept open and available for the uses of both adjoining estates, for purposes of drainage, maintaining pipes under ground, access to the buildings, and the general care of the premises on both sides of the same.

The fee and soil in the portion included in the foregoing description and hereby conveyed being subject to such rights in favor of the adjoining premises of said Wilson, the said Wilson's portion of the said right of way space likewise being subject to such right in favor of the estate hereby conveyed. The rights reserved to said Clara L. Pond and her heirs and assigns in said deed to Wilson being hereby granted, and conveyed to the grantee herein named.

The easterly or southeasterly strip of land seven feet in width included in the foregoing description and conveyance is restricted and made subject to the provisions in deed from Boston and Lowell Railroad to Wm. H. Osgood, dated May 19, 1847, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 514, Page 131, and in deed of said Wm. H. Osgood to Stephen Cutter et al, dated June 25, 1847, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 513, Page 206.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by Vesland E. Hovey, Trustee, by deed dated Dec. 15, 1922 and recorded with said Deeds, Book 4578, Page 288."

Said premises will be sold subject to all outstanding taxes, tax titles and other municipal liens, if any.

Terms of Sale—Three hundred (300) Dollars to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, balance in ten days; other particulars at the time and place of sale.

ENTERTAINED ON WEDNESDAY MORNING

On Wednesday morning, Dec. 6th, Mrs. Clifford Cunningham, Mrs. Everett Vincent, Mrs. George F. Nardin, general chairmen of the 100th Anniversary Bazaar recently held at the First Congregational Church, entertained at coffee the women who had held positions as chairmen and co-chairmen of the various departments.

About 35 women gathered interested in meeting all those who had assumed definite responsibilities and anxious to hear Mrs. James Nowell's report of the financial success.

Real and genuine applause followed the reading of this report, for each department had surpassed expectations.

Mrs. F. Patterson Smith and Mrs. Clifford Linnell poured while Mrs. Van Cunningham, Mrs. Paul Nason and Mrs. Harry Mueller assisted.

Mrs. Clifford Cunningham expressed the thanks of the committee for the hearty co-operation, not only of the chairmen, but all the women of the church who contributed to the success of the bazaar, and stressed the fact that much of the success does not show in bank balances, but exists in the hearts of those who made new friends, renewed old friendships, or found opportunities for usefulness.

The coffee was served at the home of Mrs. Nardin on Stowell road.

DR. MEAD DEAD

Prominent Physician Passed Away This Morning

Dr. George N. P. Mead died at his apartment on Concord avenue, Cambridge, this morning. Although in poor health since experiencing a shock a few years ago when at his summer home at Ashland, N. H., his death was very unexpected, and he had planned to go to Florida for the winter as usual.

The funeral services are to be held this Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Church of the Epiphany with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the church, and Rev. John W. Suter, rector emeritus, officiating. The interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Dr. Mead was a native of Concord N. H., where he was born in 1859. He was educated at Exeter, Harvard and Harvard Medical College, and came to Winchester to practice 42 years ago. He leaves his wife, Jennie Henrietta Matilda (Lemann), and one son, George Jackson Mead of West Hartford, Conn., a member of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Five grandchildren also survive.

Dr. Mead was one of the town's best known and beloved physicians and was widely known throughout the community. Previous to his heart attack of three years ago he had given up his medical practice, and had spent his time between Winchester, his summer home at Ashland, N. H., and Florida.

TAKES OVER LAW COURSES AT B. U.

Dean Melvin M. Johnson announced this week that Bernard A. Marvin of 8 Chesterford road had been appointed to take over the courses at the Boston University School of Law formerly given by Judge Felix Forte who began his duties as Superior Court Judge this week. Mr. Marvin will teach Common Law Pleading and Equity Pleading. He will also conduct the review given to the B. U. seniors in preparation for the Massachusetts Bar Examination. He also teaches the courses of Agency and Wills in the summer division.

Mr. Marvin has been associated with Justice Forte since his graduation from Boston University of Law 10 years ago. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the B. U. Law School Association, Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, and the Massachusetts Law Society.

COMPLAINED OF MOTORISTS' ATTENTIONS

Wednesday afternoon a Woburn young woman came to Headquarters and complained about a motorist who for several evening met her as she was walking home along Washington street near the Watch-hand factory and getting out of his machine, threw the rays of a flash-light upon her.

The motorist said nothing to the young woman, but his actions annoyed her and from his registration he was located by the police in Reading. Upon the request of the local authorities he came to Headquarters and was warned that trouble would follow any repetition of his objectionable action.

LOW INTEREST ON TOWN'S BORROWING

Town Treasurer Harrie Y. Nutter, in anticipation of taxes, recently borrowed from the Second National Bank of Boston $200,000 at .07 per cent, the lowest rate at which the town has borrowed money and as far as is known the lowest borrowing for a municipality on recod.

CONGRESSWOMAN ROGERS COMING HERE

Edith Nourse Rogers, representing Winchester in the National House of Representatives, will visit Winchester and meet her many friends here next Monday, Dec. 18. She will hold a reception at the Town Hall during the afternoon from 1:30 to 5:30 and in the evening from 7 to 9:30.

WOBURN HERE WEDNESDAY

Winchester High School will pry the lid from its current basketball campaign next Wednesday afternoon when the local quintet entertains Woburn High in the first game of a home and home series at 3 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

In scheduling Woburn for its opener the locals are not picking anything especially easy. Year in and year out the Orange has strong hoop teams due to the experience Woburn boys can pick up playing basketball at the Woburn Y.

Last season the Tanners had an admittedly weak club, yet the best the local boys could do was to split even, losing the first game at Woburn, 22 to 24, after an exciting over time period and winning the return engagement at home rather handily, 23 to 13.

This year Woburn is expected to be stronger than a year ago, a fine freshman aggregation moving up to strengthen several left-overs from last year's quintet. Winchester, on the other hand, ought not to be as strong as last season, there being but two first squad men available for the current campaign.

Plenty of second team men from last year are back for service, but the record of last year's second team was not too impressive and how these boys will react to varsity play is problematical.

Coach George Lauer is none too sanguine about his team's chances and has been further handicapped by the limited time available for practice in the gymnasium.

He plans to start Don Waugh and Bill McEwen at the forward berths against Woburn with big Byron Horie, this year's captain, at center, and Tony DeTeso and Frank Marabella, guards. Of this lineup, DeTeso and Horic are letter men with Waugh and Marabella playing on the jay-vees a year ago. McEwen, who starred in the football backfield this fall, is a new-comer to Winchester High and will be playing his first basketball game here. This boy, however, seems to be a versatile athlete and Coach Lauer expects him to give a good account of himself.

Playing during the afternoon will hurt the attendance for this game tremendously and many local fans are greatly disappointed that such an attraction was not given a night date. The Woburn games are, however, not league contests for Winchester and have to be played on dates that will not conflict with those assigned by the league officials. The local school authorities will not contenance midweek games in the evening.

MISS ROSS ENGAGED TO MR. LAUER

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Ernestine Ross, daughter of Mr. Irvine E. Ross and the late Mrs. Florence C. Ross of Needham, to George N. Lauer of Saginaw, Mich., and Winchester, son of the late Mrs. Sarah Catherine Lauer.

Miss Ross is a graduate of Boston University, class of 1936, and is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Mr. Lauer who is director of Physical Education and coach of boys at Winchester High School, graduated from Central State Teachers' College in Michigan, receiving his masters degree from Columbia University.

MYSTERY RIDE

Aberjona Post, 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsored a most successful "Mystery Ride" Wednesday evening, a party of 45 veterans and their ladies leaving McCormack's corner in automobiles for an unknown destination.

After a winding trip the party stopped at the Rex Grill in Lowell where dinner was served and a floor show enjoyed. Martin Kinnane was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Wednesday afternoon the police cruiser had to make a trip to Church street near the Methodist Church where motorists complained they were briskly snowballed by a group of girls.

Community Carol Singing

Winchester will again have its annual Community Christmas Carol Singing Christmas Eve, Sunday, Dec. 24, at 7 o'clock at the Christmas Tree on the Common in the Square.

Everyone is urged to participate in this community affair, to sing if they like to sing, to listen if they would rather listen, but in either event, to join their friends and neighbors in welcoming the holiday season in the traditional manner.

The Fortnightly Glee Club will lead the singing, accompanied by Trumpeters T. Parker Clarke and Norman M. Clarke. Familiar carols will be sung. The newspaper song sheets will have most of them. Everyone will know them and everyone will love them. An urgent invitation is extended to help make this the best Carol singing yet held in Winchester!

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

It has been found necessary to establish a speed limit of 30 miles per hour on the main strects of the town, namely, Church, Forest, Grove, Main, Pond, Ridge and Washington. Cautionary signs are to be installed.

The matter of the destruction of traffic signs on Cross street has become serious. The Police have been ordered to bring in and prosecute the perpetrators of the vandalism. Destruction of signs intended for the safety of the public is not smart or funny and must be stopped.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, our congressional representative, and very good friend of Winchester, will be at the Town Hall on Monday, Dec. 18, from 1:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 7-9:30 in the evening to meet any of her constituents who wish to consult with her.

A Proclamation

Bitterly do American citizens feel the invasion of a sister republic; a republic that has patterned itself after our own, a republic that has lived since its founding in peace and in progress.

Deeply do we of America respect the rich character the high moral ethics of the Finnish people, and their devotion to freedom and liberty.

Richly have Finnish-Americans contributed to the progress of the United States.

Now Finland is engaged in a war against its will, bravely fighting against almost insurmountable odds to preserve the philosophy of her republic, as well as to protect the actual borders of one of the world's outstanding small democracies.

Therefore, I, Chairman of Board of Selectmen of Winchester do hereby proclaim Sunday, Dec. 17, 1939 FINLAND DAY in this town; and I ask the citizens of this community on that day to appeal for divine protection for the war-locked non-belligerents in the Finnish Republic; and I further ask that the citizens of this community on this day and in the days following give according to their ability to bring relief to Finland by contributing through the local newspapers.

RICHARD W. MacADAMS,
Chairman Board of Selectmen

EARLY POLITICAL ACTIVITY

With the March elections still months in the future, talk of politics and candidates is commencing to get about and last week the first papers were taken out by a candidate for election to the Board of Selectmen.

Philip H. Gallagher of 16 Prospect street has the distinction of being first actually in the field for election to the Board. Mr. Gallagher, treasurer and manager of the Winchester Brick Company on East street, has made his home in Winchester for 10 years and has a wide acquaintance.

Though none has actually taken out papers as yet several well known men are being mentioned as candidates for the Board, another for assessor and at least two men and a woman, for school committee.

With this show of activity and interest at so early a date it is safe to say that the coming March election will be a hot one.

HELP SAVE FINLAND!

To the Editor of the Star:

The following telegram was received by me this week:

After consultation officials Federal Council Churches Finnish Relief Fund requesting all churches observe Sunday as Finland Day, supporting National Appeal for funds. As Churches can play important part in campaign, earnestly request advise ministers your area offer prayer Sunday emphasizing dire need, urging congregations contribute freely through local bank.

Sincerely,
Herbert Hoover,
Chairman

I have sent a copy of this telegram to all our local ministers. I shall bring the matter to the attention of my congregation next Sunday. Anything that can be done for Finland in the way of financial help will be doubly effective if done promptly. There must be many people in Winchester whose sympathies have been aroused by the determined fight this little nation is making to save her independence, and who would be glad to give financial aid.

The Winchester Trust Company will gladly take care of all contributions and forward them to headquarters in New York.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

Mrs. Reginald Bradlee of 6 Ledgewood road is opening her home on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 21, at 2:30 o'clock for the Christmas meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League.

The Circle president, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, will preside. The guest speaker will be Miss Helen Fowler, superintendent of the Maternity Home and Hospital.

The Christmas musical program will be presented by Mrs. Idabelle H. Winship, chairman of the music committee.

Miss Margaret Brady, a popular young radio artist of Boston will be the soprano soloist. Miss Brady will be pleasantly remembered in Winchester where she took the leading role in "The Red Flame," last May. Idabelle H. Winship will be Miss Brady's accompanist.

Tea will be served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee, Mrs. Harris LeRoy and Mrs. J. Herbert Waite will pour.

CHARLES T. MAIN ELECTED HONORARY MEMBER

Charles T. Main, a resident of Winchester for 46 years, was elected honorary member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers on Nov. 15. He received his diploma at the annual meeting of the Society held in Philadelphia last week.

It is required by the Society that to be elected honorary member a person shall be of acknowledged professional eminence. There are 16 living honorary members in a total membership of about 15,000.

Mr. Main was president of the Society during the war year of 1918.

"AH, WILDERNESS" AT THE HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

On the evening of Saturday, Dec. 9, the Winchester Group Theater presented Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness" in the auditorium of the High School, with the following cast:

Nat Miller, owner of the Evening Globe ..... F. Milne Blanchard
Essie, his wife, ... Ruth Mallory Smith
Their Children
Arthur ..... Gordon Bennett
Richard ..... Clifford Cunningham
Mildred ..... Margaret Greene
Tommy ..... Eben Caldwell
Sid Davis, Essie's brother ... Eugene Pollard
Lily Miller, Nat's sister .... Dell Scott Smith
David McComber ..... J. Mulford Olivier
Muriel McComber, his daughter . Helen Rasset
Wint Selby, classmate of Arthur's at Yale ..... Sherman Russell
Norah ..... Rosalind Lynch

Styled "A Comedy of Recollection" by the author, this tenderly realistic play by the foremost American writer for the stage, has occasioned some little speculation as to the motives which led to its original production. After the tragedies "Strange Interlude" and "Mourning Becomes Elektra," which expresses at its best what has seemed the fundamental O'Neill philosophy: inevitable melancholy frustration in the experience of the individual, we have this frankly sentimental frequently gay comedy of the early 1900's.

Whatever the reasons for the writing of the play, one cannot but reflect that its choice by the Winchester Group Theater for December production was a most happy one. These "Little-Theater" groups, conceded by authorities to be the chief conservators of our dramatic traditions while the movies and New York sophistication continue to dominate the professional stage, reflect the intellectual interests of the most influential segment in our American culture, the prosperous middle-class. And that class, "bourgeois" if you like, nevertheless continues to carry on many of the treasured amenities of American life. It supports public philanthropy, it guides the course of political development in our suburban communities, and it collects in family groups at Christmas-time to preserve that sentiment of family solidarity which has for so loog been a stabilizing factor in the social scene.

Small wonder, then, that "Ah, Wilderness" should find favor with such a class at such a time. If Christmas is not mentioned in the play, its atmosphere and detail are nevertheless singularly appropriate to the Christmas season. For we have here a sensitive depiction of the life of an American family in the generation just preceding our own, concerned primarily with the ever-pesent problems of youth in the difficult adolescent period, and solving them, within the family, with the eminent good sense and moral reserve still characteristic of our "best people." finds here the image of his own feelings concerning his young folks, without the embarrassment of contemporary detail. And the tone of the entire play is that of affectionate good-will toward loved ones to be found in almost very family, at least during the Christmas season!

Before a good sized and appreciative audience last Friday evening at the First Congregational Church Dr. Charles H. Tozier gave an interesting lecture on the "Kingdom Dom Pedro Founded," illustrated with beautiful pictures of Brazil which he took while on a trip to that fascinating country.

Dr. Tozier was introduced by Rev. Howard J. Chidley who also introduced as a surprise guest the Brazilian consul to Boston. A large group of Brazilian students in colleges around Boston were also present.

Dr. Tozier showed motion pictures and stills all exceptionally well done and many in strikingly beautiul colors. Especially notable were those of Rio taken from Sugar Loaf. Pictures of this nature lovers' paradise were snapped from all angles and at all times of day.

Other pictures shown were taken in the coffee country and there were still others of much interest showing native homes from those of the humblest peon to the imposingly ornate casas of the wealthy. Many views of public buildings were also included with some particularly striking colored slides of the flora of the country.

Of diverting interest were the motion pictures taken on shipboard during the trip to Rio, showing the crossing of the equator with its picturesque rites which followed the visit of King Neptune to the vessel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Badger and Mrs. P. S. Newton returned Wednesday from a Western trip of several weeks.

POSTMASTER URGES EARLY MAILING!

During the Christmas period the volume of mail matter passing through the post office increases to such an extent that it is a physical impossibility to handle it all promptly and efficiently within a few days. Therefore, to assure delivery of Christmas parcels and greetings by Christmas Day, everyone is urged to do their Christmas mailing NOW, rather than waiting until some time next week. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and postal employees.

Each year large numbers of Christmas greetings, mailed in unsealed envelopes at the third-class rate of postage (1½c), are disposed of as waste because they are undeliverable as addressed, due to the removal of the addressee or other causes. Such greeting cards are not entitled to the free forwarding privilege accorded those mailed in sealed envelopes at the first-class rate and, consequently, the senders in many cases never know that the greetings were not received by the addressees. This would not occur if the greetings were mailed at the first class rate of postage which is 2c for mail addressed for delivery in Winchester, and 3c for out of town delivery. Also, greetings sent as first class mail receive preference in delivery at all times.

The Winchester post office will be closed all day on Sunday, Dec. 24, and Monday, Dec. 25, but box holders will be permitted access to their boxes on both days between 7 a. m. and 10 a. m. It is not contemplated that there will be any delivery of mail on these days, excepting special delivery matter and gift parcels.

SENATOR RICHARDSON CONSIDERED FOR DISTRICT COMMISSION APPOINTMENT

Reports this week both by press and radio have linked the name of Senator Harris S. Richardson of this town with the office of chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, held for some time by Eugene Hultman. Senator Richardson, when approached by the Star, stated that he was unable to confirm or deny reports he would succeed Mr. Hultman, saying he knew no more about the matter than what had been heard over the radio and seen in the newspapers. The Governor's reappointment of Mr. Hultman or his appointment of a new M. D. C. chairman is several weeks over due and no action was taken at Wednesday's council meeting.

Senator Richardson has been very active in Metropolitan affairs. He is chairman of the important committee on Metropolitan Affairs and was chairman of the committee that introduced and passed legislation resulting in the appropriation of $10,000,000 for sewerage construction and disposal contingent upon Federal funds.

YOUNG COASTERS HIT

The police were notified Wednesday evening by Roger I. Decker of 788 Main street that as he was driving his Ford sedan west on Oak street in front of the residence of Mr. James Mawn he was obliged to apply his brakes quickly in an effort to avoid two children who were on a sled.

As he did so his car swerved and the rear-end collided with the sled, on which were Mr. Mawn's son and daughter, James, 5; and Madeline, 3. James sustained abbrasions about the forehead and left arm and was treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus. Madeline was apparently uninjured.

ON CHAPEL HILL HONOR ROLL

Miss Carroll Anderson, daughter of Lieut. Com S. C. Stingel of 74 Wedgemere avenue is one of ten girls to win a coveted place on the honor roll for the first quarter at the Chapel Hill School, Waltham, according to an announcement by Principal Philip E. Goodhue. An average of B or better in every academic subject is required for honor roll mention.

MISS KATHERINE MacDONALD

Miss Katherine MacDonald, a member of the family of the Home for Aged People on Mt. Vernon street, died at the home Thursday morning, Dec. 14, after a long period of declining health.

Miss MacDonald was born in 1845 at Sydney, Cape Breton, N. S. She entered the home in May of 1930, and previous to being admitted had made her home in Winchester for eight yars. She leaves a brother, Angus MacDonald of Melrose.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose.

CORRECTION

To correct inaccuracies occurring in the obituary of Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis, published last week, it should be said that Mrs. Lewis first lived in Winchester at 1 Maxwell road, from 1905 to 1923, when she moved to 131 Washington street. Her son, F. Percyval Lewis, long assistant assessor, is now assistant registrar, doing the same census work for the town street lists.

ALL SPORTS BANQUET AT HIGH SCHOOL

Winchster High will fete the members of its varsity and second sports teams at the annual "All Sports Banquet" in the school gymnasium Saturday evening. This affair is always eagerly awaited by the athletes and is closely watched by the school as a whole because it is the occasion for electing the football, field hockey and cross country captains.

Samuel M. Graves is to be toastmaster and among the speakers are the various school coaches and representatives of the faculty and school department.

FIFTH GENERATION

Of interest in connection with the christening of Donald Gordon Wyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Wyman (Dorothy Thompson) of Forest street, at the Church of the Epiphany last Sunday, was the fact that the child was of the fifth generation to wear the same christening robe. It is also of interest that the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Epiphany, had been a friend of the family for 23 years.

MR. REED WILL PREACH NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday, Dec. 17, Mr. Reed will preach at the regular morning service at 10:45 in the Winchester Unitarian Church. He will preach a sermon for the Christmas season, "Fine Forgetting." The public is cordially invited.

Miss Evelyn Corey of Cliff street, Everett Horie of Thornton road, and John McNulty, Jr., of Highland avenue leave the campus at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., tomorrow to come to Winchester for the Christmas holidays which continue until Jan. 3.

KIRKENES, NORWAY: REFUGE OF FLEEING FINNS

The population of Kirkenes, Norway, has taken a sudden jump. Refugees from the Petsamo district of Finland, where the Finnish and Russian armies are engaged in battle over Finlands northland, are fleeing to the neighboring country.

Kirkenes sprawls along the shore of the Varangerfjord, broad indentation of the Arctic Ocean just around the eastern end of the northernmost canes of Norway, says a bulletin from the Washington D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

4000 Inhabitants

While the Varangerfjord's depth from the open sea, about 60 miles, offers protection for the settlements on its shores, the builders of Kirkenes sought for its inhabitants even greater safety and settled on a deep bay of the fjord which is generously flecked with islands and peninsulas that form natural breakwaters.

In spite of its isolation, without railroads or good roads linking it with larger cities of Norway, Kirkenes is lighted by electricity. and has telegraph and telephone connections with the outside world.

Kirkenes means church cape and like nearly all villages in the deeply indented Norwegian coast it is dominated by the lofty spire of a church. Higher than that, however, are two tall chimneys of an iron ore crushing plant. About 4000 people normally live in the cluster of frame houses near the shore, lending a human touch to a region that is somewhat cold and bleak for at least half the year.

Shipped Iron Ore to Germany

It is in mid-April that Kirkenes slowly comes to life. Spring tides and southerly winds break up the ice in the harbor. A little later the tourist trade begins. It is the end of the line of an eight day sail from Bergen.

Many villages of the northern Norwegian coast largely depend upon fisheries for their existence. Kirkenes has its fishermen, but the earth and forests are the sources of most of the villagers' incomes. Near the village iron ore is dug from the surface deposits, loaded on a short, industrial railroad and sent to the village for crushing and shipment. Most of the ore has gone to Germany. The lumber industry of the village is fed by the streams into which logs are thrown to be carried downstream with the current to the Kirkenes sawmills.

Perish the Thought

The world is growing better. You do not see any more of those old-fashioned pictures in which the bride is standing and the bridegroom sitting and the bride has her hand on the bridegroom's shoulder and both look as miserable as if they had just swallowed quinine.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Merry Christmas to all, and a cordial invitation to start Christmas Week off most delightfully with an outstanding holiday program on Monday afternoon.

Wilbur Herbert Burnham, designer of the five famous windows in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, and many others, will give an illustrated lecture on Stained Glass. By means of hand colored lantern slides, Mr. Burnham will bring to us some of the most famous windows in Europe, as well as his own designed windows in this country. Doesn't it sound positively thrilling!

To further the holiday spirit, our own Fortnightly Glee Club under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, and with Lucy L. Wilcox as accompanist, will present a program of Christmas carols.

The Conservation Committee will arrange the Christmas decorations throughout the hall.

Last, but not least, our new Eighth District Director, Mrs. G. Stuart Woodman of Reading, will be present as guest of honor.

Your Merry Christmas! will be merrier than ever before, after enjoying this outstanding holiday program!

RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

The Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, cordially invites all members to the annual meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, 12 Foxcroft road, Dec. 20 at 3 p. m.

"Do not open until Franklin says it's Christmas."

"Government debt reaches new all-time high. Now close to forty-two billion." Merry Christmas.

With all this great business prosperity we read about; with conditions equaling the lush year of 1929, why not give thanks that we do not live in war torn Europe, where all are rigidly kept beneath the heel of an imperialistic dictator! Our taxes are high, to be sure, but compare them with European countries! Truly we have much to be thankful for. Probably that is why the attempt is made to change this old American feast day. With Europe as a pattern, anything America enjoys to the exclusion of foreign people does seem to be a feature for rejoicing. Senator Walsh declares the middle class in America faces extinction. News headlines carry the cheerful news of Cleveland and Toledo people trying to live on apples and flour! How much better off these fortunate people are in comparison with, say, the poor Finns, now fleeing from tyranical Russia! Of the self sustaining Americans, those now working on the Government payrolls are supported by the other dwindling half struggling to survive the steadily mounting taxes. Youth is being cared for by the CCC, "no jobs being available." Yet notwithstanding constantly lowering living standards, we are unquestionably better off than the European people. So be it. But why must America be constantly compared with fallen European standards? Our better living and higher standards has always been the goal which beckoned the oppressed to our shores. Never until our present regime came into power and started experimenting with America's billions, was the odious propaganda opened up of American and European comparison. True, we are not yet, like the Finns, fleeing incendiary bombs and poison gas, but are we as a nation, moving away from such a condition or moving towards it? How much longer are we to be lulled to sleep by propaganda of European comparison? Isn't it about time we adopted new lines of thought, and compare ourselves today with what we were before the present ruling regime started its devastating experiments, using more money, accumulated by the greatest nation on earth, than it ever knew existed?

The big Winchester-Woburn football game has been over long enough now for fair-minded followers of both teams to take a dispassionate view of it without being influenced by the contest's controversial sidelights, over which the red hot fans will argue for weeks to come. Interesting as these sidelights of the game may be they are not the phase of the big classic which should occupy the attention of all real lovers of schoolboy athletics, in and out of Winchester. They are not likely to be uppermost in the minds of local school authorities as they review this year's football game with Woburn. Winchester narrowly missed a serious free-for-all at the Shore road athletic field Thanksgiving Day. Winchester fans will tell you that the trouble was started by Woburn rooters who paraded across to the Winchester stands with a "Beat Winchester" banner. Certainly the youths responsible for that foolish bravado were asking for trouble. Fortunate it is that the melee that followed their parade did not assume more serious proportions. The prompt action of Patrolman Clarence Dunbury did much to break up a potentially serious situation. Likely enough, however, the foundation for the trouble was laid the "night before" when a group of local rooters staged a parade in Woburn and received the reception which they might have anticipated under the circumstances. An after-midnight visit by Woburn supporters to the Shore road field where the goal posts were painted with Woburn colors did not help nor did the booing of the Wburn team as it came on the field by the Winchester stands. The controversial touchdown play added fuel to the fire, and the stoning of Woburn cars leaving the field by Winchester fans in reprisal for the "night before" parade rough stuff rounded out a stormy forenoon. The point to all this is that the Winchester-Woburn game can not stand many repitions of this year's rooter rivalry. No game on the schedule of either school approaches this traditional classic for all around appeal. It would be a shame to see it discontinued as it was for a time following 1911 or so, and as it will be again if so called fans are going to use it as an excuse for staging glorified gang-fights. The teams and student bodies of the two schools are not to blame. They like the game and want the game, along with the big majority of real lovers of schoolboy sports in both communities. It will be emphatically too bad if their fun is spoiled by small groups who seem to enjoy nothing so much as a brawl. It is up to the real fans in both communities to discourage the sort of rivalry which leads to the trouble experienced at this year's game. If they do not, some one will get hurt one of these fine days and then we will all be wishing we had somewhere to go Thanksgiving morning.

WHAT A FARCE IT IS

In keeping with the great prosperity now evidenced throughout the nation, and following the good neighbor policy and the present holiday season of rejoicing, we are reminded of our privileges by an additional assessmen for our Social Security. This week we are only nicked for $10. Somebody slipped evidently. What a farce it is. For 40 years we have paid our taxes;not making very hard work of it, and paying when due. Now, under this New Deal cry of Social Security (for whom) we are bedeviled and hounded, and if we are not a criminal, we must be next door to one if we judge by the constant stream of fines and assessments and repeat reports demanded of us. We sometimes wonder what those fellows do about it who have difficulty in speaking English—not writing it. Truly it is undoubtedly the greatest business booster yet devised by our rulers. Apparently the "consolidation of our gains."

WAGNERISM BEARS FRUIT

Picture a stenographer saying to her boss: "Mr. Executive, hereafter I'm going to take it easy. You can dictate all the letters you like, but if I think there's too many I'll skip every third or fourth paragraph in transcribing them."

Of course she would deserve to lose her job on the spot. But suppose she were doing this under orders from an outside union leader. Suppose that if she failed to obey the orders or she were fired for obeying them the union would throw a strong-arm squad around the office and prevent any work at all from being done.

That is precisely what happened in the Chrysler automobile plants in Detroit, says Russell Greenman in Nation's Business. When supervisors tried to discipline the slowdown wreckers there was open revolt and a general strike that kept 50,000 Chrysler factory employees, and probably an equal number of others affect d indirectly, idle and without pay for weeks. The C. I. O. union demanded a new contract Sovietizing the plants by placing in its hands a veto power over production plans and standards of the company.

Many Chrysler employees resent such anarchy strongly. One courageous woman, the mother of a Chrysler worker, braved the picket line to voice her protest with a sign reading: "Chrysler gave you work and a bonus. Be American. Stop listening to Russian propaganda." The union "goon" squad gave her such a mauling that she had to be rushed to a doctor for first aid.

These things are done in the name of collective bargaining and by special grant from the Wagner Act.

Hitler, so we read, has stated that he can call a revolution in America at any time he chooses. When such a call goes out, America will have so much to attend to at home that any Allied assistance will be eventually destroyed. This, probably with the assistance of Stalin. As in the raids and skirmishes on the western front, our abundance of strikes may well be try-out feelers connected with this boast of the German dictator. Russia, after being an outcast, was recognized with acclaim but a short time ago, and even now, having shown what it is capable of doing to any nation it feels it can overcome, is a friendly world power to America. We all have seen just how much the recognition of Russia has meant. It has meant just as much as most of our New Deal experiments. Perhaps Hitler has good ground for his boast.

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF POLITICS

There's nothing new about national emergencies. We've been having them ever since Valley Forge and the Whiskey Rebellion. The only thing new is the nation's way of meeting them.

Just to refresh our recollection, we recently reviewed an emergency back in 1927, following the great Mississippi Valley flood. Farmers in three states faced ruin. They received help, and here's how.

President Coolidge wrote a letter on May 30, 1927, to Lewis E. Pierson, president of the National Chamber, saying that "it would be of great assistance as well as a demonstration of national solidarity and sympathy if business interests of America under the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States" would undertake to raise subscriptions of capital for use by the private loan corporations organized to rehabilitate agriculture in the stricken states.

Mr. Pierson acted immediately. Business leaders met in Washington with Chamber officials and Secretary of Commerce Hoover just four days later. At the conclusion of this conference Mr. Pierson was able to report to the President the assurance that $1,750,000 had been subscribed to match an equal amount already raised by the flooded states. A Floods Credit Corporation was organized. With its assets supporting those of the local flood relief corporations the intermediate banks were able to make available farm credit of more than $10,000,000, sufficient to meet the emergency.

It had been met promptly and effectively by voluntary self-liquidating means. No appropriation was asked of Congress, and no government money was spent.

Horse and buggy days!—[Nation's Business.

Nov. 30, 1939

To the Editor of the Star:

There is ice on the upper Mystic, and three poor ducks, who have been living more or less at the mercy of the folks around the lake, are trying to find open water and, probably, something to eat. It's a sad sight to see them come trotting across the ice each morning in search of something to keep them alive.

Last winter, two of these creatures survived all winter long, at times in 15 or 20 square feet of water under the bridge at the mouth of the Aberjona.

Isn't there some humane society or some pound keeper or other official of the town who could take care of those ducks this winter?

Very sincerely,
Ernest Dudley Chase

CHARLES A. CASTLE

Charles A. Castle, former widely know attorney with offices in Melrose and Boston, died Tuesday night, Dec. 12, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. Blanchard Ford, 8 Norwood street, after a long illness.

Mr. Castle was born May 22, 1858, in Burlington, Vt., the son of Cassius and Mary (Smith) Castle. He attended the University of Vermont and Dartmouth College, being a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity at Dartmouth and graduating from that college in the class of 1881.

After his graduation Mr. Castle read law in a New York law office, and was admitted to the bar in that state as well as in Alabama and Massachusetts. He practised law in New York City, New Decatur, Ala., and late for many years in Melrose where he settled in 1894. During his Melrose residence he also maintained an office in the Tremont Building in Boston, being well known in legal circles in that city. For 37 years, from 1900, he served as public administrator for Middlesex County.

Mr. Castle was a member of the Middlesex Bar Association, of the Boston Dartmouth Club and of Trinity Episcopal Church in Melrose.

On May 29, 1889, he married Jane Plumer of Toledo, Ohio, who survives him, with Mrs. Ford, and another daughter, Miss Mildred Castle, all of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at Bigelow Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery with Rev. Richard Bennett of Belmont officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Auburn.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Dec. 17.

The Golden Text is: "All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power" (Psalms 145:10, 11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "By word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all of the host of them by the breath of his mouth. He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap; he layeth up the depth in storehouses. Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance" (Psalms 33:6, 7, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them. . . . Mind, supreme over all the formations and governing them all, is the central sun of its own systems of ideas, the life and light of all its own creation; and man is tributary to divine mind." (pp. 295, 209).

As a concession to the character of a "family" audience, the Winchester group Theater eliminated one scene which appeared in the professional production. The play centers about the trials and tribulations of a young son in his attempts to reconcile an expanding mind to the conventional restrictions to middle-class life. Cut off from communion with her who would today be known as "the girl friend," he attempts to drown his troubles in an escapade involving the back room of a saloon and a bleached-haired trollope. While, appropriately, he finds the experience inhibiting as well as eventually nauseating, there is, perhaps, no assurance that it would have appeared so to all breeds of adventurous youth. The Group Theater accordingly cut the scene, and it is significant that its elimination in no way affected the intelligibility of the play, nor, indeed, could have been discovered without reference to the script.

The staging of the play was delightfully simple and effective. Before the curtain rose one wondered at the temerity of a stage crew which could hazard the difficulties of a three-set production when the usual community theater restricts itself to one. The answer was soon apparent in the successful alteration of decorative effects on the same background of paneled flats, with a changed door or window to make it convincing. In the interior sets there was evidently a sacrifice of realism in the interest of design, for few living and dining rooms of the 1900's were as tastefully free of knick-knacks! The solution of the beach scene was a triumph of simplicity. A suggestion of rocks against a blue-flooded back-drop, with an off-stage moon throwing brilliant light on the two characters in the foreground, gained all it needed in illusion from a most effective sound of surf on the nearby shore. As an audible picture, apart from the action which presently took place, this scene must have brought nostalgic memories of youthful summer nights to many in the audience.

In many ways this beach scene set the tone for the entire production. In it the adolescent youth boyishly boasts of his off-color exploits, defends his ego, and engagingly makes up with a lady-love, who at one and the same time wishes to exert her feminine influence for "good," and, a little awed at the evidences of "virility" in the gentleman of her choice, is anxious not to lose him. When the scene began one experienced momentary fears that a pair of high school declamations was about to disrupt the evening. Mr. Cunningham, who had already given evidences of a precocious capacity for being his ingratiating self even on the stage, seemed here bent on getting rapidly over his soliloquy to the more sympathetic exclamations with his beloved. Miss Rassat, in turn, displayed at first more than a hint of College-of-Oratory mannerisms in her lovely, rich voice. But as the scene progressed these awkwardnesses disappeared, and the [illegible] fell at last upon a pair of young people who, in their sincerity, their naivete, and their hopefulness, had captured the hearts of their audience. All of which, no doubt, argues for acting one's self even in a play!

The older feminine characters were efficiently and adroitly managed. One could scarcely imagine a more competently motherly Essie than that of Miss Ruth Smith (the conventional "Miss" of the stage is here used because the reviewer has no knowledge of the marital status of the players), nor a sweeter self-effacement than that of Miss Dell Smith's Lily, the spinsterish iron of whose spirit made appearance only when morally offended. Miss Lynch as Norah offered an agreeably informal maid, but her brogue never echoed over the Emerald isle!

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Russell were sufficiently in character as youths of college age, and Mr. Bennett contributed, presumably, the pleasant off-stage voice in a popular song of long ago. His outbursts of temper, were, however, a shade too explosive for realism.

Mr. Olivier's McComber suffered from a certain halting tempo in the scene of mutually indignant fatherhood with Nat Miller, a fault which appeared to arise from a difficulty with lines not exclusively his own. Had the play continued for another night, this bit might have become highly entertaining.

Miss Greene as Mildred, and Master Eben Caldwell, Tommy, provided evidence that the dramatic talents of the Group Theater are not confined to adults.

The most interesting male roles, apart from the young son, were those of Nat Miller, the father, and his no'er-do-well brother-in-law, Sid Davis This reviewer was thrown into confusion by the discovery, early in the first act that Mr. Pollard was not Nat Miller, and Mr. Blanchard was not Sid. And he believes that this confusion is significant.

Knowing nothing of the experience of the players, one is at liberty to hazard the guess that Mr. Blanchard is the most experienced and versatile player in the entire cast. He betrayed the fact in every line and gesture, even to the skill with which he covered [illegible] lines, the infallible mark of the old trouper in amateur theatricals. But the role of Nat Miller requires a dominant, benevolent sympathy with young people, and Mr. Blanchard's forte is the comedy touch, however well he restrains himself in this instance. His Nat was always adequate, never inspiring. In him one pitied the father just barely equal to his responsibilities, whereas one might have rejoiced with the children in the possession of a type of father. (Or is the contrast with Lionel Barrymore in the screen version unfairly inevitable?) One is constantly plagued by the notion that Mr. Blanchard would have been perfect in the part of Sid.

On the other hand Mr. Pollard's Sid was adept, imperturbable, and a masterpiece of stage presence. There seemed a strength here which would have served better in the part of Nat. However, one can only guess at Mr. Pollard's versatility, while the skills of Mr. Blanchard were universal.

Whatever the detailed faults and excellencies of the cast and playing, it is seldom that a community group can assemble so well-balanced an aggregation of players as graced the stage on this occasion. There was not one instance in which a member of the audience could have felt like closing his eyes and murmuring 'Oh dear, oh dear!' This with the possible exception of the early part of the beach scene, which turned out so charming in the end. In general the pace maintained was excellent, and the stage pictures well arranged, even to the curtain call, which suggested a family portrait of the vintage of the '90's. The back-stage crew might have avoided the changing of lights during the playing of a scene, and above all, realized the value of a slow curtain on a scene of sentiment. But these are details, and to stress them is unfair in view of the general excellence.

From one who has seen productions by many community groups in a great variety of circumstances, the warmest congratulations go forth to the Winchester Group Theater on this performance. A successful play involves an audience as well as a cast, and it is to be observed that the group which assembled in the High School auditorium Saturday evening not only presented a distinguished appearance, but reacted discriminatingly to the presentation on the stage. These are people one would like to know better.

WINCHESTER LIONS CLUB

There will be much activity between now and January 31, due to the intensive membership drive that will be carried on in commemoration of the birthday of Melvin Jones, the founder of Lionism. The clubs and the various club presidents will receive suitable gifts from Lions International, if they are fortunate enough to make their membership drive a success. The Winchester Club has been divided into two teams, the "growlers," headed by Chris Powers, and the "roarers," will be under the capable leadership of Dr. Robert Emery. This contest should create much interest within the club, as the burden will be on the losing team to furnish a banquet to the winning team. The goal set is ten members, and it should easily be accomplished if one can judge from some of the reports at Monday's meeting.

Dr. Charles Donahue, local optician, was present as a full-fledged member at Monday's meeting. Congratulations to the "Doc," and may his stay in Lionism be a pleasant one.

Robert Allen, local milk dealer, was taken into the fold of Lionism on Monday, being sponsored by Chris Powers. Chris says that he is good for at least ten members between now and the end of January, so it looks like the "growlers" should take the contest if Chris' threat is carried ouc.

President Garvey is making arrangements with Mr. Glenn H. Browning, radio engineer, to conduct an illustrated lecture on new methods of broadcasting radio programs. Mr. Browning is attempting to get the assistance of some of the leading broadcasting companies to collaborate with him. This event will take place shortly after the first of the year, and if present plans are consummated it will undoubtedly be open to the Lions members and their invitees.

The last returns on the new Lions Club 1940 Town Directory indicates that the gross proceeds of this project will exceed $700. No subscriptions will be taken after Dec 18. After Jan. 1, the residents of the town will be receiving this edition that has been made possible by the generous contributions of our local merchants, and the activity of the most energetic committee that has ever represented the local club.

Let us keep up the attendance, as we are still out front in the attendance drive, and according to all indications should lead District 33A by the end of December.

OLD TIMERS' NIGHT

The combined organizations of the Unitarian Church are planning an old fashioned dance for old and young on Jan. 19.

The orchestra will be McGee's Old Timers.

Costumes of other days will be brought from cedar chests and suppers with food such as grandmother used to make are being planned already to precede the affair.

Three dancing lessons are to be given before Old Timers' Night beginning the first week in January when a teacher will come to Metcalf Hall to instruct those who wish to learn some of the old dances at a charge of 50 cents a couple.

Old dances will be interspersed with modern ones for the benefit of the very young. Tickets will be $1 a person including refreshments. $1 a couple for juniors.

Miss Nancy England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. England of Ledgewood road, took one of the leading parts in the play, "First Lady" by Katharine Dayton and George S. Kaufman presented on the evenings of Dec. 7 and 8 by the students of the Erskine School, assisted by students from Harvard College.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

JAMES NOWELL, COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN, DISCUSSES ORGANIZATION CHART WITH HIS VICE CHAIRMEN

He has appointed Frederick B. Craven, Norman L. Cushman and Harold S. Fuller, vice chairman to assist him in his many duties.

These men are all experienced and well qualified to serve in this capacity. Mr. Craven was Community Administrative Chairman in Greater Boston's 1938 campaign, Community Chairman of the 1939 campaign and a member of the campaign committee of the Winchester Chest's 1939 campaign. He is a member of the executive committee of the Winchester Community Chest and a director of the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. Cushman was associate vice chairman of the special Gifts Committee in the 1938 and 1939 campaigns, is a director of the Winchester Community Chest and a vice president of the Home for the Aged in Winchester.

Mr. Fuller is president of the Winchester Community Chest and vice chairman of the Metropolitan Committee of the Community Federation chairman in Greater Boston's 1938 campaign, as associate chairman in 1939 and was publicity chairman of the Winchester Chest's 1939 campaign.

Winchester Chest's 1939 campaign.

As this is the first time a united campaign has been conducted in Winchester the effort assumes greater proportions than heretofore. However, as this group already has been working hard for several weeks perfecting technique and selecting assistants the campaign plans are well in advance of any previous year.

The campaign will start Jan. 22, and it is expected that everything will be in readiness sometime prior to that date.

THE LADY ON HORSEBACK

If you think that riding sidesaddle is a ladylike custom introduced in the interests of modesty you are mistaken, at least according to some stories on the origin of the custom. One account, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, suggests that sidesaddles were first seen in Central Europe during the 14th century, the invention of the malformed Ugly Duchess, Margaret Maultasch of the Tyrol.

Another story has it that Anne of Bohemia, wife of England's Richard II, originated the sidesaddle as a means of getting around, since she was so deformed that it was impossible for her to use the saddles of the day. Research has disclosed, however, that Anne of Bohemia was not deformed.

Early Saddles Like Armchairs

The earliest saddles, complete with back, arms and footboard were more like traveling armchairs, or the elaborate seats used in the East for camel and elephant back, than a mere convenience of locomotion. The invention of the simpler, modern sidesaddle has been attributed to Italy. France took up the style which spread finally to much of the world of feminine riders.

Women's riding costumes remained generally trouserless until well into the 19th century in spite of the custom of many to sit astride their mounts. Such clothes were often as ornate as ballroom gowns. Brilliant colors in silk and velvet, pleats, ruffles long flowing skirts and bird-of-paradise hats were worn by well to do women riders.

On their gently ambling horses the leisurely ladies sometimes even carried parasols and fans instead of riding crops. Yet, feminine as these early styles appear in modern eyes, gentlemen of the day viewed with alarm what they called the masculinity of women's riding garments. The 17th century English diarist Pepys protested that, Only for a long petticoat dragging under their men's coats nobody would take them for women a sight that did not please me.

Early Congresses

Congress moved from New York to Philadelphia December 6, 1790; and stayed there until May 14, 1800. The Capitol at Washington was first used by congress when it reconvened in October, 1800.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The December meeting of the Girl Scout Council was held Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. at the library. Those present were Mrs. Harold Farnsworth who presided, Mrs. Phelps secretary, Mesdames Davis, Eberle, Elliott, Vincent Farnsworth, Heath, Moffatt, Morse, Partridge, Smith, Stillman, Tapley and Wood.

Mrs. Moffatt reported that the Brownie leaders are active and recently had a meeting. They are to have another in January.

Mrs. Stillman reported that five Scout leaders are taking a course in Arts and Crafts and that they all are very enthusiastic about the work. She also spoke of the Girl Scout Christmas party which is to be held at Metcalf Hall in the Unitarian Church on Thursday, Dec. 21. Mrs. Davis troop is going to put on a Christmas play, and there are going to be one or two other features, the afternoon ending with the singing of carols by all the Scouts. Hoodsies will be on sale.

Mrs. Tapley reported the following organization changes: Mrs. Leon Symmes is Lieutenant for Captain Symmes Troop 3; Mrs. Flynn is Lieutenant for Captain Caldwell, Troop 9; Mrs. John McIsaac, Tawny Owl for Mrs. Carroll, Pack 4; Mrs. Clifford Tongren is Tawny Owl for Mrs. McCall, Pack 2; Mrs. Gordon Bird is Tawny Owl for Mrs. Moffatt, Pack 1.

Mrs. Eberle gave a report on what the various troops are doing.

Troops 7 and 9 are providing for a special family at Christmas with clothes, gifts and food.

There are over 200 tarleton stockings promised for the Baby Clinic Christmas Tree from several troops and one Brownie Pack.

Wealth a Nuisance

"Wealth tends to distribute itself," said Ho Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "One who attains even the semblance of riches must employ many servants to write letters and answer the door bell."

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Guild of the Infant Saviour will run a penny sale next Monday evening, Dec. 18 at 8 o'clock in Lyceum Hall. Many beautiful prizes will be distributed, as well as baskets of food, chicken dinners, ets. Among the attractions of the evening will be the awarding of $100 to the person holding the lucky number.

There will also be a fine assortment of articles appropriate for Christmas gifts. Members of the Guild are working hard for the success of this affair and Mrs. James Carr, president extends a cordial invitation to the public.

At the regular meeting of the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour on last Tuesday, a lecture on "Madonnas" was gifen by Rev. Father Scanlon of St. Rose's Church, Chelsea. Father Scanlon has a fine collection of beautiful Madonnas gathered from almost every country in Europe. These were shown by stereoptican views. Among his collection are reproductions of Raphael, Titian, Da Vince, and two from a Siamese artist depicting the oriental conception of mother and child. It was most interesting to hear the various legends concerning these works of art and Father Scanlon showed a real knowledge of his subject. Mrs. Chester Powers was chairman. After the lecture tea was served.

Hostesses of the day includel Mrs. Edward MacDonald Mrs. William Hevey, Mrs. John McHale, Mrs. Lester Billings, Mrs. Joseph Barry, Mrs. Hugh McPartland. Pourers were Mrs. Thomas Feeney and Mrs. John Costello.

Figures That Stagger

If a grain of wheat were placed on the first square of a chessboard, points out Sam Loyd, puzzle wizard, in an article in Liberty, two grains on the second, four on the third, eight on the fourth, and so on; always doubling for each square up to the sixty-fourth and last square on the board. It would total 18,446,744,073,709,651,615 wheat kernels.

FILLING STATION ENTERED

The police were notified early last Saturday morning that sometime during the night previous the B. & R. Filling Station at 955 Main street was entered and a quantity of cigarettes and a sum of money stolen from a vending machine.

Access was gained by breaking the glass over the catch on a window on the north side of the station. The vending machine was forced open. It had been filled only a day or so previous. The police are investigating the break and believe it to be linked with a series of a similar nature which have taken place in the district lately.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 7, and we believe that this record will be improved.

Past President Ralph Bonnell sustained a serious fall recently, striking on his head and receiving a concussion which necessitated comparative inactivity for several days. We were pleased to greet him today and learn of his recovery.

The club board of directors has instituted the practise of holding monthly meetings on the first Monday in each month. Business which must be transacted by the board should be presented for consideration at these meetings. Special meetings of the board will be arranged when required. Members please take notice.

Following the precedent established last year the club will carry out the major portion of its Christmas activities through the agency of the Winchester Community Center. Experience has shown that aside from the overlapping of efforts it is possible in this way to reach a greater number of individuals and to achieve greater effect than by methods previously employed.

We acknowledge the receipt of a letter from President Harris Blye of the Rotary Club of Woburn returning thanks sent to him by this club during his recent illness. We are surely glad to know that he is at his post again and doing his essential part in maintaining the splendid record of our sponsor club.

Arrangements are being made for an open session at our regular meeting of Dec. 28. At this time it is proposed to discuss suitable activities to be carried out during the balance of the year. Members will have an opportunity to air their pet projects and the service committees of the club will gain a broader basis for their work from the interchange of ideas and opinions which will feature this meeting. We want to hear from as many as possible on the 28th, so be prepared to tell your story. Full speed ahead for 1940!

Our guest speaker today was our fellow townsman, Raymond S. Wilkins, who spoke before us entertainingly of his experiences in the practice of his profession and also as a member of the official staff of Gov. Leverett Saltonstall. "Ray," as he is known to his intimates, is not a Rotarian but it is easy to see that he possesses those qualities which characterize a Rotarian at his best. He is always a welcome guest at our board where we hope to find him on numerous future occasions. And we are truly grateful to him for his courtesy in coming to us today.

Next week we shall listen to another Winchesterite in the person of Mr. Harold B. Richmond, a recognized authority on television. He will tell us of recent development in this field. Remember, it will be Dec. 14.

Percentage of attendance Nov. 23, 1939—94.29 per cent.

LEGION NOTES

Commandant Lawrence F. Quigley of the Soldiers Home in Chelsea was the guest speaker at the December meeting of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, at the post headquarters last evening.

Commander Marshall W. Symmes of Winchester Post introduced the Commander, who spoke upon "Hospitalization and Rehabilitation." The speaker is an acknowledged authority in this field and his remarks were both timely and intensely interesting.

During the business meeting of the Post arrangements were completed for the Post's annual Christmas Party, in which the Legionnaires are assisted by members of their Auxiliary.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of contagious diseases has been reported to the board of health for the week ending Thursday, Dec. 7:

HAROLD BATES

BATES ELECTED CHAIRMAN

A major stride toward streamlined, more highly efficient social service for Greater Boston was taken last week in the organization of the Metropolitan Conference for Social Planning, formally launched by more than 200 representatives from all parts of the metropolitan area at a dinner meeting in the Hotel Continental, Cambridge. Harold Bates, head of the Winchester Community Chest's social planning committee, was elected chairman of the Conference Board of Governors.

Sponsored by the councils of social agencies in Boston, Cambridge and Quincy and by the Newton Community Council, the Metropolitan Conference for Social Planning will develop social service co-operation both within and between the Greater Boston communities. It has been unanimously agreed among social work experts in all fields that a central clearing house for ideas, experience and methods is vital to long-range planning in applying social resources to social needs throughout the metropolitan area.

In order to supply the best possible personnel for the task of social planning in Greater Boston, the members of the board of governors were elected to form a careful cross-section of social work experts in the metropolitan area, not only geographically, but also as representatives of the major lines of social service carried on by both public and private agencies. Carrying on constant research into ways of improving the planning of Greater Boston social work, the governors will meet periodically to make decisions on proposed blueprints of community co-operation.

Chairman Harold Bates of the Conference for Social Planning will be assisted by Dr. Edmund B. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Quincy Council of Social Agencies, as vice president.

Harold Bates of Winchester, is chairman of the Winchester Community Chest, is also chairman of the governing board of the Metropolitan Conference for Social Planning.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the October-December issue of the Home Department of the Quarterly published by the American Baptist Publication Society there is a lesson on "Beverage Alcohol and Social Progress."

One of the articles in the lesson is as follows:

"The prevailing philosophy of the man who voted for Repeal was, "If a man wants a drink, he ought to be able to get it without breaking the promises of removing the profit motive, of protecting dry territory against invasion of liquor, and of discouraging advertising exploitation. The new liquor traffic, they said, would be content to serve an already existing market and would refrain from wide-spread efforts to stimulate new appetites for its wares. The prohibition bootleg trade had been exaggerated to such an extent that the prospect of capturing this illict market was doubtless responsible for the industry's willingness to soft pedal its intensive advertising campaign until the public might have time to forget such promises. But even so, it is estimated that more than 95 million dollars was spent for beverage alcohol advertising from 1934 to 1938.

The present increase in liquor advertising through the use of every known medium suggests that we have now forgotten the campaign promises about sparing the American home from this classification of advertising.

The brewers and distillers are willing to pay premium prices for newspaper ads, the most brilliant magazine spreads, elaborate radio broadcasts, and they have eagerly acquired tens of thousands of bill-boards to extoll their products."

HOW FAR TO SEA DOES U. S. SOVEREIGNTY REACH?

The proposal for a 300-mile "neutrality zone" of the coasts of the Western Hemisphere, and President Roosevelt's recent statement that American territorial waters extend as far as American interests dictate, again calls attention to the age-old question of jurisdiction over the sea.

How far outward from its coasts any nation's sovereignty extends has been the subject of argument since a thousand years before the Christian era, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In that period Minos, king of Crete, "made himself master of a great part of what is now termed the Hellenic sea," according to the Greek historian, Thucydides.

Three Mile Limit Once Represented Cannon Range

Today no nation claims absolute control, under ordinary conditions, over any part of the sea more than a few miles from its coasts. Territorial waters of the United States extend out three miles from shore, while some other nations fix the limit as much as six miles out. Norway, Sweden and Denmark set the limit at four miles because of the deeply-indented configuration of their coasts, which complicates the drawing of a line.

The three mile-limit was adopted by the United States and Great Britain toward the close of the 18th century because it represented the maximum cannon range of those days. Today, however, the range of coast defense guns is 20 miles or more, while bombing planes can operate hundreds of miles out from shore.

Although the three-mile limit is generally recognized as the boundary of United States territorial waters, there actually are several other "limits" in existence for special purposes. Treaties between the United States and other nations permit U. S. Coast Guard cutters to stop and search vessels suspected of smuggling at various distances from shore up to 12 miles. Some treaties also permit suspected smugglers to be stopped within one hour's sailing distance from shore; thus a slow boat might be considered to be outside American territorial waters after traveling only five or six miles, while a fast one might have to go 20 or 25 miles to get beyond the "limit."

Treaties Made During Prohibition Times

Many of these treaties were made during the time of national prohibition of the sale of liquor and were aimed primarily at liquor smugglers. If a vessel is ordered to stop by a Coast Guard patrol within American territorial waters, and refuses to obey, it may be pursued, stopped and searched even though it succeeds in reaching the high seas. Ships engaged in piracy or the slave trade may be legally stopped anywhere on the high seas by warships or patrol vessels of any nation. Many nations enforce laws relating to smuggling, neutrality, fishing, sanitation and navigation as much as 16 miles out from shore.

The idea that a nation might exercise legal control over the seas adjacent to its coasts grew out of former attempts of nations or their rulers to claim sovereignty over all the oceans.

The people of Tyre were declared to have "brought the sea under their dominion for a long time, not only the neighboring sea, but wherever their fleets went," and the expression "Tyrian sea" came to mean a body of water over which control was exercised.

Venice in its heyday tried to control the Adriatic Sea. Spain and Portugal at one time claimed sovereignty over the open Atlantic both north and south and even around into the Indian Ocean and the Pacific. French kings once claimed all the seas that touched their coasts.

The League of Nations once proposed that all countries adopt a uniform limit of six miles from shore for their territorial waters, and that within this area they also would have control over the air above and the soil and subsoil beneath.

MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS SHOW BIG GAIN

A gain of over 13½ million dollars in the deposits of the 192 mutual savings banks of the state for the year ending Oct. 31, is revealed in figures compiled by the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts, it was announced recently by Charles C. Handy, president of the association and of the Lynn Five Cents Savings Bank. Total deposits in the banks are now $2,136,934,623.00 contrasted with $2,123,308,935 in 1938, Mr. Handy stated.

In addition to the gain in deposits the number of accounts has also increased from 2,811,808 in 1938 to 2,820,600 in 1939 or an increase of 8,792. "These gains in deposits and in the number of accounts," said Mr. Handy, "are most gratifying. They are evidence of the continued confidence the people of the state have in mutual savings banks and also of the thrifty habits of Massachusetts people. Savings banks are especially pleased as these gains both in deposits and number of accounts reverse the trend of a year ago."

"During the year," Mr. Handy stated, "these 192 savings banks have paid out $49, 724,488.63 in dividends or an average of nearly a million dollars a week to their depositors. In addition Christmas, tax, vacation and other club savings plans have aided people in saving a total of $15,587,450.98 for special purposes. During the past few weeks Christmas Club checks were paid to 353,961 club savers."

HENRY GEORGE SCHOOL

The fall series of classes in fundamental economics and social philosophy offered by the Henry George School of Social Science closes this week with attendance records 50 per cent ahead of last year. The interest taken by students has been gratifying and that this interest is not superficial is indicated by activity in lining up students for the winter series which begins the week of Jan. 8.

This is as it should be since all the forces which led up to the wreckage and suffering overseas are present in some degree in the United States today. If they are to be counteracted before disasterous consequences develop we must step lively for events are moving fast. We already have all the governmental machinery ready made which a dictator would desire. The machinery is harmless of itself so long as popular thought is alert to conditions and insists that government remain the servant of the people—not a master. However if past history means anything the continuation of our democratic form of government is contingent on social and economic conditions being on a reasonably fair basis. This is not now the case but the situation is by no means beyond repair.

If you are really interested in discovering the underlying causes of these dangerous conditions and in finding a remedy, drop in at the beginning of the winter series of classes. Try it out one evening and check for yourself. If the first session does not impress you there is no obligation, but we are sure you will decide the time well spent. Others have.

SOVIET OBJECTIVES IN FINLAND

Thumbnail sketches of strategic Finnish areas and certain Finnish towns invaded by Soviet forces are released in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Moving northward by plane, on foot and in motorized units, as well as by warships, the Russians are reported to have fired on the important southeast port of Viipuri; bombed the capital at Helsinki and the power center at Imatra; taken the island of Seitskari; and attacked the cities of Kivennapa and Suojarvi, as fell as various border points north to the Arctic.

Viipuri (Viborg in Swedish)

Viipuri is Finland's second town in size ranking after Helsinki. The population, however, is only 84,000. On the direct rail line from Leningrad to Helsinki, Viipuri is a highly strategic communications center of eastern Finland. In addition to being situated on the Saimaa Canal which links the port with inland towns, it is the hub of a network of railways and motor roads. With the outer harbor of Uuras, Viipuri is one of Finland's leading export centers. In peace-time, it combines its busy export trade with the local industries of operating sawmills, machine shops, flour mills, soap and tobacco factories.

The present offensive recalls that Viipuri has often suffered the ravages of war. A heavily fortified walled town of the Middle Ages, it was stormed by the Russians during the 15th century when the celebrated "Explosion of Viipuri" occurred. According to Finnish legend, a sudden and "magically" caused explosion dispersed the Russians as the defenders poured over the ramparts, barrels of flaming pitch and tar. More than two centuries later, by the treaty of 1721 which followed the war known as the "Great Wrath," Viipuri was turned over to Tsarist Russia. Again, during the 1918 "War of Independence," after which Finland was carved from the side of Russia, the city of Viipuri saw considerable military action.

Helsinki

Helsinki, with a population of about 500,000, is one hundred fifty miles west of Viipuri along the coast of Finland. It has already been bombed several times by the Russians in the present action. Seat of the government and heart of the country's cultural and economic activities, Helsinki is a modern capital. It has had a long and often violent history since it was founded in 1550. Razed again and again by fire and beset by plagues, the city was frequently attacked from both east and west. Besides various Russian sieges, during the Crimean War of the middle 1800's Helsinki was bombarded by a combined British and French fleet. The American Legation now is reported to be planning to move from Helsinki to Grankulla. Grankulla, which means pine hill, is a popular winter-sports resort on the cottage-and-villa-lined coastal road which leads westward from Helsinki to Turku.

Imatra and Enso

In the industrial east, the Vuoksi valley, containing the important towns of Imatra Enso, is a vital objective of the Soviet forces. Situated about 100 miles north of Leningrad, across the land bridge of Karelia that connects Soviet Russia with Finland, the Imatra power station provides electricity for much of Finland, including the entire southern region as far as the west-coast town of Turku. Copper and iron works in the vicinity also add to the district's strategic value. In recent times, a growing industrial life in this area has resulted in new cellulose mills, sawmills, and pulp and bobbin factories. So active that it is called the "Ruhr of Finland."

The island of Seitskari reported now in the hands of the Soviet fleet, is located in the Gulf of Finland, some 70 miles almost directly west of the Russian port of Leningrad. An islet only about two miles long, closely wooded with pine trees, it lies near the entrance of the narrow arm of water that opens the way to Soviet Russia's leading northern port.

Make it the DAY of a Lifetime!

ALONG about now, if you're like us, you're struggling with that annual masculine puzzle of what your wife would really like for Christmas.

Well—why not do it up brown for once?

Instead of racking your brains over this item and that, why not bundle them all up—and make it the Day of a Lifetime with a brand-new Buick?

Yes, the outlay may total more than your usual holiday budget. But look!

The whole family will get a wallop out of that hundred-plus horsepower Dynaflash straight-eight that's smoother in action than a wrist watch.

You'll all ride in royal comfort on Buick's stout coil springs, look out with eye-easy safety through Safety Plate Glass in all windows.

You'll go for the room in the Super's close-to-five-feet front seats and Foamtex cushions; you'll be tickled as kids over the two-way Flash-Way Direction Signal; in Buick's 73 new features you'll find six dozen good reasons for being happy about the whole thing.

But what counts is that you'll put your Christmas spending money into a really sound investment; the very strength of Buick's metals and precision of its every part make this great car a smart buy as well as a never-to-be-forgotten gift.

So get the figures. With Buick's lower-than-some-sixes prices and what you can get for your present car, a Buick in the family for Christmas is easy!

"Best buy's Buick!"

EXHIBIT SHOWS DEVELOPMENT OF WATERCOLOR PAINTING

The current exhibition which the Winchester Art Association is sponsoring at the gallery in the Public Library is especially interesting as a means of showing the development, or better perhaps the change in style of watercolor painting as expressed by exponents of the old school and contemporaneous painters.

To open the exhibition the Art Association had a tea and gallery talk for members and guests Sunday afternoon, Dec. 3. Mrs. R. N. Hallowell was hostess, and Miss Mary A. Fitch poured. Servers were Miss Nancy Hallowell and Mrs. Hollis W. Nickerson. Mr. Charles C. Cunningham, assistant curator at the Museum of Fine Arts, was the speaker, telling something of the history and development of watercolor painting, illustrating his remarks with pictures in the exhibition, most of which are from the Fogg Museum.

The old watercolor artists painted their subjects exactly as they were, giving close attention to detail and trying to reproduce studies with almost photographic exactness. Their colors were subdued, natural and less arresting than those with which modern painters paint.

Gradually from this exactness and detail artists commenced to break away, to leave out the less important, to paint only what is necessary for a pleasing study rather than everything that meets the eye.

From this beginning painting has broadened until now many artists paint their impression of a scene, using such colors as they themselves see, or feel that they see, when they transfer their impression to paper.

Results in the latter instance are more striking than those obtained by the old school, and some find them more appealing. Champions of both styles will find studies to please them in the current exhibition, which constitutes another valuable collection of paintings.

Outstanding among the old school paintings are John Ruskin's studies of Chamouni, done in grays with the sharpness and clarity of an etching and Matterhorn, which might, except for the print-like quality of the color, be a colored photograph of this famous peak.

Munster Church by Peter De Wint has almost the appearance of an engraving and both the Cottage by the Bridge, done by J. W. M. Turner, and Rievaulx Abbey by Paul S. Munn, are painted with great delicacy and charm.

These older pictures are generally much smaller than the more broadly painted modern studies. The Landscape by Clark is remarkable for its soft, clean colors, much the same as those seen on fine china. An arresting small study is the Wave by Turner, showing a crested wave throwing its spume high as it dashes on a bit of brownish shore under a leaden sky.

Highly luminous is John Sargent's In the Tyrol, showing two women in billowy white gowns under a greenish parasol, cleverly painted to suggest filtered light. Of interest in this study is the artist's skillful use of the white paper on which he painted in the development of his design.

Landscape by Emily Sargent is very broadly painted but has a fine perspective and real depth.

Also in the newer vein are Fjord, Norway, by Charles Hopkinson, two Landscapes by Dodge MacKnight, March Sunlight by Charles Burchfield, Hopkinson's Wind and Dazzle and George Hallowell's Pine Trees in Snow with Rabbit Tracks. Of these Mr. MacKnight's snow scene, done in white and blues, shading to purple, is the least impressionistic and the most easily appreciated by the average observer, a charming study. All of this group show a vividness of color wholly lacking in the older paintings.

Full of tropical warmth and color is Winslow Homer's Under Coco Palms, showing a negro boy drinking from a coconut under a spreading palm tree. John LaFarge's Study for Ames Memorial Window is notable for its imaginative quality, color and balance of design. The same artist's Bridle Path, Tahiti, is painted with almost the brilliancy of oils.

The exhibition will remain at the library through December and is open to the public.

SHORT CHANGE ARTIST SENTENCED

Albert J. Shibles of 16 Crescent street, Somerville, was found guilty of larceny on two counts from Winchester housewives and sentenced to serve three months in the House of Correction when he appeared in the District Court at Woburn last Friday morning.

Shibles was arrested by Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the police department Thursday night at his home in Somerville. Police say he came to Winchester as a peddler of butter, poultry, etc., on Dec. 2 getting ten dollars in payment for goods from a woman on Norwood street and on Dec. 6, a similar amount from a woman on Salem street.

In both instances he left the house to get change for the bill and failed to return. In neither case were the police able to locate him after the alleged theft occurred.

Thursday night Officer Dempsey received a tip which led to him and Sergeant Cassidy going to Somerville and locating the man they wanted. Local authorities say he was identified by both housewives as the man who disappeared with their ten dollars.

Police say that Shibles is also wanted by Watertown, Somerville and Medford police who will be awaiting him when he leaves the House of Correction after serving his present term.

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS TO HELP WINCHESTER CHILDREN

Money raised from the sale of Christmas Seals was used to send four children from Winchester to the Southern Middlesex Health Camp in Sharon last summer.

The child-caring organizations of the country are "keenly conscious" of the part which tuberculosis plays in the need for child care, Paul T. Beisser, president of the Child Welfare League of America, said today in endorsing the 33rd annual Christmas Seal Sale of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The Y. W. C. A., through Mrs. John French, its president, also endorsed the campaign, which is being sponsored by nearly 2000 affiliated local tuberculosis organizations and committees throughout the country.

In a letter to Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Association, Mrs. French wrote: "The steady growth in knowledge of the causes of tuberculosis and the preventive and curative measures for it are putting this dread disease on the declining list among mankind's ills.

"A large part of this is due to the untiring efforts of the National Tuberculosis Association and its well-planned and effective sale of Christmas Seals. I am glad to add my word to all that has been said of your splendid organization."

"A necessity we constantly face," Mr. Beisser said, "is caring for children temporarily while parents are in sanatoria, or of giving long-time and permanent care to those who have lost one or both parents by death from this disease.

"Our aim is to turn out our children as strong healthy adults, and the activities of the National Tuberculosis Association and the support of the Christmas Seal Sale, which means increasing protection of these children, is a material contribution to the accomplishment of our aims."

CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

One hundred and fifty blind boys and girls will participate in a program of Christmas music to be presented by Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind at their annual seasonal concerts. Three concerts will be held, two open to the public, the first, at the school in Watertown, was held on Thursday evening, Dec. 14, and the second, to be held in Jordan Hall, Boston, on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 17. From 3:30 to 4 o'clock this concert will be broadcast over station WNAC. The third concert, especially for parents of the pupils and their friends will be held at the school on Tuesday evening, Dec. 19. After this concert the pupils will return to their homes for the Christmas holiday.

Assisting the 150 pupils this year will be a guest soloist, Miss Madeleine D. Brooks, mezzo soprano, of Waltham. Miss Brooks was graduated from Perkins Institution in 1925 and from the New England Conservatory of Music four years later. She will take the solo parts in several selections and sing an aria "In a Manger Lowly" by Mabel W. Daniels, a Boston composer. Other solo parts will be taken by John Di Francesco, baritone, of Lawrence, and Andrea Caroselli, tenor, of Cambridge, both graduate students in music at Perkins. Another graduate student assisting is Leo Queenan, violinist, of Roxbury.

The concerts will be directed by John F. Hartwell, director of music and Miss Eleanor W. Thayer, leader of the children's choir of the Lower School. An interesting feature of the program is the antiphonal singing with the Upper School chorus on the stage and the Lower School choir in the balcony. A Polish carol and a Swiss folk song will be sung in this way. The little group of 16 pupils of the Upper School will render a Christmas story "A Legend" by Tschaikowsky. Accompanying the choirs will be Miss Louise Seymour, pianist, Miss Marjorie A. Johnston, organist and Paul Bauguss, violinist, all teachers at the Institution.

MRS. ANDREWS AGAIN HEADS DOLL COLLECTORS

Mrs. Earle E. Andrews of Highland avenue, widely known in doll collector's circles, was re-elected president of the Doll Collectors of America at the recent annual meeting of the organization held at the Harrison Gray Otis House in Boston.

Among the treasures brought by collectors to the meeting were several rare old hand-painted paper dolls, a rare blond-haired Greiner doll of 1858 and a papier mache one of 1840.

Discussion at the meeting centered about the reproductions and fakes being marketed as originals. Bisque heads are being cut from statuettes and refinished to give the appearance of a real doll's head and the old fashioned wooden doll is another whose crudeness can be skillfully imitated.

BOY SCOUT INTER-TROOP RALLY

The Winchester District inter-troop rally was held in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church Monday, Dec. 4 before a large gathering of both spectators and scouts from Troops 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6.

Those present including Robert D. Sibley, president of Fellsland Council, B. S. A., Edward Nelson, scout executive, Elliot Dudley, assistant scout executive, Fred Hatch, chairman of the Winchester district committee; Fred Cole, chairman of the district field commissioners; E. C. Whittemore, chairman of Camp Fellsland committee; John Brohan, field commissioner for Catholic scouting; Stafford Rogers, chairman of Troop 5 committee; R. H. B. Smith, chairman of Cubbing committee; John Kenerson, Martin Swanson, W. Hight, Kenneth Hall, Guiseppe Perro and Ray Bohanon.

Ralph Swanson, senior patrol leader and bugler for Troop 7 sounded the assembly call at 7:35 p. m. John Casler, scoutmaster of Troop 7 took charge of the opening ceremony. At the conclusion of the Flag ceremonies, the scout master introduced Mr. Robert Sibley, Mr. Franklin Lane, Mr. Leslie Hinds, scout master of Troop 8 of Medford; Mr. Irving Blackburn, scout master of Troop 1 of Woburn, and Mr. Kenneth Hancock, scoutmaster of Troop 3 of Stoneham. Mr. Edward Nelson was introduced and gave the scouts some good advice in scouting. Mr. Leslie Hinds and his leaders gave Troop 7 their troop cheer and challenged the winner of this rally to a program of scouting on January 17 in Medford.

Mr. Fred M. Cole was introduced and took charge of the program which is as follows:

1. Knot tying. One team of eight boys per troop. Knots to be tied to staff held by 25 scouts. Knots to be used: square, two half hitches, clove, clove hitch, timber hitch, fisherman's, bowline, sheepshank and hitching tie. Ropes to be 42 inches long.

2. First Aid. Tie splint to fractured leg and carry victim away on blanket stretcher. Team of five boys, one for victim and four to tie splint and carry.

3. Compass. One team of eight boys per troop. Place 16 points. Accuracy and speed to count.

4. Fire by Friction. Any number from a troop.

5. Relay Race. Team of eight boys. Run with stick to end of hall and back and tag first boy in line.

6. Morse. Two teams, four boys each from a troop.

7. Semaphore. Two teams, four boys each from a troop.

8. Fire by Flint and Steel. Two three man teams per troop. Use only one steel and not more than three flints.

9. Awards. Ribbons awarded for first, second and third places only, on total points won during the evening.

The first aid event was put on as a demonstration only.

Troop 5 won the blue ribbon in knot tying. Troop 1, second place and Troop 3 third place.

Troop 7 won the blue ribbon on the compass event. Troop 2, second place, Troop 3, third place.

Troop 2 won first and second ribbons on Morse signalling.

Troop 7 won the blue ribbon in the Relay Race event, Troop 3, second place and Troop 5, third place.

Troop 3 won the blue ribbon on the Semaphore signalling event, Troop 2 took second place and Troop 7, third place.

Troop 7 won the first and second ribbons on the fire by flint and steel and Troop 3 third, place.

Troop 7 won the blue ribbon award for the highest total number of points during the evening.

Troop 7 having won the highest number of points during the evening accepted the challenge of Troop 8 of Medford and will go there Jan. 17th with the expectations of bringing back the championship of Fellsland Council. Troop 8 won second honors in their troop rally two weeks ago in which scout master John C. Casler was one of the judges.

Troop 6, known as the Sea Scouts, with Louis E. Goddu as skipper, did a fine job keeping the area clear so the boys could do their work.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Two jurers were drawn for service January 2: Mr. Stanley B. Puffer, 6 Harrison street, Superior Criminal Court at Cambridge, first session; and C. William Morrill, 5 Woodside road, Superior Civil Court, first session, at Cambridge.

The State Income Tax division has assigned a Deputy for Winchester who will be in the General Committee Room, Town Hall, from 9:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2-4 p. m. on Feb. 7, 1940.

WAR SHIFTS TRADE OF NETHERLANDS INDIES

The blockade of Germany and war's disruption of European shipping is realigning world trade routes, as further evidenced in the growing shipment of goods from the United States to Netherlands Indies. For years this island empire, southeast of Asia, had purchased most of its supplies in the Netherlands, British, and German markets.

Commonly referred to as Dutch East Indies, the islands aggregate an area almost 60 times that of The Netherlands, which is a country about the size of the State of Maryland, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

A Most Populous Possession

The islands spread over the sea, east and west, for a distance equal to that from San Francisco to the Bermudas. They have a population of 60,000,000.

New Guinea, the largest of the islands, is also the largest island in the world outside polar waters. Borneo, of which three-fourths belongs to The Netherlands, Sumatra, Java, and Bali are other important islands of the group over which Queen Wilhelmina reigns.

Trade with U. S.

The United States is second only to The Netherlands among the foreign markets for the islands' products. Direct imports by the United States in 1938 were worth $68,751,000. Tea imports increased, but there was a 28 per cent reduction in the importation of crude rubber, with other decreases in straw hats, tin, sisal and kapok fibers, goat and kid skins. United States exports to Netherlands Indies last year increased by ten per cent over 1937, totaling $27,518,000. The increase was due almost entirely to exceptionally large shipments of airplanes.

Pioneer navigators to the East called these islands the "spice islands." As much as 73,000,000 pounds of pepper have been shipped to the United States in one year, in addition to mustard seed, cinnamon, cassia, nutmegs, mace, clove, vanilla beans and miscellaneous spices.

Java is the most populous of the islands, its 50,000 square miles supporting about 35,000,000 people. This is equivalent to an area one-sixtieth of that of the United States supporting a population equal to one-fourth that of this country.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL OF POLITICS

The first Winchester school of politics was held last Friday, Dec. 8, under the joint auspices of the League of Women Voters and the Fortnightly and an extremely interesting program was presented. The meeting was held in Fortnightly Hall and after a greeting by Mrs. Paul H. Howard, president of the club, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, took over the duties of presiding officer.

Mrs. Hildreth introduced Prof. John J. Mahoney from the Boston University School of Education whose subject was "Education for Citizenship." He discussed the problem of trying to interest the youth of today in politics and world affairs when they quite obviously prefer the lightest of radio programs and the "funnies" in the newspapers. Then followed a panel discussion of his subject led by Mrs. Arthur M. Schlesinger who is chairman of Education of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. She introduced first, Clement A. Norton of the Boston School Committee, then James J. Quinn, superintendent of our Winchester schools, who was followed by Miss Mildred Ellis of the Framingham High School and last, Thomas J. Curtin of the Everett High School. After a ten minute talk by each one, the meeting was adjourned to the Crawford Memorial Church where a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. G. Raymond Bancroft and her committee of Methodist ladies.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, at which Mrs. William C. Cusack, president of the Winchester League, presided. John Barry of the Boston Globe spoke on "The Press in Wartime." He gave a humorous and entertaining description of his experiences on the tour of the King and Queen of England in Canada and this country. He also particularly deplored the censorship of the press and radio of the present war which makes it virtually impossible to obtain any news.

The meeting was then resumed at Fortnightly Hall where Mrs. La Rue Brown, president of the Massachusetts League, introduced Eduard S. Lindeman who was the speaker of the afternoon. He is a professor of sociology in the New York School of Social Work and his talk on "The Foundations of Democratic Culture" was not only very stimulating but gave plenty of food for thought to those of us who believe in a democracy but are doing nothing to futher its cause and keep it alive. He said we should fight against enemies from within and without our country who by insidious propaganda seek to destroy that which we have taken for granted all our lives. We should stay out of war and work for a democratic peace and fight our social evils of poverty and unemployment because if democracy fails it will be because we have never found a way to provide all of our people with basic needs. He ended his talk by saying that "those who really want democracy must summon it by their courage, emotion and devotion."

It was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Ralph Sparks and her able committee that we were privileged to hear such excellent speakers and for the fact that the meeting was such an outstanding success. The candidates in addition to Mrs. Sparks as chairman, Mrs. Cusack, League president, and Mrs. Howard, Fortnightly president, was as follows: Mrs. Philip Woodward, co-chairman; Mrs. Clifton Hall, publicity, Mrs. Clarence Newton, tickets, Mrs. Roger M. Burgoyne, hall arrangements, Mrs. G. Raymond Bancroft, luncheon, Mrs. Alonzo Nicholls, luncheon arrangements and Mrs. La Rue Brown and Miss Mary Heard from the State League.

DRIVEN FROM HOME BY MAN WITH KNIFE

In response to a call for assistance Tuesday night Sergt. Joseph Derro and Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey went to a house on Holton street where they found two women who had been driven from their home by a man armed with a carving knife.

Officer Dempsey found the man in a room on the second floor of the house and subdued him after a struggle, during which he was badly scratched about the face and neck.

The man was locked up on a drunkenness charge and appeared in the District Court at Woburn Wednesday morning. His case was continued.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The summary tea which is to follow the class in social welfare now being held under the direction of Mrs. Malcolm Nichols has been postponed from Tuesday, Dec. 19 to Monday, Jan. 8. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Monroe, 37 Cabot street.

Citrus Cocktail
(Serves 4-6)

¼ cup lemon juice
⅓ cup orange juice
¼ cup sugar
Few grains salt
1 cup ginger ale (or carbonated water)

Combine and pour over cracked ice in cocktail glasses. Garnish with mint sprigs or maraschino cherries.

Cream of Lima Soup

1½ cups cooked, dried Limas
1 tablespoon fine minced parsley
1 cup top milk or thin cream
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ small onion, sliced

Rub Limas through a coarse sieve. Melt butter, add onion and cook 5 minutes; remove onion, add flour to remaining butter; stir until smooth, add salt and pepper, cream and pureed Limas. Bring to boiling point. A little whipped cream placed in bottom of each cup before pouring in soup is always an improvement to cream soup. Garnish with finely minced parsley.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

About 50 members of the Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church including several out of town guests gathered Tuesday afternoon to hear Mrs. Louis C. Cornish speak on the Philippines. She and Dr. Cornish spent four months there last winter and came in close contact with the inhabitants.

She gave an interesting account of the history, present conditions and characteristics of this friendly people.

One sixth of the land is owned by the ruling class, often by absentee landlords and the common people are overtaxed and have but little chance to rise. The United States has done a great deal to improve conditions and she thinks it would be a mistake to grant the islands absolute freedom as then they would be a prey for Japan.

Miss Gladys Cayley, a talented young pianist, recently coming to Winchester delighted her audience with her playing and all felt she had a brilliant future, before her.

She gave as her selections Grieg's Concerto in A Minor, Waltz by Mokjres and Scherzo by Chopin.

COLLIDED IN STORM

During the snow storm Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock a Stewart truck, owned by Lampher Brothers of 61 Putnam avenue Somerville, and driven by Percy H. Lampher of 63 Putnam avenue that city, while making a right turn from Swanton street to go north on Main street, was in collision with a Ford coupe, headed south and driven by Robert Kantor of 19 Maple street, Roxbury. After teh collision the Ford kept on and struck an Edison pole at the corner of Water and Main streets.

Neither the truck nor the pole was apparently damaged by the collisions, but the front of the Ford was badly battered and it had to be towed away. Kantor complained of injuries to his leg.

Bill heads at the Star Office.

Make 1940 a "variety year," with at least one new dish each week for your family or guests. These recipes may be used for that big holiday dinner, or for any of the cold-weather meals that are yet ahead.

Magic Egg Nog

2 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk
¾ cup water
1 egg
Few grains salt
Nutmeg

Blend sweetened condensed milk and water. Add well-beaten egg and a few grains of salt. Beat with egg beater. Sprinkle nutmeg on top. Serves 1.

Orange Prune Cheese Salad
(Serves 4)

4 to 5 navel oranges, peeled and sliced
Lettuce
20 prunes, cooked
1 cup cottage cheese

Arrange 5 orange slices in circle on lettuce-covered salad plate. Center each with a prune stuffed with cheese. Serve with any desired dressing.

Roast Lamb, French Style

Prepare leg of lamb in the usual way for roasting. Make an incision in knuckle end of leg and insert ½ clove of garlic. Place on rack of roasting pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Put into a hot oven (500° F.) reducing heat after 15 minutes. Baste frequently with fat in pan. If more fat is needed, use butter or drippings of fat salt pork. Allow 20 minutes to a pound for roasting. When roast is cooked, remove to platter and keep hot. Pour off part of fat, leaving about 2 tablespoons. Add 2 cups cooked, dried Limas, stir carefully or shake them in the pan until all the browned liquid is absorbed.

Golden Mountain Rennet-Custard

1 package orange rennet powder
1 pint milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice
⅓ cup apricot pulp
¼ cup sugar
1 egg white

Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Then chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, beat egg white until stiff. Add sugar gradually until thoroughly blended. Add apricot pulp (prepared by rubbing cooked apricots through a sieve) and lemon juice. Heap the glasses of rennet-custard with apricot whip, and if desired, garnish with sections of diced orange.

Start the new year right by serving decaffeinated coffee, so that your guests will be sure of a good night's sleep, without worry over sleeping problems, even if they indulge in those coveted second cups.

Drip Coffee

Use 1 well-rounded tablespoon decaffeinated coffee, drip grind, for each cup (½ pint) of boiling water. Preheat drip coffee pot. Put coffee in upper compartment of pot. Pour fresh, briskly boiling water over it. Cover and let stand in warm place until all water has dripped through once. Remove upper compartment and cover pot. Serve.

Games for Nineteen Forty

The latest news in games is Fisherman's Luck, a game consisting of small rod and reel with a rubber feather-tipped suction cup at the end of the fishing line. The object of the game is to cast the feathered cup onto a target which is made up of different fish. Contack, the matching game that's played with tri-colored triangles is a best seller that's a popular recipe for holiday fun. Quick Wit, a quiz game played with cards, is another sure antidote for social ice.

WINCHESTER GRID SEASON FAIRLY SUCCESSFUL

Won Five of Ten Games

Tied for League Crown

The much discussed game with Woburn on Thanksgiving Day concluded Winchester High School's football season for 1939 with a record of five games won, four lost and one tie. Once again Winchester tied for the Middlesex League championship, this time with Belmont, the title being the seventh the locals have either won or shared in the nine years the league has been in existence.

In league competition Winchester lost only to Belmont, 6—0, a successful forward pass in the last two minutes of play deciding a hard fought game which, however, the victor deserved to win. Aside from this battle the locals had only one tough Middlesex engagement, that with Stoneham which they pulled out of the fire, 7—0. Only the size of the scores remained in doubt in the Lexington, Maynard and Concord games, won by Winchester respectively, 39—0, 21—6 and 41—0. These last three teams were woefully weak this season, Concord culminating a sorry year by withdrawing from the league.

Outside its league games Winchester did not fare so well, losing to Arlington, 13—0, playing a scoreless tie with Marblehead, losing a 21—0 verdict to Punchard and an 8—7 decision to Woburn, while winning from Wellesley, 6—0.

This last game was Winchester's peak effort of the season. Wellesley went into its game with the locals unbeaten and untied, but the boys from the college town were outclassed by Winchester by more than the score would indicate, the locals win being richly deserved.

With the mercury at the 100 degree mark Winchester's holding Arlington to 13 points in the season's opener was a creditable performance, but the following Saturday the locals showed little enough in their scoreless tie with the poorest looking Marblehead team Winchester has yet faced.

Punchard, a rugged, hard blocking team gave the locals one of their worst lickings in recent years, though Winchester gained a lot of yardage for a club losing by such a score. The local boys played really good football at Wellesley, showing the benefit of their hard game with Belmont the week previous.

Winchester did well enough to hold Woburn to eight points. The Tanners were really a potent club this Thanksgiving and outclassed the locals in every department of play save passing. They must have been inside Winchester's 20 half a dozen times, yet they were able to score but one touchdown, and given another five minutes the locals might have won, so completely did their long sleeper scoring pass demoralize the Orange.

As it was Winchester might have passed Woburn ragged with short ones over the line in the center alley. The Tanners were wide open for such aerials all morning and such an offense had it not been completely successful, would have compelled the Orange to loosen its tight packed line that was so completely stopping the locals' running game.

Coach George Lauer, starting his third season as football mentor, had a good nucleus of veterans with which to work in Vespucci and Dan Stygles, ends; Marabella and Holmes, tackles; DeTeso, center; and Galuffo, fullback. He got his first bad break when Byron Horie, 200 pound veteran tackle, became scholastically ineligible; and "Chief" Geoghegan's 19th birthday fell just before the start of the campaign. He was plagued further by injuries that shelved Holmes through much of the season, badly handicapped Stygles and kept Johnnie Nash, talented drop-kicker from playing his specialty throhgh the fall. Robert Lynch, promising blocking back was also kept on the sidelines by an arm injury sustained last year.

Good fortune smiled upon him when Leo Herlihy, 190 pound tackle; and Bill McEwen, rugged and capable back, transferred to Winchester, to, in a measure, offset the loss of Horne and Geoghegan. John Tracy, McCormack, Ellis, Caputo, Palumbo and one or two more second team men moved up to the varsity to fill holes. Palumbo proving one of the steadiest guards in the Middlesex League, while Ellis showed his versatility by playing guard, tackle, and end, a very good end in the Woburn game especially.

Sparking Winchester through the year were Co-Captain Tony DeTeso, one of the best centers to play in the Middlesex League in years; and Co-Captain Pete Galuffo, a fine all around spin-bucking fullback. These two boys played their last game against Woburn and it goes without saying that both will be missed next fall. Other squad members who finished up this year were Frank Marabella, rugged tackle and punter, the best place-kicker Winchester has had for some time; Dan Stygles and Vespucci, ends; Holmes and Ellis, linemen; Boardley, end; McEwen, back; Mottolo and Hannon, linemen. Available from this year's squad for another campaign are Callanan, Cefali Phippen and Norton, ends; Clark, Roop, Kimber, Whittemore, Herlihy, Caputo, Tibaudo, Palumbo, Keyes and Procopio, linemen; and Buzzota, Derby, Harris, Provinzano, McCormack and Jim Stygles, backs.

Such a nucleus, plus several very promising members of this year's freshman eleven, makes next year look very promising to say the least, though there are no DeTesos and Galuffos to be seen in the offing just at present.

Assisting Coach Lauer this year have been Jim Shaw, a Harvard law school student; and Andy Lantine, former Winchester High and B. C. lineman, the latter serving without pay on a voluntary basis. John Campbell was team manager with Bob Harris as second team manager and Donald Spaulding, Bill Hodge and Billy Cassidy, assistants.

WINCHESTER BOY AMATEUR GLOVES WINNER

"Tommie" Rania of Emerson court, lightweight boxer, won the 135 pound championship in the novice class at the New England all-American title bouts at the Boston Garden Monday evening. The Winchester boy has been boxing for about six months. He returned from Boston with a watch, bathrobe and boxing trunks, his winning prizes.

Handled by Fred Giovino of North Woburn, "Tommie" won his title from Joe Nardone of Woburn in a red hot bout that had the fans on their feet several times. Over 15,000 spectators saw the bouts, winners of which were chosen to meet boxers from New York, Baltimore and Albany in the all eastern bouts at the Garden Monday.

Magic Plum Pudding Sauce

½ cup sweetened condensed milk
2 cups plum juice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Place sweetened condensed milk and 1 cup plum juice in top of double boiler and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add remaining plum juice and nutmeg. Chill.

Orange Fluff Rennet-Custard

1 package orange rennet powder
1 pint milk
½ cup whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 large or 2 small navel oranges

Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Then chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, whip the cream, adding sugar and mixing well. Top with whipped cream, and across cream, place sections of orange. If orange is large, use 4 half sections; if small, use 4 whole sections for each dish of dessert.

Recipes for Parlor Fun

Quick Wit, a new quiz game played with cards, is a new parlor craze that's guaranteed to solve the social ice problem. Contack is another new game craze that's fun for a crowd or a twosome. It's a "matching" game played with gay tri-colored triangles with lots of quick action and exciting ups and downs. Monopoly, the real estate trading game, continues to be a dependable recipe for parlor fun.

CUB NOTES

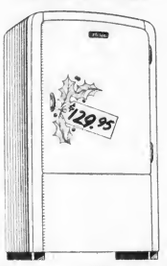

Pack 1

Thirteen Cubs from Packs 2 and 3 accompanied by Mr. E. C. Fuller, Mr. T. M. Atkinson and Mr. C. H. Zarse, made a field trip to the Middlesex Fells last Saturday. A talk and demonstration on the growth structure and identification of different trees was given by Mr. Filler. Use of the compass, how to pace off distances and what to do if lost in the woods was included in the instruction. A weenie roast was followed by stories by Mr. Filler. As previously announced Mr. T. M. Atkinson has arranged to take the Pack to a hockey game. Cubs will meet at Mr. E. C. Filler's home, 7 Chestnut street at 2 p. m. Dec. 17.

ITALIANS CLAMOR FOR SAVOY, ONCE OWNED BY KING'S FAMILY

What and where is Savoy, whose name is shouted by Italian crowds when their leaders make territorial demands on France? This little-known area is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The French territory that was once a part of the old, independent Duchy of Savoy is divided into two provinces, Haute Savoie and Savoie, extending together about 90 miles from Lake Geneva, southward along the Italian border, says the bulletin. It is a mountainous region approximately 60 miles wide, with its valleys given to agriculture and cattle raising, though some industrial development has followed the introduction of hydro, electric power. It possesses strategic value because it controls the western end of Alpine passes, now guarded by the doughty French Chasseurs, including many Savoyards.

Some of the most popular playgrounds of France lie in the Savoy area, including Aix-les-Bains and surrounding resorts in the French Alps. Aix-les-Bains, in Savoie Province, with a normal population of 6000 residents, is visited annually by more than 50,000 pleasure seekers during the summer months. In the cold months it is popular for winter sports. Evian-les-Bains, in Haute Savoie Province, is a gay and fashionable spa on famous Lake Geneva; to Annecy, also in Haute Savoie, go other thousands of pleasure seekers.

From the old Savoy sprang an ancient ruling dynasty nine centuries old to which the present King of Italy belongs. Piedmont, which adjoins the Savoy area across the Italian frontier, Nice, southward on the Mediterranean coast, and the Island of Sardinia in the Mediterranean were at times in past centuries ruled over by this dynasty whose holdings fluctuated with the military might of the rulers. The heir apparent to the Italian throne bears the title, Prince of Piedmont.

Surviving attacks by Huns, Ostrogoths, Burgundians, Lombards, and Saracens, Savoy finally passed into French possession in 1792, following prolonged struggles of two centuries. France ceded Savoy, together with Nice, to Victor Emmanuel I, King of Sardinia, with the collapse of Napoleon, by the treaty of Paris in 1814. Both territories, however were ceded back to France in 1860 in return for the aid Napoleon III had given in unifying the Italian states and freeing them from the power of Austria, then controlling many of the petty princes.

MISS QUIMBY HONORED

Retiring Librarian Given Reception

The Board of Trustees of the Winchester Public Library gave a reception in the library building last Saturday afternoon for Miss Cora A. Quimby, who is retiring after more than 50 years service as librarian.

The library was gay with evergreens and Christmas decorations, a beautiful garland for the entrance and a wreath, placed over the charging desk being the gifts of the Better Homes Garden Club.

Miss Quimby received in the art gallery, being assisted by the Library Trustees, Mrs. Arthur E. Gates, Mr. Edgar J. Rich, Mr. Francis E. Smith, Mr. Ralph T. Hale and Mr. M. Walker Jones. Also in the receiving line were Miss Kate Pond, Miss Quimby's predecessor as town librarian; and her successor, the newly appointed librarian, Miss Corinne Mead.

Members of the regular library staff and substitutes who served as ushers and in other capacities were Mrs. Doris Lloyd, Miss Cynthia Laraway, Miss Janet Dewar, Miss Doris Maxwell, Miss Kathryne Nutter, Miss Olga Nystrom, Mr. Robert Eason and Mr. Windover Robinson. Miss Jean MacClellan was in charge of the guest book, in which all who attended the reception were asked to sign.

A large number of Miss Quimby's friends passed through the receiving line to extend their best wishes and congratulations upon her 59 years service which began in 1880. Since 1888 she has served has librarian, and a year ago was tendered a large reception at the library in honor of completing 50 years in this capacity.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

An unique and beautiful Christmas Eve Carol and Candlelight worship service will be held this Sunday evening at 11 p. m., in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, near Winchester Square. The lovely Colonial auditorium has been attractively decorated with laurel and pine, adding to the impressive atmosphere of the service. The Christmas story as told in music and scripture will feature the worship hour.

Mrs. Ben Hill, prominent Winchester soloist, will sing, "Ave Maria" by Gounod and "The Star of Bethlehem" by Coombs. The choirs of the Baptist Church, Mr. Roy Bezanson, director, will lead the congregational singing of the many favorite carols which form an important part of the program. Miss Mary French, the organist, will play several interesting and unusual selections.

Members and attendants of other churches not having a service scheduled at this time are cordially invited to come to the Methodist Church on Christmas Eve and participate in this unusual program which is being planned by the pastor, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace. The church will be open at 10:30 p. m. for meditation on the part of those coming early.

BARTLETT COACHING HUNTINGTON

Edward A. Bartlett of the Winchester High School faculty has been appointed coach of the Huntington School basketball team for the coming season and already has had his candidates out for preliminary work.

"Bart," as he is known to local sports followers, has assisted in both football and basketball at Winchester High School and handled semi-professional basketball and baseball in his home city of Beverly with conspicuous success. He is a former Boston University three sport star, and the past two seasons has officiated both baseball and football games in the Middlesex League.

VETS BONUS DATA

Comdr. Marshall W. Symmes of Winchester Post 97, American Legion, informs the Star that Jan. 2, 1940, is the last date on which application for veterans' bonuses can be made. In cases where veterans eligible for bonus are dead fathers or mothers may make application. Brothers or sisters can not do so.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for alterations and the erection of new buildings on lots owned by the following for the week ending Thursday, Dec. 21:

P. W. Walton of Winchester—New dwelling and garage at 4 Fernway.

Three reshingle dwelling jobs.

Mrs. Fred Parshley and daughter, Marion, formerly of this town, are living in Harwichport.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Coasters Attention

Coasting is forbidden on any of the streets of Winchester EXCEPT the following which have been designated by the Selectmen:

Bridge street (to 10 p. m.)
Canal street (from the Noonan School to Sylvester avenue).
Cutting street.
Everell road.
Fenwick road.
Glengarry road (from 7 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.)
Hillcrest Parkway (subject to approval of the Metropolitan District Commission).
Lakeview road.
Ledyard road.
Madison avenue west.
Nelson street (from Westley street down).
Richardson street (at the discretion of the town engineer).
Wendell street (from Loring avenue westerly).
Wildwood street extension (from Westland avenue to New Meadows road).

Autoists are cautioned to use great care on these streets.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Seven members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 21.

We noted several of this town's most successful business and professional men among our absentees today. Which we take as an indication that the well known depression has been temporarily suspended.

Sergeant Frank was back at his post today and making up for lost time, as any member present can readily affirm.

Allan Wilde came through with an excellent proposition for any who wish to do a worthy deed in observance of this blessed season devoted to good will among men. Allan will gladly furnish details.

Luncheon was served in our regular quarters today. This room has been closed for redecoration since early in the month. We wish to congratulate the management of the Country Club and the decorators for the excellent taste exhibited in producing this interior. Harmonious colors, simple but effective lighting fixtures and a general atmosphere of cheerfulness will add materially to the pleasure of those who gather in this room. And we might add that the luncheon itself was quite in keeping with the best traditions of our popular Country Club.

The Rotary Club of Boston is early in the field with a candidate for Governor of District 196. Its immediate past president, Francis J. Flagg, has been presented for this important office. He is manager of the New England branch of the Macmillan Company, publishes and has had a wide experience as a Rotary executive.

We learn that a Rotary Club has been organized in Plymouth, and that its Charter Night is scheduled for Feb. 26. President Daniel Marsh of the Boston club will be the speaker on this occasion.

Our guest speaker today was Mr. George O. Mansfield, Detective Inspector of the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety. We must apologize for our error last week in announcing that Mr. Mansfield would speak on "Physics." Instead his topic was "Incendiary Fires." It is the business of his department to find and bring to trial those who are guilty of the crime of arson in this Commonwealth. The experiences encountered in accomplishing this service are truly amazing and Mr. Mansfield is most skillful both in performing the service and in relating the experience. We wish to express our genuine pleasure in listening to this presentation.

Come to our meeting of Dec. 28 with your suggestions for club activities during the remainder of our Rotary year. The discussion will be open to all members and constructive results are hoped for. Let us hear from you.

In the meantime our club members are extending to one and all best wishes for a cheerful and blessed Yuletide when men may forget their trials and unite in disseminating good will to their kind. Peace be with you.

Percentage of attendance, Dec. 14, 91.43 per cent.

Mrs. Herbert L. Darling and son, Bradford will attend a Christmas Eve party at the home of Mr. Willis A. Darling in Hyde Park.

Community Carol Singing

Winchester will again have its annual Community Christmas Carol Singing Christmas Eve, Sunday, Dec. 24, at 7 o'clock at the Christmas Tree on the Common in the Square.

Everyone is urged to participate in this community affair, to sing if they like to sing, to listen if they would rather listen, but in either event, to join their friends and neighbors in welcoming the holiday season in the traditional manner.

The Fortnightly Glee Club will lead the singing, accompanied by Trumpeters T. Parker Clarke and Norman M. Clarke. Familiar carols will be sung. The newspaper song sheets will have most of them. Everyone will know them and everyone will love them. An urgent invitation is extended to help make this the best Carol singing yet held in Winchester!

AUTO THIEVES FRIGHTENED OFF

Yesterday afternoon as Eben Ramsdell, Jr., of 6 Summit avenue and Donald Dolan of 4 Hollywood road, were walking through Lawson road extension they came upon two young men stripping a Buick sedan. As the boys approached the young men fled in another Buick, the registration of which was not secured.

The police investigated and found that the car was the property of Dr. Elmer L. Perron of 38 Scituate street, Arlington, and had been stolen from Highland avenue and Crocker street in Somerville. The thieves had stripped it of three wheels and tires, the fourth having been removed from the car, but not taken.

The Somerville police picked up several suspects in that city and Ramsdell and Dolan were taken to Somerville headquarters in an effort to identify them as the ones they had seen in Winchester.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

J. B. Willing refused to let rain and frozen turf interfere with his golf at the Winchester Country Club last Sunday and as a consequence was rewarded by making a hole-in-one, the dream of every golfer. His shot off the ninth tee was short of the green but skidded up the frozen ground between the two traps and into the cup. L. R. Chamberlin and George Curtis were playing with Mr. Willing when the shot was made.

Included in the list of 12 children who took an air ride with Santa Claus at the East Boston Airport Sunday and who received Christmas gifts, were Beverly Ann Moe, who rode with her mother, and Bruce Lawson, Jr., who also rode with his mother. They had an exciting and enjoyable ride in American Airlines' fleet ship.

Among recent births of interest was that of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gibson of North Woburn. Mr. Gibson, a former Winchester High School football and basketball player, is widely known as a clerk at the Winchester News Co.

LAGUNILLAS, VENEZUELA: BORN OF PETROLEUM

Building towns on stilts like Lagunillas, Venezuela, which has been destroyed by fire, long has been a common practice along the shores of Lake Maracaibo, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Lagunillas overlaps the eastern shore of the lake about 36 miles southeast of the port of Maracaibo, second largest city in Venezuela, with a population of about 85,000 says the bulletin.

Most Homes Accessible by Canoe

Lake Maracaibo is the largest on the South American continent. It has an area of almost 5000 square miles and is linked with the Gulf of Venezuela by a narrow strait of shoal water about 40 miles long. Oil is removed from the lake area in shallow draft tank steamers that can cross the 11 foot bar at the mouth.

The lake is surrounded by a wide band of marsh land covering an area about half the size of the lake itself. Malaria is prevalent. Construction of homes on stilts beyond the marshes aids the natives to avoid mosquitoes and other disease-carrying insects. Boardwalks link some of the houses, but most are accessible only by canoe.

This Maracaibo region of Venezuela was one of the earliest visited by white men. The lake was discovered by Alonso de Ojeda, in 1499. The name of Venezuela or "Little Venice" came from a small settlement, so named, near the mouth of the lake. The early explorers were intrigued by the Indians' pile-dwellings on the lakeshore and settlers who came after copied this type of construction.

Venezuela ranks third in world petroleum production and some 70 per cent of its oil comes from the Lake Maracaibo region. The Lagunillas area is one of the more recent developments in the Venezuela oil industry. About 1200 wells have been drilled there, including a number sunk in the lake itself, some in 50 feet of water. Much of the oil output is controlled by American oil companies.

The surrounding lowlands are fertile and offer large agricultural returns, but the natives have largely withdrawn from farming to work in the oil fields. Oil prosperity brought high prices resulting from diminished crop production.

WAS BORN IN WINCHESTER

In the death of William A. Davidson many Winchester residents will recall with sorrow the passing of another old Winchester resident, for he was born in this town 68 years ago on Railroad avenue, when that thoroughfare was one of the town's residential streets.

Mr. Dapidson died on Sunday night at his home 17 Irving street, West Medford.

His father was Thomas Davidson, for many years Winchester's leading plumber, and his mother was Julia A. Donahue. Following his graduation from the Winchester schools he learned the plumbing business in his father's employ, which trade he followed for many years. For 15 years he was a parcel post carrier in Boston, retiring three years ago.

He served a number of years in the Navy during the period of the Spanish-American War, and was affiliated with the Medford Post of Spanish War Veterans.

Mr. Davidson married Eugenia McDonald of Prince Edward Island, who survives him, together with one son and three laughters, Maurice Davidson of Wilksbare, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Taft of Belmont, Mary and Julia. He also leaves two brothers, George I. Davidson of this town and Thomas F. Davidson of New York City.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at St. Raphael's Church, West Medford, attended by a delegation of Spanish War Veterans, who sounded taps and fired a volley over the grave following the interment at East Woburn.

MRS. HELEN SHAPLEIGH AVERY

Mrs. Helen Shapeigh Avery, widow of Fred L. Avery, died Wednesday morning, Dec. 20, at her home, 40 Glen road.

Mrs. Avery was the daughter of Ira C., and Sarah E. (Shapleigh) Flagg. She was born 72 years ago in Chelsea, was educated in the Chelsea schools and was married in that city on April 23, 1891.

Having a great love for music, Mrs. Avery studied the organ and was during her residence in Chelsea for several years organist at the Central Congregational Church. She came to Winchester in 1912 and had since made her home here.

Mrs. Avery's husband died July 13, 1923. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. H. Gretchen Butler, with whom she made her home; by a son, Paul F. Avery of this town; four grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Edmund C. Gifford of Fall River and Miss Mary C. Flagg of New York.

Funeral services were private. The interment was made in Wildwood Cemetery.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. Richard Hayden of Church street and her daughter, Miss Ruth Hayden, will snend the holiday week with Mrs. Hayden's daughter, Mrs. C. Edward Keeney of West Avon, Conn.

Private, first class, Searle Martin is spending his holiday furlough in Winchester with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin of Westley street.

COMMUNITY FUND STAFF LEADERS APPOINTED

Local Drive Chairman Fast Completing List of Local Drive Executives

James Nowell, Community Campaign chairman, announces that plans for the Community Chest campaign which starts January 22 are well underway. Winchester has always been proud of the excellent showing it makes in each of these important drives both as to the amount of money raised and the numbers of unselfish volunteers who lend their efforts to the success of the drive.

After the announcement of the appointment of three administrative vice chairmen, Messrs. Harold S. Fuller, Frederick B. Craven and Norman L. Cushman we now hear of the associate chairmen who are to help build the final organization.

The campaign work has been divided into seven divisions each headed by an associate chairman. These divisions with their executive heads are as follows:

Headquarters Division—Mrs. Frederick B. Craven

Stores and Factories Division—Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke

Clean-up Division—Mrs. Donald Heath

Special Solicitation Division—James W. Russell

Public Employees Division—Franklin J. Lane

Districts Division—James O. Murray

Publicity Division—Ernest W. Gross

Each of the above executives is entrusted with a very vital part of the campaign during its actual duration, but in addition they are the ones who must assemble the other co-workers. It is expected that the total persons active in the drive will exceed last year's record number of 500.

In releasing the above information Mr. Nowell called attention to the fact that this year's drive combines the local and Greater Boston campaigns in one efficient money-raising effort.

"The splendid cooperation I have had from my vice-chairmen and associate chairmen thus far convinces me that everyone is enthused about the fact that the usual two drives have been combined into one drive. The concentrated efforts of all our fellow-citizens in this most worthy work will certainly bring it to the successul conclusion we all expect." With these words Mr. Nowell started his immediate associates on their arduous task of completing their respective organizations.

ELKS' CHRISTMAS PARTY

Over 100 members and guests attended the biggest Christmas Party yet given by the Winchester Lodge of Elks, the affair being held Wednesday evening in the lodge's social quarters in Lyceum Hall.

Arrangements were in charge of the House Committee and the chairman, Neil J. McCarthy, welcomed the guests, extending his own and the lodge's best wishes for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

A big Christmas tree was the center of the decorative scheme and gifts were exchanged by all present, considerable amusement being occasioned by the opening of the many packages. A delicious chicken supper was served during the refreshment period.

Yuletide Punch

6 cups decaffeinated coffee
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg

Top each cup of coffee with a spoonful of whipped cream into which the spices have been folded. Sugar may be served with the coffee.

Holiday guests, and the family, too, may indulge in those longed-for second cups if you make your festive brew of decaffeinated coffee.

Steamed Holiday Pudding

1 cup grated carrots
1 cup dark brown sugar, packed
1¼ cups ground suet, do not pack
1 cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
3 eggs
½ cup raisins
1 cup chopped citron
3½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
1½ teaspoons salt

Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat. Add grated carrot and suet. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with pineapple juice, reserving a little to flour fruit. Add fruit. Pour into a large greased mold, cover and steam four hours. May be made ahead and stored in a crock or tight container in a cool place. Heat before serving and serve sliced with your favorite sauce.

Yield: This pudding will fill a 2 quart mold — 12 to 14 servings.

BANANAS BUILD A NEW PORT

Bananas are largely responsible for the 15 million dollar harbor development project on Costa Ricas Pacific coast, about 60 miles south of Puntarenas, western terminus of the trans-Costa-Rican railroad.

It was at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition of 1876 that the blond banana made its formal American deout in a tinfoil wrapper, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Five Million "Stalks"

Last year nearly five million stems or stalks of bananas were shipped from Costa Rica alone, 80 per cent of the country's production coming to the United States. Of the total Costa Rican export 1,151,569 stems were from the Pacific region and 3,803,122 from Limon, now the principal port and the Carribean coast terminus of the Costa Rica Railroad. Blight and soil exhaustion have caused the abandonment of many of the large banana plantations in the Atlantic region, and the rapid development of the Pacific coast plantations is responsible for the additional harbor development.

There has been a gradual decline in Costa Rica's export of bananas. Last year's total of 4,954,691 was only a little over half that of 1926. Also, the importation of cocoa beans into the United States last year was less than half the 10,000,000 pounds of 1937. On the other hand, the importation of Costa Rican coffee by the United States has almost doubled in the past three years, showing a total for last year of nearly 14,000,000 pounds, though England still is the principal consumer.

Coffee Came Via Cuba

Coffee moved from Cuba to Costa Rica and rapidly became the principal crop, outdistancing within 30 years the banana which had been introduced into the new world early in the colonial period. Bananas long covered a region about twice the area of Rhode Island in the Atlantic region, but cocoa and other products now are supplanting them.

Coast Rica still has vast wealth in virgin soil, and there are thousands of square miles of public land which have never been touched; land covered with rosewood, cedar, mahogany and other cabinet wood of great value. Much of this land can be made available for banana culture.

Broiled Egg-Noodle Nests

Perplexed housewives with three tempting and nutritious meals to prepare daily will welcome this suggested wheat-egg-meat combination that has eye-appeal, sates appetites and saves both work and worry.

½ lb. egg noodles
8 strips bacon
1 doz. stuffed olives
½ cup butter
Seasoning to taste

Boil egg noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Toss egg noodles in seasoned, melted butter to saute all strands.

Make a circle of each bacon strip by fastening ends with toothpick. Fill centers with buttered egg noodles. Cut olives in halves and arrange point downward in clover fashion in center of mounds. Broil till bacon is done. Serve with remaining egg noodles. For a change, substitute macaroni or spaghetti for the egg noodles.

Hawaiian Fruit Bread

1 cup chopped dates
1 cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice
2 tablespoons butter or other shortening
¾ cup honey
1 egg
1½ cups sifted flour
1 cup nut meats
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder

Heat pineapple juice, add the dates and cook over a low fire, stirring occasionally until mixture is thick. Cool. Cream honey and shortening. Add beaten egg and date mixture and nuts. Sift together dry ingredients and add. Pour into well-greased loaf pan 10 x 4 x 3", the bottom of which has been lined with waxed paper. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) for one hour.

Yield: 1 loaf.

WOBURN HIGH DEFEATED WINCHESTER

Tanners Flashed in Second Half for 27 to 17 Verdict

Winchester High lost a 27 to 17 decision to Woburn High in the opening basketball game of the current season for both schools Wednesday afternon in the local gymnasium. The Woburn seconds won the preliminary game 33 to 21.

Woburn brought a rangy club to Winchester and the Tanners appeared to be further advanced in their all around play than the locals, handling the ball better and playing a smarter game. Had the visitors been able to make more of their shots good, there is no question but that the score would have been more one-sided.

During the first half Winchester made a game of it, scoring first and employing a deep court defense that bothered the Tanners no end. The visitors found big Byron Horie and Frank Marabella, burly football linemen, hard to pass under the basket and effective at preventing follow-up shots after a basket try had missed.

As the game progressed the Orange changed its offense, shooting from further out to draw the local defense away from the basket. As the Winchester boys moved out the Tanners, apparently the speedier club of the two, cut behind them to make their close shots good.

Woburn's passing seemed much more effective than Winchester's, the visitors generally having a good idea of where the ball was going when in possession. Winchester, on the other hand, was uncertain many times and its looping passes were easily broken up by the tall Orange players, while its bouncing passes down the center were also often ineffective.

The visitors had the more experienced combination on the floor and this fact, plus the Tanner's greater height and speed proved too much for the willing locals, who nevertheless didn't look too bad in defeat.

The game was only moments along when Bill McEwen took a pass from Tony DeTeso to score from under the basket and put Winchester out in front. Woburn's Doherty threw in a foul basket, and a goal from the floor put the Tanners in the lead, 3 to 2.

Marabella's floor goal sent Winchester ahead and Waugh's foul basket gave the locals a 5 to 3 count. Doherty whittled this with a foul shot, but McEwen's second floor goal gave Winchester a 7 to 4 advantage at the quarter.

Baskets by Cristaldi and Brophy once again put Woburn ahead and Hutchinson made it 9 to 7 for the Orange with a shot from a free try. Marabella knotted the count with a goal from scrimmage, but another Hutchinson floor goal made the halftime score 11 to 9 for Woburn.

During the second half, Woburn, sparked by Doherty and Hutchinson, dominated the play, leading 19 to 13 at the three-quarters mark, and running this to a 21 to 15 count in the opening minutes of the final period.

The Tanners kept going and shortly before the final whistle had a 27 to 15 lead. Bill McEwen garnered his third floor goal to make the final count 27 to 17.

McEwen, in his first game for Winchester was the home team's high scorer, and Don Waugh, too, played effectively for the locals. Hutchinson and Doherty were Woburn's stars.

In the second team game Woburn led at the half 15 to 9, and 29 to 9 at the end of the third period. The score stood 33 to 13 when a late game surge by Winchester ran the count to 33 to 21 as the gun barked to end the game.

CHRISTMAS TREE AND CAROLS AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Junior High School Associates, an organization of parents and friends of Junior High pupils have had a gaily lighted Christmas tree in the lower hall of the school building this week through the last school days preceding the holiday season.

Each morning to start the school day the student glee club, assisted by volunteer voices, has been singing Christmas carols around the tree, the lights and carols combining in impressive fashion.

The tree was set in place last Saturday by the Associates as a surprise for the pupils and has been greatly appreciated. It is the first time there have been a tree and carols at the Junior High building.

TEA

On Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 12, Mrs. Leslie Tucker of Hillcrest parkway opened her home for a delightful tea for the mothers of fifth grade of the George Washington School. Miss Rich, teacher of the fifth grade, Miss Hatch principal of the school and her assistant, Miss Dobson, together with Miss Storer, one of the special teachers were present to meet the mothers.

"Doug" Graham, one of the best defensive players on last year's Winchester High basketball team, played a steady game at left guard for the Harvard freshman five against the B. U. freshmen last Saturday night at the Harvard Indoor Athletic Building. B. U. won the game, 29 to 19.

TELEPHONE NUMBER 0029

THE STAR extends to its friends, its advertisers, subscribers and correspondents, its best wishes for Christmas and the coming year. Christmas is the time for friendship, or rather the particular season for expressing our appreciation of that friendship, without which it would be much more difficult to struggle along throughout the remainder of the year. Christmas is not a happy time for many, and especially will this be so this Christmas when many are so vitally concerned with the troubled conditions prevailing elsewhere in the world. To them and other troubled souls nearer at hand our greetings and sympathy may mean much. Let us extend these greetings in the name of Christmas and see how much more enjoyable our own holiday will be. For wishing our friends well is infectious, infecting both donor and recipient with real happiness. The STAR has received many friendly greetings from loyal supporters. We appreciate them and in return extend to these good friends and everyone our own sincere "Merry Christmas!"

At last we have found out where the New Dealers get their idea of this wonderful prosperity they are howling about. Some farmer in Washington seems to have got the idea that as women's skirts are going up, business is too. Well—think your own thoughts.

SOCRATES SAYS-

CASH AND CARRY ON THEIR WAR

Last time we loaned 'em. This time we forced 'em to take it—through profits on their gold.

That's the New Deal all over.

PROFESSIONALISM OR AMATEURISM?

President Roosevelt, on Oct. 26, 1939, said:

"I have not the slightest objection to make against amateurs, who—to the rending and listening public—discourse on the inner meanings of the military and naval events of the war in Europe." . . . . "The public will require the ability to think things through for themselves."

The President is right. Professionism, those making and earning their living, through government, and the war mongers through traffic in instruments of destruction, should expect to have their political or monetary interests thoroughly discussed.

The very "public will require the ability to think things through for themselves" and they will weigh carefully the interests of professionalism and pure amateurism, and so make their decision.

THE BEACHCOMBERS' PROJECT

According to the press, President Roosevelt said that "many persons had overlooked the human equation involved in the beaching of seamen, as a result of the restriction on American shipping forced by the Neutrality Act."

Well, of all things! President Roosevelt himself insisted that "cash and carry" must be passed. Yet somebody forgot that if American ships were forbidden to sail that the sailors could not go without them. Perhaps the sailors "won't be there today either."

Never mind, let's have another W. P. A. project for "beached seamen." They can be taught how to sail a boat—to do the horn pipe—or to tie a knot. Let's call it "Beachcombers' Project, No. 1939."

Onward unemployment! The New Deal is now "at sea" on water as well as land.

LAW AND ORDER REFERENDUM

It might be wise if the citizens of Massachusetts should seriously consider a "referendum" on law enforcement along with whether "cigaret smoking Fords" should pay a tax.

As Massachusetts seems to require the Bar Association for a definite law enforcement, is it not time for citizens to ask its law enforcement officers—"Who is 'the little man who wasn't there'?"

It is said by the press that Attorney General Dever was asked once, 2 years ago, to investigate a group of young women who had lost their public jobs because they would not contribute. Why was this not followed up and completed?

The citizens now want to know why the office of Attorney General Dever did not know about the Suffolk County mess and why such delay has been tolerated.

We sincerely hope that the real reason why the Bar Association had to bring this condition out in the open will be explained.

There is an occasional rumor that Attorney General Dever—the only New Deal Democratic State office holder still trying to hang on—might try to be elected to some other public office.

Law and order and the safety of Massachusetts require that its Attorney General know what is going on in order to uphold the duty of his office.

Calling someone a "Tory" is not the answer.

ROOSEVELT REORGANIZATION

President Roosevelt insisted this year upon legislation to reorganize government departments. In 1932, he ridiculed President Hoover for "mounting bureaus upon bureaus." Today there is even an Information Booth in Washington to tell the bewildered citizens where the new, almost innumerable Roosevelt Bureaus can be found.

Since April, 1939, after President Roosevelt had obtained authority to lessen his beaucracy and effect the economies he promised—the first four months record shows that $100,000,000 a year and 17,187 civil employees have already been added to the Federal payroll.

Instead of saving the $15,000,000 he promised, President Roosevelt has added 369,466 more Federal employees than President Hoover had at the time he was so severely criticised. We have 17,000 more than we had at even the peak of the World War.

Citizens must stop saying pretty soon, "So, what?" and "I believe in his objectives, but not all his methods," for war and the necessity of national defense may come and if all New Dealers are at a desk, what will we defend ourselves with? The pen? It may be mightier, but that depends upon whether you use "red" or "black" ink.

NATIONAL DEFENSE COSTS

President Roosevelt states that the citizens of the United States must consider one or two ways to raise the money necessary for adequate national defense, either by new taxes or by borrowing.

It is inconceivable that the President either cannot or will not consider the hundreds of millions of dollars easily available for national defense, which would require neither new taxes—thereby increasing the cost of living for every necessity of life that the poor must buy, nor borrowing, mortgaging the lives, both present and future, of every worker.

There has been and it is still going on the absolute waste of hundreds of million in useless New Deal fads, more than sufficient to give this country perfect national defense, such as Quoddy Dams, Florida Ship Canals, 1000 mile forests (a housing project for birds), and almost one million Federal civil employees and countless other burlesque shows.

If increased national defense is considered necessary by the army and navy, for the protection of our shores from some foreign enemy, then it is about time that patriotism is aroused to such an extent that drastic cuts will be put on New Dealers, so that they will be prevented from weakening our ability to erect such defenses.

The continuance of New Deal squandering of our income and wealth will soon get us into such economic chaos that national defense could become impossible.

The answer of the citizens to the President should be that adequate national defense must be and can be paid for by New Deal economy; that there is absolutely no need of either new taxes or future borrowings.

If New Dealers attempt to provide national defense by new taxes or still further borrowings, instead of doing it by simple economy, then citizens can have but two conclusions: Either they desire to spend their entire resources of the country and thus get everyone to look to the State or they are just plain mad with spending.

A great deal of inspired patriotic hysteria will become rampant soon on national defense. If politicians really mean it they will pull in their New Deal belts. If they do not then national defense is simply another pretext for centralized government through the evolution of spending it all.

BATES AT TUFTS NEXT YEAR

Winchester friends of Coach Wendell D. Mansfield will be pleased to note that his Bates "Bobcats" come to Medford next Columbus Day for a football game with the Tufts Jumbos at Tufts Oval.

This should be quite a football game. Coach Mansfield and Coach Lou Manley of Tufts have been friends for several years, each having great admiration for the other. It will be interesting to see their teams in action.

Principal Wade I. Gringle of the Winchester High (a than-whom Bates rooter) has already staked a claim for seats on the 50 yard line, and it is quite likely that the Mansfield "Chowder and Marching Club" headed by Squire George Franklin will be right alongside!

TRYING OUT WITH OLYMPICS

Ralph Ambrose, former Winchester High athlete, tried out Wednesday night with the Boston Olympics hockey team and showed to good enough advantage with this crack amateur aggregation to be invited to return for further trial.

Ralph played hockey while at Boston College, that being the time when the Eagles were reviving interest in the sport and putting a team on the ice. Since then he has played with the Winchester Hockey Club is a good skater and team man.

Winchester used to be well known in amateur hockey circles when "Brick" Small, his brother Norman, and Leon Tuck, were playing for the old Intercolonials and B. A. A. The high school, with those boys and Ward and Lou Goddu, Doc Hurd, Lowell Smith, Fred Donahue and George LeDue was a real power in interscholastic hockey, playing all the leading teams and more than holding their own. Both "Brick" Small and Tuck represented the United States in hockey at the Olympic games, and in late years Gordon Smith has toured Europe with the Boston Olympics.

INVITED IN ADVANCE!

Friends of William "Sully" Sullivan, former Winchester High outfielder, now a member of the clerical staff at the Winchester National Bank, are calling him "Deerslayer" these days in honor of his recent hunting trip to East Otis.

It seems "Sully" was so sure he would bag at least one deer that he invited a select group of friends to his house to await his return when he promised them a venison dinner with all the trimmings.

Came the day and came the guests, came "Sully" but no venison! As a matter of fact the Star is informed that the mighty hunters, of which Mr. Sullivan was one, didn't even bag a rabbit. We cannot vouch for this, and "Sully" himself is noncommittal!

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Members of the children's dancing class of Miss Bette Sexton had a Christmas Party Wednesday afternoon in the new banquet hall of the Masonic Apartments. Games were enjoyed and prizes for excellence in the first half year awarded. Refreshments featuring ices molded in the shape of Santa Claus were served at candle-lighted tables decorated in Christmas colors.

Pupils attending were Sally Birnie, Mary Em and Joan Bodman, Lulu Seager, Frances Rush, Mary Lou Kenerson, Carol Ordway and Virginia Farnsworth.

SELECTMAN'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

After Monday evening's meeting, the Board of Selectmen enjoyed a Christmas party with appropriate ceremonies at their room in the town hall, followed by adjournment to the home of Selectman Kingman P. Cass where refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Clerk George W. Franklin presented Selectman Elliott Cameron with a handsome antique tapestry in black and gold, embellished with photographs of his colleagues, interesting data, the season's greetings and an ornate red bow.

Selectman Cameron was completely overcome and had difficulty in expressing his appreciation. In fact so deeply was he affected that he forgot to take his present home!

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Manager George R. Carter of the Winchester Theatre was the guest speaker last Sunday evening at the Young People's Forum meeting in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Jack Finger, Pete Sibley, Bradford Darling and Don Howard plan to leave early next Tuesday morning for several days of skiing at Woodstock, Vt.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk by Hugh H. A. Stott of 37 Lakeview avenue, Lynn, and Gertrude M. Swanson of 21 Swan road.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Dalrymple, formerly of Winchester, are the parents of a daughter, Judith, born Dec. 13 at the Harper Hospital, Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Dalrymple is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Nichols of Hillcrest parkway, who are spending the holidays with her in Detroit.

Miss Helen Davis gave a tea Thursday afternoon to members of Mrs. Jan Friis' Girl Scout Troop. Mrs. Friis attended and most of the old scouts, now at prep school or college, were present.

Catherine Carver, pianist, will be the first recitalist of the new year in Jordan Hall, Boston, Thursday evening, Jan. 4. Miss Carver, formerly of Winchester, received a scholarship at the Institute of Musical Art in New York City and a fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate School under Carl Friedberg. In 1933 she won the Walter M. Naumberg Foundation and was heard in Town Hall, New York.

John F. Cassidy, chairman of the Board of Assessors, is to be a candidate for re-election at the coming town meeting in March. He already has papers in circulation. Two hundred names are necessary on nomination papers this year instead of the 50 that were required previously.

A former resident of Winchester, Mr. Stanley G. H. Fitch, now of Cambridge, has been appointed by Governor Saltonstall to the board of registration for certified public accountants.

The Police were called one day this week to the Beggs & Cobb shop on Swanton street where a workman had been badly cut on the head by being hit by a large clinker while at work on the second floor of the plant. The man was alone on the floor at the time and no clue to who had thrown the clinker at him could be secured.

The annual community Christmas party for children of the town between 1 and 10 years is being held this afternoon at the Recreation Center on Mt. Vernon street. Tickets have been distributed for the party and no child will be admitted without one. Parents will not be admitted as the party is strictly for children.

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, December 24.

The Golden Text is: "Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem" (Isaiah 52:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (Luke 13:11-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science raises the standard of liberty and cries: 'Follow me! Escape from the bondage of sickness, sin and death!' Jesus marked out the way. Citizens of the world, accept the glorious liberty of the children of God,' and be free! This is your divine right" (p. 227).

SKAGERRAK AND KATTEGAT: VESTIBULES TO THE BALTIC SEA

The English navy blockading Germany with its patrol of the North Sea is carefully watching the Skagerrak and the Kattegat, legs of the inverted V-shaped waterway that leads to the bottled-up Baltic Sea.

The Skagerrak and the Kattegat, between the Scandinavian Peninsula and Denmark, are a connected arm of the North Sea that elbows to the mouth of the Baltic Sea, forming the only water connection between the two seas except for the German Kiel Canal, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Despite the mining of the mouth of the Baltic by Germany at the beginning of the World War in 1914, an act condemned as in violation of international law and the rights of neutral shipping, the British had a fleet of 10 submarines in the Baltic before the end of the war. Four of these British submarines were shipped overland from Arkhangelsk on the White Sea to Kronstadt on the Gulf of Finland. They sank German cruisers and merchantmen carrying iron and other supplies from Sweden.

Norse Fairyland

On the waters of the Kattegat and Skagerrak the Norsemen got their training in conflict with sudden gales, madly surging seas and dangerous rocks. The region is rich in early Norse legends. The giant Mannigfual took his colossal ship through these waters, pacing the enormous deck on horseback. So high were the masts that young men who ascended them were old bearded men before again reaching the deck. Aegir, the seagod, had his palace on the Island of Laeso, one of the three or four islands of the Kattegat.

The Skagerrak has no islands except for those of Sweden and Norway near the coast, the latter marked by the Lindesnes and Rwing lighthouses to protect ships which prefer the deeper water off Norway to the shallow surds of Denmark where the bay between the Hirtshals and Hanstholm nights is called the Jammerbight or Bay of Lament because so many ships have come to grief there.

The most northern tip of Denmark the Skagen or Skaw, points the division between these two portions of the North Sea arm. The Kattegat extends for 150 miles nor[illegible] on the Danish Islands at the mouth of the Baltic to the Skagerrak; its greatest width is 90 miles. The Skagerrak, which opens into the North Sea, is 100 to 125 miles wide and 150 miles long.

Storms frequently break over these comparatively shallow waters with considerable danger to shipping. The climate of the Kattegat islands is healthful and summer seaside resorts have been developed on them. The natives of the islands are mostly fishermen. The cod, herring, lobster and oyster fisheries are important. While the Danish shores are mostly low, those of Norway and Sweden are often steep and rocky.

RUSSIAN CHOIR TO SING SUNDAY

First Cong[illegible]ional Church 4 O'clock

A Russian Choir, composed of selected singers from all the Russian Orthodox Churches of Greater Boston, under the direction of Very Reverend James J. Piateski, will give a program of Russian music at the First Congregational Church, Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The choir will sing unaccompanied.

The first appearance of this choir was at the International Pageant and Ball at Hotel Statler. It should be emphatically stated that the members of this choir are not of the present Bolshevik regime in Russia, but children of self-exiled refugees of the old regime. Many of them were born in this country. They are trying to keep alive today the religious music and traditions of Old Russia, which have been snuffed out in the homeland by anti-religious pressure.

This program will take the place of Hausman's "Bethlehem," which is usually presented on Christmas Sunday. It will be a rare treat to all music lovers, as Russian voices have a quality which cannot be duplicated by any other nationality.

The program may be found under the church notices. A silver offering will be taken to defray expenses. The public is welcome.

TWO ACCIDENTS WEDNESDAY

The first of two automobile accidents which took place during the storm on Wednesday was reported to the police by Albert Derro of 90 Swanton street, who said that as he was backing his Chevrolet sedan from his driveway at 12:30 in the afternoon the machine struck and knocked down Mrs. Catherine Mawn of 49 Irving street who was on the sidewalk walking easterly. Mr. Derro took Mrs. Mawn to her home where she was treated by Dr. Dominick Runci for a possible fracture of the hip. After treatment she was removed to the Winchester Hospital.

John Rogers of Broad street, Woburn, reported that at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon as he was trying to drive a Plymouth coach southerly on Cambridge street past a truck which was also headed south, his machine collided with the rear of a Chevrolet sedan being operated by Gertrude E. Anderson of 69 Cambridge street who was driving in front of the truck and making a left turn into her driveway. Both the Plymouth and Chevrolet were damaged but no injuries were reported.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The proprietor of the Swanton street service station is giving a Christmas party Saturday afternoon at his station for children of the neighborhood between the ages of 1 and 10 years.

J. H. Winn's Sons are having their usual Christmas party for the employees at their Watch Hand factory on Washington street this afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Vinal of Glengarry left town Monday for Louisville, Ky., where she will spend the holiday season with members of her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Seaver of Middlesex street are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a second son, Friday, Dec. 8, at the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Seaver is the former Mary McGaragle.

GEORGE N. P. MEAD

On December 15th there passed from our daily lives, one of Winchester's most beloved figures, when Dr. George N. P. Mead succumbed to an attack which, though seemingly not as severe as others he had sustained, was enough to stop the brave heart that had beat so stoutly and to such good purpose for over 80 years. Born in Concord, N. H. on Feb. 18, 1859, he spent his boyhood there, and when, upon graduating from high school, he found Greek and Latin were needed for his medical course, he went to Phillips Exeter Academy in 1878. After three years there he entered Harvard College in 1881, and by supplementing his regular courses with considerable extra work, was ready to enter the Harvard Medical School in 1883. After completing the three-year course, he spent two years in hospital service, one in the Free Hospital for Women and the other in the Boston Lying-in Hospital. These years in hospital service gave him his start in obstetrics and surgery.

In 1888 he married Jenny Lemann, and began his practice in Everett which, at that time, was the home of his father. It is hard to realize now that surgical asepsis was comparatively new at that time and that there were no hospitals in the smaller cities. Operations then were commonly performed in the patient's home, frequently on kitchen tables by the flickering light of oil lamps and with equipment such as the doctor could bring with him. Despite these handicaps, Dr. Mead's reputation as a surgeon grew from year to year. In 1896 he came to Winchester and took over the practice of Dr. March, soon becoming the familiar and beloved physician that we have known ever since. His practice grew to such proportions that he found it too much for even three shifts of horses, so that sheer humanity forced him to be a pioneer in the matter of automobiles, and many were the vicissitudes with those early cars.

With his gift of diagnosis and great human understanding, it was natural that he had a very considerable general practice, but to him the most vitally interesting part of his work was surgery. He kept himsel surprisingly up to date by constant reading and visiting the outstanding men in the various fields whenever he could spare the time. These trips took him, for example, to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, the Mayos at Rochester, and, on two occasions, to England. As operating technique developed, he realized the vital need for a hospital in the community and was tireless in his efforts to arouse interest in such a project. He was therefore particularly gratified when the first hospital was opened by the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association in 1912. From this first beginning in a private dwelling on Washington street has grown the splendidly equipped and staffed institution of today. Dr. Mead retired in 1929 after 41 years in his profession. Since that time he travelled extensively in this country as well as in Europe. In 1929 he spent some time in Japan. Only a few of the more spectacular honors came his way, for his was not a spectacular life, but he received the greatest honor a man could have—the love and esteem and confidence of those in whose service he spent his life.

Simple but impressive funeral services for Dr. Mead, were held last Saturday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany. The services were largely attended, the church being filled with friends, former patients and medical associates of the deceased who died on Dec. 15.

Rt. Rev. John T. Dallas, Bishop of New Hampshire, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Epiphany, and Rev. William S. Packer, read the service and there was organ music by the church organist and choirmaster, Enos Held. The Monday Club, of which Dr. Mead was a member, attended the services in a body, occupying pews to the left of the center aisle at the head of the nave.

Honorary bearers, all close friends of the deceased, included Charles T. Main, Edgar J. Rich, Allan Chamberlain of Rockport, James Nowell, Alfred S. Higgins, Dr. Richard J. Clark, Dr. Daniel C. Dennett, Herbert S. Underwood and William D. Sullivan.

Cremation followed the service and the interment was made in Wildwood Cemetery.

Town Engineer Parker Holbrook, who is also Superintendent of Streets, attended the annual banquet of the New England Road Builders' Association Monday evening at the Hotel Statler.

GERMAN MINES GUARD VITAL NORTH SEA COAST

The laying of German mines, reported extending in a protective horseshoe around the North Sea Coast of Germany, and the bombing of naval bases on that coast, emphasize the significance of this area in time of war.

Germany's shipping points are confined to the Baltic and North Seas, points out a special bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. On the west between the continent and England, the North Sea is an open expanse of water, unobstructed by non-German territory and islands narrow the northwest exits from the Baltic. Moreover it includes all sea lanes from the west to Germany's two most important ports—Hamburg and Bremen.

Indented Coast Protects Surface Warships and Submarines

The North Sea coastline of Germany is only about 150 miles long, extending in a jagged northward sweep between the Netherlands' and Danish frontiers. It is protected behind a series of small islands that dot its shores almost all the way. With its deep indentations and ragged edges, this coast offers a certain natural shelter to submarines and other war vessels. Just under the shoulder of one such indentation is located the strongly fortified naval base of Wilhelmshaven. Forty miles to the northeast is Cuxhaven, also a naval base and sea resort for Hamburg. Other important towns in this coastal area are Emden, Bremerhaven, Norden, Heide and Husum.

Across the great German plain to the low coastal region of the North Sea flow two of the nation's most important rivers—the Weser and the Elbe. Emptying into the Deutsche Bucht (German Bay), the Elbe leads to the west entrance of the strategic Kiel Canal which links the North and Baltic Seas across the narrow Danish-German peninsula. Near its mouth lies Hamburg, one of the world's leading ports and Number One doorway for much of Germany's food and raw-material necessities. To the southwest, Bremen, on the Weser, is the warring country's vital receiving point for imported cotton, tobacco and rice.

Mines Dangerous to Neutral Shipping

In normal times, most of Germany's trade is conducted through the North Sea ports, which have the additional commercial advantage of being located within easy access of England's great market centers.

Today, however, these cities lie in in one of the most dangerous and strategic of possible war zones. In the first few weeks of the last World War, ten neutral ships, it is recorded, foundered in the North Sea after striking mines. Of these vessels, five were Danish, two Dutch, two Norwegian and one Swedish.

EMBATTLED PETSAMO, FINLAND'S HISTORIC BONE OF CONTENTION

Dispatches from the Arctic war front describing attacks and counter-attacks in the Petsamo region by Finnish defending and Soviet invading forces recalls the turbulent history of this sparsely settled but potentially valuable far north area.

For centuries the region has been contested between Finns, Swedes, Norwegians and Russians, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Its ownership has been so confused at times that it was once known as the "Common Land," its inhabitants paying taxes to as many as three governments at once.

World's Northernmost Monastery

A ragged finger of land pushing northward to the Arctic between Norway and Russia, the district covers an area of more than 4000 square miles. Its population is estimated at 3400, including a few hundred Russians.

A reminder of former Russian influence is the Petsamo Greek Orthodox Monastery, the world's northernmost institution of its kind, situated about 15 miles upriver from the important Arctic port of Petsamo. Both the city and the monastery have been under heavy Soviet fire in the current conflict, the port having exchanged hands several times.

Founded by a Russian monk in 1887, the monastery rises on the site of a still earlier Russian monastery, destroyed in the late 1500's by Finnish attack. Between the 16th and 19th centuries the entire Petsamo region was the scene of frequent frontier disputes and unofficial warfare between the northern neighbors. At one time it was divided between Norway and Russia, the northern section, with the port and adjacent territory, going to Norway when the rest of Finland was ceded to Russia.

After the Russian Revolution, when Bolshevists and "Whites" fought for power both in Russia and Finland, a British expeditionary force occupied the port of Petsamo, then Russian territory. Later Finnish troops made an unsuccessful attempt to take the city. Finally, in 1920, following the establishment of Finland as an independent nation, a treaty with Soviet Russia again opened up the region to the Arctic, giving the smaller country control of Petsamo port.

This little seaport, less than 20 miles away from the present border of the Russian Kola Peninsula, is chiefly important because it is ice-free the year around, when harbors a thousand miles to the south are frozen over for several months. The Gulf Stream flowing into the Arctic near by modifies what would otherwise be frigid temperatures in this northern area.

THE THAMES, BRITAIN'S BUSY COMMERCIAL FUNNEL

Germany's attempt to close the mouth of the Thames River with mines and sunken ships would, if effective, close to shipping one of the world's busiest rivers. For London is the second largest port in the world, annually receiving shipments from nearly 30,000 vessels.

About 160 miles long, the Thames at its mouth is more than five miles wide, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is about 750 feet wide at London.

Daily, 500 vessels pass through the mouth of the Thames. The port of London receives and ships over its 1700 wharves goods valued in excess of $5,500,000,000 a year. It has 700 acres of enclosed dock water, and five miles of quays. The docks extend 25 miles below the city. In the era of the sail, even without dredging the largest sea-going vessels could sail directly up the Thames to the London wharves.

For centuries, the Thames with its many tributaries has furnished power for English mills and industry. Huge hammers weighing two, three and four hundred pounds were powered by water, as were the great metal cutters and the roaring bellows behind blast furnaces and forges.

Aside from its economic importance to London and England, the river's popular appeal is in its scenery and history. It has been said that "The Thames is liquid history." Up and down the valley the tides of war have ebbed and flowed, as various forces advanced and retired. Britons and Romans, Saxons and Danes, Cavaliers and Roundheads.

It also has been called the stream of pleasure, where London holiday throngs witness boat races and join boating and fishing parties. Its banks lure bicyclists, hikers and painters. When roads were fewer in England, the river was a great thoroughfare. Many old riverside taverns still extend hospitality to wayfarers.

Miss Smith was presented with a purse, and the presentation was followed by an entertainment program presented by Miss Teresa Sullivan, Mrs. Nellie Rogers of Montvale and Mrs. Irene Hooper. A buffet supper was served in the dining room which was attractively decorated in Christmas colors.

SONS OF ITALY CHRISTMAS PARTY

Fortnightly Hall was taxed to its capacity last Sunday afternoon when Winchester Lodge, 1580, held its annual Christmas party for members and their families and friends.

About 500 children and adults participated in the festivities which were opened by Carmine Frongillo, the Lodge president, who welcomed the guests and introduced Angelo Tofuri, former high school football player, as master of ceremonies. Selectman Kingman P. Ca.. brought the town's greetings to the party and Dr. A. L. Maiette, during the course of a brief address, reminded those present of their good fortune in being able to observe a happy Christmas in this country.

After the brief formal program and excellent entertainment was presented by a magician and the ever popular Punch and Judy. Miss Margaret Perro added a finished song and tap dance specialty, accompanied at the piano by Miss Anita Tucci.

The arrival of old Santa himself, carrying a bulging bag sent the children into ecstasies of excitement, which was climaxed by the distribution of presents and candy to all. At the conclusion of the gift distribution refreshments were served, the lodge living up fully to its reputation as a bountiful provider.

James Violante was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and was assisted by Carmine Frongillo, president; Gabriel Vespucci, Angelo Tofuri, Paul Marchesi, Tony Perro, Antonio Jacobellis, James DeLucca (Santa Claus), D. Simonetti, F. Errico, Al Lambiase, Frank Frongillo, Fred LaTorella and Ralph Severino.

LINCOLN NEWS

The Christmas assembly program of the Lincoln School was presented at 2 o'clock Thursday, in the assembly hall. Special invitations were extended to parents and friends by the pupils.

The program was arranged by the teachers to appropriately celebrate the two phases of the Christmas season—the religious and the material. The children of the primary grades and special class depicted the latter in a delightfully gay little play about "Santa's Helpers," in which toys came to life and helped Mr. and Mrs. Santa trim a tree. The teachers in charge were Miss Salice, Miss Thomas, Mrs. Isaman and Miss Cullen.

In a truly spiritual vein, the upper grades presented a pageant of the Dione Birth, with Mary and Joseph, the Wise Men, Shepherds and angels depicting the scenes which gave rise to our many familiar and beautiful carols.

Forty pupils were grouped as carol singers near the stage which had for a background a full length drop curtain painted by Miss Agnes Cullen, an Art teacher in the Boston Public Schools and which pictures the village of Bethlehem nestled under the stars.

Teachers directing the pageant were Miss Regan, Principal, Miss McCarron and Miss Blanchard. The music was in charge of Miss Jean Larrick, supervisor.

The Kindergarten under Miss Taylor's supervision, had their Christmas tree party in the forenoon. The tots were delighted with the tall, gayly trimmed tree, and doubly happy because on it hung presents for father and mother made by their own tiny hands.

AMEDE CYR

Amede Cyr of 320 Cross street died Tuesday evening, Dec. 19, at the Winchester Hospital after a short illness with pneumonia. He was at his work on Friday as usual and entered the hospital Monday, his sudden passing coming as a shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Cyr, a native of Canada, was 71 years old. He had been for 45 years a resident of Winchester and as a young man was for some years a member of a section crew on the Boston & Maine Railroad. Latterly he had been employed at the Beggs & Cobb leather manufacturing plant in Winchester. He was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church.

Mr. Cyr is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Cyr; by three daughters, Mrs. Eva Marchand of Cambridge, Mrs. Leona Hicks of Woburn and Mrs. Edna Lynch of this town; three sons, Hector and Frederick Cyr of Winchester, Amede Cyr, Jr., of Somerville; by a brother, Peter Cyr of Woburn; and a sister, living in Joliet, Canada.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with high mass of requiem in the Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

On Sunday, Dec. 24, at 4 o'clock, 25 members of the Metcalf Union, the young people's group of the church, will again present the Belmont Pageant of the Nativity. This proved to be a very beautiful arrangement of the Christmas story when it was given for the first time last year. It is again under the able direction of Mrs. Frederick H. Norton, assisted by Mrs. Herbert L. Darling and Mrs. F. M. Dyer is in charge of costuming as she was last year. One of the kings will wear an almost priceless old Italian bishops cape of green and gold brocade, owned by Mrs. Geo. B. Wells of Southbridge and again loaned for the occasion.

Promptly at 4 p. m., the Main street door of the church will be closed and late comers will use the Parkway entrance. The public is cordially invited to attend.

NORTH SEA NEW WAR'S NUMBER ONE BATTLEGROUND

With the toll of torpedoed ships mounting daily, the North Sea, after less than two months of conflict, has become the No. 1 battleground of the world's second great war.

So far, rough estimates of losses indicate that more than 20 ships have gone down in these waters, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Registries show that the lost vessels include not only many British and some French and German craft, but also much neutral shipping such as that of Sweden, Denmark and Norway. Today, as in the World War, seagoing nations not at war are paying heavily along with the belligerents.

Home to Many Peoples

How many peoples live by the North Sea is apparent from a roll call of neighboring countries. Bordering it directly are six nations, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Great Britain, The Netherlands and Belgium. At the southwest corner, where the larger body of water meets the English Channel, is a bit of French shore. In the northeast, almost within touching distance, is Sweden, washed by the Skagerrak, arm of this same sea.

So closely clustered about the embattled waters are the various neutrals that from time to time many of them have reported hearing the gunfire of naval engagements. Both German and British fleets have been bombed within the general area. Britain's Scapa Flow and Firth of Forth bases on the east coast have been bombed by the Germans, with the British also making attacks on Germany's North Sea bases of Emden, Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven. A severe battle, including six warships and 12 planes, was recently reported by eye witnesses from The Netherlands northern coast.

Mines lie now in patches off the British and continental shores, with others reported adrift in the narrowing waters toward the English Channel. Announcements by the belligerents of such dangers to American shipping are passed along to mariners by the Hydrographic Office of the United States Navy through radio warnings and other forms of publicity.

Charts Show Mine Fields

On a current chart in the U. S. Navy Department at Washington is shown a particularly large mine field, laid by Britain, which follows Danish, German and Netherlands coasts. A second German patch overlaps this region, to cover some of the same area, but is located on the far side from the German territory.

Of the belligerents with North Sea coastlines to defend, Britain has by far the most mileage to consider, with a water front stretching 625 miles from Dover to the Shetland Islands. Important British bases are scattered all along the way, from Chatham, across from the French shore, to Harwich, Firth of Forth, Invergordon and Scapa Flow, in the farnorthern Orkney Islands.

CAPITOL THEATRE, ARLINGTON

With many of his patrons remarking about the tremendous improvement in sound and screen reception at the Capitol Theatre, Manager Parker feels it is necessary to divulge the real reason.

"During the last week," said Mr. Parker, "we have worked day and night installing new projection and a new screen. The difference in screen enjoyment has already been very noticeable among our patrons. New projection means that all the sound can be heard clearly and distinctly from any part of the theatre, without straining to catch parts of the dialogue. In addition, the new screen provides a much sharper, clearer and larger picture, which of course makes it much easier on the eyes of the patrons. Standard Theatre Supply Co., which installed the projection and screen promised that it would be as fine as any downtown Boston Theatre.

From the comments I have already received from our patrons, I am happy to say that it believe this promise has been adequately fulfilled."

NEVA RIVER: WATER GATE TO WESTERN RUSSIA

The Neva River, recently closed to Finnish shipping, remained in the news spotlight as Russia discussed geographical and political affairs with the three Baltic states situated farther west and south.

The Neva is at the eastern end of the Gulf of Finland, the broad arm of the Baltic Sea between Finland and Estonia, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The part of Finland most affected by the "closing order" is the Finnish coast of Lake Ladoga whose northern half is encircled by Finnish shores.

Forty Miles Long

Few rivers of the world only 40 miles long have shown equal utility and have played such a historic role in European Commerce, continues the bulletin. The Neva is the outlet to the sea, by way of the Gulf of Finland, of huge Lake Ladoga and other lakes and numerous rivers of western Russia. By means of lakes and canals shippers may transport merchandise from the Baltic to the Arctic Ocean.

There is nothing new, however, about the Neva's importance as a shipping route link. It was part of the ancient "Great Waterway" from the Baltic to Constantinople by way of Lake Ladoga, the Volkhov River, Lake Ilmen, the Lovat River, and the Dnepr River which flows into the Black Sea.

In recent centuries, the Neva's commercial reputation has been enhanced by Leningrad which spreads over both banks and 19 islands formed by its arms at its western end. Traffic between these islands and the normal commerce of Leningrad, a large industrial city of more than a million population keep the Neva well churned.

Peter's Paradise

The river did not feel the effect of Leningrad's force until about two centuries ago. Before that, the site of the city was a series of fortresses. The city itself did not begin to rise until, early in the 18th century, Peter I built a fortress and settlement on one of the islands in the Neva and named it St. Petersburg. "Peter's Paradise," as it was popularly called, expanded and, strangely, it was to become one of the leading cities in the overthrow of the Tsarist regime in 1917.

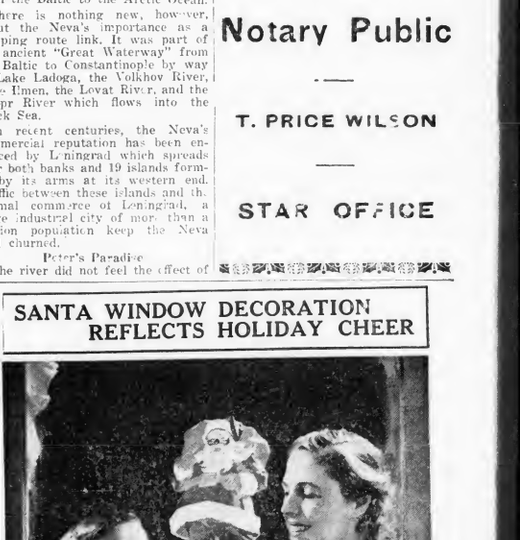

Peter and his family moved to St. Petersburg from Moscow in 1712 and the settlement rapidly developed into an industrial center as capitalists and workers thronged to the new capital. By 1724 nearly 300 foreign ships stopped in St. Petersburg harbor in a year and the city had three wall paper factories, a silk, linen, paper, sugar and cardboard mill, a wax factory and starch plant. Since then, the Neva has been more than a mere link in a long water system. It is an important river by its own right in spite of its shortness.

SANTA WINDOW DECORATION REFLECTS HOLIDAY CHEER

Home windows have new glamour this holiday season! In addition to the lighted Christmas trees they have sported in the past, windows now have the benefit of something entirely new. For her son's delight this mother is transferring an appropriate Santa Claus decal to the living room window of their home. At night when the regular living room lights are turned on, the illumination shines through the translucent colors of the Santa Claus decal causing him to glow with a brilliance almost as bright as an electric sign. It's easy to apply these decal window decorations and grand to know the result is a work of art that reflects holiday cheer.

MOBBS IN

Stanley "Willoughby" Mobbs, club champion of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, entered the Hall of Fame at the regular matches last week-end when he covered a double ringer neatly thrown on the stake by Arthur E. Butters, some times known as the State of Maine Champ. Both of the Mobbs hookers were cleanly thrown and his feat was loudly acclaimed.

It might be said in passing that Mr. Butters was very torrid indeed, so far as his pitching went, during the weekly matches, throwing ringers and double-headers in his most nonchalant pedagogic manner. It was largely through the instrumentality of his superb pitching that he and Bob Walsh were able to give the works to Messrs. Mobbs and Roland Pridham, 25—4, an unprecedented accomplishment. In the interest of accurnacy it must be recorded that the second game of this seriee went to Mobbs and Pridham, the Butters heat being somewhat squelched by the rain that commenced to come down in real earnest toward the end of the second game. The deciding contest was postponed until the next meeting of the Association with both teams confident.

ALL SPORTS BANQUET HELD

Holmes and Hughes Cup Winners Palumbo New Grid Leader

One hundred and thirty members of the athletic teams of the Winchester High School with their coaches and guests sat down to the annual "All Sports'" banquet held last Saturday evening in the school gymnasium.

Samuel M. Graves of the school faculty served as toastmaster and the speakers included Superintendent of Schools James J. Quinn, James S. Allen, chairman of the School Committee; Principal Wade L. Grindle and the various coaches, Deborah Fenton, coach of girls' sports; George Lauer, coach of football, basketball and baseball; Burns Winslow, coach of cross country; Arnold Nichols, freshman football coach; and James Shaw and Andrew Lentine, assistant football coaches. Student speakers included William Palson, cross country captain; Caroline Blanchard, hockey captain and Anthony DeTeso and Peter Galuffo, football co-captains.

William Palson announced next year's cross country leader as his brother, Richard, and the latter presented the team's gift to Coach Winslow. Miss Blanchard announced next year's hockey captain as Helen Carroll, right wing on this year's eleven. The team's gift to Coach Fenton was presented by Esther Blanchard.

DeTeso announced that Joseph Palumbo, all Middlesex League guard this year, had been elected football captain. Peter Galuffo presented the football team's gift to Coach Lauer, and Ray Harris, second team leader, gave the jay-wees' gift to Coach Shaw.

The long awaited Mansfield and Wheeler Sportsmanship Cup awards were announced by Principal Wade L. Grindle, the Mansfield Cup going to Stephen Holmes, football lineman and president of the senior class; and the Wheeler Cup to Barbara Hughes, member of this year's unbeaten hockey team.

The banquet was catered by Fred H. Scholl of Scholl's Restaurant, and was followed by three boxing bouts, for which the referee was John Stevens, of the school faculty and the judges were Coaches Lentine and Shaw.

Dick Murphy edged Bernard Perry in the preliminary theree rounder, and Steve Holmes got the duke over Emmons Ellis in the semi-final. The main bout, three rounds to a positive finish, brought together Harold "Moon" Boardley, 6ft. 2in. end, and Leo "Red" Treacy, watch-charm guard, of this year's football team.

The ensuing battle was a thriller and one of the funniest things seen in the local gymnasium. Both battlers and the referee got hopelessly entangled and had to be pried apart, the battle ending with Boardley missing a haymaker swung from his ankles and going down for the count when Treacy applied a flying tackle and held on grimly.

Stephen Holmes was student chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet, assisted by David Schneider, president of the A. A.; Lee Clark, in charge of decorations; Louise Millican, invitations; and Ray V. Hayward, faculty director.

Among other troubles faced by Winchester residents at this season has been the theft of outside Christmas wreaths and decorations. These thefts are reported to have been numerous about the West Side.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL LEADERS GOOD PERFORMERS

The newly elected captains of football, field hockey and cross country at Winchester High School are all capable performers of the steady dependable type.

"Joe" Palumbo, the football captain-elect, came up to the varsity from last year's second team, clinched a first team guard berth at the start of the 1939 campaign and played steadily through the season, attracting little attention from the stands but winning the plaudits of close followers of the team for his dependable play, climaxing his season by being picked on the Star's All Middlesex first eleven at left guard. He is a junior at high school, weighs 157 pounds and the son of Mrs. Maria Palumbo of Swanton street.

Next season's cross country leader, Dick Palson, is the brother of this years fine performer, Bill Palson, this instance being one of a very few where brothers have succeeded each other as Winchester High sports captains. Dick usually finished well up in this year's dual meets and his expected to be a consistent point winner another fall. He too is a junior and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Palson of Myrtle terrace.

Helen Carroll new field hockey captain, is unquestionably one of the best girl athletes now in school, being a good field hockey and basketball player, a capable tennis performer and a fine swimmer, competing during the summer months in open meets as a member of the Boston Swimming Association. She played a strong game at right wing on this year's unbeaten, untied, unscored upon eleven, is a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Carroll of Lincoln street.

ORPIN BACK FROM WAR AREA

Robert C. Orpin's many young friends may be interested to know that he has recently returned to New Orleans, La., after an unusually long and thrilling trip aboard the S. S. West Gambo to many ports in the war area. The French government were the first to seize the boat and interne it in Le Havre, later it was interned at Antwerp, Rotterdam and Dunkirk. He encountered a ship afire at sea and saw other ships badly damaged trying to make port, and the desolate spectacle of interned ships in many ports and in one particular port far more than a hundred. The State Department of the U. S. first released statements of the fate of the ship and recently letters have been received from Orpin to his family.

In spite of his recent experiences he still aspires to be a marine engineer and is departing for Chile, S. A., as a petty officer on the S. S. West Gambo in the engine division.

FARNSWORTH—GOODALE ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vincent Farnsworth of 4 Central green announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Farnsworth, to Percy Allen Goodale, Jr., son of Percy Allen Goodale of New York, and the late Mrs. Goodale (Hope Leonard).

Miss Farnsworth was graduated from the Brimmer School in 1936, and is now a member of the senior class at Smith College.

Mr. Goodale was graduated from the Governor Dummer Academy in 1936, and is associated in business in Boston with his brothers, Robert L. Goodale of Cambridge, and Benjamin A. Goodale of Boston.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The regular meeting for December was held last Thursday evening at the home of Director Carroll. A report of the recent quarterly meeting of the State Guild was read and plans for the local and diocesan Christmas charity work were outlined. A report of the Afghan committee was accepted and the afghan was awarded to Paul Quigley.

STATEMENT BY AMERICAN RED CROSS ON WAR RELIEF

Many inquiries are being received from our Chapters, the public and the press as to the relation of Red Cross war relief work to the efforts of many special committees and organizations which have recently been formed to render aid in some particular phase of present Euronean hostilities.

From the outset the American Red Cross has been in close touch with the war relief situation but, mindful of our responsibilities at home, has not felt that the needs abroad were such as yet to make necessary a major campaign by the Red Cross for a war relief fund.

However, many needs exist and those who can aid, should make their contributions promptly, either to the Red Cross or, if they prefer, to those responsible temporary agencies dealing with special phases of war relief needs. As in the past, the Red Cross will conduct its work in such a manner that other agencies may coordinate their activities with ours so that there need be no duplication in the relief to be rendered. The Red Cross from time to time invited representatives of other groups to meet with it to co-ordinate the various efforts and many of these groups are sending their funds to the Red Cross, designated for relief in the country in which they are interested.

It must be remembered that the Red Cross is a permanent institution; operates under the authority of an international treaty and a Congressional Charter: and it has continuing and primary responsibilities for the conduct of Red Cross work in the United States—alike nationally and in the more than 10,000 communities where its Chapters are active through out this country.

The Red Cross also has international responsibilities and immediately upon the outbreak of the present hostilities we initiated operations to meet most critical emergency needs. We have sent assistance in the form of cash, medical and hospital supplies and clothing to the Red Cross societies of Great Britain, France and Poland in response to their requests, and to the socities of Hungary, Rumania, Latvia, Esthonia and Lithuania for aid to Polish refugees.

In the past week we have been asked to send emergency medical aid to the Finnish Red Cross, and the requested supplies have already reached Finland. We have sent a representative to Finland and we are prepared to extend further aid as we gain more accurate knowledge of the needs in that country.

In war relief we emphasize, first, medical and hospital aid, and in addition thousands of volunteers in our Chapters are producing surgical dressings and warm clothing in large qualities, which we are shipping as rapidly as tonnage is available.

In our recent Roll Call the public has again generously responded for the support of the regular work of the Red Cross. From the outset of the European War we have sought and received contributions for relief to war sufferers of all countries, and donors may designate the peoples for which they wish to have their contributions utilized. Such designated contributions will be expended wholly and exclusively for assistance in accordance with the wishes of the donors. With the recently developed conflict in Finland we have advised all our Chapters that we welcome contributions designated for relief in that country.

As the conflict continues the needs will inevitably very greatly increase and the best efforts of all will be required, if our country is to play its part in mitigating the sufferings of this catastrophe.

Signed,
Norman H. Davis, Chairman,
American Red Cross

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Fisk Butterfield of Greenland, N. H., who formerly lived on Park avenue in Winchester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Russell C. Hulme of Greenland, N. H. Miss Butterfield graduated from Winchester High School while living here. Later she attended Dean Academy in Franklin and a dental school in Boston.

Are You Ready To Go, Boys?

SO asks Bertha Howard, pretty Ford Exposition girl, lifting the first shovel of sod on the grounds where the new wing is to be added for 1940.

There is much activity all over the New York World's Fair as the changes for 1940 get under way. No place is busier than the popular Ford Exposition, where a large staff of workmen and technicians are carrying out extensive changes.

Additional exhibit space and an auditorium are to be contained in the new wing, thus giving added facilities for the accommodation of large throngs of visitors. The Ford Exposition was the best attended pavilion of any commercial exhibit at the Fair.

The first task confronting the landscape gardeners now is the moving of shrubs and the year-old sod. The sod is here being cut into one-foot squares, to be stacked and covered as a protection against the alternate freezing and thawing that wintry blasts may bring.

In the spring the sod will be used in other portions of the large gardens. The Ford Exposition is famous for its beautiful landscaping, the grounds being laid out with an eye to the flow of line of the modern building and of the winding, spiral "Road of Tomorrow."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The Boston Herald of Saturday, Dec. 16, has the following comment on liquor advertising at Christmas time.

"The state alcoholic beverage control commission yesterday suggested that Massachusetts liquor dealers refrain from using portrayals of St. Nicholas or any biblical character in connection with the exploitation of their wares during the holiday season.

This type of advertising the commission notified licensees, is disapproved generally by those engaged in the industry by reason that the patron saint has since time immemorial, been associated with children and it is for the best interests of the industry that its advertisements should in no way associate the children's saint with alcoholic beverages.

With this disapproval the commission is in hearty accord, and therefore suggests to all those engaged in the alcoholic beverages industry that in advertising their products they not only refrain from the use of either the picture or name of St. Nicholas or any other name to designate the patron saint or any reference to him, but that they also refrain from the use of the picture or name of any biblical character, event or phrase."

Would that the other states were as considerate of their children! Notice the full page displays in the magazines this month.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Since Christmas falls on Monday, two special dinners will be planned for that week-end. Meat as well as poultry prices are low and each tastes the better in contrast with the other. For the housewife's sake, Sunday should be given over to the simplest of meals as a Christmas dinner requires extra time and labor to prepare.

Eggs continue to be plentiful and remarkably low in price for the season. More fish is coming to market from southern fisheries so that a greater variety is again available.

Citrus fruits and apples are plentiful and low in price.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troop 9

On Thursday, Dec. 14, Mrs. [illegible] Troop 9 held their m[illegible] ing and a Christmas party at the Washington School. This troop is a large one with 32 scouts enrolled; it is also very enthusiastic and a wide awake group. They voted at this meeting to "adopt" a family for Christmas. In order to do this they decided that it would take careful planning and the practising of strict economy, especially in their gifts to each other. So it was decided that only certain girls whose names would be drawn out of a hat would receive presents, and no gift should exceed five cents. Then they trimmed two large boxes, and with the permission and co-operation of the Washington School teachers, these boxes were put in the teachers' room where the scouts could make their donations for their "family."

Games, clothing and nonperishable foods were given. Fruits and vegetables were very kindly donated by Mr. Vangel; and a turkey was cheerfully given by one of our large chain stores. A committee was appointed to tend to the remaining details and they met at Mrs. Caldwell's house on Monday to wrap the gifts. This adopted family is unknown to the scouts except that it consists of a mother, a father, and seven children ranging from three to 15 years. These Girl Scouts have shown a grand spirit of co-operation and have been thrilled to do their share to help others.

The meeting was opened in the usual way; carols were sung and Herbert Clement, who had been especially invited, played the violin beautifully.

The room had been most attractively decorated in Christmas fashion and a fire was crackling in the fireplace, which radiatd cheer and friendliness to the general happy atmosphere.

Each girl spoke on the different phases of Scouting as it affected her personally. Some of those who spoke were: Marilyn Campbell who told of the aims of scouting. Dorothy Byford spoke on what her group had been doing for the music badge under Mrs. Robert Drake. Constance Zimmerman told about her art group who are working with Mrs. Byford. Marjorie Colliander reported how much her group enjoyed their cooking with Mrs. Partridge. Nancy Mulcahey told what her group had been doing for their outdoor cook work with Mrs. Caldwell. Mary Jane Halwartz spoke on what her group was doing with crafts under Mrs. Halwartz. Jane Robinson told of the Christmas plans.

Martha Fay spoke of the plans for the rest of the year. The reports wer followed by the investiture ceremony and the outdoor cook awards:

The meeting was followed by the serving of refreshments which were most attractive with Christmas tree cookies in red and green, etc. In addition to having a wonderful afternoon, there were two things which especially delighted the scouts. First, that Miss Hatch and Miss Rich were there, and second, that so many mothers came.

Troop 7

The Scouts of Troop 7 entertained at a dinner dance on Saturday, Dec. 16, at the Unitarian Church. Games were supervised by Miss Marian Terhune of the Wheelock School. Music was furnished by Bert Smith and Joe Beeker. The party was a great success!

All the Scouts of Winchester had a Christmas Party Thursday, Dec. 21 at Metcalf Hall at 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. Harold Farnsworth welcomed the Scouts. Carols were sung with [illegible]oop 9 leading two of them. Troop 12 gave a Christmas play and Troop 2 gave a tableau, and Virginia Oliver from Troop 7 gave a reading. The Christmas tree was decorated by Troop 1.

Games 10c to $1 at Wilson the Stationers. Also Table Tennis $2.50.

REPRESENTATIVE ROGERS GREETED FRIENDS

Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers, came to Winchester Monday with two secretaries and set up a temporary office in the Town Hall. Mrs. Rogers was there from 1 oclock in the afternoon until 11:30 o'clock at night with about a half hour out about 6:30 for supper.

By coming to Winchester, in this way, which is the Congressman's custom as often every year as her time will permit, Mrs. Rogers made it more convenient for the people of Winchester to see her and personally talk over any official matter or problem with which she could be of assistance.

During the day many persons availed themselves of this opportunity. Actually 182 had personal interviews while many more came into pay their respects and thank Congressman Rogers for services in the past.

A variety of problems were presented such as Old Age Pensions, Neutrality, Civil Service questions, inquirics regarding legislation pending and legislation enacted into law. There were also problems of employment, Veterans disability compensation, Social Security, Unemployment Compensation and other matters private in nature.

All matters discussed are taken up immediately Mrs. Rigers, making every effort to solve a satisfactory solution.

Last week Congressman Rogers, was in Washington, bringing to the attention of various government departments, problems presented by her constituents in other parts of the district.

Before returning to Washington in January for the beginning of the second regular session of the 76th Congress, Mrs. Rogers, will have made a complete tour of her district, setting up a temporary office in each town and city. She will have talked with over 5000 constituents in personal interviews, having vital matters for her consideration. In addition, over 3000 will have come into extend their greetings and respects.

In Congress, Mrs. Roger, is a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee and is ranking member of both the World War Veteran's and Civil Service Committees.

Congressman Rogers, wants the people of Winchester to know she is always available to help them at any time in regard to matters which come within her office as United States Representative for the Fifth Massachusetts Congressional District.

The Congressman's offices in Washington and Lowell are open throughout the entire year. The door is always open.

LIBRARY ATTRACTIVELY DECORATED

Visitors to the public library this Christmas season have remarked the attractive holiday decorations put up by Custodians Robert Eason and Windover Robinson. A week of hard work was necessary to put the greens, lights and other decorations in place.

The Children's Room has an especially elaborate decorative screen with evergreens and wreaths at the windows, bells over the desk and festoons of flashing colored lights. In a gaily lighted glass case is a cleverly fashioned little model village with a large house and Santa Claus going down the chimney. Small visitors to the room sit happily and gaze at the lighted models.

Frank E. Crawford, manager of the Winchester Hospital, made a jovial Santa Claus and dispensed gifts from a gaily lighted Christmas tree, giving each child a gift, a bag of candy and an orange. Needless to say the kiddies, all of the age to appreciate Kris Kringle, were thrilled.

Assisting with the children were Mrs. Alice Ross, Mrs. Lois Quinn, Miss Alice Peterson, Miss Hilda Hope, Miss Constance Lane, Miss Barbara Goodwin and Girl Scouts Shirley Wood and Louise Barr.

VANDALISM AT GINN FIELD

Park Superintendent Thomas McGowan reported to the Police Monday morning that some time between the previous Saturday afternoon and that time considerable damage had been done the workman's shanty at the Ginn Field construction job.

The shanty was broken into, the lock on the back door being smashed, and the windows being broken. The stove was also taken from the building and thrown into the river. A Metropolitan Park sign near the bridge at the Mystic avenue end of the field was broken with another sign near Wedgemere station, the property of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

AUTOMOBILE IN RIVER

Sunday evening David Katcoff of 710 Washington street reported to the Police that a ford convertible coupe had been stolen from his yard. The theft was broadcast over the police radio and an investigation begun by the local authorities.

Later in the evening the car was discovered in the Aberjona River across the street from the Katcoff home. Tire marks showed that it had simply rolled down a slight grade and plunged down the steep river bank into the water.

FIFTH GENERATION

Donald Gordon Wyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Wyman (Marjorie Hodgson) of Forest street, who was christened last Sunday at the Church of the Epiphany, is of the fifth generation of the Hodgson family to wear the same christening robe. It is also of interest that the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Epiphany, has been a friend of the Hodgson family for 23 years.

THE WINCHESTER STAR.

VOL LIX NO. 22 THE WINCHESTER, MASS., STAR, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1939 PRICE SEVEN CENTS

COMMUNITY CHEST STAFF ADDITIONS ANNOUNCED

Associate Vice Chairmen Start Drive Activity

The organization for the Winchester end of the Greater Boston Community Fund Drive which is to take place at the end of next month has been increasing steadily. James Nowell, campaign chairman, announces that he has appointed the following associate vice chairmen:

Headquarters—Miss Gretchen Stone, Mrs. Christopher L. Billman

Stores and Factories—Mrs. Harold S. Fuller, Sherman B. Russell

Districts—Joseph W. Butler, Mrs. Dwight B. Hill

Public Employees—George W. Franklin, Kinsman P. Cass

A special meeting is to be held at the Winchester Country Club early in the New Year to enable all the members of the staff to get acquainted with each other and with the leaders of the Community Chest Drive from Boston. Further details of this event, which promises to be one of the leading social functions at the Country Club next month, will be announced next week.

The Greater Boston Chest Campaign seems to be arousing even more enthusiasm this year among our fellow townspeople than it has in many of the previous years. The realization that this great charitable work can be carried on in true American fashion—for the good of all and without any form of coercion, seems to be at the bottom of this noticeable enthusiasm. The contrast with conditions in Europe seems to make the many hundreds of volunteers feel that they want to share in this worthwhile community effort. Many Chests throuhout the country have chosen as their slogan "Give the American way—give voluntarily.

These few words characterize the whole idea behind the annual Community Chest Drive. The unselfish effort of hundreds of volunteers in setting up the machinery to operate the drive is an example of the American way of doing things. The generous reception the work of these volunteers will have when the drive starts is another example of the American way of helping less fortunate neighbors. The efficient distribution of the great sums of money collected so that their benefits will accrue to the greatest possible number of the needy the sick, and the socially maladjusted is still another example of the American way. Finally the work of the many agencies, both local and in Greater Boston, which draws no line between race, creed or color—is the American way of doing things.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

On Thursday afternoon,, Dec. 21, the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League met at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, 6 Ledgewood road, with the president, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, presiding.

After the report of the secetary, Miss Gretchen Stone, and the various interesting committee reports, Miss Helen Fowler, superintendent of the Maternity Home and Hospital, gave an informative and instructive talk on the work which is being carried on there, showing how these girls are being helped to help themselves with such satisfactoy results.

Mrs. Albert B. Carter spoke in an appealing way for the Community Federation.

A pleasing musical program was presented by Marguerite Brady, soprano soloist, accompanied by Idabelle H. Winship. The following selections were presented: "When I Have Sung My Songs," by Ernest Charles; "A Song of Joy," by Donty; "Fa La Nana Bambino," by Sadero; "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn; "Silent Night," by Gruber; "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," by Reading.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee, with Mrs. Bowen Tufts and Mrs. Frank S. Garrett pouring coffee and Mrs. F. C. Alexander and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham pouring tea.

MISS SYMMES ENGAGED

The engagement of Miss Peggy Symmes, daughter of Adelaide Pratt and the late Robert Marshall Symmes of Swampscott, to Eugene Mudge Rollins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moody Rollins of 27 Graystone Park, Lynn, was announced on Christmas Day. No date has been set for the wedding.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Fire Department was called at 3:50 Wednesday afternoon to put out a woods fire off Hutchinson road. At 5:50 p. m. an oil burner fire called the apparatus to the home of Miss Edith L. Bishop, 43 Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tucker of Hillcrest Parkway had a largely attended pre-Christmas dinner open house on the holiday.

The Star is informed that Mr. Charles A. Murphy of the Texaco Filling Station, among other gifts, received during the Yuletime season a most unusual alarm clock from an anonymous donor. "Charlie" is very eager to learn the identity of the giver and would welcome any lead that might result in his discovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Freeburn of Cabot street entertained over the holiday for their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Brownell Freeburn, who came on to Winchester for Christmas from their home in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, Jr., of Stevens street were among those who held open house Christmas evening.

The Winchester Court of the Catholic Daughters of America held its annual Christmas party last evening in Lyceum Hall.

Miss Jean Plass of Pine street gave a tea largely attended yesterday afternoon for her Winchester friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Pollard of Winthrop street held open house Christmas Eve for a large group of friends.

VETERAN RAILROAD MAN RETIRED

LeRoy E. Twombley, veteran railroad man and well known day gatetender at the Boston & Maine crossing in Winchester Center, retired from active duty Thursday, Dec. 28, after concluding 44 years in the employ of the Boston & Albany and the Boston & Maine Railroads.

"Roy," as he is familiarly known about the center and in railroad circles, entered the service of the Boston & Albany in 1895 as a freight brakeman. He entered the service of the B. & M. Jan. 4, 1905, in the same capacity, and for years braked freights on the White River Junction, Plymouth, N. H. and Springfield runs. Later he was assigned to local trains and from this duty he was assigned to duty as a crossing tender in Winchester Nov. 21, 1930, serving at that time with John Conlon, another popular tender, the pair making one of the best possible combinations at the dangerous local crossing.

"Roy" is a native of Pittsfield, N. H. He came to Winchester from Wilmington, is married and makes his home at 9 Nelson street. He is a member of the New England Association of Railroad Veterans and of George Washington Lodge of Odd Fellows in Boston

While his regular presence at the center crossing will be missed, Roy's many friends, including the Star, wish him every happiness in his well earned vacation.

FIREMEN BUSY

The Christmas holiday week-end was no rest period for members of the local Fire Department who climaxed a busy four day period with 13 runs on Tuesday.

Friday evenings first alarm was for a fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of an automobile owned by Robert McTague of 12 Lebanon street and parked on Thompson street. At 7:53 the same evening Engine 3 answered an alarm from Woburn Box 56, also for an automobile fire. At 9:15 there was a grass fire at Winter Pond.

Saturday's only alarm was at 2:20 p. m. for a grass fire near the home of Mr. Joseph Kelley, 18 Perkins road.

Monday at 11 a. m. the Police notified the Central Station of a grass fire on Sylvester avenue north, and at 1:10 p. m. there was another grass fire near the residence of Mr. Thomas Flynn, 186 Pond street. At 3:45 p. m., the department was called to the residence of Mr. Francis E. Park, 80 Walnut street, where an open fire had set fire to the woodwork around the fireplace.

The first of Tuesday's runs was at 11:45 for a grass fire at Winter Pond. At 12:43 p. m. there was a grass fire at the rear of the International Cooperage plant at 155 Swanton street. Box 321 came in at 12:56 for a grass fire, but when the apparatus arrived at Forest street and Forest circle no fire could be found. While out on this call, however, the men discovered and put out another grass fire on Cross street near the gasometer.

At 12:59 p. m. Box 7-7-48 was sounded for a grass fire at the rear of the residence of Mr. Edward McKenzie, 65 Hemingway street, and at 1 o'clock there was another grass fire near the residence of Mr. William L. Gray, 31 Albamont road. At 1:32 p. m. there was a grass fire in Wildwood Cemetery and at 1:44 a fire in an incenerator set fire to a hedge at the home of Miss Mable Vinton at 3 Fairview terrace. At 1:52 there was a grass fire at the rear of 114 Pond street, at 3:36, another at the rear of 84 Pond street, and at 5:17, a third at the rear of the home of Mr. Paul W. Walton, 12 Dartmouth street. Box 59 was put on for this latter fire at 5:27.

The last call of a busy day came at 6:07 for trouble with an oil heater at the Hobby & Craft Shop, 43 Thompson street.

COMMUNITY RELIEF CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

The Winchester Community Relief Committee and the various town agencies cared for 178 less fortunate Winchester families this Christmas, distributing orders for merchandise at local stores or giving dinners, the latter being largely donated by private individuals, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Elks, Churches and Church Societies and Boy and Girl Scouts. Fruit, meat and groceries, donated by private citizens enabled the committee to send out Christmas baskets to many of those in need of this sort of assistance.

The committee, of which George T. Davidson, chairman of the Park Board, is chairman, Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn, treasurer; and Miss Nellie M. Sullivan of the Board of Public Welfare, secretary; wishes through the Star to extend its sincere thanks to all those who assisted with donations or service to make their relief work so successfully. It was the community spirit displayed by individual citizens and local organizations was greatly appreciated and most encouraging to the committee.

MRS. RAYMOND MERRILL TO POUR

The Presidents' Club of Massachusetts will meet at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Tuesday, Jan. 2, with Mrs. Frederick D. Lawley, president, presiding. It will be "Charter Members' and Past Presidents' Day, and Mrs. Olaf Hoff, Jr., third vice president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the special guest. Mr. Alton Hall Blackington will present, "Romance Is Where You Find It," with his wonderful pictures. Mr. Blackington has had thrilling experiences as a newspaper photographer and presents his subject with a forceful and sparkling personality.

There will be music by the Philergian Bell Ringers, and a social tea will follow with Mrs. A. Wilson Atwood, Mrs. William Sieverts, Mrs. Raymond Merrill and Mrs. Leon M. Conwell as pourers.

EVENING MEETING

An evening meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 10 at the home of Mrs. Francesca Ginn, 55 Bacon street.

The speaker will be Prof. George F. Doriot, teacher of Industrial Management at the Harvard Business School, whose subject will be "Business in War Time." Professor Doriot is well qualified to speak on this subject as he is a director in several manufacturing companies, among them, the Standard Power & Light, the McKeesport Tin Plate, the Budd Wheel Co. in Detroit, the Canadian Eastern and Pacific Co. and president of the Boston Corporation. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and coffee will be served.

ENGAGED TO WINCHESTER MAN

Mr. and Mrs. William Outridge of Frank street, Woburn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Outridge, to James C. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan of Nelson street.

MRS. HELEN B. DRIVER

Mrs. Helen B. Driver of 27 Eaton street, wife of Rev. George H. Driver who was formerly pastor of the Village Congregational Church at Dorchester Lower Mills, died Sunday, Dec. 24, at the Baker Memorial Hospital in Boston following an operation. She was 60 years old.

Mrs. Driver was born in Lawrence, was educated in the Lawrence schools and at Mrs. Stearn's School in Amherst. She was the daughter of Judge Charles Upham, and Helen Mariah (Pitman) Bell, her father having been for many years judge of the Massachusetts Superior Court. A descendent of the Bell family of New Hampshire, her ancestors included Anne Hutchinson and the Colonial poet, Anne Bradstreet.

As a young woman she lived for 15 years in Andover where she was prominently identified with the South Congregational Church, being active in the work of the Christian Endeavor group and teaching a boys' class in the Sunday School.

While in Andover she was married on April 23, 1914, going at that time to Exeter, N. H., where Mr. Driver had a pastorate. Leaving Exeter in 1916 she and her husband were located in pastorates in several states before coming to Dorchester Lower Mills where Mr. Driver was pastor of the Village Congregational Church.

For a short time after leaving that place Mrs. Driver and her husband were located in Provincetown on Cape Cod, coming to Winchester in the fall of 1936.

During her residence here Mrs. Driver took an active interest in the affairs of the Second Congregational Church and was a past president of its Bethany Society. Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Miss Helen Lucretia, now located in Tucson, Ariz., Miss Faith Driver of Winchester; and two sisters, Miss Alice L., and Miss Mary W. Bell, living in Andover.

Funeral services were held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon with Rev. Raymond Calkins, pastor of the First Congregational Church in Cambridge, officiating. Interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Winchester Women's Republican Club will hold the first meeting of the new year on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 3 at 2:30 p. m. in Fortnightly Hall.

The Club has been fortunate in securing as guest speaker for this program the Honorable Dewey G. Archambault, Mayor of Lowell, a brilliant speaker and outstanding leader in the work, which he will discuss. Mayor Archambault feels so strongly that the ideals and opportunities, which we have always taken for granted and which the new citizen came here to seek are being destroyed insidiously by bureaucrats and blatantly by agitators that he has chosen for his subject, "Giving the New Citizen a Square Deal." He will explain how we can best help to hold the fort for the new citizen and for American Democracy.

Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch, chairman of the Education Committee, will speak briefly on Current Events in the political news.

The social committee, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, chairman, will serve tea.

WINCHESTER PIANIST IN JORDAN HALL RECITAL

Miss Catherine Carver of this town, will appear Thursday evening, Jan. 4, under the concert direction of Aaron Richmond at Jordan Hall, Boston.

Miss Carver, a talented pianist is at present a member of the faculty of the School of Music of Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina. Through her distinctive ability she received a scholarship at the Institute of Musical Art and a fellowship at the Juillard Graduate School where she studied under Carl Friedberg. In 1933 she won the Walter M. Naumberg Foundation and then made a Town Hall, New York, debut.

Miss Carver's program for Thursday evening will include Bach's "Toccata in D Major;" Beethoven's "Sonata, Opus 110;" Ravel's "Gaspard de la Nuit" and several selections from Brahms.

PARTY FOR MISS SALLY BADGER

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Badger of Prospect street gave a dinner dance Tuesday evening at the Winchester Country Club for their daughter, Miss Sally Badger, who is at home from Rosemary Hall for the Christmas holidays.

Guests included 90 young people who enjoyed dinner at tables attractively decorated with red carnations and white snapdragons, dancing afterwards to the music of Ken Reeves' Orchestra.

While the young people were having dinner other dinner parties were being given by Mr. and Mrs. Badger, Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher Dwinell, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Petts and Mrs. Donald M. Belcher.

ENGAGEMENT OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Morlie A. Burnes of Arlington road, Woburn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy May Burnes, to Roger Langer Derby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Derby of Church street.

Miss Burnes is a graduate of Woburn High School, Sargent School and Boston University. Mr. Derby is a graduate of Winchester High School and of Bates College.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Six members were absent from the meeting of Dec. 28.

Charlie White, Rotarian from Lowell, was a wecome visitor today and was forthwith pressed into service as pianist. Thanks a lot, Charlie.

The January "Rotaian" appears in a new dress with cover design and inside type reflecting the latest mode of the printer's art. The debate of the month will secure the attention of movie fans as it discusses the much publicized question of block booking. The fourth week of January has been designated as "The Rotarian" week and many clubs will devote at least part of that week's meeting to exercises promoting familiarity with this excellent magazine.

The current meeting, being the final stated gathering of the club in 1939, was deemed an appropriate time to consider services and activities which could be undertaken in the near future as well as a review of previous enterprises sponsored by the club which might guide us in other efforts. Past President George Davidson submitted a report on Christmas observances at the Winchester Community Center, a celebration which received generous support from the club. George reports that some 275 children were entertained at the Center and that all were highly delighted with their holiday festivites. Which seems to demonstrate conclusively that more individuals can be reached and benefitted through the faeilities offered by the Center than through any other available agency. And of course the Center is open continuously to serve the recreational interests and moral uplift of the youth of this town.

Also we listened to a report from Edmund Sanderson, member of the committee on improvements in Winchester Center involving the co-operation of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Edmund believes that most welcome changes in the appearance of the business center will be in evidenece next spring although exact details have not as yet been worked out.

After a ringing address by Nat Nichols the matter of club activities for 1940 was put in charge of a committee of the Board of Directors headed by George Carter. Our members found this meeting highly stimulative in the matter of creating interest in Rotary work. It is agreed that more meetings of this character should be forthcoming. To which we say "Amen."

Our meeting next week will be devoted to the promotion of the coming campaign in the interests of the Community Chest. Motion pictures in illustration of the work will be shown. There will be no solicitation of funds at this time. Come and learn how your donations are being handled by this worthy and indeed indispensable service.

HIT-RUN DRIVER LOCATED

Shortly before 1 o'clock last Saturday morning, while patrolling nearby, the attention of Officer James E. Farrell was attracted by the sound of a collision in the vicinity of St. Mary's Church.

Upon arrival there he found that an automobile had collided with a cement Edison Light Company pole, breaking the large ornamental type lamp it carried. In the street Officer Farrell found the hubcap of a Chevrolet machine and a long metal strip from the running-board. A machine was seen in the distance headed toward Stoneham and the authorities of that town were asked to be on the lookout for a maroon Chevrolet with a hubcap and running-board strip missing. The color of the car was determined by the paint scraped off on the light pole.

At 1:25 Lieut. Edward O'Connell at local Headquarters was notified by the Stoneham Police that a man had been brought into their station who had been involved in an accident in Stoneham and whose car answered the description of the one wanted by Officer Farrell. Sergt. Charles Harrold in Patrol 51 went to Stoneham to investigate further.

At Stoneham Headquarters Sergeant Harrold found a man who gave his name as Elwin W. Nash of 13 Davenport street, Haverhill. The Stoneham authorities reported that he had been arrested on charges of drunkenness, operating while under the influence of liquor and operating so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. His Chevrolet town sedan had been involved in an accident in that town.

At the garage, to which the car had been towed, it was found to be without the hubcap and running board strip found by Officer Farrell at the scene of the local accident.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

First War Relief Quota Completed

The Winchester Red Cross with the help and assistance of the En Ka Society, Winchester Churches and the women of the town who have been sewing every week for the past few months have completed the first quota for war relief.

The completed quota consists of: 50 woolen dresses; 60 sweaters; 30 pairs of woolen socks; 25 hospital garments; 15 operating gowns.

These garments are to be shipped to Finland and to Polish refugees.

Sewing and knitting for the second quota will start on Jan. 8. The meetings are held every Monday at the Red Cross room, third floor, Winchester Town Hall. The Winchester Red Cross would be very grateful to all who are able to give any time in assisting with this quota.

EDISON OFFICIAL RETIRES

George C. McNeill, executive officer of the Woburn Division of the Boston Edison Company, including Arlington, Chelsea, East Boston, Somerville, Winchester and Woburn, is retiring from active duty Jan. 1, after 25 years in the Edison service.

Mr. McNeill is well and widely known in Winchester through his frequent visits to this town, commenced with the Edison as a laborer, became a foreman in 1908 and continued his upward progress to the responsible position he held at his retirement.

At the time of the hurricane in September of 1938, Mr. McNeill's crew of men gained nation-wide publicity for their meritorious efforts in restoring service to stricken communities, their self sacrifice winning the Claudell Mathews Award from picked groups all over the country.

Mr. McNeill is past Exalted Ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks and until his recent retirement, secretary of the Woburn Rotary from its inception. He was given a banquet and chime clock by his foremen at the University Club last week Thursday and on Jan. 4 will be feted by the entire Edison force at a testimonial banquet in Lyceum Hall in this town.

MISS MURIEL SPEARE WED TO MR. WILLIAMS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Speare of Bound Brook, N. J., announce the marriage of their daughter, Muriel Fairfax, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 20 at their residence, 520 Watchung road, to Stillman P. Williams, in the presence of the immediate families. The marriage ceremony was performed by the bride's brother-in-law, the Rev. Walter J. Benedict of Crestwood, N. Y.

Stillman P. Williams is the son of Mrs. Stillman P. Williams, Sr., of 234 Highland avenue, Winchester and the late Mr. Williams.

The bride has been associated with the Tennessee Valley Authority since shortly after her graduation from Mt. Holyoke College in 1935. Mr. Williams was graduated from Harvard in 1935 and has done post-graduate work at the University of Chicago. He is at present with the Finance Department of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their home at 4108 Anderson avenue, Chattanooga, Tenn.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS RELIEF FUND FOR FINLAND

The Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, will be very glad to accept any amount for the fund for relief for Finland. There is urgent need for assistance for this small country, and any amount will be gratefully received. All contributions may be sent to Mr. William E. Priest, treasurer, care of Winchester Savings Bank.

WAS FORMER RESIDENT

Theron A. Apollonio aged 73, a former resident of Wildwood street, and older brother of the late Carleton W. Apollonio, died at his home in Cotuit, Dec. 22. He was president of the Suffolk Savings Bank on Tremont street in Boston and former treasurer of the New England Grenfell Association.

He had been employed by the Suffolk Savings Bank for 32 years and was a member of several state banking committees. He was vice president of the Home for Aged Men in Boston and a trustee of the Y. D. Club of Boston. He was clerk of corporation of the Plymouth Cordage Company of Plymouth from 1897 to the time of his death. His clubs included the Union and City Clubs of Boston, and the Lotos Club of New York.

Born in Boston, he attended the Boston schools and graduated from Roxbury Latin School. He leaves his widow, three sons and a daughter.

CANDY RECOVERED

Some successful sleuthing on the part of Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy last Saturday afternoon resulted in the return of most of five pounds of chocolates and a large jar of hard candy to their owner, John C. Casler of 164 Forest street. Mr. Casler had left the candy in his automobile which was parked near the power plant of the Beggs & Cobb plant where he is engineer. When he entered the car to leave for home he found the candy missing and notified the police.

After a bit of nosing around Sergeant Cassidy went to a house in the north end and found the candy hidden in an outbuilding. The names of two boys believed to have taken it were secured. The candy was returned to its owner, but the Police admit that some of the chocolates were missing.

MICHAEL CRAMPTON

Michael Crampton, veteran retired railroad man and former widely known resident of Winchester, died Saturday morning, Dec. 23, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Patrick L. Sullivan, 47 Whitney road, Medford, after a month's illness.

Mr. Crampton was born 75 years ago in Ireland. As a youth he come to this country and settled in Winchester, living most of his life in Winchester on Clark street and having a host of friends here.

As a young man he entered the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad and for 34 years was a night gate tender at the crossing in Winchester Center, his friendliness and cheery manner endearing him to all with whom he come in contact. For the past 15 years he had made his home in Medford and he retired from active duty because of poor health only a short while ago.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Sullivan, he leaves a son, Henry Crampton of Woburn; two sisters, Mrs. Barbara Lyons of Everett and Miss Margaret Crampton of this town; seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Joseph's Church, Medford. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the Union Signal of Oct. 28, there is a short quotation from the Christian Science Monitor.

To Nathaniel Price, who, when asked by Prof. Harry Hagen on his "True or False" radio quiz on a recent evening "What is a teetotaler?' responded, 'I'm one.' Mr. Price, University of Arkansas student, was the sole survivor of his team. Pitted against him were three of the Juilliard Foundation women music students. He won the quiz. It is good to find young men who are not afraid to tell a listening world that they abstain from intoxicating drinks as from other vices. Mr. Prices outspoken avowal may do more to restrain young people from indulging in intoxicating drinks than man" denunciations would. And it should support them in that correct attitude in which they not only refrain from the use of liquor, but are never reluctant to make it clear that they do so."

COLLISION AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

David F. McDermott of 52 Garfield avenue, Woburn, reported to the police last Sunday evening that as he was driving a Ford sedan north on Main street shortly after 8:30 his machine was struck in the rear by another car when he stopped suddenly in front of the Mystic School to permit a pedestrian to cross the road.

The other car involved in the accident was a Pontiac sedan, also being driven north on Main street by Paul Dumont of 454 Haverhill street, Lawrence.

Both cars were damaged and several passengers in McDermott's car complained of injuries and being shaken up. They were treated by a Woburn physician.

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

The Kindergarten and Grades 1, 2 and 3 held their Christmas assembly on Thursday morning, Dec. 21. The program consisted of a play, "The Little Fir Tree" and the singing of Christmas Carols.

Grades 4, 5 and 6 held their Christmas assembly on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 21. The program was planned as an outgrowth of the appreciation classes which have been held Friday afternoons. Christmas Around the World was the theme. The Art Appreciation group gave talks with stereoptican slides on several of the Madonna paintings of the Italian masters. A dramatization from part of Dicken's "Christmas Carol" was given by the Literature Group. The Folk Dancing class gave a Swedish Christmas scene in which folk dances were presented. The Music Group led the children in singing carols.

J. H. WINN'S SONS' CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas Party given each year by the J. H. Winn's Sons' Co. in the recreation room at the plant last Friday afternoon, was this year greater than ever. A most enjoyable afternoon was experienced by all, and it will remain in the memory of both officers of the Company and the employees long after the Yuletide season has moved on into history.

The splendid co-operation of employer and employee was the keynote all through the entertainment, under the able leadership of the master of ceremonies, Mr. Ernest B. Dade.

Worthy of especial note was the harmony of exceptional employee talent, whose perfect execution of the many numbers of the program drew long and spontaneous applause. Beside the many beautiful musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, there were comedy skits which really brought down the house.

Moving pictures of the emloyees were shown between numbers, and Santa Claus was present in all his splendor. Every employee was presented with a substantial check by Santa for the Company in appreciation of the splendid co-operation through the business year. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Special commendation should go to Mr. Harry T. Winn, together with Mr. Ernest B. Dade and Mr. Lester R. Snow of the Company, and to the sparkling array of talented employees headed by Mr. Bernard Aldenberg and Miss Olive E. Robinson whose untiring efforts were responsible for the party's tremendous success.

The one sincere regret of both company and employees was the forced absence of their beloved Mr. Arthur L. Winn through illness. Mr. Winn is rapidly regaining his strength at his home and it is the earnest hope of the entire plant personnel that he will be back at his office again in the near future.

Following is the entertainment program:

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS START BASKETBALL

Before the close of school last week Coach Deborah Fenton started work with her Winchester High School basketball candidates in preparation for the more intensive campaign which will commence with the opening of school after the Christmas holidays.

A squad of 35 girls reported for the preliminary workouts, letter players in the group including Priscilla Tapley, Mildred Rogers, Joyce Maxson and Rita Collins, all turning from the field hockey gridiron to the basketball court. Another experienced player, Helen Carroll, has decided not to play this winter.

Under the existing system at high school the girls will play several inter-school, inter-class games, the first to be played on Jan. 5. A tentative varsity schedule to follow the class games is now being drawn up, and a captain will be elected later in the season.

BARTA CAMPERS HELD REUNION

On Saturday, Dec. 23, another gay reunion of the Barta Camp was celebrated at the Winchester Country Club.

Campers and councillors, fathers and mothers arrived to visit with one another, to see the movies of the past season, to dance to a lively orchestra and to make plans for the coming summer at Casco, Me.

Christmas decorations were everywhere and on ono wall of the reception room was a beautiful new flag presented to the camp by a loyal group of councillors.

Miss Elinor C. Barta, the director, was here there and everywhere urging on the fun.

The pleasant afternoon ended with refreshments and regretful farewells.

ST. MARY'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

About 800 youthful merry-makers attended the Children's Christmas party given by St. Mary's Parish at the Winchester Theatre last Friday morning.

Animated cartoons Punch and Judy, a juggler and a magician comprised the entertainment program which was greatly enjoyed. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick and Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney were in charge of the party.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY A SUCCESS

The annual Christmas tree party for the children under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion to Post 97, was conducted at the Legion House last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The president, Mrs. Mary Gilbody, was honorary chairman and Mrs. Frances Conlon was general chairman.

Games 10c to $1 at Wilson the Stationers. Also Table Tennis, $2.50.

SANTIAGO ISLAND, NEW MONKEY LAND

No sirens blared warning when an escaping inmate from Santiago, a tropical islet off Puerto Rico, jumped into the sea and swam half a mile to freedom. But a guard saw the bold dash, and the inmate, resting after the strenuous swim, was trapped and returned to the island.

The inmate was a rhesus monkey; the island, the new home of several the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Rhesus is Sacred in India

The monkeys took over Santiago Island last November when a boat from India, some 14,000 miles away, deposited the incorrigible rheusu, along with his cousins and 25 gibbons, so that scientists could make use of them in studying the causes and cures of certain diseases, including infantile paralysis, tuberculosis, and leprosy.

Like human immigrants having to pass health tests at Ellis Island, the monkeys were carefully examined before their release on tropical Santiago. Some leaped to freedom like immigrants thrilled by sight of New York's skyline; others sulked like homesick travelers and had to be lured from their cages.

Although rhesus monkeys are sacred animals among certain religious sects in India, who disapprove of exporting them, they are the most commonly seen monkey outside of India.

Another year

Has another year rolled around since you saw your folks, since you promised to keep in touch with a valued friend? Of course you've been busy. They'll understand. But they'll appreciate it more if you telephone.

Words come easily, naturally, when you meet voice to voice. Hearing the dear, familiar voices will make your year-end so much happier. It costs so little to call out of town — especially so evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Continued low poultry prices and slightly lowered meat prices are good news for housewives who plan to entertain for the holiday week-end. Italian chestnuts, pecans, cranberries and kumquats are available for dressing up company meals.

The large supply of oranges, grapefruit and apples is still tending to keep prices low. These fruits make good meat relishes and sauces as well as desserts and breakfast foods.

Vegetables in general continue reasonable and in good supply. The high production of eggs at this season offers good value in all grades. Mild weather has increased the fish supply from southern waters.

POLAND, NOW "SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE," AT ANGERS

The refugee Polish Government, recently set up at Angers in northwest France, is a thousand miles—as the bomber flies—from its former seat at Warsaw, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Situated near the junction of the Loire and Maine Rivers, this city is nearly 400 miles west of the Franco-German frontier.

With a recorded history which antedates that of Warsaw by some six centuries, Angers is one of France's traditional show places, the bulletin continues. Its 13th-century castle, built on a foundation of solid rock, is a massive example of architecture from the days when a feudal lord's home was his fortress.

Venerable Castle Towers Still Stand

The 17 original towers of the Angers stronghold still stand guard along their great connecting wall. On all but the side facing the river, they surround a group of later buildings, including a 15th-century chapel now used as an arsenal. The castle's old rock-hewn moat, partly filled in to make a modern boulevard, was 100 feet wide and 36 feet deep.

Although many of Angers' historic houses have given way to new business structures and widened streets, a few quaint wooden buildings of the Middle Ages persist. Such is the "House of Adam," with overhanging galleries and elaborately carved woodwork. Especially interesting to student and historian is the 12th-century Gothic cathedral, St. Maurice, with its slender spires and pointed arches. Among the city's other lures to visitor's are exhibits in the Museum of Industrial Art and the Museum of Religious Art—the latter formerly the Bishop's palace. It contains a collection of old tapestries, including some of the famous Apocalypse designs.

As early as the third century Anges was the seat of a Bishopric. To the Romans this town was known as Juliomagus. Later it became the capital of the province of Anjou, ruled by such powerful historic figures as Robert the Strong and Fulk the Black.

Once Ruled by English

At one time Angers, along with the rest of Anjou, came under the English crown, as a result of the marriage of Matilda of England to one of the descendents of the house of Anjou. Like other leading medieval cities, Angers knew periodic disaster through war and siege, fires and plagues. Invaded by the Norsemen in the 9th century, it suffered severely from English attacks in the 15 century, the religious wars of the 16th century, and at the hands of the French Royalists after the Revolution.

Today the capital of the French Department of Maine-et-Loire, Angers is a thriving town of some 85,000 inhabitants. On aid to its prosperity is the location near by of extensive slate quarries. Other important industries include the manufacture of such varied products as shoes and umbrellas, machines and thread, woolen goods, rope, and sail cloth. Fruit liqueur, especially that made from black-heart cherries grown in the vicinity, is a popular Angers commodity in world markets.

While the celebrated 14th century university of Angers was discontinued after the French Revolution, this provincial capital has a number of important educational institutions, a preparatory school of medicine with free instruction in theology, law, science, and literature; a school of agriculture, and a school of fine arts. In its former military college, some of England's famous sons received instruction, including the Duke of Wellington.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY TEAM HAD PERFECT RECORD

Unbeaten, Untied, Unscored Upon in Eight Games

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team boasts a record unique among elevens hereabouts, having completed this fall its second consecutive season without being beaten or tied and without having a single goal scored by the opposition. Last year when Capt. Myrtle Goodhue's team completed its perfect record the feat was hailed as unusual, and now Capt. Carolyn Blanchard's eleven has equalled this record and surpassed the goal total scored by last year's club. Not since Nov. 5, 1937, when Arlington won 3—2, has Winchester lost a game.

The local girls and their coach, Miss Deborah Fenton, have done well to hang up another perfect record for not too many letter players were available to start the current campaign, and it is always difficult for a new coach to appraise material she has never seen under fire. From the very first, however, the spirit of the squad was excellent, and the shifting of the letter players for greater all around strength resulted in a well rounded team that outclassed most of the season's opponents.

On hand to start the 1939 season were Capt. Carolyn Blanchard, goaler; Helen Carroll, right inner; Margaret Greene, right half; Mildred Rogers, center half; and Rita Collins, right fullback. Plenty of experienced defense, but not so much in the way of offensive strength.

In an effort to bolster the scoring department of play Coach Fenton shifted Helen Carroll to right wing, moved up Mildred Rogers to center forward and made a radical shift in sending Capt. Blanchard from goal to left inner. Margaret Greene remained for veteran balance on the halfback line and Rita Collins was ready to take over her old fullback job. Coming up from the second team to fill the remaining gaps were Dolly Greene, fullback; Barbara Hughes, right inner; Janet Hayward, left halfback; and Sally Sharon, goaler. The other halfback post was taken over by Joyce Maxson, who proved one of the outstanding players on defense.

This year's team gave evidence of considerable strength by winning its first two games from Stoneham and Lexington by the same score, 4—0. A 3—0 whitewashing of the Arlington eleven established the team as of championship caliber. Six to nothing and 8—0 defeats respectively were handed Brookline and Medford, followed by a 2—0 win over Belmont. Then came the season's big game with Melrose, at that time like Winchester, unbeaten and untied.

This contest proved a thriller with the result in doubt, even after Mildred Rogers banged home the goal that ultimately decided the issue. Melrose brought a well drilled team to Winchester, but lacked the scoring punch of the local girls who defended their single goal advantage to the bitter end with Joyce Maxson and Dolly Greene scintillating on defense.

An unexpectedly hard battle with Watertown closed the season, but once again Winchester was able to eke out a 1—0 win to finish with a perfect record.

Special mention should be made of the fact that Sally Sharon, watch-charm goaler of the team, completed two years in the local nets without having a goal scored upon her, surpassing the great record of her captain, Carolyn Blanchard. A year ago Sally went through a season in the second team goal without yielding a score and this season as varsity net-minder her record was again 100 per cent. Incidentally, Sally comes naturally by her athletic ability, her father, Asst. Town Engineer "Jack" Sharon, having been a great line-smashing fullback in the days of the tandem plays back in 1907 and '08.

Out in front of Sally, Dolly Greene and Rita Collins played fine defensive hockey, and it was seldom that Winchester's great little goaler had many hard saves to make in the course of a game. The halfbacks, Joyce Maxson, center; Peggy Greene, right; and Janet Hayward, left; played strongly, both offensively and defensively, hitting the ball hard and accurately.

Starring on the forward line was Mildred Rogers, high scorer for the season, who was aided in the offensive scheme of things by Priscilla Tapley and Helen Carroll, wings; and Capt. Carolyn Blanchard and Barbara Hughes, inners. All of these girls hit the ball hard, and though lacking the speed of some previous foward lines, were able to score many a goal from close locked scrimmage by their ability to drive the leather hard and accurately.

The local seconds also made a fine record, winning all but three games, two of which were scoreless ties and the only a single goal reverse. Most of the second team letter players, including Cynthia Foote, Janet Doub, Alice Davis, Charlotte Moran, Claire McGrath and Alice Coyne, forwards; Elinor Reeves, Anna Errico and Joan Moffette, halfbacks, Mary Marchesi and Maxine Lybeck, fullbacks; and Barbara Waugh, goal; will be available for varsity competition another year.

Of the varsity lineup, Capt. Blanchard, Barbara Hughes, Mildred Rogers, Priscilla Tapley, Peggy Greene, Rita Collins and Sally Sharon have played their last game in a Crimson tunic, leaving Captain-elect Helen Carroll, Joyce Maxson, Janet Hayward and Dolly Greene for duty in 1941. Marjorie Clarke was manager this year and Rachael Armstrong will manage next year's club.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

On Wednesday afternoon, 24 Scouts from Troops 2, 7, 11 and 14 with Captain Symmes visited the H. P. Hood's plant in Charlestown. We had a short lecture on Milk, its value, uses, products, where it comes from and how it is handled. It was very interesting to hear how milk is supplied in the various countries. For example: in Tibet they use the milk of the Yak, in Arabia, the Camel, in India, the Water Buffalo, in Peru, the Llama, in Lapland, the Reindeer, in Persia, the Sheep, in Italy, the Goat and in good old United States, the Cow.

Then we took a tour of the plant, visiting the testing laboratory, seeing the bottling and the pasteurizing of the milk. We also saw them making cottage cheese and butter. Afterwards we returned to the lecture room and milk and ic cream were served. It was a very interesting trip and all the Scouts thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it.

PARTY AT SWANTON STREET SERVICE STATION

Three hundred happy children ranging in ages from 1 to 10 years were given a fine Christmas party last Saturday afternoon by the proprietor of the Swanton street service station at his filling station garage.

A handsomely lighted Christmas tree was set up in the garage. Santa Claus was present to welcome the youngsters and each child was given a gift and candy. The children were delighted with the party and their parents deeply appreciative of the generosity of the proprietor of the Service Station for making it possible.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 5 Election

Troop 5 of Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America, held a troop council meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Scoutmaster Salvatore A. Ferro on Harvard street. Besides Scoutmaster Ferro, Senior Patrol Leader Frank Buzzotta, Troop Scribe Charles Ferro, Patrol Leaders Joseph Marchesi, Frank Lambiaze, Tony Paonessa, and James Taboto, Quartermaster Angelo P. Amico and Assistant Patrol Leader Joseph Ferraina were present with the following members of the troop: Joseph Ferraina, Joseph Marchesi, Charles Ferro, Frank Lambiaze, James Taboto, Tony Paonessa, Frank Buzzotta and Angelo F. Amico.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President Frank Buzzotta
Vice President Joseph Marchesi
Secretary Joseph Ferraina
Treasurer Angelo P. Amico

The troop voted to have both a woodworking and marksmanship booth at the big Scout Exhibition, appointing the following committees: woodworking, Joseph Ferraina, Charles Ferro, Tony Paonessa; marksmanship, Frank Lamiaze, Tony Paonessa, Joseph Marchesi and Charles Ferro. Plans for the adoption of a troop budget were also discussed and it is believed that action to this end will be taken shortly.

A new clubhouse is to be available for the use of the troop and the Scouts are doing their part toward maintaining it in clean and orderly condition.

A troop by-law committee has been formed and will meet Sunday at 1 o'clock at the home of Scoutmaster Ferro with President Frank Buzzotta as captain and Joseph Ferraina, Tony Paonessa and Frank Lambiaze, the remaining members. Troop council meetings will be held at the Scoutmaster's home every two weeks. At the last meeting Mr. Quigley was present as guest.

FOUNDER OF BOY RANGERS VISITING IN WINCHESTER

Mr. Emerson Brooks of Montclair, N. J., founder and national chief of the Boy Rangers of America, has been in Winchester visiting his son, Mr. Emerson Brooks of 7 Yale street this past week.

The Boy Rangers, an organization for boys eight to 12 years of age, beginning with six boys in Montclair in 1913, has spread over the entire country, the registered lodges, numbering 1035, being located in every state but Delaware. Mr. Brooks' lodge is No 1 and its membership has grown to include almost 2000 boys since its inception. More than 700 Boy Scouts have been graduated from this one lodge and of these 83 have attained the coveted rank of Eagle Scout. This number is said to be more than twice that of any one organization, either in Europe or in the United States, and is a source of great satisfaction to the founder.

Though Mr. Brooks' home is in Montclair, he is a member of a family well known hereabouts, his ancestors having helped to found the city of Medford two or three hundred years ago

The Star wishes everyone a Happy New Year!

Having established most cordial relations with our friends the Russians, and effecting very advantageous trade agreements beneficial to both, we now hear that our great New Deal administration is about to turn its other cheek to Japan, with probably further enlarging cordial relations, etc. Evidently it takes not only two cheeks to be slapped, but a good punch in the nose to affect some people.

SOCRATES SAYS-

The New Deal government reminds us of a trained bear. The wonder is not that it dances so poorly. The wonder is that it dances at all!

TIME TO RETIRE

What about the New Deal's, "accent on youth"—with Republicans like Dewey, 37 years old, and Massachusetts Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.?

Sixty years old was too old to be one of the "nine old men," even Mr. Garner, Mr. Hull, etc., would thus be far too old, so they said.

We are still a young nation.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

We will hear a good deal in 1940 concerning National Defense—huge appropriations for the army, navy, coast defense, aviation, etc., etc.—perhaps partly desirable or in part necessity. But do not forget for one instant that 1940 is a national election year or that New Dealism simply means squander-maniaium—that to spend somebody else's money is their principal aim in life.

Remember well also that anyone who may desire to examine a little the best means of defense or the wise spending of all appropriations will be subject to inferences concerning their patriotism. Political hysteria may be rampant.

We should coldly and calmly consider all phases of national defense and never lose track of the fact that our financial condition is nowhere near what it was at the beginning of the World War.

We start our national defense today with a debt ten times as high as it was before the World War. Our yearly interest payments alone are now more than it cost for all Federal expenditures for 1915. Federal tax receipts are now higher than they were at the height of the World War. The New Deal is spending yearly 13 times as much during these peace times than we did in 1914, yet we talk of national defense appropriations!

During the World War we spent 15 billion dollars yearly on that type of a war. Today, with modern, mechanized methods, it is said that 39 billions a year would not do it.

National defense!

The first thing this New Deal better do is to get down to earth, cut out all useless, economic experiments, social changes, Quoddy Dams, Florida Ship Canals, One Thousand Mile Forests, and "tapping the Treasury Dances." If there is really urgent need of national defense, if the public safety is in possible danger of foreign foes knocking at our doors, then the New Deal better call it a day and get our financial house in order. Either we need better national defense or we do not. If we do, stop fooling.

Preparedness means to get ready and there is one enormous outlay of money that must always be paid and that is to the Veterans, the men who do the real job and sacrifice all that they have. This costs billions. If we do not stop wasteful New Deal spending the Veterans of future wars will suffer as well as those now receiving assistance.

POLITICAL CONVENTIONS

It has been suggested by President Roosevelt that both parties postpone their Conventions, in order that the country may have a rest from politics.

Of course, the New Dealers would like the shortest possible period in which to answer for the mess that the country is in. We have had, for seven long and hard years, nothing but politics every day, in every way, press chats, radio, pamphlets, and on the screen. Now, when citizens would really like a definite accounting and check-up, it is suggested that it is not important. Does the New Deal government intend to win the election in the Blitzkreig way?

The Republican Party, which is a Government of People, owes it to the citizens of America to hold its Convention at the earliest possible date. Forget whatever political advantages might occur by waiting until Mr. Roosevelt has decided to "term it" perpetually or to pick his heir, Americans should combat oneness from the start.

1940 is not a plain national election. It is a "plebiscite" to determine our form of government. The so called oppressed minorities should be given all the time required to learn what the New Deal is all about. "Mechanized warfare" and sudden attacks are not for Americans. National defense begins on the Home Front.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

President Roosevelt says that the citizens must decide whether to provide the extra $500,000,000.00—said to be necessary for national defense in 1940—by new taxes or by borrowing.

It is almost inconceivable that New Dealers cannot understand that the only sane way to secure the necessary funds is by economy in useless, social, economic spending in times of national emergency from foreign invasion.

If increased national defense is really necessary, if the very protection of our homes is considered in danger, then the first patriotic impulse would be to tighten our belts, give up the luxuries of such fun as Quoddy Dams, Florida Ship Canals, 1000 Mile Forests, (housing projects for birds), the fostering of art projects, tap dancing, and hundreds of other useless, even mirth-provoking extravagances, and devote our energy to the protection of our shores.

If President Roosevelt and his spend-it-clique do not give up their fun in these times of world danger and give real, serious consideration to the national defense, then they are not seriously concerned as to the necessity of increasing national defense.

Relief and unemployment must be cared for and it can be direct relief. During these times of danger from external foes, if economy is not brought about then there is no real need of increased national defense and we are simply witnessing saber rattling and flag waving for pure political purposes.

If National Defense is really serious then the New Deal must be curtailed—for America simply cannot fight both and be victorious. There is not enough wealth in America.

Patriotism say—Pay for National Defense by Economy.

WINTER TRAFFIC TOLL SPURS DRIVE TO REDUCE SLIPPERY PAVEMENT ACCIDENTS

Above: Accidents like this, in fearful number each winter, have focused attention on methods of prevention.

Top right: The National Safety Council measured stopping distances at various speeds on a frozen lake last winter.

REMEMBER the days when automobiling was almost strictly a summer sport? The days when muddy roads in spring and fall, and snow-jammed roads in winter, kept motor cars in their garages from November through to May? The motorist who operated his car the year-round then was really a bear for punishment.

Paved roads, the tremendous increase in car ownership, social and business growth, have changed all this. Today the one who "puts his car up for the winter" is the rare exception.

Winter use of highways has brought many advantages but along with the benefits has come an alarming increase in traffic fatalities. So serious has the winter accident record become that safety engineers and highway departments throughout the country are uniting as never before in a determined drive to reduce the heavy casualty toll.

The most treacherous road condition the winter driver has to face is icy pavements. Snow-bound roads may stop or slow up travel, but icy roads spell danger with every revolution of the auto's wheels.

Tests and research studies to determine ways and means of reducing the hazards of icy pavements have been conducted during the past winter by the National Safety Council, the Iowa Engineering Experiment Station, the University of Michigan and others. As a result of these tests and similar ones now under way, engineers are developing methods of ice control that will place winter driving on a much safer basis in the future. The effectiveness of tire chains, skidproofing icy pavements with sand or cinders, and means of removing ice where possible are included in the projects.

The Iowa experiments revealed, along with other significant data, that the distance required to stop a motor vehicle on icy pavement can be cut in half by spreading a thin coat of calcium chloride treated sand or cinders over the icy surface. The calcium chloride treatment was found necessary to melt the sand or cinders into the ice, as otherwise the dry materials are easily whisked off the road by traffic and wind.

While skidproofing treatment of icy highways decreases the possibility of accidents, the measure must be looked upon as a means to accident prevention and not a cure. Along this line, a note of caution is sounded by the National Safety Council in stating, "In the final analysis, good, old-fashioned, careful, common sense driving is the best antidote for skidding and accidents on icy roads."

Engineers and highway officials are extending ice control measures as fast and far as possible to reduce the hazards of winter driving but the cause of safety will always depend to a large extent upon the headwork of the individual driver.

1940 PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

President Roosevelt will not run for a third term but no New Dealer can get the democratic nomination without his endorsement. It can be taken as a fact therefore that President Roosevelt will be the real issue in 1940, whether he runs or not.

Republicans would be much surer of being successful if President Roosevelt should try for a third term, not simply because of the precedent, but because his record of eight years would provide much greater ammunition for attack than any candidate whom he might endorse.

Ex-President Hoover will not run in 1940, but here also no Republican can get the nomination without his endorsement. There are few citizens who do not frankly admit that Mr. Hoover is the best qualified man in America for the presidency but they say that he could not be elected.

Mr. Landon and Mr. Garner will not be factors unless President Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover wish it.

The New Dealers have a much greater problem in choosing their candidate than have the Republicans. New Dealers, in choosing the Democratic Nominee, will find a divided party as a division between radical New Dealers and conservative Jeffersonian Democrats began two years ago. While no open split may result, it will prevent any efficient campaign.

President Roosevelt's possibilities of choice are very limited. For only New Dealers of the President's faith can be considered which, of necessity, must mean Cabinet members or well defined, high New Dealers. These men have well known records which render them very vunerable for political attack.

—Socrates

THE DUCKS ARE SAFE!

To the Editor of the Star:

The Mystic white "dux" are safely in winter quarters. If you please, this is a notice to all interested parties!

Through the courtesty of the lake dredger men, whose job shut down last Tuesday, due to thickening ice, Mike, the tamest of the webfeet, was easily enticed on shore. Not so with Ike and Hike, who care too much for the great outdoors to be easily captured.

It wasn't until last evening that these last two far from pleased "dux" were finally coralled by Ralph Carvill, Red Irving, Stan Puffer, and Ira G. Jones, equipped with skates and pushing a kyack ahead of them on the paper thin ice of the big lake.

More trouble developed when the "dux" reached Ken Pratt's henhouse. The Pratt hens did not welcome the arrival of the white monsters and soared high in the air amidst squawks and consternation. Quiet of a sort was finally restored, and . . . the DUX ARE IN! So are we, ALL in!

LIONS CLUB NOTES

The reports of the various committees reporting at the last meeting were particularly interesting and brought home to the members the need of furthering the work of Lionism. It was with much gratification that the members learned of the various projects that have been accomplished in the past year by our organization. Our particular interest was a report of Dr. Philip J. McManus on behalf of the Social and Community Welfare Committee to the effect that 27 pairs of glasses were furnished to children of needy families; that a contribution of $25 was made towards the purchase of an artificial limb for a Winchester resident, and that our doctors had kindly performed 17 minor operations on children residing in Winchester. In addition to presenting canes to sightless persons the club assisted in the purchasing of a seeing-eye dog from the Lions Blind Leader Foundation, an organization that is maintained solely by Lions International, and is comparable to the famous seeing-eye at Morristown, N. J. After listening to the genial "Doc's" report, we were all gratified to learn that our efforts had been productive in bringing relief in a large measure to so many unfortunate people.

Our 1940 Winchester Town Directory will be in the hands of the publisher within a few days, and the energetic committee that has so industriously applied itself to this task can well look back upon a job well done.

The New Year's Costume Frolic to be held New Year's Eve in the American Legion Bungalow in Melrose should be this year's outstanding social success for the club. As has been previously mentioned, this affair will be open to any friends of Lionism who may wish to attend. For the nominal cost of $7 a couple, those who gather with the Lions will be assured of fine music, a wholesome supper prepared under the direction of Fred Scholl, Jr., and an entertainment program that Lion Powers contends will be a sure fire hit. There are a few tickets left that may be purchased by contacting President Leo Garvey or the Lions Secreatry, Fred H. Scholl.

Definite plans have been made for an evening meeting to be held at 7 p. m. at Scholl's Restaurant and invitations have been sent to the Arlington, Lexington, and Stoneham clubs to attend this meeting. An interesting program of speaking and entertainment will be furnish d. In the future the club will hold one evening meeting a month in addition to the three regular noon meetings.

Your reporter has it that "Doc" Emery and his "Roarers" are away out in front in the membership drive that is now being conducted by part of the nation-wide celebration with reference to the birthday of Melvin Jones, the founder of Lionism. Chris Powers and his "Growlers" will certainly have to show some activity very shortly if they intend to take this contest away from the ambitious and active "Roarers" headed by "Doc" Emery. Fred Scholl and President Garvey both members of the "Roarers" already have several potential members in line.

The attendance ratings for the month of December will soon be received from our District Governor, and it would appear that we will, undoubtedly, procure the beautiful Lions plague that International is giving for the club having the best attendance rating in each district for the months of November and December. We are receiving stern opposition from Melrose, but from advance reports it now appears that we are still out in front by a narrow margin.

INTERESTING CHRISTMAS FIGURES FROM THE POSTMASTER

Postmaster Vincent C. Ambrose reports that the Winchester Postoffice canceling machine canceled 245,300 pieces of mail during the Christmas season. Five hundred thousand pieces were received at the office from out of town for local delivery, and 50,000 pieces of parcels post and small packages were handled with 10,000 pieces of advertising matter and magazines.

In addition to the regular office staff 20 men were employed with three extra trucks being used for the delivery of parcels post. The sale of stamps amounted to a little over $10,000 for Christmas week.

Handling 805,300 pieces of mail is no small task for a relatively small office, and every effort was made to get things cleaned up before the close of the holiday. The piecing together of mail in a bag that was accidentally thrown from an express under the wheels of the train consumed some three hours on one of the busiest days at the office, and is given as an example of the unforeseen things with which the staff often has to contend during stress periods.

A HUGE AMOUNT

SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION TO PACIFIC POSTPONED

Months of preparation by prominent scientists for a year long program of research among the islands of the South-Central Pacific Ocean went for naught when the outbreak of the war in Europe forced indefinite postponement of the expedition sponsored by the National Geographic Society and University of Virginia with the U. S. Coast Guard co-operating.

The expedition was to have sailed from San Francisco Sept. 19 on the Coast Guard cutter Hamilton but plans had to be shelved when the Hamilton, was ordered to Atlantic waters as part of the coast patrol established by President Roosevelt to help preserve American neutrality.

Tons of Equipment Prepared

Tons of scientific equipment had been shipped to the Pacific Coast to be loaded on the Hamilton, and scientist members of the expedition had spent months of intensive work preparing apparatus for studying geology, magnetism of the earth, variations in gravity, earthquakes, marine biology, weather, ocean currents, and for collecting samples of the ocean bottom from great depths. The expedition was to have conducted the most extensive program of scientific work ever attempted in the Pacific Islands region.

Most of the expedition's apparatus now is being shipped back to scientific laboratories, universities, and government agencies which supplied it. Some of the supplies will be stored for future use when the expedition can proceed, and perishable materials will be sold.

Nearly 20 tons of iron weights, intended for use in sinking scientific apparatus to the ocean bottom, will be resold to scrap-iron dealers, and 2500 pounds of TNT, for producing "artificial earthquakes" on the sea floor, will go back to explosive manufacturers. Two thousand citrate of magnesia bottles, intended to be cast adrift with printed forms enclosed to collect data on ocean currents, will return to prosaic drug store shelves.

Prof. Wilbur A. Nelson, slated to be leader of the expedition, will return to his duties as professor of geology at the University of Virginia, to await conditions better suited to scientific research on the high seas.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, Dec. 31.

The Golden Text is: "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life" (John 8:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14: 5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, Truth, was demonstrated through Jesus to prove the power of Spirit over the flesh, to show that Truth is made manifest by its effects upon the human mind and body, healing sickness and destroying sin" (p. 316).

First Coins Minted

The first coins minted in the American colonies were the New England shilling, sixpence and threepence, minted in Boston in 1071. National coinage was started in 1793, and the United States mint was established at Philadelphia by resolution of congress dated April 6, 1792. The first coinage consisted of copper cents and half cents issued in 1793 and were followed in 1794 by silver dollars and half dollars and in 1795 by gold eagles and half eagles.

OCCUPATION OF ESTONIAN ISLAND GIVES RUSSIA STRATEGIC PORTS

Two little-known, but historic islands, Saare (or Osel) and Hiiu (Dago) that guard the west coast of little Estonia, suddenly have leaped into news prominence with the Russian-Estonian agreement permitting Soviet forces to occupy the islands.

Saare and Hiiu together are only half again as large as the tiny Duchy of Luxembourg, and practically unknown to the world at large; but these two low, flat islands are of tremendous strategic importance in the politically-stormy Baltic Sea, points out a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Near Three National Capitals

Saare and Hiiu are only a few score miles flying or steaming distance from any number of important Baltic points. They stand just south of the entrance to Gulf o Finland, across which Tallinn, capital of Estonia, and Helsinki, capital of Finland, face each other only 50 miles apart. At the upper end of the Gulf is the port of Leningrad, one of Soviet Russia's chief outlets to the outside world.

Just 150 miles to the west across the Baltic is Sweden's capital, Stockholm. About 100 miles to the northwest are Finland's Aland Islands, which Finland and Sweden recently suggested should be fortified. The Alands guard the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, the northward-stretching arm of the Baltic, between Sweden and Finland.

To the southwest, Sweden's Island of Gotland, commanding the southern Baltic, is only 100 miles distant, and to the southeast, Riga, capital of Latvia, is the same distance away.

Both Saare and Hiiu are flat with deeply indentel shores. Saare is 1000 square miles in area and Hiiu about 360. Both have forests interspersed with rough pasture and farm land. The highest point on Hiiu is 223 feet and on Saare only 88 above sea level.

Saare somehow finds room for several lakes and small rivers within its narrow confines.

Several small craters on Saare with fragments of meteoric iron scattered about, give evidence that sometime in the remote past several meteorites of considerable size fell from the sky upon this obscure corner of the world. Apparently the craters were formed when the fragments exploded upon striking the ground.

Mud Baths Patronized by Czars

Saare's chief claim to fame consists of its therapeutic mud baths, which were patronized by the royal family of Russia in the old days of the Czars. The mud, taken from the shallow seas off the coast, is reported to be radioactive and contains various ingredients declared to be helpful for rheumatism and other ailments.

Headquarters for mud and sea bathing on Saare is Kuresaare (Arnesburg) a town of 4600 colorful with its houses of pale pink, yellow and dove gray surmounted by red roors. Windmills whirl busily among the thatch-roofed houses of the island's country villages. Hops for the islanders' beer are grown on stone walls along the roadsides. Farming, fishing and cattle raising are the chief occupations of the people.

GERMANY'S OUTER DOORWAYS TO THE WEST

Wilhelmshaven, chief naval station of the Reich on the North Sea, in the harbor of which it is reported British airplanes bombed German shipping, is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Situated on the western shore of Jade Bay, due south of the island of Helgoland, German sentinel of the North Sea, Wilhelmshaven, is about 365 miles by airline from London or less than two hours flight by modern military aircraft says the bulletin.

Wilhelmshaven was planned as a naval station in 153 when its site was purchased by Prussia from the Grand Duke of Ollenburg. The city is new as German cities go. It was built in 1855 and its harbor was not opened to commercial shipping until 14 years later. Its 25,000 inhabitants today are employed largely in the naval station, in the handling of shipping and in shipbuilding. Wilhelmshaven was the scene of the mutiny among seamen that spread over the German Fleet in 1918.

There are several large and small basins with shipyards and drydocks for the construction and repair of ships. Each of the three entrances to the basins has locks (necessitated by the tidal range) which are guarded by strong fortifications.

Cuxhaven, Naval base and Pleasure Resort

Cuxhaven, another German naval base, where it is reported five of 12 attacking British military planes were brought down, is 400 miles by air from the British capital, says the bulletin.

The city lies on the west bank of the Elbe River only a few miles from the point at which the stream flows into the North Sea. It is about 40 miles northeast of Wilhelmshaven. Hamburg, one of Germany's leading ports, is 64 miles up the Elbe from this city

Cuxhaven, too, is a comparatively new city. It was formed in 1773 by the consolidation of two villages. While naval operations are important to its 18,000 inhabitants, Cuxhaven also is a popular seaside resort where vacationists from Hamburg and other large population centers of northern Germany enjoy the stimulation of the cool waters of the North Sea. In normal times daily sailing are made from this port to Hamburg, Helgoland, and important seacoast islands.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

At this time of year we all rejoice in the exchange of the seasonal greetings and it is a blessing for the world that we do. Also much is done to take the raw edge off daily experience for those less fortunate, but are we willing or really prepared to go deep enough to remove the causes of misery and misfortune? Unhappy conditions do not "just happen" and where and when unemployment and poverty are widespread there must be basic causes as widespread.

Bad effects can not change till the wrong causes are wiped out. An understanding of the laws governing relations between men is necessary for any successful attack on such problems as they are essentially social and economic.

The Henry George School of Social Science, 30 E. 29th street, New York City offers a free course in Fundamental Economics which has helped nearly 25,000 people to a clearer understanding of human problems in the past five years, and the Boston Extension announces its winter series of classes beginning January 8, 1940. The Winchester class will meet at the American Legion House, 82 Washington street, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 9, 1940 at 7:45.

From the enthusiasm of past students it is expected that the new classes will be larger and more interesting than ever.

This is an opportunity for you to clear your own thinking in a discussion group of your own town people right at home. Do not miss this chance as it is worth many times the little time required. You owe it to yourself and your fellowmen, for if we do not solve these problems right here in America, and that soon, our present holidays will be a happy memory amid very different circumstances. We can clean things up, but it can only be done if we all pull together and pull intelligently. Prepare to do your part. The Henry George School stands by with that opportunity.

CELTIC FOLKLORE LIVES ON IN FRANCE AS IN IRELAND

The Pan-Celtic Congress which met recently in France brought out people to whom King Arthur is a national hero, to whom Lancelot and the tragic Iseult and the Irish kings of Tara are ancestral kin, points out the National Geographic Society. For the medieval coastal town of Vannes in Brittany lies in one of the pockets of geographic mystery where survive the descendants of ancient Celts, the brilliant and colorful people who dominated France and the British Isles before Caesar launched his campaign against all Gaul. From Vannes the redsailed fishing boats can ferry the 20th century visitor to islands where Druidic stones of a pre-Christian era stand in unexplained Stonehengelike circles, or in the pattern of a figure eight. An ancient church near Vannes has a covered gallery expressly for the Fairy folk. The Celts who came under Roman rule for the first four centuries of the Christian era modernized their lives to keep up with their conquerors. But on the outer fringes of the Roman Empire, stubborn isolated Celts were encouraged by their Druid leaders to keep their old-fashioned musical language and fantastic folklore of fairies and giants. Legendary King Arthur represents the sunset of Celtic supremacy in southwestern England. Some of the ancient culture survives in out-of-the-way places of Brittany in northern France, Cornwall in western England, Wales and Eire (the southern four-fifths of Ireland). The old language has left its traces in Gaelic, Welsh, Breton, Cornish, and Manx, and the newly official Irish tongue of Eire as well as certain Scottish dialects. The largest group of modern-day Celts are the Irish, who are reviving the lore of their ancestors through the study of folk tales and old manuscripts.

Farming, fishing and cattle raising are the chief occupations of the people.

But things were not always so peaceful. In the 13th century A. D. the two islands were the scenes of bloody battles and desperate sieges during the invasion of the Knights of the Sword, who imposed Christianity upon the inhabitants by force. Ruins of the citalels of those days still can be seen.

In the dungeon of the old citadel at Kuresaare there was found, 150 years ago, the skeleton of a man seated at a table, with a sheet of paper and an empty water jug before him. When touched, the skeleton crumbled to dust and what tragic story lay behind the prisoner never will be known.

Danes Swedes and Russians all have ruled the islands at different times until Estonia became independent after the World War of 1914-18. On the nearby Island of Vormsi there still live descendants of Swedish settlers who speak old Swedish.

SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION TO PACIFIC POSTPONED

Months of preparation by prominent scientists for a year long program of research among the islands of the South-Central Pacific Ocean went for naught when the outbreak of the war in Europe forced indefinte postponement of the expedition sponsored by the National Geographic Society and University of Virginia with the U. S. Coast Guard co-operating.

The expedition was to have sailed from San Francisco Sept. 19 on the Coast Guard cutter Hamilton but plans had to be shelved when the Hamilton, was ordered to Atlantic waters as part of the coast patrol established by President Roosevelt to help preserve American neutrality.

Tons of Equipment Prepared

Tons of scientific equipment had been shipped to the Pacific Coast to be loaded on the Hamilton, and scientist members of the expedition had spent months of intensive work preparing apparatus for studying geology, magnetism of the earth, variations in gravity, earthquakes, marine biology, weather, ocean currents, and for collecting samples of the ocean bottom from great depths. FINLAND: LAND OF LAKES, FORESTS AND FLEET-FOOTED RUNNERS

Finland (Suomi to Finns) is represented in the American melting pot of races by 140,000 native-born Finns or residents of Finnish ancestry. It is better known, however, for the prompt payments on its debts.

The loan from the United States was not truly a war debt, since Finland during the World War did not exist as a nation that could incur debts; it was still a part of the crumbling Russian Empire. The money was borrowed to establish the new Finnish national regime set up in 1918, after a successful revolution.

Finland is the world's farthest north nation. It lies within the latitudes of Greenland, which is sheathed in ice. But Finland is covered instead with forests, principally the pine and spruce in international demand for timber, and a smaller quantity of the birch which makes Finland's superior plywood.

With its intricate network of lakes and waterways to float logs to the coast, and sawmilling as a leading industry, Finland can lead all Europe in the export of sawn timber. More than four-fifths of Finland's exports comes from the forests, as lumber, woodpulp, cellulose, paper, plywood, or wood manufactures such as matches, spools, skis, and airplane propellers. Forest conservation insures that man shall not cut more timber than a year's growth can replace.

Hottest Summers in Arctic

The Ice Age has left still fresh footprints in its northward retreat across Finland: lakes, 65,000 of them. They occupy almost a tenth of the area within the country's boundaries. On the southern border between Finland and Soviet Union stretches broad Ladoga, the largest lake in Europe. Even inland Finns are sailors, skillful in the handling of river boats like giant canoes, a yard wide and 40 to 45 feet long. The farmer, as a rule, is a forester and a fisherman as well, with woods around his land except where water gives him a broader blue horizon.

The forest-farmer is typical of Suomi, where more than three-fourths of the people are rural and only five cities have more than 30,000 inhabitants. Less than a tenth of the land is cultivated, but it yields the thrifty Finn a sufficiency of rye and potatoes, with enough fodder for his livestock. The cattle, in turn, supply butter and cheese, distributed throughout northern European countries largely by co-operative societies.

Like England and other countries that suffered heavily from the World War, Finland has more women than men. Having had the privilege of voting since 1906, the women have assumed the responsibility of [illegible] which men do in other countries—load-carrying, brick-laying, lumberjacking, street-car conductoring.

Finland's men have been particularly outstanding in athletics, giving their nation a preeminence in sports like that of ancient Greece. Three of the world records set by the Flying Finn, Paavo Nurmi—one of the fastest things on feet—are still unbroken.

North of the glacier-carved lakes and deep forests stretches Finland's Arctic, where the midnight sun for six weeks makes summer hotter than it is 600 miles south in the capital, Helsinki. The small Petsamo stretch of the Arctic Sea coast, thanks to the Gulf Stream, is ice-free, and of great potential value for shipping in case of Baltic Sea hazards due to ice or hostilities.

Mr. Robert C. Barr, master and head football coach at Ridgefield School in Connecticut and former well known resident of this town, was in Winchester for the Christmas holidays visiting relatives and old friends. In addition to his teaching and coaching duties "Bob" has developed a journalist trend by doing a regular sports column for one of the papers near his home. He told the Star that participation in a regulation baseball game during the past summer has convinced him that his playing days are spent, he having experienced considerable difficulty in getting down for the skidding grounders and even more trouble with a curve ball at the plate!

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Codding of 17 Yale street are the parents of a daughter, Mary Alice, born Dec. 15, at the Winchester Hospital.

The many friend of Mrs. Edward Fleming of Pond street will regret to learn that she was severely injured Tuesday morning when the Plymouth sedan she was driving on Pickering street in Woburn got out of control and crashed into a tree. Mrs. Fleming sustained a fractured nose and multiple cuts and bruises.

Miss Carroll Anderson of 52 Wedgemere avenue, took part in the special Christmas surprise party which marked the end of the fall term and the beginning of the Christmas vacation at the Chapel Hill School, Waltham last week.

The thanks of the Star are due Mr. George T. Davidson of the George T. Davidson Plumbing Co. for an attractive thermometer—both useful and decorative.

Carl H. Bolter, Jr., of Oxford street, who is at home from Andover for the Christmas vacation, has been at Lake Placid this week with the Andover Hockey team, returning to town Sunday.

The alarm from Box 142 at 7:10 last evening was for a fire on the roof of the residence of Mr. Percy Bragdon at 68 High street. The fire, which was thought to have been caused by sparks from the chimney, was confined to a corner of the roof.

The Police picked up four youngsters yesterday whom they found fooling with the life preserver on the island at the rear of the town hall. The boys were taken to headquarters and told by Chief Rogers of the trouble that might result from damage to or loss of the life preserver. They were also warned not to repeat their offense. Because of their youth no further action was taken, but any one old enough to know better need expect no leniency from the authorities if caught tampering with any of the life preservers placed at the town's ponds for the protection of the public.
